"A bottle of milk is a bottle of health" is an expression of today that is quite in order. A glass of milk at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon wards off that tired feeling and gives the body energy that eases the strain of the day's work. Serve milk to the entire family and not just the children, for milk consistently used will build health and vigor. Call Kline's Dairy and arrange for them to supply your daily wants for their products will ities and will give you a food more than meet with the specified value that is found in no other food requiremens of the health author- product.

THE HOOVER GENERAL STORE

Located in Spencerville, the Hoover General Store has for the past four years been active in the retail food, hardware and appliance business and during this time has gained the confidence of the buying public throughout this trade area. With an understanding and knowledge of the demands and wishes of the housewives and farmers of this region Mr. Hoover has endeavored to stock all of the innumerable items that are needed in the line of general merchandise.

That it pays to patronize local home owned stores of this kinds has been proven many times to the people of this section. Not only has it aided in the building and establishment of better stores for the trade area but has been instrumental in keeping the money circulating at home where it benefits almost everyone residing in the section. Local merchants contribute in many ways in both the building and growth of the community and through maintaining a quality line of merchandise help the local people do their shopping conveniently and at reasonable prices. So for your every day needs stop at Hoover's and see the variety of good substantial merchandise that is on display there.

THE PARTEE CO.

Across America's industrial stage in the past few years have moved many of Indiana's industries which gave proof of the progress and development that manufacturing and fabricating had made in this state. Here in this region has been added a concern that, though it is now small, gives promise of developing into a stable and valuable addition to the worth of this section. It is the Partee Co. at Spencerville which was founded and is directed by Mr. P. F. Partee, former production manager of the Tokheim Pump Co. of Fort Wayne. Seeing the need for a concern to rebuild and maintain petroleum equipment he founded this factory and today employs some nine people and has rebuilt thousands of pumps that were restored to their original operating efficiency and at great savings to the oil industry.

The pictures here show the manner in which the work is done in the factory and the care and thought that goes into every phase of the work. The entire personnel is made up of people who have shown a real interest in the work and whose training and experience have assured the company of a continued good name with the oil industry.

Thank You

It is with deep appreciation for your past patronage that we announce the transfer of our Insurance Agency to the Roy Oberlin Agency in Butler. We highly recommend Mr. Roy Oberlin and Mr. Carmon Smith to you as fine citizens and competent insurance men. You may feel assured they will give you the insurance service that you desire.

Again we say THANK YOU.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

DAYLIGHT ONCE A WEEK That was vice president Hank Greenberg's attitude toward the national pastime as far as the arc lights are concerned. Big Hank ex-first sacker of the Detroit Tigers, now vice president of the league leading Cleveland Indians, said he wasn't saying that night ball was superior to the old daytime type of game, when he said he thought it would be better to play in the daytime only on Sunday's; but was trying to put across his belief that it would be a lot easier on the players, especially on the older ones if this could be arranged in preference to the present scheduel which calls for a mixture of daylight and night ball all through the week. Continuing Mr. Greenberg said that if the teams played all night games thru the week and in the daylight on Sunday it would enable the players to adjust themsevles to a regular routine of living.

TROUNCE GARRETT LEGION In the only softball game of the week, outside of the locals loss to the Auburn Legion last Tuesday, the locals gave the Garrett Legion a 14 to 3 drubbing last Thursday under the lights at Garrett. The locals started out early on Garrett's pitcher Cook, to score three runs in the first inning. They went on to sew it up in the 4th with two more. The big push for the home town boys came, however, in the 6th when all of the boys but Ridgway and Deiderich crossed the plate. Shuff's home run smash and a long triple by Shockley were the feature blows of the 7 run uprising. The 14 run spree was rounded off in the 7th with two more tallies. Deiderich, meanwhile was having a fairly easy time on the mound for St. Joe.

Last Sunday's game with the Butler Produce team was called off because of wet grounds and the game will be played next Monday, July 19th under the lights there.

Balls Foundry Here Sunday

Sunday, July 15th the Balls Aluminum Foundry from Auburn, will come to the St. Joe diamond for a game starting at 2 p. m. The foundry team, a new entry in the Auburn league this year, defeated the legion 6 to 4, earlier in league play.

Corunna Next League Opponent

The locals continue play in the league next Thursday, July 22, meeting the Corunna church team in the second evening tilt.

The O'KAYS

By Jay Kay

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We've experienced a lot of good fishing in the past three decades. from Mexico to Alaska and from coast to coast, but none of it ever surpassed the sport we have had the last few days.

Smallmouth bass, walleyes, northern pike and lake trout all have found the lures we tossed their way tempting, and, as a result, limit catches have been the daily rule rather than the exception.

Frankly, it's no more fun or sport fishing here than any spot in the states when the fish are in a cooperative mood. The strike, the battle and sizzling fillets in the frying pan are about the same the world over. But we have really hit the jackpot in cooperation from the fish this trip.

And there's been one aspect to fishing here that has been different from anything we've found elsewhere. It has been similar to eating at a cafeteria where you stop along the serving line at different places to get the food of your choice. Here you do the same with fish.

For lake trout you fish Delaney Lake. It is a deep, cold lake that harbors this species in abundance. For smallmouth bass, it's Keyes Lake, two portages out of Delaney. After spending a day catching small mouth bass on flies and plugs we didn't complain a bit about the two portages. In fact, for another day of equally good fishing, we'd make a dozen portages.

Grassy Narrows Lake, only a one-portage trip, is a walleye haven. And Muskie Lake also only a hop-step-and-jump from Delaney, offers maskellunge.

Naturally, there's some overlapping of species in these waters, but a careful study has disclosed a well-defined pattern as to the choice of certain lakes by certain species.

It is simple, however, to explain this cafeteria pattern. First, lake trout thrive in water that is 40- 45 degrees in temperature. So this species inhabits the deep lakes where they can go down 200-300 feet in mid-summer to find the right water temperatures.

The smallmouth bass is not native to these waters and is found only in the lakes where the species was planted. There aren't too many bass lakes ,but the fish have propagated well in the spots where they were stocked.

The walleye is not too particular and is found in most of the lakes that offer hideouts in the hot summer months 40-50 feet down. And the northern pike is in all the lakes.

We've always enjoyed eating in cafeterias and after our experiences here, we like cafeteria fishing equally well.

YOUR COMMUNITY PRESENTS ..... BAIDINGERS SHELL SERVICE

There has been no time in the automotive industry when the necessity for proper fuel and lubrication has been greater than today. With the strain and stress of the war years upon the older cars and with the modern high compression motor it has been proven that only the better grades of fuel and lubricants will give the right performance.

Recognizing this fact the Shell Oil Co., through such dealers as the Joe Baidinger Shell Service at Spencerville, gives the auto owners fuels and lubricants that will meet all the requirements of modern day driving. When your car is serviced at Baidinger's, you have the assurance that has been carefully checked and that in lubrication a special chart is followed so that all points are properly lubricated. Washing is done with a compound that assures no streaking and can be done even in a short time if you care to wait.

In the tire department Baidinger's offer a wide selection for cars, trucks or tractor in Goodyear, General and Century lines. With the warmer weather approaching it is well to drive in and have a careful check on the condition of your rubber for it pays to make the change now and not on the road. It is cheaper too, for then you have some trading value with your old tire and tube.

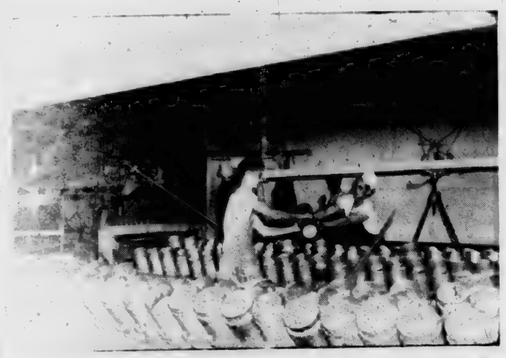
YOUR COMMUNITY PRESENTS ..... COUNTY LINE CHEESE FACTORY

Rated as one of the leading by-products of agriculture and dairy farming, cheese is today one of the tastiest delicacies in the home and is the time-saver for the housewife because of its many uses and simple preparation. From an economic standpoint there is nothing that gives better food value or has more universal appeal to all the members of the family

The process of making cheese is not at all new, yet the operations today in a modern factory such as the one shown here are most up-to-date. Bearing in mind the need for cleanliness and sanitation in the handling of milk they have installed the latest and most modern equipment and employ tested formulae that produce some of the finest flavored cheese in the country.



The County Line Cheese Factory was established by Mr. Fred Marlof in 1911 and is today personally directed by his son, Fred Jr. It has grown to the point where it processes nearly two million pounds of milk annually and distributes to stores throughout a radius of some two hundred miles. It employs regularly nine or ten men and represents an excellent market for the dairy farmer in the disposal of his milk. Thus the people of the St. Joe Valley have reason to be proud of this industry and to give it their unfailing support.

Indiana Delegation— Agroup of Indiana State officials accompanied Governor Ralph F. Gates, seated left, to Cincinatti June 30th as the Hoosier chief executive was the first to sign the historic Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Compact which pledges each of the nine member states to clean up and control wastes from their states which flow into the Ohio.

ACTION ON NEW PARK POSTPONED UNTIL AUGUST 3

Action of DeKalb county on the proposed Chain O' Lakes memorial state park was deferred again this month when the county board of commissioners set final hearing for Aug. 3.

The deferment was the fourth taken on the park project. Late Wednesday, Commissioners Oscar Fulk, Lloyd Yeiser and Frank Hilkey decided against final action at their regular July session.

The decision came after continued opposition to the park plan was presented. A group of Garrett citizens, led by George W. Iler as spokesman, appeared in commissioner's court in Auburn and went on record as opposing acquisition of the 2,756-acre tract in Greene township in Noble county. Proposed cost of the park to the four counties involved is over $350,000. DeKalb county's share of the expense is $32, 915.40.

Noble county commissioners already have approved the project, but with a "life lease" clause that has developed strong opposition. Many of the landowners in the Greene township area would if the Noble county plan is adopted, retain life leases on their land. In addition considerable opposition has cropped up on the proposed payment of $200 an acre for the land.

Allen county commissioners have adopted the project, but dissenters report they will appeal the action. Whitley county commissioners have remained silent, apparently awaiting the decision of DeKalb county.

Finds Germ Fighter

The discoverer of streptomycin has announced the isolation in his laboratory of a new antibiotic designated as grisein. This substance is not a rival of streptomycin, but may serve as a supplement to it, since it is effective against certain germs that develop resistance to streptomycin. Unfortunately, grisein is not effective against tuberculosis.

125 FARMERS GO ON DEKALB COUNTY FIELD DAY TOUR

County Agent C. R. Gross reported Friday observations on the Agronomy and Dairy Field days tour which was conducted Wednesday with 125 DeKalb county farmers attending.

The tour, which was arranged by the county extension office ,was held to show the farmers new and better methods of farming. G. A. Willams, Purdue Dairy specialist, and Kellar Beeson, Purdue agronomy specialist, led discussion at the various stops on the tour.

The following schedule and observation were made:

9:00-10:00 a. m. — At Richard Crow's farm in Concord township, the group saw a new installation of a mow hay drier in operation. Thirty-five tons of partly dried chopped hay was being cured by forcing air through air ducts constructed under the mow. Mr. Williams led a discussion of comparison of good quality roughages vs poor quality roughage for the dairy cow. He stated that success in the dairy business starts with the ability to grow and harvest good quality roughage.

The farmers also saw a modern milk house and equipment at the Crow farm featuring the latest and most convenient labor-saving, cooling and washing equipment.

10-10:45 a. m. —The group visited the wheat and oats variety and fertilization plots at the Ivan Rosenberry farm in Wilmington township. Kellar Beeson led the discussion of the varieties and fertilizer practices. He pointed out that the Clinton and Benon oats had out-yielded all other varieties of oats previously used in Indiana. The new Clinton 59 observed in the plot promises to be more uniform than Clinton and outyield it, Beeson stated.

Ninety percent of all oats seeded in DeKalb county this spring were Clinton or Benton variety. These varieties were unheard of two years ago. Beeson stated this demonstrates the value of the teamwork of the plant breeder, seed producer and and agricultural extension service working together to bring to the farmer better and better varieties Varieties observed in the plot were Clnton 59, Benton, Bonda, Eaton and Columbia. These plots will be harvested, yields checked and report made by the extension office in Auburn in the near future.

In the wheat plots the Vigo, a new variety being grown commercially for the first year in DeKalb County, looked to be superior to the commonly -varieties of Throne and Fairfield. The Vigo has stiff light-color-straw, long head and is an excellent variety for milling. It appears to be more winter hardy than varieties now grown in the county.

In the fertilizer plots for oats and wheat, heavy applications at seeding time with a heavy application of nitrogen as a top dressing in the Yields of these plots will be announcer after harvest.

10:45-11:30 a. m.— The farmers saw the effect of 2-4,D spraying at the A. J. Moore farm in Wilmington township.

Muck corn was sprayed with 2-4,D, July 6 and was giving a good kill of weeds that were threatening the corn. Corn showed no apparent damage. Farmers were cautioned about applying too much 2-4,D to growing corn as serious damage can result.

The group also saw Ladino clover management on the Moore farm. For pasturing sheep, Mr. Moore clips the clover three or four time during the summer. He clipped the clover on Thursday and the field was white with blossoms on the day of the tour the following Wednesday. Ladino clover improves for pasture with age. One field on the Moore farm is five years old and giving excellent results.

11:30 a. m. — The group observed the corn variety plot on the John Smith farm in Union township. Six teen varieties of experimental hybrids popular hybrids and newly released hybrids were observed. The newly-released Hawkeye soybeans were observed growing in comparison with Earlyanna and Lincoln. Demonstrations on varous applications of 2-4, D were observed on corn and soybeans. 2-4,D kills soybeans, as demonstrated in the plot. Damage can be expected on corn where large applications of 2-4,D are made, according to observations on the various plots. The corn plots will be harvested this fall yields computed and released by the county agent.

1 p. m.—The group saw the effects of fertilizer and lime on obtaining a good stand of alfalfa at the Ray Dilgrad farm in Grant township. Leverne Stuckey, operator, told of his experience with seeding alfalfa before and after he took advice of using lime and fertilizer. The group observed an excellent stand of alfalfa established by using lime and fertilizer with oats on the late date of June 5, 1947.

3 p. m.—The last and one of the most educational stops was at the Hall-Fitch farm in Fairfield township. There the group saw the effects of fertilizer on obtaining legume-grass mixture stands in oats. The question, "Does it pay to heavily fertilize my oats if I want grass?" "yes" by all farmers observing the seeding of alfalfa, Brome and Ladino clover made in the 1947 oats variety and fertilization demonstration plots The 1948 legume grass crop was far superior on the plots obtaining a large application of fertilizer on oats last year. Plots where the new high yielding oats were grown showed no effect on the stand of grass.

Mr. Beeson is urging farmers to use heavy application of fertilizer on oats and wheat and especially for the benefit of hay and pasture crops to follow. He recommended seeding 6-8 pound sof Southern Brome grass, and one-fourth pound of Ladino clover per acre for a hay and pasture mixture. This mixture should be seeded in March or April with wheat or oats or in May or early June with Sudan grass.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs Elmer Emerson of near Howe, were week end guests of Mrs. Nan Lysher and son Edgar, and all were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Pearl and Lee Jackson. Mrs. Anna Koch also spent the day in the Jackson home.

CUT DOWN GRAIN LOSSES WATCH COMBINE ADJUSTMENT

Cutter bar losses, cylinder losses are some of the most common sources of grain lossses in combining according to R. M Lien, extension agricultural engineer at Purdeu University.

Many bushels of grain could be saved annually by properly setting the header and reel to get the most grain possible on to the conveyor which feeds the grain to the cylinder. A sharp and properly registered sickle is also important. Improper cylinder adjustment will tend to crack the grain or let heads pass through unthreshed. If the straw is dry, it may be that it will chop very fine, thereby overloading the chaffer and sieves.

Separating losses may occur by grain going over the straw racks as the result of overloading, or by overthreshing at the cylinder. Likewise losses occur over the sieves by improper sieve adjustment, overloading of sieves and clogged openings. Improper setting of the wind blast will tend to blow the grain over the chaffer or not clean it sufficiently.

Cylinder and separating losses can be detected by examining the chaff and straw as it leaves the machine Unthreshed grain found in the straw indicates insufficient threshing action at the cylnder. Grain coming out with the chaff indicates insufficient separating action.

Play Safe and Call Veterinarian When Your Pet Is Sick

Prompt Advice by "Dog's Best Friend" Can Save Much Misery

The dog is "man's best friend" but the dog's best friend is his veterinarian and the best advice that can be given to the owner of a sick or injured dog is to "run, don't walk" to the veterinarian, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

According to the Center, thousands of dogs live out their lives in misery or die needlessly because their misguided though well-meaning owners either ignore symptoms of disease in their pets or else through the use of home remedies and treatments, put off obtaining the advice of a veterinarian until it is too late.

One of the commonest mistakes dog owners make is to attempt to worm a puppy at home. Some of the very sickest dogs veterinarians see are puppies which the owner has attempted to worm himself with drugstore remedies. Worm medicines are of necessity composed of toxic and potent drugs and are definitely unsafe in the hands of the average dog owner. Aside from the danger involved in home worm treatments, many dog owners do not realize that there is more than one type of worm with which a dog may be infested and that different remedies are required to be effective against the several types of worms.

Canine ear, eye and tooth troubles should receive prompt professional attention, too. Running or sore eyes, if unattended, can lead to ulceration and eventual blindness. Ear troubles which are usually indicated by the dog's continually shaking his head, scratching at the ear or showing unwillingness to have his head touched, can bring on deafness if not treated correctly. One of the most foolish things for a dog owner to do is to go probing in his pet's ears with an instrument, as the dog's eardrum is easily perforated. Dental troubles in dogs are fairly frequent. A decayed or ulcerated tooth can give a dog a good deal of pain and can cause toxemia and other illnesses. Having a veterinarian periodically remove the tartar from a dog's teeth and examine them with a view to the removal of any abscessed molars is good dog health insurance.

Steeplejack and Bridge Painter Invents Time-Saving Paint Brush

New Device Tested on New York's Triborough Bridge

A new dipless paint brush was recently demonstrated on the world-famous Triborough Bridge in New York City. This brush was demonstrated by its inventor, Russell C. Engren, steeplejack and bridge painter, who proved he could eliminate much of the time, energy and material wasted in painting.

This new brush (Air Flow Paint Flow) puts gravity to work! The paint flows from a gravity-feed bucket through a light, flexible hose directly to bristles of the brush; a simple shut-off clip on hose gives complete control of the paint-flow.

Actual tests in homes, farms, factories, under every working condition where paint is used, show an average saving of 38% in time and paint. These tests were made by housewives as well as professional painters and contractors.

The inventor claims that not only does the brush save time, but also saves wear and tear caused by cleaning of ordinary paint brushes.

This dipless brush is now in production and is being placed on the market in the near future.

The Air Flow Brush Company (57 West 35 Street, New York 1, New York, manufacturers and distributors) are planning an advertising campaign to make the Air Flow Brush a painting "must" in every home, farm and industry throughout the United States and Canada.

REED'S SUPER SERVICE

Realizing that it is not the first cost but the service and maintenance cost that make an automobile an extravagance, Reed's Super Service at Spencerville has gained its reputation because it has kept these service charges at a minimum. "Let us service and keep your car in repair and it ceases to be an extravagance" is the motto of this modern service.

With a complete line of Standard Oil products and as an authorized United Motor Service, Reed's are equipped to give your car that seasonal tune-up that makes comfortable driving sensible and economical. What driver enjoys going any distance with a car that is not operating properly? Chances are it is just a minor difficulty that can be easily and cheaply remedied at Reed's Super Service. For washing, lubrication, checking of the brake fluid, changing oils and greases for summer driving you can have it all done conveniently at this local station.

In keeping with the modern trend this concern also features a full line of major and minor electrical appliances. If you are anxious to add that new 1948 or '49 washer, stove, refrigerator, cleaner, etc., stop in and look over the lines offered at Reed's.

For the motorist who is stranded on the highway the Reed's Super Service is the authorized AAA station for the Chicago Motor Club and they have a large wrecker that is capable of handling any passenger car and regular trucks, and is available at any hour of the day or night.

Under the directon of Mr. James Reed, this service has become one of the better know stations in the St. Joe Valley region and is recommended by a large percentage of the car owners of this section.

GRABER PLANING MILL

Starting on a small scale in 1941, Henry S. Graber has today one of this region's most complete planing mills. Through the Graber Planing Mill goes each year a great quanity of lumber that has been Kiln dried and planed by the most modern equipment.

In the past couple of years Mr. Graber has included in his services the building of truck bodies as is shown in the pictures here. The frames are built of the strongeest and best cured lumber and the fabrication is done by workmen who have used the greatest care in construction. The covering is of metal and the bed is solidly floored. In fact, milk and cream collectors throughout the territory have made good use of these truck bodies and have acclaimed them for their serviceability and reasonable cost.

If you would be interested in seeing one of them constructed you can stop at the mill which is located just two miles south of Grabill and Mr. Graber will be glad to show you one in detail. If you are desirous of a custom built body made to your own design, he will be glad to go over your plans with you and give you an accurate estimate upon the cost.

HARLAN FARM SUPPLY

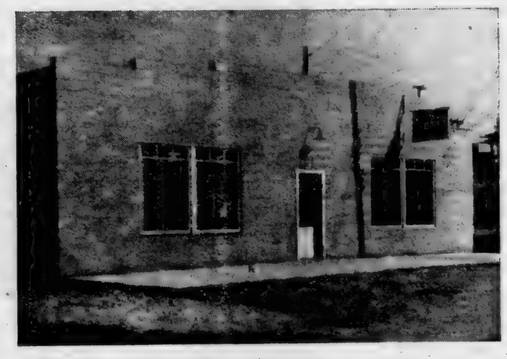
Frank T. Tschida, the owner of the Harlan Farm Supply has for the past quarter century been identified with the Oliver farm machinery company. Thus his experience in this field has made possible the setting up of one of the most comprehensive sales and service firms in this section of Indiana. At the Harlan Farm Supply you will see the parts and equipment department as pictured here contains all the necessary parts and equipment to put and keep your equipment in the best possible condition. For service they are well able to diagnose any trouble you may be having and to restore your equipment to its original good running order.

Equipment on the up-to-date farm today represents one of the largest investments in the operating of an efficient agricultural plan. Thus it is to the advantage of the farmer to first obtain products that have proven their ability over years of continued use and to purchase them at a place where they can be assured of dependable and satisfactory service. The name of Oliver has been associated with farm machinery almost since the beginning of the era of mechanization. The name of Tschida has been associated with Oliver for the past twenty-five years and with the combination of both the farmer can be assured of economy and efficiency at all seasons of the year.

GRABILL CABINET COMPANY

To the home owner who has planned or desired to make those home improvements and has been somewhat skeptical in proceeding during the present period of high prices, it is interesting to note that the majority of real estate and financial experts are of the opinion that 1948 will be as good a year as can be expected for some time to come. They say that if you have dreamed of building or modernizing you may as well go ahead this year. They say that if long term trends have any meaning it will be at least four or five years before today's high costs reduce appreciably.

Among the firms in this region that have gained a reputation in a short period of time is the Grabill Cabinet Co. under the ownership and direction of Mr. Vilas Shertz. In the short time of a year and a half this firm has completed several of the finest custom built kitchen cabinet jobs in this region of Indiana. Four experienced cabinet men are employed and from the designing to the completion of the job every detail is carried out according to your own wishes and specifications and you can select your kind of tops from both linoleum or formica. If you are intesested in making the work for the wife easier and amid pleasant and workmanlike surroundings, just call or write the Grabill Cabinet Co.



CHANEY MOTORS, INC.

When the Chaney Motors, Inc. of Harlan opened for business in January of 1947 it provided for the people of the St. Joe Valley one of the most completely equipped auto sales and service firms in this section. With an authorized dealership for Kaiser-Frazer cars and a well equipped service department it assures the motorist of satisfaction, whatever department is required. There they can steam clean your motor, undercoat your fenders and body, align and balance your wheels and for the farmer they have a line of farm equipment and its service.

The makers of the Kaiser and Frazer have met the demands of the public with cars of outstanding value, cars with perfection of mechanism, the finest lines, and ease of driving efforts. If you live in or near Harlan, stop in and see for yourself this car that you can be assured of a prompt delivery on. More than one hundred people of the region are now driving Kaiser or Frazers that have been sold and serviced by the Chaney Motors, Inc. under the direction of Mr. Roy Chaney.

MENNO'S SERVICE

As shown in the pictures here Menno's Service in Harlan is one of the most modern and up-to-date service and sales firms in this trade area. Starting just about a year ago Mr. Menno Hochstedler, the owner has rapidly expanded his services until today he has the Diamond T truck agency, the agency for the Tucker automobile, a 24 hour wreckers service authorized by the Chicago Motor Club, Gulf tires, tubes, gas, accessories and the most modern equipment for motor tune up and repair.

Realizing that it is not just the first cost but the service charges that make up the cost of owning and operating an automobile, Menno's Service has gained its popularity because it has kept these service charges at a minimum for auto owners of this section. The picture shows some items such as the ignition and compress on checker, the hoist and welding equipment, but in addition they have the latest in tools and machinery to give your car the service it needs and requires regularly. In the long run, systematic checking and dependable servicing will give you more miles of dependable driving and at a more economical cost. So drop in at Menno's and let them look over your car. They will tell you if it needs service and how best you can meet the need at the most reasonable price.

SCENES FROM THE BARDSLEY TRUCKING & CONSTRUCTION CO.

Shown here are several pictures of the modern equipment and the owner of the Bardsley Trucking and Construction Co. of Harlan. From a very modest beginning just a few years ago the firm has compiled a most enviable record in the hauling grading and excavating field and today operates 5 modern trucks, a drag line, bulldozer and two gravel pits. During the war Mr L. O. Bardsley handled efficently a contract with the government for hauling lumber and plumbing supplies for Baer Field operating as many as one hundred units at one time.

Today with it's up-to-date equipment and evperienced workmen the Bardsley Trucking and Construction Co. is in a postion to offer a service in hauling, truckoing excavating, sand gravel, and crushed stone. Service is prompt and efficient and their prices are consistent with those of the largest contractors in this entire section of Indiana. So if you have work to be done of the nature enumerated above call Bardsley of Harlan.

SHAW'S DRESSED POULTRY

Many of us fail to realize the value of a concern such as Shaw's Dressed Poultry of Grabill to the agricultural worth of the region. Concerns such as this, play a very important part in the collection and distribution of farm products as well as assuring the poultry raisers of a fair and equitable market for the disposal of their poultry. Furthermore, it is also important that Shaw's have one of the most modern and up-to-date plants in this section of the country and a modern cold storage for the preservation and keeping of perishable foods.

The plant of Shaw's Dressed Poultry is clean and sanitary throughout and all pure foods laws are met in the most satisfactory manner. In fact, during the war they handled some of the larger contracts for the government supplying such places as Baer Field with clean, wholesome poultry.

Established in 1932 this concern has grown until it now represents one of the most valuable enterprizes of the St. Joe Valley and under the active direction of Mr. Alex Shaw it will continue to maintain the same high standards that has built for it a reputation with both the poultry raisers and the consumers.

WOODS LUMBER CO.

Aerial view

Among the most important industries from the standpoint of economic development are those that are active in the conversion of raw materials that are produced in their own immediate territory.

A careful analysis will show that concerns such as the H. A. Woods Lumber Co. of Grabill act as economic buffers against depressing conditions in the area in which they operate. Directly upon their activities many people are dependent for employment and many farmers have realized a goodly profit in the sale of standing timber to the firm.

Ground view

The H. A. Woods Lumber Co. have made a specialty of catering to special orders for the furniture industry for building materials and structural timber. The mill has a capacity of a small carload of finished lumber a day and custom sawing is among the services that they offer.

Pictured here is an airview of the mill and yards as well as a closeup of the exterior. The mill itself was built in 1942, however Mr. Woods had previously operated one at the same site from 1918 until it burned in 1932. From 1932 until the new mill was built he was State Forester for the State of Indiana with the exceptions of a couple of years he was with the United States Forest Service.

OETTING FUNERAL HOME

The profession of funeral directing is one of the most essential services in any community and is one that must be handled by people who are well versed in all the details of the profession. In the past quarter century the Oetting Funeral Home in Harlan has become well known to the people of this vicinity and during this time it has promoted the highest ideals of service. The personnel is made up of people who are eminently capable and the equipment is the most modern and up-to-- date. This includes a modern ambulance which is on call at any hour of the day or night.

Founded by Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Oetting, it has provided a distinctive and dignified service that has won for it the commendation of all those families whom it has served.

As shown here both the interior, which can comfortably hold a group of two hundred people for a service and exterior of the funeral home lends an atmosphere that is in keeping with the tribute that one wishes to pay to a departed member of the family or a cherished friend.

BECK WELDING SHOP

One of the leading firms in the St. Joe Valley region is the Beck Welding Shop at Cedarville. For more than fifteen years Mr. Virgil Beck has maintained a modern and up-to-date welding shop and in recent years has expanded his service to include the making of all metal truck beds and hayracks.

Here in the picture you can see one of the Beck truck beds in the process of being constructed. If you look closely you will see the sturdy materials that are used and this combined with expert workmansihp has created for the farmer a product that will live up to its guarantee of serviceability and satisfaction.

When we think of the difficulties that confront the farmer now in maintaining his equipment or obtaining new and realize that this condition has been prevalent since the war began in 1941 we can understand how essential a service such as Beck's has been to the community. Through such firms as this the farmer was able by some means to have his equipment and machinery repaired and kept in operating condition and at a fair price. What was true then is still true and the person having anything damaged or broken will find the Beck Shop well equipped to put it back in its proper condition.

M. H. HOLLABAUGH, Shell Distributor

A concern which strives to offer a truly metropolitan service to the retailers, home owners and farmers of this section is the firm of M. W. Hollabaugh, the Shell distributor of this region. For the past eight years he has maintained two trucks and has rendered a dependable service in everything pertaining to petroleum products, offering a direct service to homes and farms and to stations within a radius of several miles of Spencerville.

That Shell products have gained leading recognition throughout this region has been in a large measure due to the enterprise of Mr. Hollabaugh, for he has aided and assisted his dealers in every way possible and the business relationship between his concern and the dealers and consumers has always been the best. He has built the business on dependable products and fair dealings and hundreds of people in this section can vouch for this fact during the trying period of petroleum shortages.

KLINE'S DAIRY

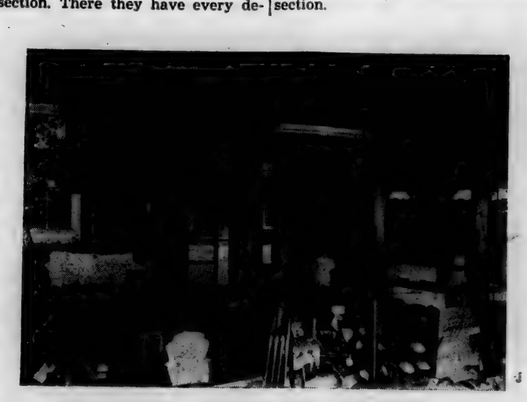
As shown in the picture, the plant of Kline's Dairy here in St. Joe is clean and sanitary throughout and it has been the endeavor of Mr. Maurice Kline, the owner, to offer the people of this region the best that can be had in pure pasteurized milk, cream and other dairy products.

"A bottle of milk is a bottle of health" is an expression of today that is quite in order A glass of milk at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon wards off that tired feeling and gives the body energy that eases the strain of the day's work. Serve milk to the entire family and not just the children, for milk consistently used will build health and vigor. Call Kline's Dairy and arrange for them to supply your daily wants for their products will more than meet with the specified requirements of the health authorities and will give you a food value that is found in no other food product.

ROTH'S FIRESTONE SERVICE

We continue to hear and read of the many shortages that are still prevalent in the lines of goods that are made of steel. It is true that there are some items missing from the counter but today in such stores as the Roth's Firestone Store in Grabill you will find displayed there many things that you have been seeking in the line of housewares, sporting goods, automobile accessories, etc. In addition to their line of nationally known merchandise, Roth's also maintain one of the most complete auto services in this section. There they have every detail of equipment and expert servicemen to give your car its required service. In the line of tires they have on hand all sizes for autos, trucks and tractors and they maintain a service truck whereby they can give you prompt service on the road or at your home or farm.

Under the ownership and directions of Messrs. Paul and Wilbur Roth this concern is pushing forward to occupy a leading position in the merchandising as well as service field and is justly deserving of the patronage of the people of this section.



SCHERER AND KLOPFENSTEIN IMPLEMENT CO.

The name of International Harvester and McCormick Deering have been associated with practically all of the developments in the field of agricultural equipment since the days of the sickle. Today they manufacture almost everything for economical use on the farm from refrigeration to the modern tractor, combine, mills, etc

The Scherer & Klopfenstein Implement Co. of Leo, as shown here is the authorized dealer for this equipment and they have like the factory, kept abreast of the times by carrying in their place a full line of farm equipment needs as well as maintaining one of the better equipped parts and service departments in this area. For nearly ten years the firm under the direction of Messrs. H. S. Scherer and Elmer K. Klopfenstein has steadily increased its capacity to serve the farmer and whether you are looking for new machinery or the repair of old you will find them well qualified to meet your demands. Their service includes everthing from an adjustment to the eomplete overhaul of any larger machinery. They have exercised care in the buying of equipment for the farmer and you will find their line is ideal for every purpose for the economical and efficent operations on the farm.

KLOPFENSTEIN TILE WORKS

Though there has been rapid acceleration in the various type of manufacturing and fabrication one of the industries that is still operated much in the same manner as it was a quarter century ago is that of making tile. It is an industry that had its beginning centuries ago and has been in many ways responsible for the great fields that we have under cultivation in the United States.

In this section of Indiana the name of Klopfenstein has been associated with the tile industry for well over a half century and today the Klopfenstein Tile Works at Grabill represents a valued asset to this region.

If you have never seen tile being made and burned, a visit to the plant will be interesting to you. There you will see how the tile is started from the moulding of the clay to the final process of burning. You will realize after talking to Mr. Aaron Klopfenstein the amount of work and care that is needed to produce a high grade drain tile that has met the approval of farmers over a wide trade area. Furthermore you will realize that the industry afford considerable employment for people of the region. Also if you are interested in buying drain or sewer tile you will find that Mr. Klopfenstein is in a position to fill your needs promptly and at a reasonable cost.

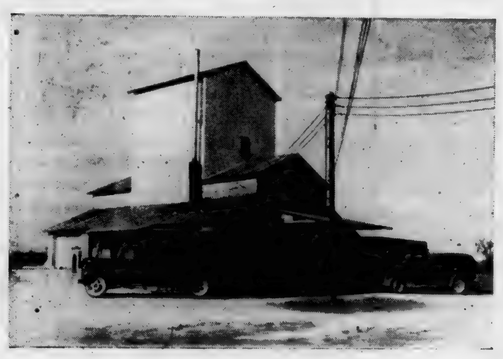
SAUDER'S HATCHERY

In 1909 The Sauder's Hatchery had its beginning with the installation of its first incubator. At the time there were only three other hatcheries located in Northeastern Indiana. From this modest start the business has grown until today it represents one of the most efficent and productive hatcheries, feed and egg buying firms in the entire state. As depicted here you can see the trucks that are busy daily contacting farms throughout a wide trade area and buying and distributing eggs in the larger markets. In the rear is the modernly equipped feed mill where feeds and supplements are manufactured fresh each week.

With more than thirty years of experience in the hatching, breeding and raising of poultry, Mr. Jerry H. Sauder has been able to combine his knowledge with experimentation to produce for the poultry raiser the best in feeds as well as supplying chicks that will make a profit for the farmer. With low manufacturing costs the firm can supply the best at reasonable prices.

In addition to the poultry supplies Sauder's also feature a full line of hog and dairy supplements that are conveniently packaged and easy to handle. It has been their aim to manufacture and sell honest feeds at honest prices and to give the stock or poultry raiser the beneift of their knowledge and experience in producing a greater amount of eggs, milk or meat while at the same time reducing the cost of production.

With present price conditions it is the wise farmer that consults with such concerns as Sauders and thus make it a banner year for profitible stock raising regardless of feed costs.



SHRUM TRAILER SALES

What industry has made such rapid strides in the past few years and accomplished so much for the welfare of the public as has the automobile trailer industry. From a modest beginning in catering to the sportsman and vacationist it has expanded and come forward to take its place in the permanent housing field by affording the public a compactness and conveniences that have not been met by the general building industry.

Take for instance the American, Luxor, Spartan, Travelo or the Zimmer that are displayed at the Shrum Trailer Sales at 3535 Leo Road in Fort Wayne. Ranging in length from thirteen to thirty-three feet they offer the buyer a variety of accomodations and conveniences to meet the individual needsand pocketbook. For the home on wheels, whether you desire to roam or stay at home, they have a trailer that will please and suit every member of the family. They have all the latest in equipment, parts and accessories and can give you service to make your home one of which you can well be proud.

Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith, this salesroom is open daily until eight-thirty excepting Saturdays and Sundays when they close at six. Stop in and see the new models and solve your housing and vacation problem at the same time.

Court of St. James

Although Buckingham palace is the town residence of the King of England, ambassadors are accredited to the Court of St. James, the palace built by Henry VIII.

Electricity Saves 'Em

Electric pig brooders cut losses of baby pigs about one-half, by providing them with a safe way of keeping warm without getting crushed by the sow.

Hollywood Grows

In 1910 Hollywood, Calif., had a population of 4,000. It now has a population of 150,000. About 30,000 people work for the motion picture industry in and near Hollywood.

Birthplace of Golf

The city of St. Andrews, situated halfway between Edinburgh and Dundee on the east coast of Scotland, is noted as the birthplace of golf.

Better Control of Farm Dogs Sought

The answer to sheep and poultry killings by roaming dogs lies largely with the farmers themselves, in the opinion of Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

"There is little hope for relief from such depredations until owners of farm dogs are willing to assume greater responsibility for them," he states. "This means knowing at all times the whereabouts and doings of their dogs. Sheep and fowl losses cannot be reduced as long as farmers themselves allow their dogs to run at large nights and get into bad company and habits. No farmer would think of allowing such liberties to his son or daughter, and he should not permit it to his dog or dogs.

"The farmer should think of his dog in the same light as he does of his automobile. Both, properly controlled, are wonderful helps on the farm. But without brakes the automobile becomes a dangerous weapon. Similarly, the dog who runs at large day or night—the uncontrolled dog—is a constant invitation to trouble. No dog is under control whose owner does not know at any given time where he is or what he is up to."

THE GRABILL BANK

The proper operation of a banking service is most essential to the commerical and economic life of a community and is a service that should be conducted by people well versed in all the details of modern finance and economics. Banking service does not mean just the handling of depositor's funds and converting them into safe investments, but consists of many departments that conduct activities along the lines of loans, bonds, mortgages, safety deposit boxes, industrial loans and sound financial advise.

In the Grabill area the Grabill Bank has filled a need for the farmers and residents of that trade section and in a very short period of time it has gained the respect and patronage of hundreds of people all over this area. The bank is strong, safe and conservative and as a member of the Federal Deposits Insurance Corp. all deposits are insured up to five thousand dollars.

Although this bank was founded in April of 1946 its financial statement at the close of business Dec. 31, 1947 showed resources of more than seven hundred thousand dollars. Under local directorship, namely A. Neuenschwander, Pres., Abner Gerig, Vice-Pres.; Virgil Beck-Secretary; M. J. Ringenberg-Cashier; Alex Shaw, Elias Souder, and Jonas Yoder directors, it is an institution of which this section may well be proud.

BENDER PLUMBING AND HEATING COMPANY

In this day and age our congested living condition will not permit us to live without plumbing and sanitation. Our modern sanitary and heating service has not only lengthend our liyes but saved thousands of lives as well. No community can progress without the services of the modern sanitary and heating firm and in this region the Bender Plumbing and Heating Co. at Leo has well filled this need.

Mr. Levan Bender, who succeeded to the ownership of the firm of Amstutz and Bender just a few weeks ago has had nearly ten years of experience of which four were in the army. His experience includes a great variety of work along plumbing heating lines and whether it is the installation of new work or the repair of old he and his men are well qualified to solve your problems. He has on hand a goodly supply of fixtures and fittings and is dealer for stokers, oil burners and electric pumps. He has an up-to-date truck that is outfitted with the necessary tools to do most any job and if you are confronted with an emergency you will need only call him and his service will be prompt and efficient.

GRABILL HARDWARE

One of leading commercial factors in catering to the needs of the farmers and residents of this section is the Grabill Hardware. Starting on a small scale in 1930, today under the direction of Messrs. Abner and Daniel Gerig it has grown to where it offers one of the most complete and varied lines of merchandise in the valley region.

At the Grabill Hardware you will find an endless array of merchandise along the lines of major and minor appliances, plumbing fittings and supplies, paints, glass, sporting goods, shelf and general hardware. Along with the variety of goods they have experienced sales and service people who are qualified to do whatever work is needed in the way of installation and repair.

For the housewife who has waited for that replacement of the stove, refrigerator, washing machine or ironer, she need only see the Gerig's and they will demonstrate the new Westinghouse line and make arrangements for its installation and convenient payments if you desire. They have made every effort to supply the needs of this region with nationally known and proven merchandise and hundreds of people have expressed their satisfaction at both their quality and prices.

GRABILL CANNING COMPANY

The vital importance of the canning industry was brought to the American people in the past few years by virtue of the conditions that prevailed during the war. Though there has been little written about it in the past ten or twenty years it has materially aided in raising the standard of our living and gave us a tremendous storehouse of the finest and best of foods.

As a step in the way of progress the canning industry as represented by firms as the Grabill Canning Co. has introduced a new and effective means of canning for the individual home or farm. There they afford a custom canning service where your fruits, vegetables and meats are properly processed and canned as you desire them. From July first to November 1st they are open on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from November 1st to July 1st they are only open Wednesdays. Hundred of people throughout this section have remarked upon the efficiency of this plant and how well they have liked the service that is available the year around.

As shown in the picture the plant is under the ownership and management of Richard Lantz and they have the most up-to-date equipment to do the work. When your food is canned there it retains its natural flavor and goodness and you will find it economical as well as convenient.

MILLER POULTRY MARKET AN D HATCHERY

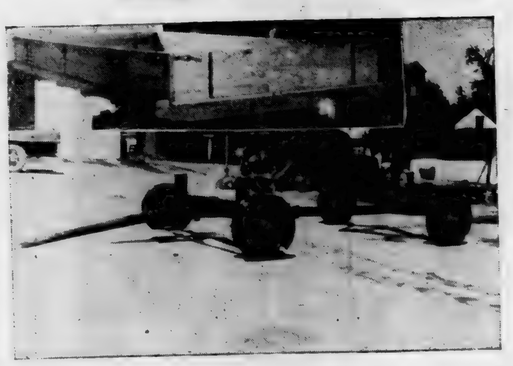
One of the important factors in catering to the needs of the poultry raisers in this section as well as the buying public is the Miller Poultry Market and Hatchery at Leo. Mr. A. J. Miller the owner started in the poultry business in 1935 and in 1941 he purchased the Leo Hatchery and combined the business and has built a new building and installed the latest of equipment for both hatching and the storage and refrigeration of poultry. The pictures here give a pretty good idea of the ideal location and the excellent facilities that Miller's now have.

To complete his service and to familiarize the raiser of the region with his policies and services, Mr. Miller also features a full line of feeds, remedies and supplies. There you will find displayed all of the equipment that the modern poultry raiser needs to make his activities pay him profitably.

With a capacity of 92,000 eggs, this hatchery has been able to meet even the most strongest demands of the farmer and it holds the unusal record of an expanding sales in baby chicks during a period when the business throughout this section of the country has been receeding.

As a wholesaler of live and dressed poultry, the Miller Poultry Market and Hatchery has become well known by dealers and restaurants throughout a wide territory.

ZIMMERMAN WRECKING YARD



Many of us fail to realize the value of the auto wrecking concern to our community. Particularly during the past few years have we been confronted with the problem of obtaining parts for our cars and in most cases the answer has been such concerns as the Jesse Zimmerman Wreckiny Yard at Grabill. For seventeen years Mr. Zimmerman has been active in this business and you will find an almost endless array of parts, windshields, etc., for various makes and models of cars, as well as parts and accessories for farm equipment.

In addition to the car wrecking business the Zimmerman yard has for a number of years been active in the building of rubber tired farm wagons as are shown in these pictures. Inthe larger you can see the sturdily built chassis that is of welded construction and the bed in the inset is made of the best of timber that has been properly seasoned and dried. Many farmers of this area will testify as to the excellence workmanship and materials that go into these wagons.

If you are in the market for a wagon or wish to buy or sell parts or old cars or farm equipment, drop in and see Jesse Zimmerman.

McCRORY ELECTRIC COMPANY

One's charm or personality usually comes from within. This is equally true of the home. It makes no difference what type or style the outside may be, its interior breathes its own personality it is home in every sense of the word. Let our home reflect the charm of its own personality by making those changes or additions in the line of electrical appliances that you have been waiting for over the past few years. Drop in at the McCrory Electric Co. in Leo and see the beautiful line of Philco radios and refrigerators, the Bendix washer or the many small appliances that have been difficult to obtain during and after the war. Modern and efficently designed equipment made by these nationally known manufacturers will lend distinction to your home as well as economize upon the space and the work.

At McCrory's you will also find a wide selection of sporting goods, particularly the best in fishing equipment. For the sportsman who is looking for artificial baits there are many that have not been available until this season.

In the line of paints they feature Sherwin-Williams and Kemtone which have a surface covering for every purpose. Whether you wish to paint inside or outside, whether it is furniture or furnishings they have the paint for that particular purpose.

Mr. George McCrory, the owner, opened the store on March 6th of this year and it is open evenings until 9 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and until 6 p. m. on Mondays and Wednesday. For six years Mr. McCrory was associated with the G. E. Co. in Ft. Wayne as a maintenance electrician and then spent eight years with the Schlatter Hardware Co., before coming to Leo. With his background of experience he is well qualified to give you both sales and service in the lines which his store features.

SCHWARTZ AUTO COMPANY

The success of any business enterprise has always been proportionate to the excellence of the products that are sold and the type of service that is extended and in no field of endeavor has the competition been greater than in the automobile field. Yet this competition has created for the motorist the best in transportation at reasonable prices.

As an example look at the new Ford on display at the Schwartz Auto Co. in Grabill. In a period when you could have sold any number of cars of the older model, Ford has come to the front and built a newly designed car that offers every comfort and convenience to the driver. It offers the finest, lines perfection of mechanism and true riding and driving comfort.

In the same manner as the Ford Motor Co. has been first in their making of automobiles, so has the Schwartz Auto Co. been first in their service to the car owners of this region. Under the direction of Messrs. Henry, Harry and Arthur Schwartz they have established a sales and service that renders a complete service to cars of every make and model. As shown in the picture they have a modern service department where they can give your auto whatever attention it may need from the smallest adjustment to a complete overhaul.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

Win One, Lose Two In Past Week

The legion softball team went into action three times since last Thursday. The locals were handed a 5-2 defeat in league play at Auburn last Thursday; and then turned in their best game of the week before the home fans Sunday, when they tripped the Ball's Foundry team from Auburn, 7 to 2. This score was almost reversed Monday evening when the Butler Produce scored all their runs in the first three innings to beat the locals 7 to 3.

In Thurdsay's league game at Auburn, the Auburn Clutch put over 2 runs in the second after both teams had tallied in the frst, for enough runs for their win. The Clutch added 2 more in the fifth and the locals final tally came in the 7th.

Strikes Out 12, Sunday

Gene Deiderich had one of his best days on the mound for the locals Sunday afternoon, striking out 12 and allowing six hits over the nine innings. The legion came back in the last of the third with 2 runs to knot the game, after a couple of costly errors in the first of that inning had spotted the visitors with a 2 run lead. Ridgway walked in that third inning and after P. Moore flied out to left, Shuff clubbed a long one over the right fielders head to follow Ridgway home.. The legion went on to add a pair of runs in the sixth to break the tie and then collected 3 in the eighth.

Produce Have Three Big Innings

The Butler Produce scored all their 7 runs in the first three innings in Monday's evening game at Butler, to give pitcher Donald Baughman enough runs for a 7 to 3 win. The Produce team scored a pair of runs in the first to erase the two runs that St. Joe had picked up. They added three more in their big second inning, and ended their scoring in the third with another pair. Deiderich came in to relieve Ridgway in the fourth and held Butler scoreless the remaider of the game.

Wind Up League Play Thurs.

The locals wind up league play Thursday evening, July 29th at Auburn, when they take on the Schaab Kids in the second evenng tilt.

High School Wins from Newville

The St. Joe High school softball team won their first game of the season, Tuesday evening. They defeated the Newville Church of Christ by a 15 to 8 score. Yeiser pitched all the way for the school, and after getting in trouble in several early innings, settled down in the later innings to hold the church boys scoreless. Baker homered for the High School in the third inning.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

America's sportsmen are "going to the dogs!" But, we don't mean that their morals are getting any worse; we'll not be a judge on that topic.

A recent survey, projected over 300,000 active sportsmen, disclosed these amazing figures; 236,340 of them own dogs, with 21 per cent of this group owning more than one (they averaged three and two-thirds each), for a total of 419,720 dogs owned by 236,340 persons.

If that isn't going to the dogs", we don't know's what else you could call it! We have no figures available as to dog ownership last year or for a decade or two ago, but we'll a ham bone against a dog collar that the ownership of the hunting breeds has skyrocketed.

The answer is probably is that more and more hunters are realizing that a good dog is as essential in enjoying hunting as a gun. Our game supplies, particularly quail, pheasants and waterfowl, have taken a terrible beating in recent years through the loss of unretrieved cripples and dead brds.

Dogless hunters have been known to lose 50-75 per cent of the birds they shot, whereas sportsmen with dogs seldom show a loss of over 10 per cent of the cripples or birds shot dead.

Anyway, whatever the reason for the upped dog population, we know there'll be fewer cripples and dead upland game birds and animals left in the fields and marshes this fall because more gunners will have dogs alone.

What is the most popuar breed of hunting dogs? by a slim margin the bird dogs (pointers, setters and German shorthairs) out number the hounds. Thirty-two per cent (135,571 of the sportsmen own bird dogs; 28 per cent (120,879) are hound men

Following along with the other groups, the survey showed 68,834 sportsmen owned spaniels and 18,887 owned retrievers. Most of the dogs are trained, too, with 82.2 per cent of the dogs ready for the field or marsh.

And it all adds up to a sizeable bli for dog food and other supplies. Feeding them took $10,879,830, other supplies totalled $3,874,800. But to the sportsmen who have learned to love their canine hunting companions, this cost is only a drop-in-the bucket compared to the value of the pleasures derived from going a-field with a good dog.

Lesson for July 25, 1948

WELL might we term this a lesson on the facets of friendship. Rarely will one come upon such a splendid example of friendship in all literature. Coleridge put it well when he wrote, "Friendship is a sheltering tree." Diogenes Laertius, writing on Aristotle, says, "He was once asked what a friend is, and his answer was, 'One soul abiding in two bodies.'"

Dr. Newton

Such was the friendship of Jonathan and David—a sheltering tree—one soul abiding in two bodies. Although Jonathan's father attempted at least ten times to kill David, Jonathan was drawn the closer to David, with whose soul his was knit.

The record of this friendship is found in our scripture and devotional readings for the lesson, with the golden text from Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times."

A PRINCE SHARES WITH A SHEPHERD

JONATHAN was the crown prince apparent. David was a shepherd boy. Saul expected to place Jonathan on the throne. God had selected David.

Jonathan would, no doubt, have made a better king than Saul, his father; but he had no desire to be king when he discovered the kingly qualities in his friend, David. Not once did Jonathan ever indicate any disappointment in not becoming king.

JONATHAN STANDS UP FOR HIS FRIEND

WHEN Saul openly plotted the death of David, Jonathan begged his father to reconsider his course and spare the life of the man who had killed Goliath and had proved himself the valiant friend of Saul. This was the final test of Jonathan's sacrificial love for David. He might have remained silent, thus aiding in the death of the one man who stood between him and the throne. But Jonathan was made of the stout texture which counts no sacrifice too dear for a friend. He was willing to stand up and be counted when it meant that he would not become king. Thus we see that true friendship is not always easy. It usually is very costly, but it pays big dividends in the coin of eternal wealth.

FRIENDSHIP THAT COSTS

AND like as Jonathan stood up and witnessed his lasting friendship for David, at a very great cost, so are we today summoned to this ennobling type of friendship for Christ. "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you," he once said.

Young people find it rather costly to be loyal friends of Christ today. There are many siren voices that invite young people to take the low road—social drinking, gambling devices of one sort and another, satisfaction of sensual desires. But the true friend of Christ will withstand these voices, choosing rather the high road of Christian gentlemen.

SACRIFICIAL FRIENDSHIP

"FRIENDSHIP is the loveliest flower in the garden of humanity," according to my cherished friend, Dr. Hight C. Moore. I would add this thought—true friendship flowers in the garden of humanity, but it finds its life in the Garden of God's Perfect Eden.

I have not known one single friendship that has impressed me that did not stem from above. "How can two walk together except they be agreed?" And the only cement that will hold human hearts together—one soul in two bodies—is the grace of God.

"Friendship is as God, who gives and asks no payment," said Richard Hovey, and not until the human will is yielded to the will of God, even as was the will of Jonathan, can sacrificial friendship come to flower and to harvest.

Magic Ministery

A club of ministers who use magic to illustrate religious lessons has been formed under the name of "Magi-Ministers." Most of the members practice amateur magic. One of their favorite tricks is the passing of a handkerchief through a tube marked "Church" which changes its color from black to white, illustrating how a blackened soul may be cleansed of sin.

DOGS, TOO, HAVE CALORY PROBLEMS

Dogs, no less than their owners, have to watch their calories, writes Dr. M. L. Morris in The Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association. To fill their energy requirements, they need an average daily intake of between 30 to 60 calories for each pound of body weight, depending on the composition and quality of the food and the breed. Growing dogs and dogs of active, nervous type require the highest volume of calories. To figure a dog's requirements, it should be borne in mind that the average dry dog food sold contains about 1,100 calories per pound, while one pound of canned dog food usually furnishes slightly less than 500 calories.—Gaines Dog Research Progress.

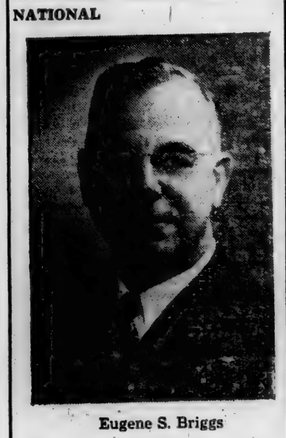
WILL HEAD LIONS INTERNATIONAL



Eugene S. Briggs

Eugene S. Briggs, Enid, Okla., is the new president of the International Association of Lions Clubs. He was elected by unanimous vote at the 31st annual convention of the Association which closed here today Briggs succeeds Fred W. Smith, of Ventura, Cal.

The convention concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by the Secretary-General and founder of the Association, Melvin Jones, of Chicago, Illinois. He reported the formation of 819 new Lions Clubs and the addition of 31,696 men to the roster of the Association in the twelve -month period ended June 30, 1948, for a total of 6,808 clubs and 358,144 members. He stated also that during the year Lions Clubs were established in four additional countries: Sweeden, Switzerland, Chile and Newfoundland. Lions International, he added is now the largest, strongest and most active service club organization in the world with Lions Clubs in 23 countries on five continents. Briggs, in accepting the presidency, sad: Peace is the number one problem of today. It is the first obligation against our efforts and resources. It is the primary obligation of our generation. Since Lions International is vitally interested in every constructve movement for world peace and good will around the world, it shalt be our constructive movement for world peace and good will around the world, it shall be our unwavering purpose to see to it that well qualified representattves of our organization attend all meetings of Specialized Agencies of the United Nations, such as UNESCO, if it appears that we can be of service in charting a way to better international understanding.

"It is a distinct privilege for me as president of Lions International, officially to appoint our esteemed Lion and retiring International Pres., Fred W. Smith, to represent Lions International at the General Assembly of the United Nations to be held this autum in Paris, France. As your President, I am calling on every genuinely devoted Lion to do his part wherever he can serve to hasten the day when good will among men shall reign upon the earth."

Do Profits Rook You?

Profit is a word that folks must utter today only in whispers. In fact, it is a nasty word, the way most people use it. And this is a pity. Actually, the word has in it a great measure of progress and once meant the results of that which was "proficient," or usefully productive. But folks today have twisted their ideas on profit around so that the word indicates to them the ability of business to take advantage of somebody, especially the worker.

Our economic processes are interesting and exciting when you understand them. Without properly understanding the ways of money, trade, and commerce, an unthinking person can become a dupe for every ISM that Dr. Utopia has to offer. It is amazing to me that I find young people and a few old ones, too, so taken in by glamorous ideas that have no basis in fact. Some of these folks dream that profit is loot. They look at profit as lacking in morals and as the worst kind of sin.

Work and Progress

The tihng that is directly responsible for human progress and human welfare is work. Work is human energy. Without work, and without the pay that people get for their human energy, progress would be at a standstill. But, there is something else. The tools, the factories, the land, the buildings—all the things men use in drawing upon their human energy—these things are simply human energy stored up for use.

Workers Like Profit

Payrolls and profits: these two items are vital to the well-run business enterprise. Nearly everybody understands already how important payrolls are to the welfare of our economic community. But not nearly so many people understand that profits also are necessary. In fact, it would be impossible to have good wages without correspondingly high profits. Then, a worker whose company makes a profit is well-blessed indeed.

Why is that so? Only a business that makes healthy profits can offer steady, good-paying jobs to the community. Only a company that makes sufficient profit can buy modern tools and replace worn-out ones. What worker does not like to operate good machinery? Only a business that makes good profits can afford to plan and to expand its facilities. In other words, all workers who think right about it would want an employer to make good profits.

How to Prosper

Many workers think that wages are paid out of profits. This is not so. Money for the work comes right out of sales and goes directly to payrolls, just as money for profit comes out of sales and goes for the use of tools and the replacement of tools. When profit is high, the chances are that wages will be good. This is nearly always true unless taxes come in and take too large a chunk, or unless the company is so much in debt that profits cannot be used for new tools.

If I were an employee of a company or working in an industry, I would be very much concerned that my employer makes a profit. I would do all I could to make a profit for him. Knowing that my chances of having a good job and of growing with the company would depend upon the success of the whole enterprise, I would work hard to keep my employer "out of the red." Then I would know that my efforts really are building a greater America.

THE high cost of just being alive always makes a good topic of conversation whether the talkers are in town or on the farm. Now we hear that farm land prices are probably near their peak. This information comes from my good friend, Dr. E. L. Butz, head of the department of agricultural economics at Purdue University.

Dr. Butz believes that this situation will continue for a year or maybe two, before a decline starts. However, he says the decline in land prices will not be as serious or as abrupt as that following 1920. There is some evidence, according to Dr. Butz, that the commodity price break which occurred in February is taking the edge off the "bull" market in land which has prevailed in recent years.

Take the doctor's home state of Indiana, for instance. The total rise in farm land prices there since 1941 is unprecedented. The index of Indiana farm real estate prices rose from 77 to 172, as of March 1 this year. Demand has dulled somewhat, however, at present prices—after the February commodity break. This break, by the way, has had a sobering effect on persons who thought that prices could not go down abruptly. Indications are that the number of land sales will be fewer for the remainder of 1948.

But the proportion of farms purchased by farmers continues high. The Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, reporting on a survey of over 500 bankers in this district, states that in the last quarter of 1947, one-third of total farm purchases were by tenant farmers who intended to operate the land they purchased. An additional 45 per cent of all purchases were by land owners adding to the size of their holdings. And the number of purchases by land speculators is insignificant. So, for the next few years, exercise caution in purchase of farm land and stay out of deep debt.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

CLOSE ONE WITH GARRETT LEGION The St. Joe Legion aided by some timely last inning hitting, pulled a 7 to 6 win out of the bag, that sent the local Sunday afternoon fans home highly elated over the way the locals annexed their 5th straight Sunday afternoon win, in that many appearances.

The strong Sunday afternoon wind that gave the outfielders a tricky job, played a big role in that last fatal innng for the Garrett Vets. The visitors, back of veteran Kenny Reed on the mound had taken a 6 to 5 lead by the time the hometowners came up for that last appearance at the plate for the afternoon. After one out, Ridgway sent a long high fly to deep left; and when the left fielder slipped in attempting to get under the wind blown drive, allowing the ball to get by him, Ridgway raced all the way home to tie the score. After a pinch hitting attempt by Bleeks failed, for the second out; Shuff rammed a long line drive in to deep left, which again gave the left fielre a hard time. This time the ball sailed for over his head, and Shuff went all the way for the winning run.

Garrett had led the whole game, taking a quick 3 to 0 lead in the first frame. The locals tied it with three in their second, but the Garrett vets tallied again in the third to hold a 4 to 3 edge. Barnes, circuit clout in the fourth with one on finished the days scoring for the visitors. The locals got close enough for their last inning blow, when Ridgway pounded one in deep left center in the fifth, with one on to make the score read 6 to 5.

Trim Corunna In League Play

After a shaky start in their postponed game with the Corunna Lutherans, which was replayed Mon. night, the legion lashed out with several big late innings to trounce the church group 17 to 7.

The Lutherans scored two runs in the second, to draw first blood. The locals came back in the third to score their first block of runs, driving over 4, and then were never behind. After Corunna tied the score in their half of that inning, the locals came back in the fourth for their biggest inning in league play this year. A long home run by Shuff with the bases clogged featured the big 7 run spree. Deiderich kept the Corunna boys pretty well throttled from there on out, allowing a pair of runs in the 6th and a single tally in 7th inning, each produced 3 runs to the last frame. The Legion's 5th and aid the cause.

Antwerp Here Sunday

Looking for their 6th consecutive Sunday home victory, the Legion has scheduled the strong Antwerp American Legion for battle next Sunday, August 1, at 2:30 at the school diamond.

The O'KAYS

By Jay Kay

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Does trap shooting improve your gunnng skill on upland game birds?

Recently, while attending a major trap shoot, we selected a representative group of shotgun enthusiasts from the several hundred gunners competing and asked that question. We were partially surprised by their opinions.

First, the majorty of those questioned believed that trap shooting did little or no good in sharpening a gunne'r abilty to his quail or pheasants or grouse or any other upland game birds if the gunner was an experienced hunter. They all agreed, however, that the novice could learn much from trap shooting that would pay divdends in the field.

Leads are different, angles are different, the timing is different! Those are a few of the things they tossed at us in answer to the question Still, we can't help but believe that any shotgun sport that teaches a gunner to point and to swing at a moving target is bound to reward him when after feathered game. Naturally, only experience in judging distances, amount of lead, etc., can perfect a gunner's ability in the essential traits for upland gunning, field, but trap shooting is bound to play a hand in developing these

One of the trap shooters we questione had this reply: "Trap shooting during the off-season keeps y. "gun-wise" and alert!"

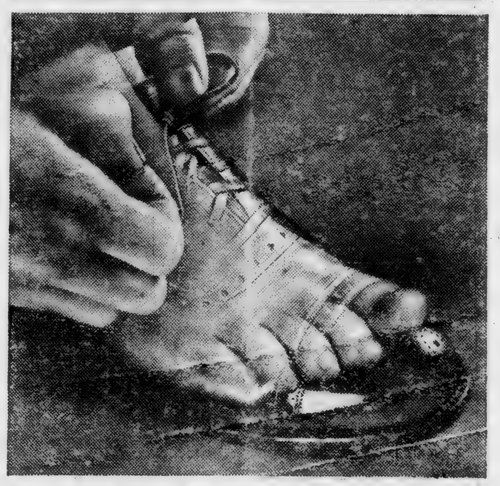
By "gun wise" he explained he meant that the gunner had the right feel and coordination when the opening day of upland game season rolled around if he had been trap shooting during the previous month. The gunner who had kept his shotgun in the closet since the last season will need a little time to get the right "feel" on the first day out of a new season, the trap shooter added.

Maybe he's right. Of course, once you've learned to shoot a gun, usually it's an art that sticks for a lifetime. And as with all sports some attain perfection with apparent ease, while others slave and work and practice to reach only average performance.

That, too, is as it should be, for if all hunters were perfect marksmen, our game supply would rapidly vanish from the fields, forest and marshlands

We all like to brag about feats with a shotgun or rifle. That's only human nature, but the real sportsman who loves the outdoors can get as much real enjoymen from a a full bag.

Photo Classics



Remember the expression, "A barefoot boy with shoes on"? Mervyn Lew, 19-year-old Los Angeles, Calif. college student, evidently had it in mind when he made this novel Speed Graphic picture—a multiple exposure shot on a single negative. Lew made the shot as an assignment for a photography course, much to the bewilderment of his instructor.

Canned Peas For Summertime

Here's a colorful summertime plate, sure to tempt weary appetites to a new interest. Canned peas, celery and pimiento team in a delightful sauce, served over filet of sole.

Fish can be fun—particularly when you dress it up for summer in a brand new sauce to add something extra special. Canned peas are the homemaker's best friend when it comes to sauce making time. They add color, body and flavor to any sauce and make an epicure's delight out of plain fare.

What's more important right now is the fact that canned peas are very plentiful and low in cost—the best buy on your grocer's shelf today. Lots of smart homemakers are buying them in cases while prices remain low, and using them in summer meal planning, salads and interesting vegetable variations.

Here's an easy canned pea and celery sauce that gives new glamour to meat patties, fish or vegetables. It's bright and colorful, and gives a good boost of precious protein, through canned peas, to less nutritious and low cost foods.

Pea and Celery Sauce
(Serves 6)

3 tablespoons enriched flour
¼ cup liquid drained from canned peas
1 14-ounce can ready-to-serve cream of celery soup
½ cup canned peas
2 tablespoons diced pimiento

Mix flour and pea liquid together to make a smooth paste. Combine with remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Serve over meat patties, fish or vegetables.

Yield: 2¼ cups.

Concrete First Used

First use of concrete in America occurred in 1820 in construction of the locks on the Erie canal.

MEAT DEALERS ARE HEROES OF FAT SALVAGE OPERATION

"To the 200,000 meat dealers in this country goes a great share of the credit for keeping current fat salvagecollections virtually on a par with war years, and the years during which ration points were paid for used cooking fat," the American Fat Salvage Committee points out.

Housewives have received both a cash and point bonus for their kitchen salvage. Renderers are in the business of picking up used cooking fat and processing it. But the meat dealer who links the homemaker and renderer, gets little reward—either monetary or honorary—for his efforts.

Meat dealers have taken in over their counters more than 700 million pounds of used cooking fat, paid homemakers in ration points and cash, and also have taken it upon themselves to remind customers to save used fats and bring them into the store.

"The effectiveness of this personal touch can never be overrated," the American Fat Salvage Committee explains. "It is probably the biggest single factor today in keeping homemakers on the job of saving fat."

"Reports from our field staff, Department of Agriculture County Agents and chain store executives clearly show that meat dealers have taken over the responsibility of keeping homemakers pepped up about fat salvage.

"American meat dealers have handled 717,175,767 pounds of used cooking fat in the last five years and 10 months and are truly the unsung heroes of the whole fat salvage operation," the statement concludes.

NEW YORK—A salute to the country's garment industry, as personified by one of the youngest and most successful dress manufacturers, Henry Rosenfeld, above, was aired by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce June 29, on its weekly program "Let Freedom Ring" over the entire ABC network.

Henry Rosenfeld, who in the short space of 6 years has become a byword to American women for dresses that are chic, expensive-looking and yet retail under $25, is the 37-year-old manufacturer who brought upper Fifth Avenue to Main Street. The story of his life, the strenuous rags-to-riches haul which has made him the world's largest manufacturer of dresses in his price line, was dramatized on the special broadcast. The program originated from Rosenfeld's showroom, in the heart of New York's garment center.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 82.

Baruch, The Scribe

Lesson for August 1, 1948

BARUCH, whose name means "blessed," was the grandson of Maaseiah, "governor of the city" under Josiah (II Chronicles 34:8), and his father, Neriah, appears to have been an official during the reign of Jehoiakim. He was a trusted friend of Jeremiah (Jeremiah 32:6-15 and 43:5-6). Tradition holds that Baruch was carried to Babylon, where he wrote the apocryphal "Book of Baruch," and died in 574, B. C., twelve years after the fall of Jerusalem.

Dr. Newton

Our golden text for this lesson is found in Psalms 119:105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path."

OUR BIBLE

"THEN Jeremiah called Baruch, the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken unto him, upon a roll of a book. And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up; I cannot go into the house of the Lord. Therefore go thou, and read in the roll, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the Lord in the ears of the people in the Lord's house upon the fasting day; and also thou shalt read them in the ears of all Judah that come out of the cities," Jeremiah 36:4-6.

How did we get our Bible? Through this simple process of God speaking through his appointed prophet, and by the faithful work of men like Baruch who served as scribes.

THIS SCRIBE OF LONG AGO

IN THE introductory paragraph I sketched briefly the story of Baruch. He was a trained man, trusted and beloved. This he had to be, else God would not have approved Jeremiah's selection of Baruch to copy what he was saying for God. And not only was he selected to write down what God was saying, through his prophet, but he was used to proclaim the words of God to the people in the Lord's house. Baruch was amanuensis, reader and distributor of the Bible—a distinguished role, indeed. Let us today be gladly ready to read the Bible to others, and to distribute and circulate the Scriptures wherever we may. Here I pause to pay tribute to the American Bible Society and all others, including the Gideons, who help to make the Bible known to all men everywhere.

A MAN ON WHOM GOD COUNTED

THUS we see that Baruch was a man on whom God counted. His work was done well, and we read that, "When they heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said unto Baruch, We will surely tell the king all of these words."

Young people will do well to ponder this incident. In the varied contacts of young Christians in this modern day, we may be used of the Holy Spirit in making known the words of God in countless ways. Thus, like Baruch, you may be used of God to make known his will unto all mankind.

BARUCH, A COURAGEOUS SCRIBE

THE full context reveals the fact that Baruch exhibited courage as well as faithfulness in his service as scribe to Jeremiah. It was not an easy task. Nor will it be easy to fill our posts as couriers of the Good News. But it was a rewarding experience for Baruch. He served his day and generation according to the will of God.

Mr. Henry Ford, Sr., believed in having a copy of the Bible near at hand wherever he might sit down in his home. I heard him say once that he had a Bible on every table in his home. "I do this in order that I may reach over and spend a few minutes with the Lord wherever I may sit down. And I always cherish the hope that others will find it a lamp unto their feet and a light along their daily pathway."

Let us give thanks for Baruch—the trusted friend who served Jeremiah, and thus served God.

Conduct

Fundamentally, the force that rules the world is conduct, whether it be moral or immoral. If it is moral, at least there may be hope for the world. If immoral, there is not only no hope, but no prospect of anything but destruction of all that has been accomplished during the last 5,000 years.

CAUSE OF BARN FIRE NEAR NEWVILLE, STILL UNKNOWN

A fire of undetermined origin, completely destroyed a large barn on the Mrs. Clark Webster farm a mile and a half north of Newville Monday, causing a loss estimated at $6,000.

Officers of the DeKalb County Farmer's Mutual fire insurance company report the loss was partially covered by insurance.

Fire departments from Hicksville and Butler were summoned to the scene but the fire ha dtoo much start to extinguish. A large two-car garage and other nearby buildings were saved by the firemen.

Several farm implements, including a hayloader, wheat drill, mower and plow were consumed in the flames along with a large quantity of hay and small grain. The contents of the building were also only partially covered by insurance.

The barn, a structure about 30 by 60 feet caught fire in a straw mow about 8:30 a. m. It was discoverd by Mrs. Webster's grandson, who was visiting her with his parents from Michigan. The fire had considerable headway before discovered. The Hicksville department was summoned and a few minutes later the Butler department.

Firemen said the building was wired and that possibly a short in a wire caused the blaze.

Mrs. Webster, a widow, said that no animals were in the barn at the time the fire broke out.

WATERLOO HOMECOMING FRIDAY WILL BE BIG EVENT

Plans are being completed this week for the annual Homecoming to be held in Waterloo on the traditional date of the last Friday in July when it is expected that there will be a large attendance of former residents of Waterloo joining with the home-town folk in a gala day.

At 11:00 a. m. the first session will be called to order from the band-stand in the Bank Park by Fern A. Morr, president. An invocation will be given by Rev. A. W. Maedows, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Waterloo. The Waterloo High School Band will play a concert which will be followed by group singing. Announcements and appointment of committees will be made before the noon adjournment.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:30 with a kiddies parade which is under the direction of H. R. Bloom as chairman.

Following the parade the program will be resumed from the band stand. Introduction of guests will take place and interviews will be made with a portable microphone a prize will be given for the oldest lady present and also for the oldest man in attendance.

From 2:00 to 3:30 all children will be entertained at the Lyric theatre with a motion picture show. Mothers are asked to volunteer personally to act as chaperones at the theatre.

The evening program of music, and an exhibition of modern magic by Vernon Carr of Fort Wayne will get under way at 7:30 to full and equal political participation; (2) right to equal opportunity of employment; (3) the right of security of person and (4) the right of equal treatment in the service and defense of our nation. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 651½ to 582½. The vote does not indicate relative strength of the opposing forces since many states voted against the resolution merely to uphold the resolutions committee which had adopted a compromise plank on civil rights.

Fighting Words Weld Party

The platform differs from the Republican platform in some essentials —it demands repeal of the Republican Taft-Hartley labor act and declares it has proven a failure; it demands repeal of the discriminatory taxes on oleomargarine; it pledges to oppose any revision of federal laws "designed to curtail the most effective functioning of farm cooperatives." This is interpreted to mean the party goes on record against change of the tax-exempt status of farm cooperatives. As a matter of fact the platform supports all forms of cooperatives and "other democratic associations for the purpose of carrying out any proper business operations free from any arbitrary and discriminatory restrictions."

The foreign policy plank pledged continued support of the Truman doctrine, the Marshall plan, the United Nations, the Good Neighbor Policy with respect to South America; and, taking a slap at the Republicans, pledged sufficient appropriations to carry out the will of the congress on its foreign commitments.

Truman's Opposition Lacked Leadership

In the hectic days prior to the roll call of states, the revolt against the nomination of President Truman, followed much the same pattern that was evident in the Republican convention held in the same hall only a few short weeks before . . . the opponents of the President could settle on no single leader to make the race.

So it was in the GOP convention . . . opponents of Governor Dewey could settle on no concentrated opposition. So the President ran away with the nomination on the first ballot as Dewey did on the third.

While many of the faces of bygone glory were at Philadelphia and the ghost of Franklin D. Roosevelt still hovered over the conglomeration of factions which always has made up the Democratic party, there was no single leader able to cement these factions into unity as Roosevelt and his brain-trusters did through four national conventions, one of them here at Philadelphia in 1936.

While some sources sought to interpret this factionalism in the convention as a "wake" or a "breaking up" of the party, the political history indicates there has always been such factionalism in Democratic conventions. This factionalism or sectionalism has been brought about geographical and political philosophy factors . . . the south . . . the liberal element, labor, even religion and race.

As a matter of fact in only three conventions since the civil war has this factionalism been brought together with any degree of national unity . . . the 1884 Chicago convention which first nominated Cleveland; the 1912 convention at Baltimore which nominated Wilson and the 1932 Chicago convention which first nominated Roosevelt. In all three the cement of unity was a national crisis.

A great many of the delegates believed the nation again faces a major crisis . . . that any day some incident may touch off World War III. Hence they sought Gen. Eisenhower as a national leader who could weld the party into unity. Eisenhower refused. Then they turned to the liberal and New Dealer Justice William O. Douglas. He refused. Then in attempting to center on someone else revolters could find no one.

Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida, one of the better known liberals, put himself forward. But the big states . . . California, New York, Illinois refused to take him and swung back into the Truman column after James Roosevelt, son of the late President, had been severely chastised by his own California delegation.

The south wouldn't accept Pepper's liberalism. So. Gov. Ben T. Laney, of Arkansas, was tossed into the ring by conservative and reactionary southerners who put states rights above civil rights. Party caucuses were bitter.

Barkley's Keynote Sparked Enthusiasm

The delegates were whipped into something like old-fashioned "democracy" when Barkley delivered his blistering, fighting keynote speech. The veteran Kentuckian was given a 28-minute demonstration. These delegates were just waiting for something to cheer over, to lift the morale from the bitter depths of factionalism and Barkley gave it to them. He speeded up the tempo of the convention so that by the third day there was some evidence of the will to win and to fight for the nominee of the convention.

So the pattern of this 29th quadrennial convention of the Democratic party was set with the goal of whipping into being enough unity to convince the American people the nation faces a new crisis with national security even more important than domestic issues and that a cohesion of the Democrats, the liberals and the independents is again necessary for the common welfare. Democrats have never won an election except on that issue . . . that and the record of the 80th Congress will be the issue on which they must pin their hopes in 1948.

Due to the absence of competing downtown headquarters at the various hotels, such as was the case in the Republican convention, there was not quite the activity and enthusiasm engendered among delegates at this convention. Aside from this fact however, the convention hall pageantry was just as hectic and inn all probability these Democratic delegates wanting desperately something to cheer about, cheered al the louder for their speakers and the demonstrations were just as vigorous and noisesome as the Republican convention held here such a short time previous.

Comparatively, the convention setup was identical. Some of the state delegations had been changed around to give the more favored Democratic states better positions with regard to the speaker's podium.

THERE WAS DANCING in the streets of Philadelphia during the Democratic convention. But it wasn't Democratic delegates. The traditional Mummers parade was staged for free for the benefit of the delegates. During the Republican convention three weeks before the Mummers show was staged in Philadelphia stadium at $2 a head, attracting some 30,000 people. Perhaps the convention committee thought the Democratic visitors less prosperous than their Republican cousins.

DEMOCRATS SAY REPUBLICANS put 'em up to it. Maybe it was because convention goers will buy almost anything. But vendors were offering buttons reading "draft Pershing."

LESLIE BIFFLE, the sergeant-at-arms, had strict orders to keep folks out who didn't have the proper credentials. But the guards were looked out of their own dressing room at convention hall one session when the lock jammed.

DEMOCRATIC CHALLENGE

Truman, Barkley Head Ticket

By WALTER A. SHEAD

WNU Washington Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—In a thrill-packed convention, probably the most dramatic in modern political history, President Harry S. Truman was nominated for a full term for the presidency and the veteran Senator, Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, was named his running mate to head the Democratic ticket for the 1948 campaign.

And to feed the flames of a bedlam-rocked convention hall, the President broke all precedents and threw down the gauntlet to the Republicans by literally daring them to carry out their platform pledges at a special session of the Congress which he said he would call July 26.

While sweltering delegates who had battled each other throughout a day in which irate southerners had staged an open revolt against the civil rights plank of the platform, cheered themselves hoarse, the President openly challenged his Republican opponents in a ringing declaration of war:

Let's see if their platform means anything. If it does then we can get some action in 15 days.

The President's spirited and bristling speech of acceptance topped and threw into the background events which at any other convention would have been top news . . . the walk-out of the Mississippi delegation . . . the threat of a rump southern convention at Birmingham . . . the spanking of the southerners who were given a sound drubbing when they sought to challenge the report of the platform committee and the delegates by overwhelming vote adopted a more drastic civil rights plank . . .

Checking off the promises of the GOP platform on domestic issues, the President, in a fighting mood which swept the delegates and galleries in rafter-rocking applause, declared he had time after time asked the Republican-controlled 80th Congress for action on the very pledges made in their platform. But they won't get away with promises, he told the packed convention hall.

He said that he would demand that the special session of the congress take action to halt high prices, to aid education, a national health law, civil rights, increase in minmum wages, extension of social security, funds for public power and cheap electricity, an adequate displaced persons' law to substitute for "the anti-semitic and the anti-catholic law they provided" in the 80th Congress.

The dramatic climax of the convention overshadowed the fight for the presidential nomination which became a rout when the southerners switched from Governor Ben Laney, of Arkansas, their announced candidate, to Senator Richard B. Russell, of Georgia. The only ballot vote was 263 for Russell and 947½ for Mr. Truman.

One highlight of the convention was the platform fight on the floor over the civil rights program. Southern delegates led by Gov. Dan Moody, of Texas, offered a minority report to the platform committee report containing a states rights program to supplement the civil rights plank adopted by the committee. Not only did the convention snow under this southern states offering by a vote of 925 to 309, but the convention then immediately adopted a minority report offered by the California, Wisconsin and Minnesota delegations spearheaded by Mayor Hubert J. Humphrey, of Minneapolis.

This plank paid high tribute to President Truman for his civil rights stand and called upon the congress to support the President in (1) the right

Convention Briefs

PUMMELING HOME HER charge that Republicans were responsible for high prices, Mrs. India Edwards, director of the Democrats Women's Division of the National committee, waved a juicy, raw T-bone steak above her head as she addressed the delegates. She said the steak cost her $1.10 a pound at a Philadelphia butcher shop. Other women speakers highlighted the high cost of housekeeping because of inflated prices.

Mrs. Dora Wilder Passes Away

Funeral services for Mrs. Dora Wilder were held Monday afternoon at the Coburn Corners Church of Christ. Mrs. Wilder, 78, who had been ill for the past three year and bedfast since February, passed away quietly at the home of her son Lehr, at Coburn Corners, at 7 o-clock Saturday morning.

Dora Wilder was born near Upper Sandusky, Ohio, October 26, 1869. She was the daughter of William and Nancy Jane Shiver. Younger brothers James and Edward died while young men. The family moved to Antwerp, where Dora attended school. At the time of her death, she was the oldest living graduate of Antwerp High School.. She taught school for twelve years in Caryall Twp., near Antwerp, at Whiteville, Ohio, and later with her husband in the state of Ky..

She was married to W. W. Wilder of Somerset, Ky., on June 6, 1897. To this union was born one son, Lehr.

She was, before moving to Ind., in 1920, an active member of the Methodist Church at Antwerp. She was a member of the Official Board of that church for many years. After moving to Ind., in 1920 she attended the Coburn Corners' Church of Christ until illness kept her at home. She was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of Post 283 of The American Legion, and was past president of that organization. The charter will be draped for a 30 day period in rememberance of their loyal member and past president.

Mrs. Wilder led an active life and made many friends. She liked to do for others, but didn't like others to do for her. Her greatest concern while ill, was that she not be a burden to her family.

Since the death of her husband, seven years ago, she lived most of the time with her son, Lehr, and his wife Berniece. Mrs. Wilder took great pleasure in her grandchildren, Billy, Mary and Bob.

Ill for the past three years and bedfast since Feb., she looked forward to the end. Though she suffered much during the last week of her illness, death came to her quietly and peacefully, at 7 o'clock, Saturday morning.

She Departed this life aged 78 years, 9 months, and 5 days. Though she will be greatly miss by her family and friends, they (knowing how she suffered) rejoice with her, that she has rest, eternal rest, with Christ.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to take this privilege of thanking everyone who did any act of kindness, sent cards and letters to our mother during her long illness, for the beautiful floral offerings, the pall bearers, Mrs. Laughman for the music, the Auxiliary of the American Legion and to Mr. Sennett for his words of comfort.

JULY RAINS HAVE ENCOURAGE POTATO BLIGHT IN MUCK FIELDS

Frequent July rains have been favorable for the development of the potato late blight disease in northern Indiana muck soil fields. Reports of damage in some fields have been received by the department of botany and plant pathology, Purdue University.

Dr. R. W. Samson, plant pathologist and potato specialist, advises growers who have found the disease in their fields to promptly apply two or more sprays at five-day intervals. In view of the possibility of further blight- promoting rains, such emergency spraying is urged. Bright, warm, dry summer days may permit the return to the usual weekly spray schedule, which is followed by many muck soil potato growers.

Recommended sprays for blight control are bordeaux mixtures, Dithane D-14, Dithan Z-78 and Parzate. Information on the use of the sprays is available from the county agricultural agent.

Spray applications may be needed at five-day intervals again throughout September to prevent late blight tuber rot, Dr. Samson points out. Such frequent sprays were actually needed last fall in many fields until the vines were killed as a result of maturing, frost or vine killers such as the defoliants. The same situation is likely to be even more true this September, the potato specialist says.

On Tuesday Morning of last week Edgar Lysher took his mother, his aunts, Anna Koch, Lee Jackson and Mrs. Pearl Jackson to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gerig in Auburn where they were joined by Mrs. Cora Markins of Newville, and a neighbor lady of the Gerigs. Mr. Gerig put them all in his station wagon and away they went to spend their cottage at Lake George. On the a jolly day with the Gerig family a way over Mr. Gerig showed the ladies over his 200 acre farm and the twin lakes that belonged to the farm. Then on to view the scenery from "Hell's Lookout" supposed to be the highest point of land in Ind The view was wonderful and was greatly enjoyed by all. Then on to Lake George, where Mrs. Gerig and her helper, Mrs. Daisy Brandon had a nice dinner, including gooseberry pie, waiting which was enjoyed by all. The highlight of the afternoon was the motor boat ride around the lake. Aunt Cora was afraid of the water, but by use of much persuasion on the part of Mrs. Brandon, and a minimum of push and she was finally assisted in the boat where she bid a sorrowful farewell, to her friends, convinced she would never see them again.

Forrest took each boat load to the Michigan end of the lake to gather water-lillies. Lake George is partly in the state of Mich. After supper the ladies tried to express their thanks for a happy day long to be remembered, and after Forrest took a picture of the group, good byes were said and Forrest brought us home. The Gerig's are grand entertainers and it was a great treat for the old ladies, 5 of whom were past 80 years old, to be their guests at the lake.

Large Barn Destroyed By Fire Monday Evening

Three Departments Uanble To Stop Blaze That Swept Large Barn On Wilbur E. Walter Farm

The second large barn in this community, within a week was, totally destroyed Monday night with and estimated loss of about $8,000 dollars, with only a small amount of the loss reported to be covered by insurance. Just last week, fire completey destroyed the large barn on the Webster farm near Newville wtih a loss ranging up to an estimated $5,000.

The St. Joe, Spencerville and Auburn fire departments were called to the Walter farm, south and west of St. Joe, but they could do nothing to save the barn as it was all in flames when they arrived. The three departments gave all of their attention in saving the home and nearby buildings and a nearby oats field.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Walter, moved onto the farm this spring.

The barn about 74x80 had just been enlarged by the addition of a milkhouse 10 by 20 feet. The barn has been under remodeling for some time, and had been enlarged by about 4,000 feet of floor space. The repair had not been fully completed and a more complete coverage of insurance to cover the additions to the structure, had been planned as soon as carpenters had finished.

There was no livestock in the barn, but there were 1,600 bales of hay and 1,000 bales of straw. A milking machine and milk cooler were also in the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walter had completed the milking shortly before 8 o'clock and returned to the house when smoke was seen coming from the top of the barn. It is probable that spontaneous combustion set off the blaze.

Harry Hursh Dies At Ann Arbor, Michigan

Final rites for Harry G. Hursh were conducted at St. Joe and Spencerville Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Hursh died about 7 p. m. Wednesday at his home in Ann Arbor, Michigan, of leukemia, a rare blood disease. He had suffered from the ailment for several months and was bedfast for several days preceding his death.

Mr. Hursh was born at Spencerville on October 10, 1885. He operated a general store in St. Joe until about 12 years ago. He, along with his wife, moved to Ann Arbor about 6 years ago. He was employed there in University of Michigan in the hospital supply division.

He had returned to St. Joe early this spring for a short visit ,but had been in poor health at that time.

Surviving is the wife, Neva. He was a member of the Lutheran church here.

The Rev. Frank Stevenson officiated at the services which were held at the Lutheran Church here, and the burial services at White City cemetery at Spencerville.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my relatives and friends for their help and expresson of sympathy in my recent bereavement.

For Better Canning Job

For best flavor and higher vitamin content, can red ripe firm tomatoes. Blanch them, peel and pack into jars. Process in a waterbath canner. Can berries in berry juice with the addition of a small amount of sugar. Berries canned by this method will have a nicer color and flavor. Peel table ripe peaches by blanching in hot water, then cool in cold water. Firmer peaches may be peeled by dipping in a lye solution. To prevent discoloration of frozen peaches, add ascorbic acid and citric acid to the sugar or sugar syrup.

How to Lose Out

The government lost $2,000,000 a day while running the nation's railroads in World War I. That's not hay! The government operators got rid of that money even though they found it necessary to jump freight rates 110 per cent! This sad experience gives you a real-life picture of what happens in America under government management of industry. Every time we try it in America, the nation as a whole is the loser.

Compare that record with the railroad management's record in World War II. This time we kept private operation and management. There was no increase in freight rates, and the railroads paid $4,000,000 a day to the federal government in taxes. This means that under private management our people were ahead at least $6,000,000 a day. That's over two billion dollars a year!

To Suffer Most

Not long ago 21 railroad unions came out with a proposal that the government take over the railroads permanently. Surely, somebody is terribly misguided or misinformed. If our union people will study the records of government management in this and other countries, they will make no such demands. Actually, the railroad unions themselves would be the groups to suffer most under government management.

Our workers have a huge stake in the American way. If private ownership of industry is worth saving, then we must do everything we can to stave off these tendencies toward Socialism and Communism.

Best Service, More Pay

Railroads in the United States and one Canadian line are the only railroads in the world that are not government owned or government controlled. Where do you have the best railroads and the best service? In America. Our railroads offer better service at lower cost than you'll find in any other nation in the world. This is true even though the pay envelope of the American railroad worker is far greater than that of railroad workers in other nations.

It would be much wiser for our unions to call for less government strangulation in the form of taxes, not for more control. It is quite possible for a slow strangling process to bring on complete government control of railroads. We must not permit that. Our workers must continue to receive the good wages and benefits that come from railroads controlled by the railroad industry, not by an agency of the government.

Experience, Not Folly

Operating expenses of railroads have soared during the past 30 years. Yet, the railroads under private ownership have increased their efficiency, to serve the public better at lower cost. Two things have resulted from this efficiency: higher wages and lower costs to the shipping and traveling public. Nobody would expect government managed railroads to do these things. And they wouldn't.

Under government operation there is no call for initiative. Competition is not allowed to play its part in keeping us on our toes. We have high standards of living in America simply because we have freedom to act and to look opportunities in the face. We invest savings and earnings, not tax money, for better tools and modernization. Our ways have paid off. A look at nations around us shows the folly of government ownership.

Heavy Duty Loader

CLARKSTON, MICH.—500 farm leaders and representatives of the nation's press and radio attended the 1948 press demonstration of the Ford Tractor and Dearborn Farm equipment at the Dearborn Motors education farm near here. Among the sixty-four implements, designed to operate with the Ford Tractor, demonstrated was the heavy duty loader pictured above. It looks complicated but it's simple: drive the tractor under the frame, fasten six bolts and you have a power shovel, crane or hoist by merely changing attachments. With different attachments, farmers can excavate and move dirt, lift and stack baled hay, fork and load manure, shovel and elevate grain, or clean away snowdrifts.

HORSE SHOWS AGAIN TO BE BIG EVENTS IN STATE FAIR PROGRAM THIS YEAR

The heaviest advance ticket sale in history and a bulging list of entries already are giving a record-breaking aspect to the $50,000 Indiana State Fair Horse Show which wil lrun Sept. 5 through Sept. 10.

The will be shows at noon and at 7:00 p. m. daily except on Friday, Sept. 10 when there will be only a a night show.

Lt. Goveernor, Rue J. Alexan-. director of the show, urged that best seats for the show may be obtained through the advance sales. Box seats will be $2.20 each with other seats priced at $1.80, $1.22 and 85c. Money orders or checks should be sent to the Indiana State Fair, Indianapolis 5, Ind.

One of the highlights of the show will be four appearances by Wayne King and his nationally know famous dance orchestra. They will play at the evening shows on Sept. 7, 8, 9 and 10.

With entries due to close Aug. 10, arrangements already have been made to accomodate the greatest number of horses in the history of the event. Entries already have been received from Arizona, Texas and Oklahoma. Extra box stalls for 150 horses have been built and others will be constructed as necessary. New tanbark and other improvements also have been added to the Coilseum arena, long considered one of the finest in the country.

Judges will be Albert J. B. Beasley of Fort Worth, Tex., and Arthur Roberts of Lexington, Ky., for saddle horses; H. F. Elliott of Decature, Ill., for walking and western horses; Charles J. Barrie of Teaneck, N. J., for heavy harness, harness show ponies and hunters and jumpers; and Jere Barnes, assisted by R. J. (Rusty) Bradley, national president of the Quarter Horse Breeders' Association, both of Electra, Tex., for the quarter horses.

George Swinebroad of Lexington, Ky., will serve as the announced, assisted by Chuck Galloway of Connersvile, Ind.

LOSE LAST LEAGUE GAME—Schaab Kids only scored in one inning in the league final at Auburn last Thursday evening, but that was a big, 4 run, 6th, and was enough to send the locals down to a 4 to 2 defeat; and enable the kids to tie the Auburn Legion for first place in the league standings.

Deiderich, pitching one hit ball until the sixth, seemed to be having one of his best games of the year. The locals had tallied for single runs in the first and 6th, and the two run lead seemed to be enough until the Kid's broke loose with a barrage of base hits in the sixth. Schaabs batted all the way around in that inning, bunching 5 hits, and coupling them with two errors for ther four runs.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

In past years we've always been a little sorry to see August roll around—at least from a fishing standpoint for this month usually means extremely hot weather and comparatively poor fishing.

But this year we don't feel too badly about it, for we have been listening a lot in recent weeks to Frank Steel, that veteran fresh water fisherman who specializes in outwitting the finny gamesters with a thermometer.

Now Frank doesn't use a thermometer for bait or a bobber or anything like that. But he does let a thermometer determine where and how he'll fish. It's that simple, to hear him explain it.

First of all, Frank's thermometer theories are based on the fact that fish are cold blooded animals, with their body temperatures always the same as the water in which they're living. And, like humans, the fish have certain temperatures that they prefer.

The largemouth bass, for instance, enjoys his water habitat to be around 70-72 degrees. Naturally a bass can live in water that is warmer or colder than that, but as the temperature goes up or down its activities vary accordingly. The fish will be most active-- and better for fishing--when it's 70-72 degrees. If its 80 degrees, a bass will loaf around in the deep water, feed only as much as necessary to get by, and, as a result, be poor target for the fisherman. The same is true when the water is too cold.

So if you're a bass fisherman and want to whip the "Dog Days" of fishing bug-a-boo, get a good stream or lake thermometer, then visit your favorite bass spot. Row out from shore a few yards and take a surface reading. If the thermometer shows the water to be around 70 degrees, fish with surface or near-surface lures. You most likely will find the bass near the top.

But if your thermometer shows 75-80 degrees, better dig doown in the old tackle box for some deep-running plugs or spoons that will travel down eight to 12 feet in the When the surface temperature is around 80 degrees, it usually will be about 10 degrees cooler down eight to 10 feet.

If you find the surface temperature in your favorite water over 80 degrees ,forget all abqut artificial lures and head for the nearest worm or minnow dealer. Live bait can be fished successfully down 20-25 feet, and you'll have to go that far to find 72-degree water when it's over 80 degrees on the surface.

If you're a middle-of-the-day fishermen and don't mind the scientific approach, the thermometer idea probably will put more fish on the stringer. At least we're going to try it this month for we always have hated to crawl out of bed at the crack of dawn. And to catch bass on the surface in the hottest weather it is frequently necessary to fish at daylight or late in the evening and at night. Shoreline water is cooler then and, since the bass must eat sometime, it is late or early in the day when you'll find them in the shallows feeding.

ACCIDENT ON FARMS SHOW ALARMING INCREASE SINCE 1944

Joining in today's special emphasis on traffic safety in the observance of National Farm Safety Week. the Indiana Traffic Safety Commission warned that an alarming increase is occurring in the proportion of fatalities on rural highways.

Four startling traffic statistics emphasize that concentration of both drivers and police on safety efforts in the rural areas will pay off in the, saving of lives, James D. Harrison, Commission director, said.

(1) Two-thirds of the traffic fatalities in Indiana the year round are occurring on rural highways, according to State Police records.

(2) During the recent six-week statewide vehicle safety check, 84 of 98 fatalities occurred in rural areas - -a proportion of 7 to 1, compared to 80 rural and 44 urban fatalities in the like period last year.

(3)One out of every ten persons (men, women and children) killed on Indiana highways is a productive farm laborer.

(4) National Safety Council figures show that motor vehicle deaths to farm residents increased from 4,000 i n1944 to 5,500 in 1945, to 7,000 in 1946. The toll in 1947, according to preliminary estimates, was fully as high as in 1946. This means that motor vehicle deaths of farm residents has increased 52 per cent since 1944.

SCRIPTURE: Jeremiah 38:1-39; 18.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 25:31-46.

Ebed-Melech, The Ethiopian

Lesson for August 8, 1948

ARE you ready for a real story? Then turn to Jeremiah 38, and read on to verse 18 in the 39th chapter. This interesting story reveals a hero, Ebed-melech, by name, which means "the king's slave." This may have been his official title rather than his personal name. Anyway, he is the hero of our story, and a very admirable hero, indeed.

Dr. Newton

He was a Negro, and Ethiopian eunuch, in charge of the king's chambers. Zedekiah, as the story reveals, held Ebed-melech in high esteem. He was, obviously, a most honorable man. How he had come to know Jeremiah, and to esteem him so highly, is a subject for profitable contemplation. The devotional reading, Matthew 25:31-46, offers final opinion on the value of Ebed-melech's ministry to Jeremiah. The golden text, "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men," Galatians 6:10.

JEREMIAH'S FRIEND

EBED-MELECH was Jeremiah's friend. When he saw what the princes had done to Jeremiah, he went to the king and begged him to allow him to draw Jeremiah out of the mire in the dark dungeon. He know that Jeremiah would soon die in this awful place, and Ebed-melech risked his life in making the request to rescue Jeremiah. The wonder is that the princes had not ordered Ebed-melech slain. Evidently, they recognized the hand of God.

Like as this Negro servant in the long ago served God by rendering kindness to a man of another race, so may we today serve God and civilization by good will and kindly service to all races.

FREEDOM THROUGH A SLAVE

THE story of Ebed-melech's kindness to Jeremiah lifts to ennobling example the act of a slave on behalf of freedom. The world's benefactors are those who understand freedom, and cast themselves in utter self-forgetfulness into the struggle for right against wrong.

What had Jeremiah done to receive such harsh treatment? He had delivered God's message to the people of Jerusalem, warning them that the city would be taken by the Chaldeans, and how they might escape destruction. Jeremiah was proclaiming freedom—not always a popular course. For this effort to help the people, he was thrown into the muddy dungeon. This servant of the king was the only man in Jerusalem who understood the purpose of Jeremiah.

A FRIEND INDEED

GRANTED permission from the king to rescue Jeremiah, Ebed-melech devised prompt methods of letting down old pieces of rope and rags, telling Jeremiah how to fasten them under his arms, and with the aid of thirty men drew him up from the mire, and brought him into the court of the prison.

And then God spoke words of great reward to Jeremiah on behalf of Ebed-melech. "But I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord; and thou shalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid. For I will surely deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a prey unto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord."

WHO SIDES WITH GOD

EBED-MELECH'S noble ministry to Jeremiah lifts up a banner for every true follower of the Lord. Who sides with God must always win. That is the lesson of the lesson. We should never have known about this Negro, had he not cast his all on the side of God.

"Who sides with God must always win,
No cause to him is lost."

It seems clear to me that God designed us to live in society—just as He has given the bees the honey; and as our social system could not subsist without the sense of justice and injustice, He has given us the power to acquire that sense.

By EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

FARM animals can't tell you when they're sick or explain where "it hurts." They rely on you to keep watch over them and help them. Remember, there are no hypocondriacs among our four-footed friends. Let's discuss a few sicknesses to which apimals are subjected.

I heard of an odd thing the other day. A four-month-old Holstein calf died with severe convulsions, obviously caused by poisoning. A veterinarian was called—and he tracked the cause back to 30 years ago. At that time the farmer took down a painted sign and stored it in one of his outbuildings. The farm changed hands, and the sign was forgotten until last winter.

The present owner, in repairing the calf pen, looked around for something to place against the rough concrete wall. The vet's investigation led straight to that 30-year-old sign. It was found that the calf had licked paint off it. As old as it was, the paint contained enough lead to poison and kill a valuable farm animal. Another calf in the same pen was given protective treatment and suffered no ill effects.

In a roundabout way, your hogs are walking in the valley of death, too, if you feed them garbage. Rats and garbage have been found to be probable sources of many cases of salmonella infection in swine. Livestock research in Puerto Rico revealed that when the organs of 50 apparently healthy pigs were examined, salmonella infection was in 20 of them. At the same time, a large number of rats in the same locality were examined. More than half were found to harbor that infection. These rats had access to the garbage fed to the pigs.

This experiment can be cited as further argument for vigorous rat control measures to protect the health of farm animals.

COUNTY AGENT PAINTING AT STATE FAIR

Reprinted from The Saturday Evening Post, Copyright 1948, The Curtis Publishing Company.

Here is the Norman Rockwell painting of Herald K. Rippey, Jay County Agricultural Agent, which will be featured in the Fine Arts Department at the Indiana State Fair, September 3 through 10. The painting is one of several made by Mr. Rockwell for an article which appears in The Saturday Evening Post. The painting will not be eligible for a prize inasmuch as the art exhibit is confined to Hoosiers. Adolph Dehn, well known New York artist, will judge the show.

PRE-SCHOOL EXAMINATION

PARENTS of children old enough to enter nursery schools and kindergartens in the fall, if they are wise, will take these children to a physician immediately for a complete check-up.

Whooping cough, diptheria, smallpox and tetanus (lockjaw) are perils that every child faces from birth. Fortunately, medical science has provided a safeguard against these dreadful dangers through means of immunization. If parents wait until the child enters school to be immunized, he will lose time during the first month or two.

The examination should reveal any physical defects or handicaps that need to be corrected before school opens. Special attention must be paid to the teeth, tonsils and adenoids, and to possible infections in the nose and throat. If the tonsils and adenoid need to be removed, this should be done. If the child needs glasses, he should get them before school starts.

The child may have been protected against whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox by inoculation with vaccines and toxoids, but the doctor may feel that it is necessary to give the child a booster dose before he comes in contact with large groups of children.

Until school opens, the child should play, rest and build up his health. During this period the child should sleep at least ten hours a night. While exercising, the child will need a diet with plenty of citrus fruits, eggs, meat, whole grain cereals, milk and vegetables.

GOOD PROSPECTS SEEN FOR HOOSIER PEACHES

Indications are for an excellent peach crop in 1948. Prof. C. L Burkholdre, department of horticulture, Purdue University, reports that the top producing area will be around vincennes where a full or partial crop will be harvested for the sixth year. The upper tier of counties in Indiana also have prospects for an excellent crop. However, a few areas even in the lower third of the state experienced unfavorable freezing weather last January.

The estimated corp for the nation is 72 per cent of last year. The large estimated crop reduction is due, in part, to the severe injury to the peach crop in Georgia and North and South Carolina.

Harvesting in southern Indiana will start about the normal time, or a few days earlier, that is, the middle of August. Market conditions should be favorable for Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois peaches, Prof. Burkholder said.

The quality of the peaches is expected to be satisfactory. Growers met the early curculio attack (an insect which bores into the peaches) with a barrage of sprays and dusts which included the use of the new BHC, also known as 666. Some damage has been experiencer from Oriental Fruit Moth. Indiana growers are planning to give specal attention to both second brood curculio and second and third brood Fruit Moth, according to Dr. Eric Sharvelle, pant pathologist, Purdue.

Most growers were also alert to the presence of Brown Rot Spur Blight and applied protective sprays in the full pink and early bloom period. If rainy weather shoud continue to prevail during the three-the special control measures a-will need to give special attention to week period before harvest, growers gainst this saboteur of peaches in transit, Dr. Sharvelle warns.

DEKALB COUNTY ONE OF NINE INDIANA COUNTIES TO HAVE WHEAT CROP INSURANCE FOR 1949

DeKalb County will have wheat Insurance for 1949. The new policies are continuous with the provision that the farmer may cancel at the end of the first year if he wishes to do so. The cost of the new wheat Insurance policy is six tenths (0.6) of one bushel per acre; or less than one half of the cost of the present polices, which expire this year.

The farmer who purchases a new wheat Insurance policy is protected against loss of his investment and it is anticipated that more than 1000 policies will be sold in DeKalb County during the next six weeks.

Glen Heffley, Clayton Hartman, E. J. Mertz, Lee Wise, Brooks Trenary, John Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rosenberry, Eileen Culler and Arthur H. Lautzenhiser were in Indanapolis one day this week to hear Wheat Insurance explained by John Thompson, Earl Nikkel and G. F. Geisler all of Washington D. C.

COUNTY 4-H CLUB PICNIC HELD LAST WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday, July 28, the county-wide 4-H Club Picnic was held at Eckhart Park in Auburn. There were 225 4-H boys and girls present.

This picnic was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the county extension office. The Chamber of Commerce furnished refreshments for the club members.

In the morning a softball game was held between Richland township and Smithfield township. The final score was 17 to 9 in favor of Richland township. The final game was played off when Rchland township trounced the 4-H adult leaders with a score of 18 to 7.

Entertainment which was enjoyed after the picnic dinner featured the Hilo Islanders which consisted of Mary Ann Hinsey, Agnes Hinsey, Beverly Grogg, Beverly Hathaway, and Greald Goings. Other numbers on the afternoon program were Don Smith and Billy Chrisman of Fairfield township who sang a duet; Beverly Reinhart from Richland township played an accordion solo; Bill Wilson from Smithfield twp., sang to the accompaniment of his guitar.

You may call it a "light" bill, but lighting's only a part of it. Actually, it's a monthly pay roll for the many electric helpers that make life easier for you.

Have you ever wondered what these helpers cost you to run? Here's a little test to see how good a guesser you are. Put down what you think it costs you to run each of the electric appliances you use for one day.

Clocks	Washer	Waffle Iron
Refrigerator	Coffee Maker	Food Processor
Vacuum Cleaner	Range	Oil Burner
Sewing Machine	Iron and Ironer	Sun Lamps
Water Heater	Toaster	Shaver
Lights	Fan and Room Heater	Power Tools
Radios	Dishwasher	Grill
	Blanket and Heating Pads

Add this daily total and multiply by 30 for your monthly total.
_____ a day x 30 days = $_____

That's your guess. Compare it with your monthly electric bill. Most people overestimate. That's because electricity does so much for so little! You're right. It's a very light bill!

JUNE OUTPUT OF OIL IN INDIANA SLIPS SOMEWHAT

Hoosier oil production slipped somewhat during June, according to the Indiana Department of Conservation's monthly report.

Two reasons for this decline were cited by John H. Nigh, director of the department. He said production from two new pools opened in Gibson county is not reflected in the June report and that many producing wells shut down for reconditioning purposes last month.

The Conservation Department's "pipe line run" report for June showed 607,213 barrels of oil as compared to 629,270 barrels in May.

A. C. Colby, head of the department's Oil and Gas division, said 133 drilling permits were issued during June. Thirty-one permits were granted to drill wells in Gibson county, 28 in Posey, 24 in Vanderburgh and 14 in Miami.

Forty-five dry holes and five producing wells were plugged in June, Colby added.

At its June session the Conservation Commission authorized completion of a communitization agreement with land owners and lease holders in the Coffee island area along the Wabash river in Gibson county. The state holds title to the river.

By communitizing four ten-acre tracts, four oil wells will be drilled on Coffee island. If each of these wells should produce 500 brarels a day--production of the last well drilled in this neighborhood--it is estimated that the state's general fund would receive a daily royalty of $840

LOOKING AHEAD

GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

"Housing" Sounds Good

Public housing proposals, like so many other measures that would take America 'way down the road to Socialism, come up in nearly every session of Congress. A government housing program, known as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, found enough support in the recent Congress to get through the Senate. It failed in the House. Bills of this type have at least nine lives, and you can expect to see more of them later.

It sounds good to nearly everybody to say that "low-income" families are entitled to housing. When the real issues are all clouded up with emotion and sentimentalism, there are some who will vote "yes" without taking the trouble to get down to facts. I, too, favor "housing." Housing is essential for everybody. But I am also aware that the needy, the unemployable, the very lowest-paid workers, do not get into public housing projects.

What Is Low Income?

From all reports, the situation at a 550-family unit government project in New York State is typical. The law states that a family earning more than $1,700 cannot qualify there for an apartment. Yet, half the families in the project have incomes above the minimum, some up to $8,000. Only a very few destitute families ever get into government housing. They cannot pay the high maintenance and operating costs. Even government rents are too high for them.

I say these things to shed light on the arguments of the planners, who dote on the goodness of the government. Their sentimental propaganda serves no purpose but to mislead. The T-E-W bill promised to build homes for "low-income" families. Perhaps there are 10 million, 20 million, or maybe 30 million. What's the measuring stick for a "low-income" family? Who would decide about this? And where would they be put up?

To Get the Vote.

A joint committee of the 80th Congress found that the Federal Public Housing Authority, even with a "dormant" program, employed 6,571 persons and used up a budget of more than $11,000,000 a year. A major part of the FPHA's activities were devoted to creating a desire on the part of the public to depend completely upon a benevolent government. Nor has the FPHA overlooked its opportunities to set up systems of political patronage.

The T-E-W bill calls for 500,000 units of housing over the next five years. Despite the tremendous cost of $7 billion, this amount would not even begin to satisfy all the "low-income" families. But it would be enough to satisfy many a politician. Think of the possibilities for keeping the party vote in line. Why couldn't the government projects be put up where they would bring in the vote?

Despite all these dangers, the sorry part is that public housing can give us no expanded production of materials, no additional skilled construction workers. In short, it cannot relieve the housing shortage. Besides real discouragement to more private housing construction, the government would extend its powers over all the people through public housing. We must not be fooled this way into accepting Socialism.

Your Community Presents . . . . . .

KNISELY NATIONAL BANK

The constructive operation of a banking institution is one of the most essential services to any community, but it is one that must be handled by people who are well versed in all details of modern finance and economics. Banking service does not mean just the handling of depositors' funds and turning them into responsible holdings ,but consists of a great many departments coonducting diversified activities along commercial and financial lines.

Like any business concern the character of an institution such as the Knisely National Bank of Butler is best reflected in its history and its present international organization and activities.

Started as a private bank in 1882, it was incorporated as a state bank in 1907 and as a national bank in 1934. As such it is a member of both the Federal Deposits Insurance Corp. and the Federal Reserve System with resources as of last Dec. 31 of more than two and a quarter millions of dollars. There they afford the most complete banking service and whether you wish to secure a loan, purchase bonds, make deposits, etc., you will find them courteous and friendly. The officers, L. C. Harding, Pres., H. C. Springer, V.-pres., O. S. Fisher, Cashier and Faye E. Alwood, Assistant Cashier; are all local people who understand your problems and will be glad to give you any advise on financial matters whatsoever.

Lightning Warning to Farmers

Lightning tends to strike the highest point in the vicinity. This may be a barn, tree, or a man working in the field. A building adequately equipped with lightning rods affords the best protection. If you are working in a field and do not have time to seek the protection of a rodded building, lie down in a low spot in the field away from wire fences, trees, livestock and machinery. Avoid seeking shelter under trees, particularly lone trees of small groves. Wire fences and machinery should also be avoided during electrical storms because they attract lightning.

Master Lumberjack

A beaver can cut through a four-inch tree in 20 minutes.

Contour Planting Pays

Importance of planting corn around the hillsides of sloping land is seen in the records of two groups of farmers in Madison county, Ky., 15 bushels more corn per acre being produced where contour planting was used. Eighty-two farmers, who entered the 1947 Corn Derby, planted their fields on the contour and averaged 94.3 bushels of corn to the acre, said Farm Agent J. Lester Miller. In contrast, 181 farmers, planting their sloping land in straight rows, averaged only 79.3 bushels an acre.

Daily Calcium Requirement

An ounce of hard cheese furnishes one-third of an adult's daily need for calcium.

Oil Search Techniques

In searching for underground oil, various gadgets and methods are being used, including diving bells, ex-submarine chasers, radar and other electronic devices. One of the most useful detectors of promising geological formations on land or sea is the seismograph, well known in recording earthquakes. This apparatus determines the size and shape of structures deep within the earth by measuring the time taken by sound waves to bounce back to the surface after an explosion has been set off.

Remarkable Insect

Praying-mantis is said to be the only insect that can turn his head around and look over his shoulders.

OCKER SUPER SERVICE

With the shortage of automobiles brought about during the war, the average car owner has awakened to the realization that service is one of the most essential factors in keeping an automobile in good running order while at the same time keeping repair costs at a minimum. With several milllon cars on the road today that have passed the one-hundred thousand mile mark, it is interesting to note how well those cars have served their owners who have serviced their cars regularly.

In selecting a service station at which to trade, there are many factors to ob considered such as the quality of its products, the guarantee of satisfaction, the care in lubricating, washing, changing oil, etc., and the number of years that the operator has been connected with the business. The answer to all these problems is incorporated in the Ocker Super Service at Butler. Texaco and Firestone products are nationally known and recommended; they guarantee satisfaction and they afford a point by point lubrication. In washing they are careful and in the line of oils you have your choice of the best. With fifteen years right at the same corner Mr. George Ocker can say that his experience has covered almost any situation that might arise in the auto service field.

Trial by Combat

"Johnny," dad admonished, "It was very wrong for you and the boy next door to fight."

"We couldn't help it, father," the youngster replied.

"Could you not have settled your difference by a peaceful discussion of the matter, calling in the assistance of unprejudiced opinion, if need be?"

"Oh, no, father," Johnny retorted. "He was sure he could whip me and I was sure I could whip him, and there was only one way to find out."

GABLE HAS RIVAL

A housewife asked the grocery boy his name.

"Clark Gable," was the amazing reply.

"That's a pretty well-known name, isn't it?" the woman asked.

"It ought to be," the boy agreed. "I've been delivering groceries in this neighborhood for three years."

ANOTHER RECRUIT

Visitor—Well, and what are you going to be when you grow up, little boy?

Little boy—Well, after I've been President for a while to please mother, and a lawyer a while to please dad, I'm going to be the best pilot the army ever had.

TAKE FIRST GAME IN TOURNAMENT—The Legion Softball team got off to a good start in the double elimination tournament in the Y. M. C. A. league at Auburn. The locals advanced into the winners bracket by slamming a 6 to 0 shut out on the Wible Real Estate team in the second evening game of the opening round of tournament play, Thursday evening.

The Ball Brass Foundry had earlier trounced West Fairfield Lutheran by a 14 to 1 score, and will be matched against the locals Thursday evening.

The locals put the game away quite early in the game, and combined their almost flawless night in the field with Dederich's 3 hit twirling job to hold Wible's scoreless. Successive singles by Ridgway and Moore, and a double by Shuff, and two errors gave the locals three runs in the first inning. The Legion added sngle runs in the Third, fifth, and sixth. The fifth inning tally came on Shuff's home run.

Can't Argue Without being Chased

That's manager Joe Kuhel's of the Senators latest beef. And Joe's saying that every umpire in the American League has been giving his team a rough time of it every since the Nats brought about the 10 day suspenion of umpire in chief Bill McGowan. McGowan was suspended, without pay for 10 days for abusive language and other misdemeanors that the Senators said McGowan used against them.

Supposedly a closed affair now, Kuhel, who along with several of his best jockey men, Jake Early and Rick Ferrel, were given the heave ho- Sunday for protesting and making too much noise in the dugout, and manager Joe had also been given the nod to leave the bench just the day before. He says he can't even make a protest without fear of being asked to leave the field. And Joe says its all because of the McGowan affair.

There will be some hunters who'll condemn the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for the new waterfowl gunnng code. It's always that way, regardless of how liberal or how restricted the regulations are. Trying to please all duck hunters s like trying to satisfy the Russians; it just can't be done!

Probably in some past years there was room for a gripe or two about the number of day you could gun for waterfowl and the number of birds you could kill. But not so this season, for the Wildlife Service made the most comprehensive study ever attempted to learn the true picture of today's waterfowl populations. The agency has the facts; the season and the bag limits were set accordingly.

Wildlife Service Biologists, plus representatives from several states and Canadian provinces, have been snooping around for almost a year. Last winter detailed surveys were made along the Gulf of Mexico. This spring and summer workers have been counting the birds in the north land and studying breeding conditions. Even a check was made as far north as the Artic Circle.

These surveys add up to a fractual picture of just what we can expect in the way of a duck and goose crop this fall and winter And the wildlife Service, too, knows what percentage of these birds can be harvested without too damaggin an effect on the hunting in years ahead.

We'd like more days of gunning and a little larger bag limit. That's only natural, for duck shooting is a great sport. But we're siding in with the wildlife Service boys without a single complant. They know the facts and that's good enough for us.

And we can't blame the Mexicans or Candians any longer for not having more ducks and geese in the State. It is estimated that no more than 80,000 sportsmen shot ducks last fall in Canada, and that the kill was only between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 birds. The kill in Mexico probably was less than a million birds.

Just compare those figures to the 2,000,000 waterfowl gunners in the U. S. and many millions of ducks and geese killed last season.

We'll admits that we were one of the group blaming Canada and Mexico for cutting down the supply for U S. gunning. Now, after seeing these new figures, we will have to say that we judged our neighbors wrong. Were getting more than our share of birds on the U. S. flyways. So let's all take the new code in stride and abide by it. By doing this we can assure ourselves of decent gunning in future years.

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR

COMPARE the values; compare the prices; and you'll choose Chevrolet!

For to compare the values is to know that only Chevrolet brings you the Big-Car riding-smoothness of the original and outstanding Unitized Knee-Action Ride . . . the Big-Car performance and dependability of a world's champion Valve-in-Head engine . . . the Big-Car beauty and luxury of the enviable Body by Fisher . . . the Big-Car safety of Fisher Unisteel Body-Construction and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes . . . plus many another major quality advantage still not available in any other motor car in its field.

And to compare the prices is to know that Chevrolet prices are the lowest in the field . . . and that Chevrolet value continues to be the highest in its field!

That's why Chevrolet is America's No. 1 car; that's why it's the car for you!

FIRST in Riding-Smoothness! You just can't beat the genuine Unitized Knee-Action Gliding Ride for real riding-smoothness—real travelxuury—over any and all kinds of roads; and, remember, this famous "Knee-Action" ride is exclusive to Chevrolet and more expensive cars.

FIRST in Thrills with Thrift! There's nothing like Chevrolet's world's champion Valve-in-Head engine for thrills and thrift. It holds all records for miles served and owners satisfied. It embodies that extra-sound, extra-dependable Valve-in-Head design, found elsewhere only in costlier cars.

FIRST in Tasteful Beauty! You will be perfectly sure of your car's beauty-leadership when you own a car with the world-famous Body by Fisher; and this most desirable of all car bodies—beautiful from every angle, inside and out—is available only on Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

FIRST in All-Round Safety! You and your family will enjoy the triple safety protection of Fisher Unisteel Body-Construction, the Unitized Knee-action Ride and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—another combination of features found only in Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

Not Under Anything

A woman missed her gloves as she was leaving the restaurant where she had dined with her husband. Asking him to wait, she hurried back to look for them, searching first on the table and finally lifting the cloth to peer under it.

Just then a waiter hurried over to her. "Pardon me, madame," he said, "but the gentleman is over there by the door."

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

DURING this season of haying, harvest and other hard work away from the house and barn, much work around the buildings remains on the waiting list of things to do. Things are usually pretty dry around the farm this time of year, and three out of four farmers are risking their lives, their families and their property investments by permitting unnecessary fire hazards around their farms.

Barn fires are most common in summer, and they cause about 30 per cent of the total farm fire loss. Dwelling fires occur most frequently in winter, causing about 60 per cent of all farm losses by fire.

Defective construction causes more damage than any other one thing. It can almost be completely eliminated by inspection. While experienced building inspectors can readily see faulty construction in buildings, and advise you how to overcome it, the farmer himself can recognize and remove many fire hazards.

Two major causes of dwelling fires are (1) defective flues and heating systems and (2) sparks on combustible roofs. Careless use of matches and cigarettes, improper use of gasoline and kerosene, unsafe stoves and furnaces and misuse of electricity and appliances also take their toll.

You probably know that a lot of barn fires are caused by spontaneous ignition of hay barned too green. Inadequate lightning protection and carelessness with matches are also high on the list of barn fire causes.

The Rural School Fire Prevention Program is attempting to supplement the fire insurance companies' inspection services, and individual cooperation is needed. Remember, just finding the hazards will not prevent a fire. Removing the hazards will!

Andrew, The Man Who Brought Others

Lesson for August 15, 1948

MEET Andrew, brother of Simon Peter, fisherman of Galilee. Follow his career and you will account him one of the truly great men of the ages, chiefly because he was ever alert to help men on to God. He was always introducing his friends to Jesus.

There are many passages of scripture cited for this study, with the devotional reading in Luke and the Golden Text from John 1:42: "He brought him to Jesus."

WHAT ANDREW TOLD HIS FRIENDS

WHEN Andrew met Jesus, and discovered in him the Saviour of men, he went and found his brother, Simon, and said unto him, "We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ," John 1:41.

What do we tell our friends? Do we not delight to tell our friends what we have found to be good? This was the mission of Andrew—teling his friends about Jesus, for he had found in Jesus that which was good. John the Baptist had told Andrew about Jesus, and he was determined that he would tell everyone who would listen to this good news.

HOW ANDREW KNEW ABOUT JESUS

ANDREW got his impressions of Jesus firsthand. When he heard John the Baptist say, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world," he went on to inquire about Jesus, and Jesus bade him and John spend the day with him. They did, from 10 o'clock in the morning until late afternoon. That was enough. Andrew knew from that day about Jesus. He was now ready to tell others what he knew about Jesus.

Do we know Jesus well enough to tell others about him? If a fisherman could tell the story effectively, cannot everyone? But let us remember this, no man can introduce his friend to Jesus until he himself knows Jesus.

THE MAN WHO BROUGHT OTHERS

LET'S look for a moment at some of the people Andrew brought to Jesus. We begin, of course, with Simon, his brother. Here, I think, is the highest test of his ability to tell others about Jesus—bringing his own brother. It is often easier to tell strangers about Jesus than those of our own family.

And now we see Andrew yonder in the multitude, finding the lad with the loaves and fishes, and bringing him to Jesus. That is the test of seeing the right person at the right time. And again this is the acid test of introducing people to Jesus.

Again, we see Andrew sensing the fact that some young Greeks had come a long way to see Jesus. He knew how to help them. In this incident we see the final example of winning people to Jesus—cultured Greeks, who were familiar, we may assume, with the current thought of the world. But this simple fisherman of Galilee knew how to approach them, how to gain their attention, how to bring them to Jesus.

THEY WAIT FOR THE ANDREWS TODAY

THE world waits for some Andrew today. I fully believe that most people could be won to Christ if only there were enough Andrews. Rarely have I had a person to repel me when I faithfully followed the leading of the Holy Spirit to speak to such person about Jesus.

Andrew did not rely upon his own resources. He went in the might of the Lord. He knew what Jesus had done for him. He yearned to see all men enjoy their blessing. He was a simple messenger—a voice.

And God gave him words—words that fell like good seed into fertile soil. So may we today introduce our friends to Jesus. Only let us remember this—we must first know him!

NO "EASY MONEY" FROM EMPLOYMENT SECURITY DIVISION

Unemployment compensation is not "easy money" for persons who try to collect payments for which they are not qualified. The Indiana Employment Security Division usually spots a fraudulent claim before any benefits are paid on it.

Once in a while, a not-too-honest person succeeeds in claiming jobless insurance illegally for a little while. He soon finds himself in court. If he's been attempting to claim state unemployment compensation fraudulently, he faces a fine of from $20 to $100, or imprisonment for as long as 60 days or both. Penalties are stiffer for veterans who try to collect readjustment allowances to which they are not entitled - the G. I. Bill of Rights provides for a fine of $1,000 or less or imprisonment up to 1 year or both. In addition, the veteran loses his future rights to allowances.

Nobel R. Shaw, Director of the Division which handles both unemployment compensation and readjustment allowance payments, says that considering the vast number of claims processed, the amount of actual fraud cases is relatively low. In a year's time there were about 40 unemployment compensation cases in state courts. Some 90 veterans' fraud cases were taken to federal courts in the last 12 months.

Preventive methods used by the agency keep attempted frauds at a low point. For instance, applicants for unemplyoment compensation or readjustment allowance must report to a Division office regularly and claim jobless insurance simultaneously, since his reporting schedule usually conflicts with his working time.

tion is not paid to persons who refuse suitable work. Nor can those who leave voluntarily to marry or because of marital, parental, filial or other domestic obligation qualify for state jobless insurance. Likewise an individual who make a false statement concerning his earnings or other facts cannot draw unemployment compensation. A worker who loses his job because of misconduct in connection with his work also loses his benefit rights.

NIGHT WORK FOR HENS

We will be happy to assist you with your Farm Electrification problems.

Our farm representatives are available at your request without obligation.

HENS aren't fussy about what kind of light shines forth. Sunlight or electric light is just the same to them . . . and they work as long as it is light, laying eggs in proportion to the number of hours they work.

Electric lighting in the laying house during the winter months of long nights materially increases the production of eggs. Simple and inexpensive, such a lighting installation will encourage your hens to produce in the seasons when prices are highest.

PATIENCE AND FORTITUDE

Meet The Jeepster

The latest member of the Jeep family is Willys-Overland's newly unveiled sports phaeton, the Jeepster. Styled in the continental fashion, the car is a glamorous, smooth-riding descendant of its rugged forbear and is one of the first full-sized light cars to appear on the market. It is powered by the Jeep engine, and has independent front wheel suspension. The Jeepster weighs only 2500 pounds, gives as much as 29 miles to a gallon and has a low center of gravity for roadability. Willys-Overland calls it "a sun car built for fun."

Religion: Hand-Sewn

THE NEIGHBORS didn't know what Tabitha's ideas were. She never went down in history as a great thinker. What church she attended, whether she ever took part in a prayer-meeting, what her spiritual life was like, the neighbors did not say. But they cried when she was dead. She was a good woman, they knew. When Simon Peter came that way, they did not tell him about Tabitha's prayers or her peace of conscience. No dount she had these. But what the neighbors brought in to show how good their friend had been, was—"coats and garments." All made by hand, her hands; made for her poorer neighbors, widows. In those days widows were not protected by life insurance, social security or annuity plans. They could not go out and earn big money in factories. To be a widow, as a rule, meant to be in need of help. Too many of them starved. So Tabitha spent her time making clothes for the widows of her city.

Dr. Foreman

Full of Good Works

THE BIBLE says she was "full of good works." It does not say she was full of faith or full of love. Just full of good works. We can be pretty sure the faith and love, the religion, was there, but it was the good works that people noticed.

Religion in Tabitha's house was translated into the language of coats and skirts. Religion always has to be translated into something we can understand. Religion uses words, of course; books full of them. We cannot get along without them. They stand for something. But where the Christian religion is concerned, we cannot stop with words.

DUE TO MECHANICAL difficulties, this week's paper looks like something the cat dragged in.

Please bear with us while we make some vital repairs which require that we suspend publication of the News for one week.

Would They Want You Back?

THERE MUST have been a number of deceased Christians in Joppa, but the only one who seems to have been worth a miracle to bring back to life was this woman, Tabitha, or Dorcas. Her life was over, yet it was a life worth living again.

How many people would be worth bringing back to life again? How many funerals would the neighbors want done in reverse? Not many, maybe, but if the neighbors voted at each funeral, as they did at Tabitha's, on the question, "Do we want this person back again?" they would usually vote for people like Tabitha, whose religion was all hand-sewn.

What Is Service?

SERVICE IS a word much used in Christian circles. We even have the world around us using the word Department stores, government agencies, radio manufacturers, filling stations, all offer service. The trouble is that much of this is something for which you have to pay. And much so-called service is simply mending something that was not done right in the first place. Tabitha's service was of a different kind. It was genuine doing for people who couldn't do much for themselves and who certainly could not do anything in return.

Even among Christians, when we think of service we set our sights sometimes too high. We think of Telemachus, who stopped the brutal sport of gladiators murdering one another on Roman holidays. We think of great missionaries or settlement workers, or Christian statesmen like Gladstone or Kuyper. All honor to such men and women; they inspire us all. Yet they discourage us, too. For these great Christians are "special" people; they had outstanding talent, some of them even genius. They had opportunities given only to a few, opportunities that do not come in every one's lifetime.

Location of Apiaries

Bees will fly an average distance of one and one-half to two miles in search of nectar and pollen, and much farther if necessary. It is seldom practical, therefore, to locate apiaries closer than a mile apart, unless the nectar production warrants. The number of colonies in any particular region will also influence the number that should be kept in each apiary.

Indiana 4-H Girl Gets Screen Test

Jeanne LaDuke, 4-H girl from Mount Vernon, Indiana, is in Hollywood, getting a screen test for a possible role in a motion picture.

Jeanne is shown above as she was interviewed in Evansville, Indiana, recently by Robert Paige, well-known screen actor and co-producer of the film, called "The Green Promise." She is one of twenty-four girls so interviewed, out of 8,000 applicants from 43 states. Jeanne will compete with two girls from Wisconsin and one from Oklahoma for the role in the film, the four being chosen for the screen tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. LaDuke both accompanied their daughter to Hollywood. Decision as to the final winner of the part in the picture will be announced by Paige and his co-producer, Monty Collins, who wrote the original story for the film.

"The Green Promise" relates the story of a farm family struggling to improve itself without sound farm management practices. Through the efforts of the county agent, played by Paige, and by example of 4-H Club work, the family raises itself to higher standards.

The motion picture, which will start production in mid-August, will be produced by McCarthy Productions, an independent film company formed by Glenn McCarthy, Houston, Texas, businessman, Paige and Collins.

Make these 4 comparisons before you buy any car

COMPARE THE VALUE

Yes, compare the features—compare the prices—compare what you get for what you pay—and you, too, will come to the conclusion that Chevrolet continues to be first in value, just as it continues to be first in Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost, and just as it continues first in demand, year after year.

COMPARE THE POPULARITY

You can identify the biggest value in any list of products by picking out the one product which enjoys greatest popularity, year after year; and, of course, in the field of motor cars, that one product is Chevrolet—outstanding leader in popularity for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date!

COMPARE THE FEATURES

Only Chevrolet combines the Unitized Knee-Action Ride for gliding smoothness; the world's champion Valve-in-Head engine for performance and economy; Body by Fisher for tasteful beauty; and Fisher Unisteel Construction plus Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for all-round safety protection!

COMPARE THE PRICES

You'll agree with millions of other car buyers that prices—like quality—are a major consideration in these times; and just as Chevrolet's Big-Car quality is unique in its price range, so Chevrolet prices are the lowest in its field. Chevrolet costs less to buy, to run and to maintain!

Only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST PRICES . . . that's why

CHEVROLET—and Only CHEVROLET—IS FIRST!

Matherly-Trenary

Miss Doris Trenary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Brooks Trenary of St. Joe, became the bride of Chester R. Matherly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Matherly of Elkhart at 7 o'clock August 28 at the Mt. Pleasant Evangelical United Brethern Church.

The church was beautifully decorated with seasonal flowers, gladioli, palms, ferns and candelabra. The Rev. Hubbard read the marriage vows for the double ring ceremony

A 15 minute musical preceded the ceremony and was presented by Marion Baker as organist, and Russel Kruse as Vocalist. Numbers included: "You Were Meant For Me", "September Song", "Intermezzo", "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life", "Because", and at the close of the ceremony, Mr. Kruse sang The Lord's Prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Forrest Trenary ,wore a gown of white slipper satin styled with a sweetheart neckline and designed with a beaded waistline and covered buttons down the back. Her veil was of imported llusion and edged with a wide band of lace. She carried a yellow throated white orchid on a white testament. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Lenora Boger, cousin of the brde, wore an ice blue satin gown fashioned with a wide bertha. The skirt worn over a hoop, was caught up at the hem with roses. She wore a rinestone bracelet with matching earrings, a gift of the bride and carried a bouqeut of rose asters.

Miss Mary Lou Trenary, sister of the bride served as flower girl. Her dress of rose satin was styled similar to that of the maid of honor. She carried a basket of rose petals and wore a rose on her shoulder.

Robert Loomis of Butler served as best man and the ushers were Richard Weaver and Ralph Palmer both of Elkhart. They all wore business suits and were given initialed tie clasps by the groom.

The bride's mother chose a tailored blue dress with grey and black accessories, while Mrs. Matherly wore a brown and white print dress with brown and white accessories. They both wore corsages of white Gladioil and red rose buds.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridal table was adorned with a four tiered wedding cake accented by candles on either side. Those serving were Emma Trenary, sister-in-law of the bride, and the Misses Joan, Audrie, Opal, Ruth, and Alice Trenary, sisters of the bride.

The couple left for a week's trip for which the bride choose an acqua suit with brown acceessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Matherly will be at home in Elkhart, R. R. 2, on Siminton Lake.

GIRLS OF CLASS OF 48 HOLD SHOWER FOR MISS CAROL ROSENBURY

Miss Nancy Monroe with Miss Isabel Baker assisting her, was hostess to a bridal shower given by the class of 1948 girls of the St. Joe High School, last Friday evening.

Bingo was played during the evening and the prizes were given to Carol.

Refreshments of cake, punch, nuts, and mints were served. The table was decorated with cake centered with satin streamers to plates and goblets.

The gifts were presented in a decorated wheel barrow.

Guests besides the hostess, Miss Monroe, were: Mrs. Waldo Rosenbury, Mrs. Ross Culbertson, Isabel Baker, Jane Bragg, Lola Mae Davis, Marilyn Wade, Johanna Dulle, Margery Bleeks, and Dorothy Walters.

Miss Rosenbury will wed Arthur Culbertson, Sunday, September 5.

DEKALB CO. RURAL YOUTH

The DeKalb County Rural Youth met for its monthly meeting, Tuesday evening, August 17th with 26 members and 7 visitors present.

Plans for the concession stand which the Rural Youth will have at the fair this fall were discussed more thoroughly. Reports were given on the Officers Training School which was held at Purdue University from August 9th to the 13th by the delegates which attended.

Fred Rhodes was the guest speaker for the evening. His interesting talk was enjoyed by all.

After the business session everyone enjoyed the recreation and refreshments.

LEGION LOSE OUT IN SEMI-FINALS—The Legion softball team was dumped out of the double elimination Y. M. C. A. softball tournamеent at Auburn, last week. A smashing 15 to 4 defeat from the Auburn Legion Tuesday, and a narrow 5 to 4 win by the Auburn Clutch (Huebert Bleeks), Thursday, were the losses that tumbled the locals out.

In Tuesday night's game the Auburn Legion had their clouting togs on, and there was just no stopping their extra base blows. They banged the combine offerings of Russ Ridgway and Gene Deiderich for 16 hits in theeir 15 to 4 win. The locals were being held to 5 hits by Huebert Geisinger, who went the route for the Auburn Vets.

Long Home Run Wins For Clutch

Thursday's game with the Auburn Clutch was a different kind of game. The lead had change back and forth several times wiith the locals taking a two run lead at one time; and several other times the home towners threatened to ice the game completely, as they took advantage of Jim Carr's wildness, but lack of timely hitting failed to produce a cluster of runs.

Gene Deiderich and Jim Carr got together in a 6 hit pitcher's duel that threatened to go into extra innings.

Clutch had tied the score in the 6th inning, but then with 2 out and no one on in the 7th inning, Bleeks rammed a long line drive into dead center, and scored easily to send the Clutch home with the win.

Clutch-Auburn Legion In Finals

In Tuesdays game of the finals of the tourney, the underdogs, Auburn Clutch, pasted a 17 to 13 defeat on the Auburn Legion, handing them their first defeat in tournament play. The two teams now have one defeat, each, and Thursday's nine inning game will decide the winner. St. Joe Legion and the Balls Foundry team of Auburn have been selected to play the prelim, which will start at 7 o'clock.

Harlan Cops School Tourney

The Harlan High Hawks, as if to prove that their first place standings in the High School Softball league was no mistake, went on to down Leo and Spencerville to win the league playoff. There last victory, a 6 to 0 one over Spencerville, capped a very successful season for the Harlan boys. They won 10 game while dropping only one.

Harlan and Spencerville were presented trophy's by the Vim Sporting Goods Store for first and second place winners. Individual medals were presented to two players on each teams. Munson Baughman brought home the most valuable player on team medal, while Bob Baker was awarded a Sportsmanship medal.

By JIM MITCHELL

I'll take 'old Betsy' for those long range shots! Yes, Sir! that ol' gun with her 32 inch barrels really reaches out and gets the birds!"

How many times have you heard statements similiar to the above? Plenty of times, we'll wager, for it has been accepted theory for many years that the longer the barrel of a shotgun the farther the gun would kill.

Now we're not recommending that you get a hack saw and trim off four or five inches of your favorite shotgun, but it is a fact that all over 26 inches of a barrel adds nothing in effective killing range.

The shot charges reaches its maximum acceleration within 26 inches with today's fast-burning powders, and consequently, barrel lengths over 26 inches can not throw a charge of shot any farther. It is true, however, that a long barrel provides a longer and possibly better--sighting radius. Too, with the added weight at the muzzle of a long barrelled gun, the gun may be held a little more steadily.

For years we have been campaigning to outlaw the use of small caliber rifles, particularly the .22, for deer and other big game hunting. We'll not argue that you can't kill a deer with a .22 rifle. It can be done, but the gun must be fired at close range and by an expert hunter. Occassionally, too, some novice accidentally plugs a deer right with a .22 and gets the animal.

But far more deer are left to die a slow, lingering death in the wilderness after being hit by a .22 slug than those that are bagged by hunters. When frightened a deer can carry an amazing amount of lead and travel long distances after being shot. On the other hand, deer that do not sense danger frequently are easily killed. That, again, is where the veteran hunter can get by with a small caliber rifle, for the skilled woodsman will stalk his deer properly and many times get a shot without the animal knowing of his persence.

By the same token the novice usually crashes through the brush, telling all game that an enemy is near-by. This results in running and tail-end shots and, naturally a heavier caliber rifle is needed to stop a deer.

Two more states that we know about are falling in line on outlawing the .22 and other small caliber guns. California, starting with the 1949 season, has made it unlawful to use rifles smaller than a .25 caliber on big game. Here, also, they are outlawing the use of shotguns, either wth buckshot or solid slugs, for big game hunting.

Oregon is formulating new regulations, but so-far has not announced the date they will be effective. Under the big game code, rifles with a caliber designation of .23 or larger, and developing 975 foot pounds or more energy at 100 yards, can be used in taking deer. This eliminates the .22. Rifles must be of .25 caliber or larger, under this new code, for shooting antelope or elk.

We hope that more states follow suit before long for our big game animals deserve a break. If they're to be shot, the only sporting thing is to use a rifle of sufficient caliber to kill quickly and cleanly.

Fair

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

AFTER visiting various state and county fairs, one is amazed at the change during the last two years in the presentation of our agricultural exhibits. Someone has done a grand job of organization all across the country. Recently new conveniences and methods of display, adding greatly to the comfort and convenience of those who love the fairs, have come into being.

There's a great departure from the old method of just bringing in exhibits and setting them up. Everything moves or talks, and at some of our state fairs transportation has been provided inside the grounds to carry visitors. This removes a big obstacle, especially for very old and very young folks—who always have found it difficult to travel the long distances between exhibits.

Livestock, poultry and dairy products were the highest quality we have seen in a good many years. We, who over a period of 23 years have watched the farmer make constant progress in the quality of his products, wonder how much farther he can go.

The classes of cattle going through the judging ring certainly answer the livestock breeder's prayer. Not only did exclamations of approval come from city visitors, but farmers themselves were more enthusiastic than ever before. One thought uppermost in my mind was this: Agriculture has done a grand job, but it has only scratched the surface. Under no other system of government in the world could man make this progress except under democracy. Let's keep America free!

Dishwashing Shortcuts

Do you stack your dishes at the table and use a tray to carry them to the kitchen sink? That's one of the prime step-saving principles of the new 4-H club project, "Make Dishwashing Fun." The youngsters learn that the "dishes chore" can be an interesting exercise in efficiency—rather than dreaded drudgery; that nearly everyone can cut down the time it takes to do dishes by figuring out short-cuts—and that the time goes faster by singing songs or playing guessing games while your hands are busy.

FALL VICTIM STILL IN UNCONSCIOUS CONDITION, TAKEN TO FT. WAYNE HOSPITAL

Hubrt Carpenter, 23, of Butler, who has been unconscious since Aug. 16 following a 28-foot fall from a scaffold, was taken late Friday from the Sanders hospital in Auburn to the Lutheran hospital in Ft. Wayne.

The youth was removed to the Fort Wayne hospital for further observation and possible surgery. He was taken in the Johnson ambulance of Butler

Mr. Carpenter was critically injured when he fell from a scaffold while helping remodel the Glenn Rieke residence south of Auburn. Since the accident there has been little change in his condition. Several days ago, attendants at the hospital in Auburn believed that he was improving slightly when he regained semi-consciousness intermittently but since that time his condition has remained the same.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Donald Kinsey who died Sept. 7, 1946, two years ago.

Often we pause and think of you and think of how you died.

To think you could not say Goodbye

Before you closed your eyes
No one knows the silent heartaches.

Only those who love can tell of the grief that is bourne in silence.

For our Dear Son and Brother we loved so well.

Netherlands Trade

Despite manifold difficulties, Holland's trade with Germany increased slightly in the second half of 1947, according to the first annual report published by the Netherland Trust Company for Trade with Foreign Countries. The company was floated in January 1947, in agreement with the Netherlands Government and the Allied occupation authorities in Germany for the purpose of promoting Netherlands trade with Germany and other countries.

First Wax Polishing In 500 Years

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA.—Look at the shine on the shell of this 500-year-old Galapagos Island tortoise. It's the first cleaning and polishing the old boy has received in his lifetime. Note the dull shells in the foreground as contrasted to the one which has been polished with liquid wax. These tortoises are believed to be the oldest in the world. The Galapagos tortoises are desert dwellers in their native islands and do not care for water.

Photo Classics

One ten-thousandth of a second—faster than the flick of a fly's wing—was the exposure time for this Speed Graphic shot made by Chester Gabrysiak, Chicago Tribune photographer, while covering Golden Gloves bouts at Chicago Stadium. Stroboscopic lights permitted very fast exposure. Gabrysiak, one of the country's top sports photographers, started as a copy boy in 1928.

If Atom War Comes

"In time of peace prepare for war." George Washington said that. Now, in the semi-desert of eastern Utah, U. S. war department engineers are taking him seriously. Huge scale tests are under way to find out how deep we must go underground in solid rock to protect vital military installations in the event of an atomic war.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We are sticking our necks way out and asking for trouble by even mentioning dove hunting, for this game bird certainly is the center of a heated controversy. And ther's no halfway stand on the subject; either you are one of the thousands of sportsmen who enjoy gunning for the dove or you belong to the group who believes that shooting this bird is inhuman.

So, before we say more, we'll take our stand --with the dove hunters and we will be in the field this month after these tricky speedsters.

Why do we enjoy dove shooting? First, this bird is a tough and as sporting a target as you will ever find. Few, if any, birds rival the dove in performing tricks in the air. Doves are fast and smart.

Second, the dove is fairly plentiful most places and, consequently, easy to find. With today's upland game and waterfowl populations on the decline, the availability of the dove to sportsmen in sizeable numbers must be considered.

Third, the dove does not take a back seat to any game on the dinner table. And it makes no difference whether the bird is fried or baked in the meat pie; it is tasty eating.

Those three facts added together give the dove top billing in our gunning for quail or pheasants or ducks.

We happened to grow up in a community where dove hunting was popular. And hunting this bird came as naturally as walking the fields for rabbits or following along behind pointers and setters after bobwhites. Now after gunning for doves over three decades, we have more respect than ever for its qualities as a great sporting birds.

We do find fault, though ,with the hit-and-miss way the dove has been handled by wildlife authorities. Mostly the bird has played second fiddled to other species; little scieintific study has been devoted to its habits.This mismanagement has resulted in the establishment of seasons in many states that disturbed the breeding season of the dove, and, naturally, the birds have suffered accordingly.

But the future however appears brighter for those of us who number the dove in the top classifications. Biologists are making studies now, and the season in many states are being changed.

With a little help from the right all sportsmen, we'll have plenty of authorities, plus the cooperation of doves around 10 or 20 years from now so that the next generation too can enjoy gunning for this game bird.

Lesson for September 12, 1948

HISTORY KNOWS some men only by their nicknames. Stalin is a nickname, so was Charlemagne. And so is Barnabas, one of the best of the early Christians. The apostles nicknamed him "Barnabas" and the name stuck, for it means "Son of Encouragement," and Barnabas' specialty was encouraging people who badly neede it.

Dr. Foreman

Barnabas was not a brilliant man, perhaps not even a strong one, though he had an impressive "front." On a journey in the back districts the natives would take him for Zeus, king of all the gods. But it was not his looks that were important, it was his big heart.

When Saul was converted, there was an awkward situation when that young convert went back to Jerusalem. The little society of Christians there knew Saul for a tiger. They had suffered at his hands, they had seen their friends dragged off by his henchmen. So when Saul showed up among the very people he had terrified, when he not only showed up but claimed to be one of them, no wonder they were frightened.

All but Barnabas. Somehow or other shall we say it was God's Spirit in him?) Barnabas was not afraid. He took Saul the Terrible by the hand, he introduced him to the church leaders, he told them his story, he sponsored Saul as we would say.

An Eye for God

AFTER THAT EXPERIENCE with Saul, Barnabas' friends came to think of him as a man who could probably see the good in any man or situation if there was any good to be seen. So when the headquarters church in old Jerusalem heard of a novel sort of church down in Antioch, they sent this "Son of Encouragement" down to see what went on. It was certainly no church on the Jerusalem pattern; was it a good one, or even a genuine church at all? Barnabas would know. And so he did.

Other men could see the large number of church members in Antioch; others could give you statistics about its rate of growth; others could tell you it was bi-racial, a daring experiment then as now. Some applauded, some raised their eyebrows.

But we read that Barnabas had eyes in his soul as well as in his head. What he saw, as he looked at that stirring new church with its new ways, was "the grace of God." All of us can see things on the surface, we can count noses, we can make reports for the papers. But seeing underneath, seeing the grace of God (or the need of it)—that is not so easy. Wanted for every church: A Barnabas!

Round Peg—Round Hole

WHEN BARNABAS had taken stock at Antioch he knew the place needed a man, and he knew the man for the place. Off he went across the Taurus mountains to Tarsus, where Saul was doing nothing particular, and he brought Saul to Tarsus and set him to work. Saul turned out to be, as Barnabas expected, the round peg for the round hole.

That team was a "natural"—but only Barnabas would have thought of it. Paul fitted in with the church, too. A tireless worker, he was just the man for that vital growing congregation. Getting the right people for the right jobs is still one of the big problems of the Christian church. Many a Sunday school class, for instance, now is withering on the stalk, only because the Sunday school superintendent has never found the right teacher.

The Hands of the Church

THE TIME came when Barnabas and Saul were sent out by that same Antioch church to be the first foreign missionaries ever deliberately sent out by any Christian church. The hands of the church were laid on them before they left.

To this day, when a man is set apart, by ordination, for a particular work in the Christian church, hands are laid upon his head. This is more than an antique ceremony, there is more than magic in it.

The laying on of hands may mean different things to different churches, but this at least it always means: The men so ordained are now the hands of the churches they represent.

One of the pioneers in the bulk oil business of this trade area is C. H. Darby of Butler. For about a quarter century he has been active in this business and is today the distributor for the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. in this area. As shown in the picture he has an up-to-date bulk plant and two modern trucks with which to make prompt deliveries anywhere in the region.

Mobilgas is a superior combination of the world's finest motor fuels that will give you more power, more pep and moore mileage. It will give you an even pull and consistent firing qualities. Their oils and lubricants will give maximum lubrication even under the most severe strain or heat.

The transactions of Mr. Darby and his Mobilgas and Mobiloil dealers in this section have been based upon courtesy and satisfaction and the ever increasing popularity of Socony-Vacuum products for car and home give evidence of the type of service that is extended by them and the effectivensss of the products that they handle.

The cooperative plan of buying and selling has become of major importance in the life of the average American farmer. Not only has it made possible a ready and steady market for the sale of his livestock and farm products, but has assured him of top projects as well as a share in a growing concern.

That the plan has been successful is demonstrated by the activities of the Producers Livestock Cooperative Association at Hicksville, Ohio. In a little more than ten years this Association has built a reputation among the livestock growers and buyers of the tri-state section to the point where their annual dollar handling has reached nearly two million dollars. Every Wednesday at 12:30 an auction is conducted at their yards and you will find dealers and sellers coming from a great many miles to attend. In addition the firm offers a feeder cattle and lamb service and they will finance your loans at four and one half per-cent.

Though there has been a rapid acceleration in the production of new cars in the past year, there is still the problem of the dealers in supplying the public's demand. Although it has been a difficult problem Maxton Motors, Inc. at Butler have spared no effort in obtaining for the people of this region Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets. As the authorized dealers for these cars this concern has established one of the most complete auto to sales and service establishments in the country.

The makers of General Motors cars have, year after year met the demands of the public with cars of outstanding value, cars with the finest of lines, perfection of mechanism and true riding comfort. That the new models have created a sensation in the field of transportation is the opinion of the experts as well as the casual buyer.

In their service department and body shop Maxton Motors, Inc., have followed the methods of the factory and have installed the best and complete equipment for the maintenance of automobiles of every make and model. Witht expert mechanics and a large supply oof parts they can keep your car in good running order.

If you are in the market for a used car you will find the lot at Maxton's offers you a selection of good late models that will assure you of many thousands of miles of riding and driving comfort and the prices are consistent with the age of the car.

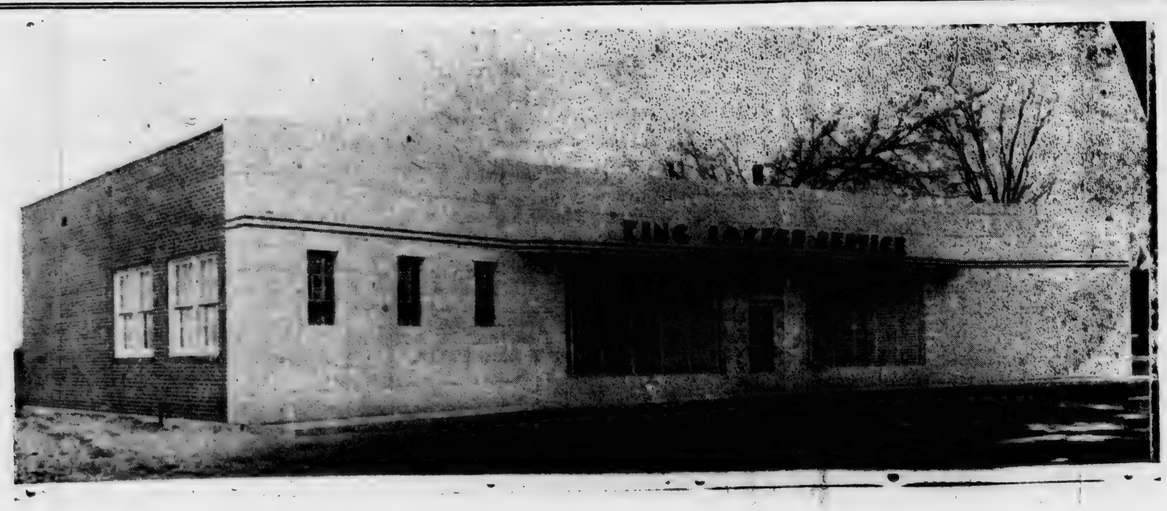
The house trailer was conceived a good many years ago with the idea of providing the sportsman or vacationer with an economical and convenient method of spending few days of weeks on the road. Alook at one of the modern Owosso or Palace trailers at the Wayne Trailer Sales at 2623 Leo Rd. in Fort Wayne will give you an idea of the changes and progress that has been made in the trailer field. The housing shortage during and after the war was in a large measure solved by thousands through the use of the modern trailer, and in talking to families who have made them their permanent home you will find that they would not now wish to invest in or rent a home. With every accomodation, with scientifically designed conveniences, compactly installed you have the equivalent of the modern small dwelling without its attendant cost and urkeep. Stop in at the Wayne Trailer Sales and see the models and you will really believe that they are a Palace on wheels. The best in heating, water and toilet facilities, the best in refrigeration, cooking, storage and sleeping accomodations. All precision built and at a price that the average wage earner can afford. For the hunter and fsherman there is also the Mobile Sportsman in 17 and 19 foot lengths that will accomodate his party and give them the convenience of a home away from home. For used trailers and accessories and parts you will find displayed everything that is needed at the Wayne Trailer Sales.

Only that organization is sucessful today that is founded on practical engineering and energized with vision. Hundreds and thousands of industries have started in this country in the past fifty years, some have failed and some have been successful. The successful ones today attribute their well being to the fact that they have supplied the lic with what they want, and have done so efficiently and economically.

To successfuly manufacture an item requires business and engineering acumen, and among the firms in this region that have introduced a basic need of the public and have passed beyond the experimental stage to one of successful development is the Butler Hydraulic Pump Co. Established in January of last year they have engineered and put into service pneumatic water systems that have proven highly efficient where they are installed. It is the first hydraulic driven pump that has met all the requirements and as a result it represents an improvement over the older methods as well as a reduction in cost and operation.

With a small but competent staff the company under the direction of Messrs. W. D. Hankey, Pres., A. A. Campbell, Sec., and G. A. Cherry, Treas., and General Manager, has again proven the American formula that it can be done. People of this region can well look upon this concern as a potential builder of our economic security in this territory and lend their support wherever possible.



In no other division of the food industry has there been greater progress shown than in the processing and preserving of foods. In the short span of a few years we have progressed from the home salting stage to that of fast freezing.

Among the firms in this area that have taken the lead in this field is the King Locker Service with plants and stores at 3204 N. Anthony Blvd. in Fort Wayne and at 3113 Huntington Rd., Waynedale. With fifteen hundred lockers available with one of the most modern and complete retail meat and food stores in this area they are in a position to serve the public efficently and economically.

For the one with their own home freezer unit they specialize in a custom butchering service and can supply you with the meat in quarters or halves and they will cut, process, pack, and identify it for you under the most sanitary conditions possible.

LEGION ENDS SOFTBALL SEASON— The legion softball season came to a close last Thursday evening when the locals battled the Ball Brass Foundry of Auburn to a 1 to 1 tie in the prelim game for the finals of the Y. M. C. A. Tournament finals at Auburn.

The Auburn Clutch coming back after one defeat, in the double elimination affair, belted the favorite Auburn Legion, two games straight to walk off with the trophy. Their last victory was a 12 to 2 victory over the Legionaires.

The St. Joe High School however will play several more games yet this fall. Thursday evening they will take on the Newville Church of Christ team at the school diamond.

High School Football Gets Started

The two prep football teams in the county, Auburn and Garrett, are goin thru tough drills this week in preparation for their opening games Friday evening. Both teams have had great records in the past two years, and a great amount of rebuilding is in progress, especially in the Railroaders outfit. Whether their squads can come up to those fielded last year is perhaps doubtful, but can only be told as the seasons moves along.

This Friday night at Auburn, the Columbia City eleven will open their season, while over at Garrett, the Portland Panthers will get their grid schedule underway.

In a late summer wedding, held Sunday Sept. 5th, at 2 p. m. at the Mt. Pleasant Evangelical United Brethren Church, Miss Carol Rosenbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Rosenbury of Rt. 3, Butler and Arthur L. Culbertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Culbertson of Rt. 1, Auburn, were united in marriage.

The Rev. Kenneth Hostetler of Claypool, Ind., officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with candelabra, palms, white gladioli and blue delphinium.

Miss Rosenbury, who was given in marrage by her father, was attended by Mrs. Robert Rosenbury of Auburn, matron of honor, and Miss Isabell Baker and Miss Marjorie Bleeks both of near St. Joe, bridesmaids. Paul Beuchel of Auburn served as best man wth Charles Rosenbury and Francis Close of Rt.1 Auburn, ushering.

Richard and Eugene Culbertson, brothers of the groom, were candlelighters.

Preceding the exchange of vows, a 20 minute musicale was played by Miss Nancy Monroe of near St. Joe, with songs by Miss Lora Reas. Miss Monroe played "Prayer," "O Promise Me", "Indian Love Call" and "Honest and Truly." Songs sung by Mss Reas included, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "With This Ring."

The traditional wedding marches were played for the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white heavy slipper satin, with a beaded sweetheart neckline, beaded waist and satin covered buttons in the back. The gown was styled with long hands. Her gown ended in long sleeves that came to points over the train. Her full length veil was of imported illusion, edged with a wide band of lace, caught to a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a white testament topped with a purple orchid with white streamers.

She wore a single strand of pearls the gift of the groom .

The matron of honor was attired in a blue marquisette gown fashioned with a lace bertha and lace peplum. She wore mitts of the same material and carried a bouquet of pink asters. Her only jewelry was a rhine stone bracelet and matched earings, the gift of the bride.

The bridesmaids, Miss Baker and Miss Bleeks, wore identical gowns of pale rose styled similar to the gown worn by the matron of honor. The gowns featured the lace peplum. They wore matching mitts and carried bouquts of blue asters. Their rhinestone earrings were gifts of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of red and white roses. The groom's mother also wore a navy blue dress with black accessories and wore a similar corsage of red and white roses.

The men of the wedding party all wore initialed tie clasps and belt buckles, gifts from the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served from a table covred with an heirloom tablecloth featuring wide bands of hand drawnwork, which had belonged to the bride's great-grandmother.

White gladioli and blue delphinium decorated the home. Serving at the reception were Mrs. David Huitema and the Misses Jane Bragg, Dorothy Walter and Joan Trenary.

The bride's going away outfit was a navy blue faille suit with white and gold accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds will be at home at St. Joe following a weeks honeymoon trip through the eastern states. Both the bride and groom are graduates of the St. Joe high school. The groom is a veteran of army service during the past World war. He served 18 months including 10 in the China-Burma-India theater of operations. He is employed in the laboratory of the Auburn Rubber Corp. in Auburn.

A potluck supper was the first feature of the evening with the guests seated at small tables decorated with attarctive arrangements of miniature garden flowers.

Twenty-one members responded to the roll call with original poems entitled, "How I Spent My Vacation." A brief business meeting was held, concluded by the reading of a poem by Mrs. Staman.

Every work that here is given
Is a web, complex and fine.
Tireless shulttles are the hours,
Swiftly coming and going.
May all threads be bright
With our purest deeds and thought
On a dark wool brighty shining,
With the strands be interwoven.
When our year's web is complete
We can lay the web we've wrought

COUNTY YOUTHS SEEK GARDENING HONORS

DeKalb County will be represented in the eighth annual production-marketing contest of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association, according to an announcement by Prof. Grant Snyder of the University of Massachusetts, adult advisor to the NJVGA.

The local entrants are competing with boys and girls from 43 other states for the A & P Food Store's $6,000 in scholarship funds provided annually for this contest. The award include a $500 national championship prize, four $200 regional awards thirty-three sectional awards of $100 each and four $10 awards in each state. Awards are made at the association's annual convention which this year will be held at Detroit, December 6-9.

The program, for junior growers from 14 to 21 years of age, stresses improved and more efficient methods of production and marketing as applied to vegetables. In making the announcement, Prof. Snyder pointed out that the contest is of particular interest of DeKalb Co. which annually markets vegetable crops valued at approximately $106,000.

Those enrolled from this county are: Robert E. Donle yand Donald G. Jordan of Auburn, Kenneth P. Sliger of Corunna, and Norman E. Runion, Jack E. Thrush, R. Dale Yards and George Wappes, all of Garrett.

LOCAL SCHOOL

Present enrollment in the local school is 267 as compared with 276 at the beginning of school last year. Enrollment of all classes is very comparable with that of last year with the exceptions of grades 1 and eight.

This year's first grade is 10 larger than last years, while the present eighth grade is 15 smaller.

Present enrollment by classes is as follows:

Grade 1	34
Grade 2	16
Grade 3	19
Grade 4	20
Grade 5	22
Grade 6	19
Grade 7	20
Grade 8	14
Grade 9	33
Grade 10	33
Grade 11	23
Grade 12	17

The large number of beginners necessitated splitting the grades 1 and 2. Present grouping and respective teachers are: Grade 1, Mrs. Guilford; Grades 2 and 3, Mrs. Velma Ranier, Auburn; and Grades 4 and 5, Mrs. Violet Baker, of Hicksville.

Mr. Hart and the sixth grade were transfered to the high school on a semi-departmentalized basis.

In the high school, Mr. Calvin Lessing, Rochester, was hired to head the Math and Science departments.

WE have seen an interesting by-product of last year's poor corn crop in the extensive tests run at several state agriculture stations. These show that one of the best ways to salvage a poor corn crop is to make it into silage.

In some of the tests run by the Ohio State Agriculture Experiment Stations, the silage made from poor crops was fed to cattle in full milk production with encouraging results. Two groups of Holstein cows were fed a liberal amount of silage for 30 days. One was fed on good corn silage, the other on poor corn silage. Then the kind of silage was reversed, for another 30-day feeding period.

In each case the ration averaged over 45 pounds of silage, a little less than 12 pounds of alfalfa hay, and approximately eight pounds of grain per head daily—through the two periods.

No important differences were found in the end result because of the differences in the quality of the two silages. The cows ate both readily. This indicates that the product from the poor corn crop was as desirable to them as that from the normal crop.

More important, milk production on the so-called "poor" crop silage was within three per cent of that on the "normal" silage. The butterfat production was only slightly in favor of the normal silage.

Congestion Is Costly

Air-conditioned trackless trolleys, underground parking, perimeter parking, and congestion bans are but a few of the anti-congestion plans being instituted in major cities as remedies to the serious threat of downtown traffic snarls and subsequent decentralization.

COUNTY HOME EC. ACHIEVEMENT DAY TO BE HELD NOV. 4th AT BUTLER

The County Home Economics Association is planning their Home Economics Achievement Program now to be held in Butler at the gymnasium on November 4. Arrangements for the day are being started with a foods demonstration on the "Making of Dessers and Salads from Corn Starch." The demonstration wll show how to supplement corn starch for jello in the making of molded desserts and salads. This will be given by a home economist from Decatur, Ill. Also on the program will be the DeKalb County Chorus. The chorus will start practicing for this event in early September. They have changed the time of their chorus rehearsal and it will now be in the evening which will enable more young mothers to participate in this outside activity. Announcement of dates for permanent rehearsal will be given later on this month.

The feature of the afternoon program which is open to the public, made by Mary Lenore Moore, home demonstration agent, is a style show which will be put on by the McCall Corporation, New York City. This will show garments that can be made at home and which will help to cut down on the clothing expenditures for our DeKalb County families. There will be a small admission charge and tickets may be secured at the county extension office or from each of the local home economics presidents. Following this style show, clothes will be modeled by local people showing styles that date back in the early 1800's. Make your plans to attend the Home Ec- November 4. Remember you have a special invitation from the DeKalb County Home Economics Association. Don't miss this outstanding program.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

SCARLET FEVER

FIVE HUNDRED persons in the United States will di- of scarlet fever this year. If the death rate from scarlet fever one hundred years ago prevailed today, there would be 50,000 deaths from this disease this year. The yearly average deaths from scarlet fever in Indiana over the last ten-year period is thirty-five.

Scarlet fever was once the fourth chief cause of death in the United States. Now it is fifty third.

It isn't scarlet fever so much as complications that affect the health of human beings. More than one-third of its victims suffer from insidious complications which affect the ears, sinuses, kidneys, joints, and especially the heart. Heart complications are invariably serious, and may lead to chronic heart disease.

In the five-year period, 1940 to 1944, 2,275 persons died of scarlet fever in the United States. Deaths in Indiana for the same period were 106. During the same years more than 700,000 persons in this country suffered from the disease and its complications. The average number of cases in Indiana from 1938 to 1947 was 4,266 per year.

Scarlet fever is now in a phase of comparative mildness, but always there is the possibility it will become epidemic and severe.

SCRIPTURE: Acts 19:23-41. DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 13:1-10.

For a Better City

Lesson for September 19, 1948

"FOR A BETTER CITY" is a good slogan. No one would think of objecting to it. If the great city of Ephesus, capital and metropolis of the wealthiest and most thickly populated province of the Roman Empire, had had a chamber of commerce, no doubt they would all have been in favor of a Better City. There would be no argument about that. The question is: What makes a city better? Four different ideas on that line—two very bad ones and two good ones—can be seen in the story of Acts 19.

Dr. Foreman

You should read the story itself before looking over these comments. Because we are beginning toward the end of the story, with the very lowest and silliest of the four ideas how to make a city better. It is a very simple idea: Just "holler," yell, make a demonstration. Make it long, make it loud, and the city will be the better for it. For two mortal hours that absurd mass-meeting kept the uproar going: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

A curious thing, the mob-mind. If something is true, how can noise make it truer? If a thing is a lie, how can all the shouting in the world make it respectable? But the mob-mind thinks that if a thing is said loudly enough and by enough people, it is bound to be true.

So that theater-full of fools wasted a good afternoon shouting a lie into the deaf blue heavens. It did Diana no good. She was as dead as Marley's ghost, she had never lived, in fact. It was no use drumming up the decibels. Do you know people who think they can make your town better by shouting about it? It won't work. You can make a town or county famous if you shout long enough; but you won't make it better.

Making Money

THE SILVERSMITHS there in Ephesus had another theory. The way they looked at it, the big thing is money. They used to make money selling their little silver shrines. Now this fellow Paul had come along, persuading people that hand-made gods are no gods at all, and the trade in "sacred" trinkets had fallen off. It looked like a bad year for the silversmiths. To make things better, they decided, they needed more money. More business! More production! The fact that what they produced was not only worthless but actually harmful, did not seem to bother them.

Do you know people like that today?

Abiding By the Law

THE TOWN CLERK of Ephesus had a simple idea, vastily better than these other two. He saw no sense in the mass meeting, he seems not to have been taken in by the silversmiths' crocodile tears. If anything was wrong in Ephesus, he said, the courts were open, and trials were open, and trials could be held. We have laws—let us live by them; that was the gist of his idea. That is not bad advice.

All honor to the honest servants of the public who now as then give their best efforts to seeing that good laws are made and well enforced.

Changing Lives

SPEAKING OF LAWS, there are three kinds of people in the world. One kind will not obey the laws whatever they are. These are the criminal classes. A second kind stay "inside the law" but they never advance a step beyond them. A third kind, too rare, will go far beyond the law's requirements in personal living and in social helpfulness.

Now Paul had been in the city of Ephesus for some months, and he had nothing to do with the laws of that city. Yet what he was doing was more effective in making that city better than anything the courts could have done.

For what he was doing was nothing less than changing lives. "The trouble with people is that they're people," and the business of Christanity first of all is changing people. It is no use hanging out the slogan "For a Better City" unless you are working for better people.

A tree is no healthier than its roots, and a community's roots are the characters of her people. And from St. Paul's day to this, the one and only organization which sets out to change people from the inside, is the Christian church.

REPORT CHANGE OF ADDRESS INDIANA MOTOR VEHICLE BUREAU WARNS

The Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles today urged Hoosier car owners to report immediately changes of address which have occurred within the past year.

"Address changes should be reported to the Bureau by October 1." Director H. Dale Brown said. "Unless this is done," he said, thousands of vehicle registration forms already filled out for the owners' convenience will go astray."

Forms for reporting changes of address may be obtained at any license branch in the state. Or owners may report the change directly to the Bureau in the State House by a letter which gives the car owner's present address, his 1948 license number and a full description of the car.

"By reporting new addresses now," Mr. Brown said, "thousands of motorists can save themselves the much greater inconvenience of filling out a full new registration form in order to get their 1949 license plates next January."

INDIANA UNIVERSITY LECTURE SERIES TO START SEPT. 20TH AT FT. WAYNE

With the opening of the Fort Wayne Center of Indiana University for the fall term Monday, September 20, Floyd R. Neff, director, has arranged an enlarged and varied series of popular lectures to meet the great demand for these courses. The lectures are non-credit and are open to the public.

For those who have completed the "Great Books" series of other years a second series is being offered this year for the first time under the direction of Mrs. Alta Carson as the leader. The group will meet on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock in the Center Library.

Another new course repeated this year on demand after a lapse of several years is "Interior Decoration". This is a series of eight lectures to be given by Mrs. Eleanor B. Miller, Indianapolis, buyer of art, fine furniture and other decorations for L. S. Ayres and Company Indianapolis. Other lecturers are Irma Dochterman, art instructor; Patricia Bane, artist, Earl Groth and Company, and John H. K. Shannahan, Indiana Service Corp.

"Occupational Information" is another course of six lectures offered this year for the first time providing information helpful in determining occupational objectives. The course will be offered by W. Monfort Barr, resident counselor Fort Wayne Center, with classes to meet on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock beginning September 29. "Commercial Art" is being offered for the first time in the series of eight lectures by Patricia Bane, instructor.

Other lecture courses to be repeated this fall include: "Great Books" at 8 p. m. on Wednesdays in the library at the Indiana University Center; "The Psychology of Marriage and family Relationships" a series of eight lectures by Prof. C. F. Lindberg, head of the Department of Psychology at Valparaiso at Valparaso University, on Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock; "Psychology of Everyday Living", also by Prof. Lindberg on Thursday evenings beginning November 16 at 8 o'cock; "History and Philosophy of Religion" by Dr. Frederic A. Calling all outdoorsmen

The weather's still pretty warm, but it won't be long now until the cool crisp days of fall, with pleasant temperatures and colorful scenery, makes summer only a memory.

And to most of us the first signs of autumn means getting out the old shotgun or rifle for a check, buying a supply of ammuniton and preparing in general for the coming hunting season.

That's well and good--but don't forget all about fishing in your enthusiasm for gunning. The early days of autumn are great for scouting your favorite lake or stream with plugs and flies; good catches come fairly easy, too.

During the hot summer months we found fishing tough. We managed to snag an occassional bass on deep-running lures and by fishing deep with live bait. But limit catches were rare and we were "skunked" on several trips. That's why we are planning to make up for lost time this fall.

In the hot weather bass and other gamesters seek the deep cold water and feed only as much as necessary to get by. Then they are hard to locate and most of the time, even harder to coax into hitting an artificial lure or bait.

But just give a bass a few cool days to bring the water temperature back to what he likes (around 70-72 degress) best and he'll be frolicking about in that shallow, shoreline water and eagerly searching for food.

Food is not as plentiful in streams or lakes in the fall as it is in the spring and early summer. So, naturally, when you're fishing artificial lures or dunking live bait, there's not competition with natural food that exists in other seasons. That makes for better fishing.

The cool weather of autumn puts a lot of fight into fish also. And they taste a lot better on the dinner table when taken from cold water.

So forget about storing your fishing gear and try some fall fishing. We believe you'll find it great sport.

If you're a fisherman and a hunter both, why not try combining the two sports. For years we've hunted doves and squirrels early in the morning and late in the evening, with some bass fishing thrown in during the middle of the day. And we've gone after quail and pheasants during the morning and early afternoon, then stopped off for a little bass plugging on the way home

Maybe that's crowding too much sport into one day, but we don't think so. And we'll wager a plugged hat against a new reel or a box of shells that you'll find combinations of hunting and fishing that will fit nicely into your outdoor pattern.

Summer Peach Treat

Peach-upside down cake is a perennial family favorite but it reaches new heights of flavor and popularity when fresh peaches form the golden fruit topping. So for a perfect summer treat let's serve fresh peach shortcake with a snowy crown of fluffy whipped cream.

The basis for the upside-down cake must equal the perfection of the sun-ripened peaches, so select the cake ingredients with care. A good tested recipe, the finest of ingredients and following instructions exactly will give you the velvety-textured cake you desire and your friends envy.

PEACH UPSIDE-DOWN-CAKE
Yield: 6 to 8 servings

⅓ cup Swift'ning
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk (about)
¼ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 to 3 cups sliced peaches
Whipped cream

Cut Swift'ning into flour which has been sifted with baking powder, salt and sugar, until the mixture is the consistency of cornmeal. Make a well in mixture. Put egg into measuring cup. Add enough milk to measure three-fourths cup. Stir together. Add to flour mixture to form a soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead six times. Roll out to form an 8-inch square. Cut several gashes in dough.

In a heavy skillet, combine butter, sugar, and almond flavoring. Cook until sugar is melted, stirring constantly. Pour into 8-inch square baking pan. Lay peach slices over sirup in pan. Top with biscuit layer. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) 25 minutes or until biscuit topping is well baked. Turn upside-down out of pan onto serving platter. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream.

THRILLS APLENTY AT THE RAILROAD FAIR—Pageantry and thrilling beauty keynote Chicago's Railroad Fair, mammoth outdoor exposition showing on Chicago's lakefront through September. Expected to draw more than 2,000,000 visitors, the exhibit stretches for 50 acres as shown in the picture at right.

Largest public attraction of its kind ever sponsored by a single group of industries, the spectacle demonstrates to all industries how to get on better terms with the traveling and shipping public.

Telling the story of the railroads' contribution to America's history and economic growth, the Fair commemorates the 100th anniversary of the first run of a steam railroad locomotive out of Chicago, then a muddy frontier outpost.

In the "Wheels A'Rolling" pageant, the history of transport is told with ox-carts, horses, and 19 famous old-time trains. At the finale, pictured above, Grand Trunk Western's two-unit 3,000 horsepower Diesel locomotive rolls out slowly to crown the pageant with a glimpse of future railroad planning.

Among the exhibits of the 38 participating railroads is the Grand Trunk Western's snow-melter. This unique mechanical monster is the latest development in snow removing equipment. Adding a touch of beauty to the snow-eating giant, Marty Collins and Renee Kaye, Patricia Stevens models, pose playfully before the exhibit.

American Milking Shorthorn Society Establishes Independent Registry

The American Milking Shorthorn Society has recently set up its own independent registry office for Milking Shorthorn cattle. This was done upon the unanimous vote of the member breeders and, according to Secretary W. J. Hardy, because this branch of the Shorthorn breed had made such rapid growth in the past decade that it was felt to be in the best interests of the members to record and promote their cattle under independent direction.

This branch of the Shorthorn breed should not be confused with the Beef Type Shorthorn, although formerly all the registration work had been handled by the American Shorthorn Breeders' association.

The new organization makes it debut with 8,000 member breeders who are highly enthused and full of plans for the future promotion of their chosen breed.

Mr. Keith King is the president—an active breeder who resides at Victoria, Ill. King also is one of the inspectors on selection of cattle for the forthcoming National Breed Show and Sale at Dallas, Tex., Oct. 18 and 19. This is perhaps the biggest feature among the many plans for promotion and is unique in the fact that it will be a show of "State Herds," something no other cattle breed has ever done. The first show of its kind was held at Kansas City last year and was highly successful.

In the picture is President King (in dark suit) looking over a likely prospect for the national event where these dual-purpose cattle will be showing for $5,000 in premiums and which, after the showing, the best animals will be selected and sold at auction. The first annual meeting of the society will be held at this time also and more than 3,000 members and delegates are expected to be present.

Offices of the American Milking Shorthorn Society are located at 4123 S. Union Ave., Chicago 9, Ill.

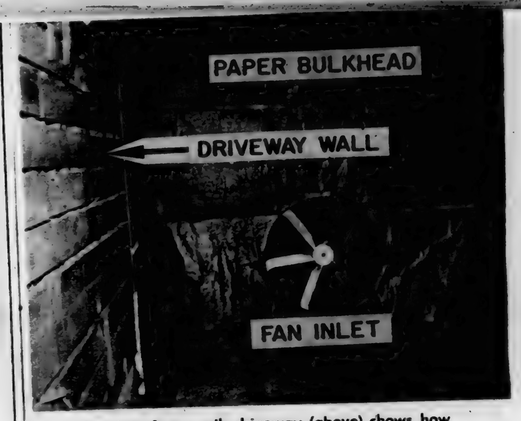
Here's what weevils can do to corn in storage. Powerful new fumigants, properly used, will kill weevils and other granary insects that may be hard at work right now, eating your stored grain.

Protecting Grain in Storage

Extra profits from growing a bumper yield of corn or small grains are often lost by farmers through poor grain storage. Insects, rats and spoilage may ruin a third or more of the crop after it's in the bin.

To guard against losses in storage, farmers are adopting new methods and new equipment. Artificial crop drying, powerful new insecticides, new-type bins and cribs, and more effective rat controls are helping farmers protect their grain and keep it high in feed and cash value during the storage period.

The pictures below show some of the ways farmers are protecting stored grain this year.



Interior of corn crib driveway (above) shows how walls may be sealed and fan installed to drive air through corn and speed drying. Corn in this crib was dried from 23% to 20% moisture in 12 days with fan-driven air. Use of crop driers, which blow heated-air through crib, dry corn several times as fast.

PICK CORN Early

INCREASE YIELD ...up to 15%

● This amazing new machine lets you pick your corn early when weather is better and losses with mechanical pickers are at minimum. Get your corn into the crib when it's right — not when the weather man says you can. The American All Crop Dryer does a perfect drying job — in wagon, crib or bin, insures feed and market value, saves loss and spoilage. Write for details.

Built of concrete, this corn crib with overhead storage for small grains at Mooseheart, Ill., is ratproof, fireproof and provides abundant ventilation for proper drying.

Corn from extra-big yields can be safely stored in a temporary "snowfence" crib like this one if it is covered with a good canvas tarpaulin. For safer, faster drying, make circular cribs less than 8 feet in diameter.

Steel bins like these give good protection against rats, fire and the weather. Tight-sided, they may be fumigated to protect stored grain against damage by weevils. Interior ventilators can be used to hasten drying.

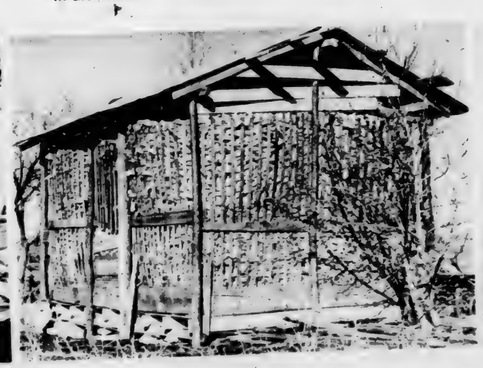
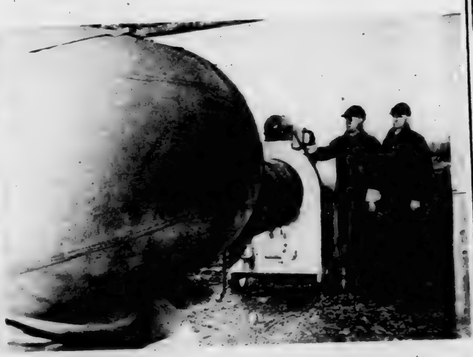
Rats destroy about 200 million bushels of stored grain a year. You can rid your farm of rats by dusting burrows with calcium cyanide, setting poison along their runs, and setting traps in their path as shown above.



Before you store corn this fall, check your crib and make repairs. Straighten up sagging cribs or they may burst when filled. Strengthen foundations, creosote wooden floors, patch roof, and ratproof with hardware cloth and metal flashings.



Increases in value of high-moisture ear-corn of from 20 to 70 cents per bushel, were obtained with heated, forced-air drying equipment at a fuel and power cost of only 2½ to 9½ cents a bushel. Use of crop driers are gaining wide favor for drying cribbed ear corn, small grains in the bin, and hay in the mow.

Cook's Corner

By SUSAN LOWE

Breakfast starts a new semester! Although we mothers think of school days in terms of the school lunch, actually all the meals of the day require studied planning. The health of our children depends largely upon the food we provide for them. Meals must be nourishing and well balanced.

There are seven groups of food which must be included daily in our diet:

1. Green and yellow vegetables — 1 large serving per day
2. Oranges, tomatoes and grapefruit or raw cabbage or raw greens — 1 serving per day
3. Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits — 1 or more potatoes — 2 servings of others
4. Milk and milk products (as a beverage or in cooked foods) — Adults, 1 pint; Children, ¾ to 1 quart
5. Meat, poultry, fish, eggs — 1 serving meat, poultry or fish; 1 egg (at least 4 a week) (Also included in this group are dried beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter)
6. Bread, flour and cereals (enriched or whole grain) — 2 slices of bread or its equivalent at each meal
7. Butter — 2 to 3 level tablespoons

Milk is a daily MUST!

Prune Almond Oatties

1¾ cups cooked prunes
1 cup shortening
2 cups granulated sugar
¼ cup honey
2 eggs
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
5½ to 6 cups quick-cooking oats
⅔ cup chopped unblanched almonds

Pit 1 cup prunes and cut into small pieces. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Stir in honey and prunes; add beaten eggs and beat. Add flour sifted with salt, soda and spice, and mix well. Blend in oats and almonds. Drop in small mounds on greased cooky sheets. Pit and slice remaining ¾ cup of prunes and place a piece of prune on top of each cooky. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Makes approximately 5 dozen medium-sized cookies.

For the lunch box surprise, or that after school snack.

Carefully planned, well balanced meals at home and at school build health and happiness for our youth.

IT'S A BIT TOO EARLY for those birds! But Johnny and Betty Kramer of Palmer, Iowa have the best of intentions as they offer corn on the cob to two baby chicks.

BACHELORS, the line forms at the left! May Marie Mueller, Lake Mills, Wisconsin puts the finishing touches on an extra special cake...topped with a two-tone KARO* Syrup frosting. "Karo keeps the frosting smooth and soft," says attractive May Marie.

APPLE DUMPLINGS TONIGHT

1 recipe baking powder biscuit dough
6 medium baking apples, pared and cored
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg

1½ cups KARO Syrup, Blue Label
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Roll baking powder biscuit dough into a rectangle ⅛ inch thick. Cut into 6 squares. Place an apple in center of each square. Fill centers of apples with mixtures of 2 tablespoons melted butter, sugar, lemon juice, salt and spices. Pinch corners of squares together over each apple. Place in greased pan (7½x12x2 inches). Combine KARO Syrup, water and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Pour over dumplings. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes; reduce temperature to 350° F. and continue baking 35 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender. Baste occasionally with syrup mixture. Makes 6 servings.

Final Parade At Auburn Fair Largest Ever Staged

Auburn-Garret Sorority Won Float Contest; Keller's "Leapin Lena" Was Crowd Favorite

The Grand Finale parade Saturday Morning at the DeKalb County Fair at Auburn, was one of the biggest events in the five day fair week, and brought to a close the 1948 edition of the event.

Highlighting 5 days of special event which included 4 parades, the Saturday parade took an hour and 25 minutes to move past the judges stand.

The Auburn and Garrett Sigma Phi Gamma sorority took first prize in the float contest. The Farm Bureau float captured second and was followed by the County 4 H float; The Spencer Twp. 4-H boys and Concord Methodist Church were fifth to complete the first five, prize winning places.

Had the entry by Keller's Garage of St. Joe, Kaiser-Frazer dealer, been elgible for competition in the float classes, the majority of the huge crowd which lined the streets, would have voted unamiously in their favor, especially the youngsters.

The old Model T with its peculiar antics, was taken out of a seven year retirement, several weeks ago, and with a new multi-color paint job, came back to give the parade viewers their biggest laugh of the day. Many of the youngsters and a lot of the older ones watching the parade had never seen "Leapin Lena" in action, as it had'nt been at the fair since 1941.

The four man crew, Ned Keller, Bert Keller, Walter Fetters, and Jim Kees, put on their best dress, including plug hats, white coats and bow ties. And with the aid of a little black grease paint, big cigars, auto bombs, and fire crackers, the boys grabbed the limelight from the time thef entered Cedar Street, until they had posed for the movie cameras, at the judges stand, near the Post Office, where the parade disassembled.

Shilling Studio, Post 283 of the American Legion, The St. Joe News, and a 1948 Kaiser which followed the "Leapin Lena" were other representations of St. Joe in the parade.

Cooked Rice—in 10 Minutes

There's a new rice on the market—pre-cooked long-grain rice—which is said to be a boon to the novice homemaker. It requires no washing, steaming and draining. The recipe calls for combining the rice with cold water and salt, bringing it to a rolling boil then turning off the heat and letting the rice steam, covered, for 10 minutes. At the end of that time each grain is supposed to be white, fluffy and separate and ready to serve.

Draft Registration Continues For County Youths

Lt. Col. F. Lyle Summers ,state selective service director, has reminded young men of the necessity for continuing registration in local draft board offices.

He emphasized that Septemebr 18 did not end registration under the present draft law as young men who reach their 18th birthday after September 18, 1948 are required to register within 5 days of their 18th annivrsary of the date of birth.

He also reminded men who were eligible for regstration between August 30 and September 18, but who were prevented from registering by circumstances beyond their control that they, too, are legally responsible to complete their registration as soon as possible after the cause for such inability ceases to exist.

The continuing registration will be conducted in 89 selective service lical board offices throughout Indiana. These offices are open each week day except Saturday.

MILLION AND A HALF TREES TRANSPLANTED IN STATE NURSERIES

Transplantation of more than a million and a half pine seedlings will get underway shortly in Indiana state forest nurseries, Ralph F. Wilcox, state forester, announced today.

The transplant work will begin at the Jasper-Pulaski state tree nursery where Otho Henderson is superintendent. Most of the seedlings are year old plantings, but some have been in seed beds for as long as two years, Mr. Wilcox reports.

According to the state forester, it is now necessary to give these seedlings almost double the space they required in the first year or two of growth.

Jackson State Forest nursery will begin transplanting shortly after work at J-P is completed. Most of the seedlings transplanted will be Scotch, Jack white and red pines, therefore, Clark State Forest nursery will not be affected since the seedlings there are largely hardwoods, Mr. Wilcox said.

Richard Rambo, field scientist, is supervising the nursery transplanting program.

FORESTERS FEAR SERIOUS OUTDOOR FIRES THIS FALL

Outdoor fires caused more than $40,000 worth of damage the first six month of this year and a severe autumn loss is feared, the Indiana Department of Conservation reporttoday.

State Forester Ralph Wilcox announced that 329 fires burned 10,074 acres between January 1 and this year. Total damage of $41,404 was higher than that of the 1947 fall fire season.

Careless burners of debris caused 131--or 400 per cent - of all outdoor blazes during the first half of this year.

Smokers were responsible for 91 fires and railroads for 43.

Due to the unusually heavy vegetation this summer, foresters are anticipating a bad fire season when the grass, trees and underbrush become dry this fall.

For that reason they are emphasizing the standard rules to guard against outdoor fires: (1) don't burn brush on a dry, windy day; (2) use your automobile ashtray when driving; (3) don't throw away a lighted match or cigarette.

Conservation officials plan to train an additional 850 southern Indiana high school boys as fire-fighters this autumn.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

CHILDBIRTH

IT is four times as safe for a mother to have her baby now than it was ten years ago. Yet, last year more than 5,000 women died in childbirth in the United States. At no time in a woman's life are good health habits more vital than during pregnancy. The prospective mother should lead an orderly life, observing regular hours, with eight or nine hours of sleep every night. She should keep up an active interest in her family and community.

The expectant mother's diet should consist of good food, not highly seasoned. She should not overeat, but should eat small meals several times a day.

Many women in the first two or three month of pregnancy suffer from nausea and vomiting. The body gradually develops an immunity to the processes which cause this sickness. The mental attitude has much to do with symptoms of nausea and vomiting. Economic worries, late hours and over-active week-ends disturb the sensitive nervous system during this trying period.

As soon as pregnancy is suspected a thorough physical examination should be made to correct existing disorders and defects. Infected teeth and tonsils, anemia, disturbances of the thyroid gland, digestive organs and pelvic abnormalities should be checked by a medical doctor.

Turkey Run

Turkey Run state park is two and one-half miles north of Marshall, Ind., and is noted chiefly for its geological formations and rugged canyons formed in the glacial period. It is traversed by Sugar creek which abounds in black bass, crappies, rock bass and other fish.

SCRIPTURE: Acts 16:11-8; 17:13-15; I Corinthians 4:14-21; 16:10-11; Philippians 2:19; I Thessalonians 3:1-10; II Timothy 1:3-14; 3:14-15. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 119:129-136.

Faith: A Family Tradition

Lesson for September 26, 1948

HERE IS a brief Bible quiz: What Christian man did Paul recommend to the Philippians as the one completely unselfish person he knew? When Paul needed a man to present his ideas to a "problem church," whom did he send? When Paul wanted reliable information about a church, on whose report did he depend? Whom did Paul call "son" more often than any one else? The answer to all these questions is the same: Timothy.

Dr. Foreman

Certainly a man whom the great Saint Paul found so congenial, so reliable, so unselfish and effective a Christian, is a man worth our careful attention. We ask this question about him: What made him what he was?

Faith at Home

SOME MEN have to leave home to find faith. But perhaps the happiest Christians, certainly the most fortunate, are those who cannot remember what it was not to have faith. It was the atmosphere they breathed as children. The first people they knew were Christians, prayer and faith were taken for granted, the name of Christ was heard only in reverence and love, never in jest or anger.

Timothy grew up in such a home. When he became a mature, working Christian he had no wasted years to regret, no wild oats to pull up. The faith of his adult mind was not scarred by the acid remains of earlier doubt. Timothy's life was all of one piece. He was born to faith, he grew up in it.

Homes can do a great deal for the children who live in them. But nothing else—physical health, poise, culture, friends, ambition—nothing else is quite so valuable a gift or quite so lasting, as faith.

In later years faith may have to be pounded into a person or shocked into him; but in childhood faith is woven in, welded in, and that is as it should be. Happy the Christian who does not have to turn his back on his childhood when he turns his face to Christ!

Book of Wisdom

"RELIGION cannot be taught, it can only be caught," is an old saying. It is partly true, for you cannot set any dozen people at random down on a bench and teach them into faith. If teaching religion were as simple as that, then every Sunday school could guarantee that every one of its graduates would become a saint. Nevertheless, religion can partly be taught, for in a book there may be crystallized the faith of many a generation. A book may concentrate and preserve the insight, the inspiration, the assurance of men and women who though dead yet speak.

Living with books of faith is like living with many families of faith at the same time. Such a book is the Bible. And it was the Bible, or so much of it as had been written, the Old Testament, which was the one Book in Timothy's boyhood home. Through the Scriptures, the boy's mother taught her son not merely her own faith but that of many a generation before her time.

In our own day, parents may feel that they come too far short of being saints, so they hesitate about urging their perhaps dimly-felt religion on their children. Yet in our Bible there is open to all fathers and mothers a means of placing their children in an atmosphere of intense faith.

Personal religious genius is rare; but even though you may be anything but a genius, you still can bring to your child the treasures of the Bible, product of the highest inspiration and insight the world has known.

Women of the Family

TIMOTHY'S FATHER was a Greek, probably not a Christian. He and Timothy may never have understood each other. It was the women of the family who molded the boy's mind and heart, his mother, Eunice, and his grandmother, Lois.

It is always so. It is the women of a family who have most influence for faith or against it. The boy knows his mother before he knows any one else. She teaches him to talk, he absorbs her attitudes and ideas even before he understands them. If father and mother differ in religion, it is likely that children will follow mother rather than father.

As evidenced by the smiles, the Dewey-Warren compatibility goes deeper than politics--family deep, in fact. The Governors are old associates of the National Governors's Conference their wives make it a congenial foursome. And when the Warrens visited the Dewey farm at Pawling, New York, the family combination had all the atmosphere of a traditional American family reunion. Left to right: John Dewey, 12; Virginia and Nina Warren, 19 and 14; Gov. and Mrs. Warren; Mrs. Dewey; Gov. Dewey; Dorothy Warren, 17 and Thomas Dewey, Jr., 15. The Warrens' two sons, James, 28, and Bobby 13, were not present.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

This Friday evening, the St. Joe Blasters, sponsored by the American Legion Post here, will swing into action at Browne's Alleys in Hicksville. The local keglers, bowling for their third year in active league competition in the Inter City league, are being sponsored by the Legion this year, and shirts with all the trimmings have been ordered for the the boys. Teams from Harlan, Hicksville, Woodburn, Antwerp and St. Joe, comprise the league, which continues until March.

Lavon Brunson captain of the locals reports that 4 of the five Blasters from last last year, Harold Baker, Richard Freeburn, Garford Smith and himself, will be on the firing line opening nite, but at that time, had not selected the fifth man.

IN FOOTBALL— Although it was just a 14 to 0 defeat for the Auburn Red Devils, by the Decatur Yellow Jackets last Friday, Auburn football fan stock it a lot harder than just an ordinary defeat. For it ended a 3 year, 24 game period, during which time they had sat back and watched their favorites run roughshod over the best opposition northeastern Indiana could afford. Not since 1945 when Warsaw turned the trick had the Red Devils met defeat. And not since 1943 had Decatur ever had emerged victorious. The Red Devils were outcharged throughout the contest, and combined with the clever ballhandling from the T formation by the Yellow Jacket quarter back, kept pounding at the Auburn line for good gains, that set up the two touchdowns.

Big Nine All Go This Week

Although Indiana at Wisconsin is the only conference game in the opening week of football in the Big Nine, the other 7 teams will also be in action in non-league affairs. The game of the week no doubt will develop at South Bend this Saturday. The Purdue Boilermakers, tabbed as the team to beat in the Big Nine, go against the always tough Irish of Notre Dame.

Even though the Michigan Wolverines are not expected to duplicate the 55 to 0 lacing they handed their East Lansing friends at Mich. State, they shouldn't have much trouble when they meet them there, this Saturday.

Two other Big Nine teams which take trips to the west coast for Saturday games, should likewise be successful ones. Minn. will play Wash. at Seattle, and Northwestern will go a little farther south to battle U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

In other Saturday games, Kansas State is at Illinois, Marquette at Iowa and Missouri at Ohio State.

ROMEO AND JULIET TO BE PRESENTED BY CIVIC THEATER GROUP THIS WEEK

Surrounded by an unprecedented avalanche of mail and telephone reservation, officials of the Fort Wayne Civic Theater were preparing today to open the four day, five performance run of William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." The play runs Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week Performances are scheduled nightly at 8:30 p.m., with a matinee on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock

Reservations already in, represent almost every city and hamlet within an area of 75 miles around Fort Wayne. Naturally, a large number of the orders are from schools and colleges. Allen County high schools alone have accounted for more than 500 reservations.

A superb cast, headed by Robert Brown and Margaret Gross Butters as Juliet, is currently finishing a gruelling 10 weeks of rehearsal on the Shakespearan masterpiece. One of the most beautiful stage settings ever created at the Civic Playhouse has been constructed by Technical Director David M. Fisher, after weeks of research into the architectual designs of the 15th Century.

Highlighting the intermission periods at each performance will be brief addresses by Allen County Superintendent of Schools Kelro Whiteman, Miss Mabel Holland, representing City School Superintendent Merle J. Abbett, and Igor Bukeloff, new conductor of the Ft. Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra.

A few excellent seats are available on the main floor and in the balcony. Reservations may be secured by calling Anthony-3151 or writing to the Civic Theater box office, 216 E. Berry Street.

1948 HONEY CROP IS SIXTY PERCENT NORMAL OUTPUT

Indiana's 1948 honey crop will fall short of the normal production near 40% but don't bame the bees- says Gerald L. Hodson, State Bee Inspector of the Indiana Department of Conservation.

According to Mr. Hodson, Hoosier bees are still the same energetic little insects they have always been, but several factors have caused the drop in honey production.

Heavy winter loss in the colonies has been one factor, while another pertinent condition is the lack of bee pasture. Since the honey bees requires legumes principly to feed upon in order to manufacture honey, they are finding it "tough-going" these days. Hoosier farms do not contain the large fields of clover thy once did since farmers today are raising 'cash crops instead of livestock.'

The average production per colony for the state as a whole is much less than 60 lbs

There are approximately 25,000 beekeepers in the state of Indiana and they have charge of about 200,000 colonies. Mr. Hodson points out that the Federal Government is asking for an increase in the number of colonies for Indiana.

However, this is for pollination purposes rather than for honey or beeswax.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

When you combine all sports together it is really big business with several billions of dollars being expended annually for the participants and the fans. And a major share of this money is spent by sportsmen who enjoy hunting and fishing.

"The man who hunts or fishes does not count his pennies when it come to enjoying his favorite sport," says Henry P. Davis, veteran employee of the Remington Arms Co., "but he does ask a fair chance to have some fun, afield and if the opportunity is there, he'd gladly take it without much quibbling about costs. He's by no means a sucker, however, but he's willing to pay for the pleasure he derives from hunting and fishing."

Recently we saw a report from the Ohio Conservation Department showing that Buckeye sportsmen spend a total of $85 dollars annually. How does that compare, were wondering, with other other states?

The facts in Ohio were obtained through a survey of sportsmen. Over 5,000 hunters were contacted and a tabulation of the answers showed that 31.1 per cent of the money spent went for clothing, guns represented 26.96 per cent, ammunition 11.77 per cent, and gas and oil 12.08 per cent.

A poll of 3,00 fishermen showed they spent an average of 22.15 per cent of all funds for tackle. Gas and oil accounted for 15.47 per cent of the expenditures. 8.73 per cent went for meals, 6.07 per cent for lodging, 4.15 per cent for bait, and only 4.68 per cent for clothing.

These figures might lead to an interesting debate on whether fishermen or hunters are the best dressed but, naturally, it take more clothing and more expensive types for hunting than for fishing and that partly explains the big difference in Ohio's report.

The profits from this spending are not harvested by only a few interprises either according to Ohio's figures. In the Buckeye State there are 9,158 businesses dependent on wildlife resources. That figure would be proportionally the same for all states.

Also there are at least 27 different kinds of businesses in Ohio known to handle hunting and fishing equipment. Hardware stores, of course lead the list. These stores, polled in a 13 county area, reported that 38.6 per cer of their total income comes from the sport of hunting and fishing. General stores in the same area are reported 21.4 per cent of their income traceable to the sale of hunting and fishing equipment.

Yes, hunting and fishing definitely is big business. It's vital in our national economy and, consequently it is a must for every sportsmen to do his part in seing that our wildlife resources are maintained-both for the sport and the busines that is dependent on them.

Oil Stockpile Continues Steady Increase

The oil shortage is over. There is plenty of gasoline for the remainder of the touring season and there will be ample supplies of heating oil in all parts of the country next winter.

Analysis of industry statistics made by The Oil and Gas Journal shows that the production of petroleum products not only has caught up with the unprecedented postwar demand but is running so far ahead of current consumption that stocks are building up rapidly. The present rate of stock increase promises a comfortable margin of safety for months to come.

The present stock picture is not a temporary or fleeting phenomenon. It is a longe-range trend, which has been in progress for months. The daily average stock increase during April, May, June, and July of this year was 2. 8 times that of the same period last year. It was 1.9 times that of the same period of 1946. It was 3.4 times that of the same period of 1939.

Gasoline Proved Ample

Last spring motorists were worried lest they run short of gasoline on vacation trips. On July 31, with much the high-demand -season over, stocks of gasoline at refineries and bulk station were 13,113,000 bbl. greater than on the same date last year-an increase of 15.2 per cent. This is in spite of the fact that consumption of gasoline so far this year has been running about 8 per cent higher than 1947. During the third quarter of this year the demand for gasoline will be 7.6 per cent greater than last year, according to the forecast carried in detail in The Oil and Gas Journal of July 29, page 174.

Kerosine, which gave trouble the past two winters, looks good as of this date. Stocks are 19.3 per cent higher than last year and the forecast for consumption during the 6 winter months is 12.1 per cent above the use during the 1947-48 winter.

Stocks of distillate fuel oils on July 31 were 22 per cent (10,217,000 bbl.) above the same date last year. Winter demand is forecast at 11.6 per cent over last year, leaving a margin of safety of about 50 per cent.

Almost rediculous is the situation in residual fuel oil. Winter demand is expected to be only 1.8 per cent higher than last year. But stocks (not including heavy crude oil in California) are now 22.1 per cent higher than a year ago.

Trend Still Increasing

Stocks of these four major products increased by 38,386,000 bbl. during the four-month period, and totaled 234,958,000 bbl. on July 31. During the last 4 weeks of July alone the increase was 11,403,000 bbl. And the trend is still up, for during the first week in August stocks of the four major products increased another 3,122,00 bbl.

If stocks increase the same amount in August and September—and there is every indication that they may-the industry's inventory of major products will be 257,000,000 bbl. at the beginning of the fourth quarter. This would exceed by 46,500,000 bbl.

The main reason for this improved situation is, of course, the tremendous increase in crude production and refinery activity. During the first 7 months of this year crude runs to stills averaged 5,522,000 bbl. per day, which is 607,000, bbl. per day, or 12.3 per cent, above the same part of 1947. Compared with this increase of 13.2 per cent in production of products, consumption was only 6.7 per cent over 1947 during the 5 months of the year, and final figures for current months are expected to be about the same.

Exports Way Down

Another reason is a shift in our import-export balance. Surprising to many people is the fact that our exports of oil have decreased sharply while our imports have increased only slightly. This can be explained largely by tighter export control and the use of other sources to supply Europe and Canada

During the first 5 months of 1948 imports of crude increased 9.8 per cent over the same period of 1947 and imports of petroleum products decreased 7.4 per cent, leaving a net import gain of 2.6 per cent. During the same period our exports of crude decreased 9.9 per cent and of products 25.3 per cent, a net drop in total exports of 21.4 per cent.

Instead of the United States becoming more dependent on foreign oil it appears that foreign countries are becoming less dependent on American oil.

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

ONE of the things with which a farmer has to contend is disease in his farm animals. One of the most serious diseases striking the cattle country recently caused USDA officials to declare a state of emergency. The disease, which kills both beef and dairy animals, is called simply "x disease," mainly because of the inability to classify it.

The symptoms are watery discharge from the eyes and nose, poor appetite, loss of condition, thickening of the skin and wart-like sores on the mouth, tongue and cheeks. It seems that young stock is more susceptible than older animals. The disease usually becomes chronic, and nearly always is fatal.

"X disease" first was discovered in New York state in 1939, but this is the first time it has spread. The most likely cause is thought to be something in feed or soil. It is thought not to be an infection because it has been impossible to transmit it from one cow to another.

The only recommendations made so far are to move animals to another pasture when the disease occurs, and to improve the general state of nutrition. The fact that the disease has occurred in well-managed, well-fed herds makes the officials wary of their own recommendations. They are the best steps that can be recommended at the moment from the information available.

Field surveys have begun, and information will be gathered about individual outbreaks. We will keep you informed as developments occur.

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

Building a new country was not easy. But there were men and women willing to turn their backs on a safe life, and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." Free enterprise is the basic American principle of vision and personal initiative. Just give an American an even break — a chance to get ahead — and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its own citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed. For government in business grants itself special privileges that are denied to people in business.

Take government-owned power systems, for example. They pay few, if any, taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, fair interest on the money they borrow. It's a tribute to American self-reliance that tax-paying, self-supporting companies supply over 4/5 of the enormous amount of electric power this country depends on . . . at the lowest possible cost.

There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And businessmen can do the job better than bureaucrats.

LADIES SURPRISE ANNA KOCH ON HER 88th BIRTHDAY

It was a complete surprise to Mrs. Anna Koch, when her mean neighbors, relatives and some friends marched in her home on Sept. 22 nd singing "Happy Birthday". They came to help her celebrate her 88th birthday. The afternoon was spent in visiting, and believe you me, when fifteen old ladies get together there is quite a variety of things to talk apout and no dull moments. After the social hour, Mrs. Belle Keesler, Mrs. Clara Foltz and Mrs. Nancy Coburn as hostesses served at small tables in the living room, melon cups filled with home made ice cream, cookies and grape juice. Mrs. Coburn brought the ice cream and melons which all enjoyed very much.

After the lunch the ceremony of opening and adorning the gifts, and receiving and giving thanks, utilized a happy half hour; after which the ladies, wishing Mrs. Koch many more happy birthdays went home.

Those present were: Mrs. Belle Keesler and Elaine, Mrs. Clara Foltz Mrs. Nancy Coburn, Mrs. Daisy Woodcox, Mrs. Violet Kline, baby and sons Jimmie and Jerry, Mrs. Maragaret Lochner, Mrs. Bebee, Mrs. Howard and sister of Hicksville, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Lee Jackson, Mrs. Pearl Jackson, Mrs. Nan Lysher, Mrs. Savilla Miller and Mrs. Alice Gerig and friend and little son, Lou, of Auburn.

Although advanced in years, Mrs. Koch is able to do her house work and keep the home fires burning for her son Roy, and herself at their home on Widney Ave., in St. Joe.

PUBLICATION FOR EX-CBI VETERANS IS GROWING IN POPULARITY

A hobby designed to keep former members of his army outfit in touch with each other through the years was started in 1946 by Clarence R. Gordon, 100 W. 13th Avenue, Denver, Colo., who publishes a quarterly Magazine--"Ex-CBI Roundup" for GI's who served in the China-Burman-India theater of war.

Gordon states his magazine has grown tremendously in the past two years, now requiring more of his time than his "full time" job as managing editor of an automotive trade magazine, since he receives a huge volume of mail daily from CBI veterans in all parts of the nation.

Included in the numerous inquiries he has received, Gordon declares he has been requested to obtain information on mishaps in which flyers lost their lives or were reported missing in action, questions pertaining to scenery in India and China, friends seeking lost buddies, etc.

Gordon's venture has been widely publicized and the magazine was recently designated the official publication for the National CBI Veterans Association. He hopes eventually to list most of the 245,000 CBI Veterans as subscribers. Subscription price is $1.00 per year.

Eligible veterans are invited to send in their subscriptions, which must be accompanied by information as to rank at discharge, CBI base, CBI outfit, army job and present occupation. Gordon reproduces excerpts from the letters in each issue of The Roundup.

COLUMBUS DAY

REGISTRATION DEADLINE NEAR

Five days remain for new registration of voters or for correction due to transfers or other reasons, County Clerk Murray A. Steele, reminded voters Tuesday.

The deadline is Oct. 4. If for any reason a voter is uncertain of his registration status, it is important that he get in touch with the clerk's office at once, Mr. Steele reports.

A total of 92 registration deputies 46 republicans and 46 democrats are now working in the county's 46 precincts with poll books and securing registratons. One member of each party is working in each precinct. The deputies were certified by Burley Ensley GOP county chairman and Robert Riddle, the democratic chairman. Derwood Ridgway, GOP registration deputy is working Concord Twp.

Regarding new voters, Mr. Steele reports that any new voter who shall have reached the age of 21 years, and has been a resident of the state for six months and of the township for 60 days and his voting precinct for 30 days must register to meet qualifications for voting.

Also those who were qualified but failed to vote in the last primary or in the general election, or whose name has been changed by marriage, must correct their registration at the clerk's office if they wish to vote.

SWINE AND BEEF SHOW AT HICKSVILLE, OCTOBER 6

October 6 has been set as the date of the annual swine and beef calf show at the stockyards of the Hicksville Producters Livestock Cooperative Association. This date was selected at a recent meeting of the Hicksville advisory committee consisting of County Agents and Vo-Ag instructors which made final plans for the event.

Entries totalling approximately 170 head of hogs and beef calves are expected for this show, according to Horace Meek, Market manager. Young people carrying on FFA and 4-H club projects are expected to have 125 head of swine in the junior division, and 20 beef calves. Indication to date are that there will be less competition in the senior division.

The objective of this show and sale, Mr. Meek points out, is to give credit to the producers and feeders of hogs which yield a hgh percentage of the choice cuts, and to encourage the feeding of quality beef calves.

Townspeople as well as farmers are invited to be among the spectators at the event of October 6, Mr. Meek said. This occasion will afford the opportunity for farmers to look over what the other fellow is doing in the way of growing and feeding livsetock, and will enable townspeople to see in one place some of the best livestock in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wilks of Fort Wayne were Monday afternoon callers at the Mrs. W. H. Randall home. Evening callers were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beard of Auburn

All-Time Best Seller

Lesson for October 3, 1948

IF ALL the Bibles sold in one year by one manufacturer, the American Bible society, were piled on top of one another, flat—not endwise—that pile of Bibles and testaments would be 26 miles high. In 1947 that firm put out the astonishing total of 9,310,439 Bibles, testaments or portions. During the first 125 years of the society's existence, 305,579,217 copies of Scripture were printed and sold by them; this would make one shelf 870 miles long.

Dr. Foreman

The Bible is the best selling book in the world. No other book is in its class.

Not to know the Bible is not to know the most widely read book in the world. The American Bible society publishes it in only 167 languages, but parts of it have been translated into as many as 1,000 languages and dialects.

Many Authors

SUCH popularity must be deserved. There are many reasons why the Bible continues to be, year after year, the all-time best seller. But one of the reasons is its impressive variety. It is not one book, it is a library of books. Whatever your mood, whatever your need, there is a page in the Bible, somewhere, for you.

A Christian will try seriously to appreciate the whole Bible and not merely one or two parts of it. Yet there is such variety in it that invariably some persons are attracted by one feature of it while another feature makes stronger appeal to others.

Our studies these next three months will be in "The Literature of the Bible" and each week we shall be noticing a different feature. This week we give a thought to the tremendous variety of the Bible, along with its underlying unity.

Many Types

LOOKING through the Bible you find all varieties of literary types; you find poetry and prose; stories, essays, sermons, biographies, dramas; rhapsodies, love songs, funeral dirges and battle hymns.

Here are pages as prosaic as a telephone book and here are pages more exciting than any fiction. Here are simple, straightforward ideas that a child can understand as soon as he understands the words and here are mysteries so profound that the world's mightiest and boldest minds shrink back in awe.

The Bible is not like a piece of music played on one single instrument, like a tune on a piccolo; it is more like an immense symphony—the more often we listen to it, the more we hear in it.

Many Times

NO ONE knows exactly how long it took for the Bible to be written. Let us suppose that the earliest parts came from the pen (or stylus) of Moses, and the latest part from about 100 years after Christ (John and the Revelation). If Moses flourished around 1200 B. C., that would mean that the Bible was completed 13 centuries after it was begun.

In 13 centuries much can happen, and much did. There is hardly any circumstance or crisis, there is scarcely any time, however humdrum or thrilling, which does not have its match in the Bible. Its writers were inspired men; they knew God. But they also knew the times in which they lived, and thus can speak to ours.

One Theme

FOR all the vast variety of the Bible, there is in it a deep and lofty unity. It is bound together by its mighty purpose, which throbbed in the heart's blood of every man who wrote a line of it. That purpose is to make God real to man, and to bring man to God. The writers of the Bible may have had their lighter moments, but they did not write these pages then.

They wrote under the irresistible impulse, born of the Holy Spirit, to make plain to other men what God had revealed to them.

So as you come to the Bible, remember its purpose is not to make you admire or revere it as a book; its great purpose is to be transparent, a window through which you shall see God.

GOVERNMENT TO SUPPORT CORN PRICES AT $1.50 PER BU.

DeKalb County farmers are about to harvest a bumper corn crop; and some, who have corn for sale, are wondering what the market price of corn will be. It will be of interest to these farmers to learn that the government will support the price of corn by offering to loan approximately $1:50 per bushel on their corn; also the government will guarantee that the farmer will receive not less than this amount if he will sign a purchase agreement, this purchase agreement, will cost the corn growers one-half of one-cent per bushel. In either case it will oe necessary for the farmers to provide storage till September 30, 1949. No interest is charged to anyone who does not repay their loan; and to those that do repay the loan three per cent interest is charged. The government will support the price of soybeans at $2.18 per bushel by the same method. For further details contact the DeKalb County AAA office or see Ora Crooks, Brooks Trenary, or Arthur H. Lautzenhiser. Those who do not have adequate storage facilities for their corn, can provide temporary storage if they will order the necessary material immediately. Storage that protects the quality of the corn is all that is necessary to enable the producer to take advantage of the government offer to support corn prices.

Purchase and loan agreements that guarantee the farmer $2.15 per bushel for wheat and 72c for oats are available untill December 1948

STATE POLICE WILL INSPECT SCHOOL BUSSES DURING OCT.

State Police will follow up their recent attack on motorists who violate school bus laws with a strict inspection of Indiana's nearly 7,000 school busses.

Col. Robert Rossow, superintendent, said today that state troopers will give every school transport a thorough going over in October in accordance with safety rules laid down by the Indiana School Bus Committee.

"It would be illogical to enforce traffic laws protecting school busses if the coaches themselves were unsafe," Col. Rossow declared. He said that 245,000 youngsters are transported more than 196,000 miles each school day.

State police recently warned that vehicles meeting or overtaking a school bus must come to a full stop if the bus is halted to take on or discharged passengers. The only exception is on a divided lane highway on which the unimproved dividing strip is 20 feet or more wide, in which case vehicles in the lanes opposite the school bus need not stop

The committe, which controls school bus transportation under law, has directed that special attention be given chassis construction, brakes and safety devices. Defective busses must be repaired or replaced, according to committee ruling.

In conjunction with the scheduled state-wide inspections troopers at the headquarters post will make "spot checks" in parking lots of Marion county schools at unannounced datea. Motorbikes, scooters, and cars in which students ride will be inspected for mechanical defects and proper registration.

New Corn Drying-Storage Method Boosts Value of 1948's Big Crops

How a Quonset is equipped to dry as well as store corn is illustrated in these photos. (Above) Ear corn is loaded into the building through removable roof sheets. (Right) Ears pile around ventilation tunnel. When building is filled, air blown into this tunnel by outside fan circulates between ears and carries moisture out through top vents.

Corn growers, confronted with lack of facilities for handling their record yield this year, now may obtain newly-developed buildings that increase crop value by drying as well as storing the grain.

The new agricultural development is a Quonset 32x36' adaptation that handles 5,000 bushels of ear corn. Local dealers can erect and equip it to receive corn in a few days' time. Drying is accomplished by forcing air through the corn at the rate of 25,000 cubic feet a minute.

The Quonset is equipped with special bracing, a motor-driven fan and a slatted framework which runs lengthwise through the building's center. Corn piled around the frame forms a tunnel into which air is blown. The air circulates through the corn, absorbs moisture, and escapes through vents at the building's top. The special equipment can be removed easily when the Quonset is desired for other uses.

Another corn-handling unit, the Quonset portable crib feeder, has been developed to eliminate most of the labor in hog production. One 500-bushel filling of the crib will feed approximately 40 pigs from weaning until ready for market.

Cherry Filled Coffee Cake

Mid-way through this quick coffee cake is a filling of juicy cherries to lend appetite appeal to a good breakfast.

For a hot bread that features so much good eating, this cherry filled coffee cake is exceptionally easy to make. Into the baking pan goes a crunchy layer of streusel, then a coffee cake batter, then sweetened cherries, finally more batter. This layered cake bakes in 25 minutes. Then it puts in an appearance at the breakfast table to give that meal style and sparkle.

Uses for such a coffee cake need not be limited to breakfast. Because it contains enriched flour, it is rich in B-vitamins, food energy and iron. With this splendid nutritional value, it is a mid-afternoon treat for callers, a supper dessert, a brunch special. Enriched flour products are good menu-balancers, since all their food values add up on the credit side of the meal. This coffee cake is high in the list of such products.

CHERRY FILLED COFFEE CAKE

Topping

½ cup sugar
½ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup butter or margarine

Mix sugar, flour, and cinnamon. Cut or rub in butter or margarine.

Batter

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1 #2 can cherries (1½ cups drained)

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg. Add milk and melted shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring until mixture is smooth. Spread half the batter into greased pan, eight by eight inches. Cover with cherries. Sprinkle half the topping over cherries. Cover with remaining batter, and finally with remaining topping. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Yield: 1 coffee cake, eight by eight inches.

On the High School footbal front around the county, the Auburn Red Devils came back from a stinging defeat by Decatur 2 weeks ago to whip a supposedly stronger Bluffton eleven 6 to 0. This Friday evening Hartford City will visit Auburn which should result in another win for the Red Devils.

Over at Garrett, the Railroaders take to the road for the second consecutive Friday night. Last Friday's evening trip to Decatur, aside from resulting in the Railroaders third straight loss of the season, was one of their most stinging defeats of several seasons. Decatur sent Garret home, smarting under a 31 to 0 defeat. Friday, Garrett will play at New Haven.

PREDICTIONS— With the season openers last Saturday tucked away in the back of our heads as a measuring stick, hero goes with a few predictons with the college teams.

Although Purdue lost in score last Saturday, (28-27 to Notre Dame) they lost no face, and the game of the week definitely will come out of Dyche Stadium at Evanston, Ill. There Northwestern, back home after giving UCLA a 19 to 0 licking, will make a bid to grab the Big Nine spot. Results: with the passing of DeMoss the deciding factor—Purdue by 7.

Indiana, pulling the surprise of last week may be all set for another big scoring day. In another conference game we'll pick our Hoosier's to give Iowa a 20 point lacing at Bloomington.

At Columbus the Ohio State-USC clash may produce, another big game. Again playing favorites to our close to home teams we'll pick the Buckeyes in a real close one—6 points over the west coasters.

Wisconsin, a pre season favorite didn't give any show of a great team in losing to Indiana, so we are picking Ill. to win by 6 over the Badgers.

Notre Dame will give Pitt their customary lacing, but only by about half of last years 40 to 6 job. We'll take the Irish and give you 18 points though if you want to bet.

Minn. should win against Neb. by about 2 touchdowns. Mich.

TheWolverines from Michigan may have a battle with Oregon. So with very little to go on, besides Oregon's win over Standford last week, and the way Mich. State stacked up against the Wolverines last week--we'll close by picking that as our upset of the day--Oregon by 3.

TUNE IN ON HUMAN RIGHTS

By John B. Kennedy
(Well Known Radio Commentator)

John B. Kennedy

Some time ago a friend of mine while broadcasting, mispronounced the name of a movie star. Immediately his studio was besieged with hundreds of telephone calls, letters and cablegrams pointing out his error.

Incidents like these keep all of us in radio acutely aware of the power of informed public opinion. That's why I, for one, am so impressed with the value of public information in the field of human rights.

Human rights and democracy go together like ham and eggs. You can't enjoy one without the other. The growing realization of this fact, both at home and abroad, has led to the admirable work of the Committee on Civil Rights on the domestic front and to the drafting of an International Declaration on Human Rights soon to be presented to the UN assembly for adoption.

Such a Declaration, however, would be only a first step. If and when it should be implemented by a Covenant on Human Rights, the citizens of 58 nations will be guaranteed all of the freedoms embodied in the American Bill of Rights, such as freedom of worship, press, speech and assembly, and the right to a fair trial under law. And in addition, such benefits as the right to a job, to decent food and housing, and to social security would be extended to all peoples.

Thus, for the first time in human history, a Magna Carta of human rights will be offered to the whole civilized world. In this sense, passage of the International Bill of Human Rights would represent the pinnacle of man's achievements since the dawn of civilization more than 6,000 years ago.

Since the United States is foremost in pushing human rights on the international level, there are many who think she ought to clean up her own backyard as well. With this in mind, the Committee on Civil Rights has prescribed much-needed legislative and educational tonics to improve our democratic health. The Committee has pointed out that discrimination among Americans because of race, religion or national origin is bad business from every point of view.

In dollars and cents, it costs the nation millions in lost services, wages and purchasing power. In terms of national morale, it is even more damaging because racial and religious tensions keep Americans divided, instead of working together for the common welfare. And, finally, discrimination lowers our prestige among those in other lands who are impressed by deeds rather than words. This is a loss that we can ill afford right now.

We live in a democracy. If the people speak, there is action. If they are silent, progress sleeps. I should like to see public forums, clubs, churches, schools, the radio, the press and movies all over this broad land of ours, take up the cudgels for human rights. In Montclair, New Jersey, the leading civic and veteran organizations of the town conducted a survey of Montclair's assets and liabilities as far as human rights were concerned. They issued their report, which they called "The Montclair Audit," at a public forum meeting, to which the whole community was invited. I would like to see a thousand such Audits all over the United States. I would like to see every citizen in every community alert to human rights, and eager to help strengthen them. For this is the crucial issue of our time. On it, our system of government or any system, must stand or fall.

FREE INFORMATION SERVICE FOR HARD OF HEARING

An information service for the benefit of the hard of hearing has been established by Paravox, Inc., pioneer hearing aid manufacturer.

Mrs. Fred J. Wonders, president, say the service will consist of furnishing latest data on hearing research, suggestion for testing hearing and properly selecting hearing aid, and all other information which will help the hard of hearing.

Typical of the company's research in better hearing is its recent development of the world's smallest one-piece vacuum tube hearing aid, weighing only 4½ ozs. fully equipped.

The company has just issued a booklet, "Facts You Should Know About Hearing Aids" which it furnishes free-of-charge to anyone having impaired hearing himself or who who would like the information for the benefit of a relative or friend.

"EMPLOY THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED WEEK" PROCLAIMED FROM OCT. 3—9

Governor Ralph F. Gates has set aside the week of October 3 to 9 as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" in Indian. He issued a proclamation which urged the placing of handicapped persons into gainful employment because their employment is not only helpful to a handicapped persons themselves but "also serves to improve our economic conditions and our way of life."

President Truman has already proclaimed the week as "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week." This marks the fourth annual observance of a week first so designated by Congress in 1945 to list public support for and interest in the employment of otherwise qualified but physically handicapped workers.

"Here in Indiana," Governor Gates said, "thousands of persons with significant physical handicaps are gainfully employed. Each day their above-average production is providing evidence that it is ability, not disability, which counts.

"However," he continued, "there are still some 6,000 handicapped Hoosiers, including about 2,400 veterans, who are seeking work. These are the ones on whom we must concentrate our efforts.

In his proclamation, Governor Gates called upon "all employers in our state to cooperate on this particular occasion by hiring persons who are physically handicapped, but who can be utilized in their respective businesses and industries." He said that by so doing, each employer will gain much personal benefit from the good he is doing, and will also help to bring happiness to those affected and to make life worthwhile to them

Trains on Stamps

Up to 1942, more than 65 different countries had issued postage stamps picturing locomotives and trains, bridges, tunnels, tracks, mail cars, and other railroad equipment. Some countries have told the history of transportation in their postage stamps—and this to the delight of stamp collectors who go in for "topical" collections. Since railroads in many countries are about a hundred years old, recent years have seen many special issues of postage stamps commemorating centennials and other anniversaries.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Recently we wrote a letter to R. W. Eschmeyer, a biologist who has through his experiments in the TVA country, and ask his opinion on fishing and the outlook for the future for this sport. His reply was direct and to the point

His opinion, as a fisheries investigator, favors stressing three things They are:

1. "The need for fishing from the tandpoint of relaxation We're living too fast!"

2. "The need for stressing fundanentals. People who are quite rational about the farm expect our quatic pastures to produce miracles. The current inclination is to eturn to stocking as a cure all for ur fishing ills Fishery workers are ully agreed that this is not the nswer."

3. "The need for research to find ut what the real story is down to arth stuff, not the type that might be of interest to the long-haired professor."

We'll side in with Mr. Eschmeyer n all three points, for years of experience have given him a true picture of where we are heading

The first point speaks for itself, and we know of no better way to orget all your worries and relax ha by going fishing

Mr. Eschmeyer's second point again virtually speaks for itself in egards to sportsmen expecting miracles Most of us expect a limit atch each trip andwe're not content to settle wih just enough for the ying pan. We enjoy bragging about the big fish and big catches. ur waters, although still quite productive, cannot possibly supply limit catches for the millions of angers that now frequent the streams nd lakes

In any discussion of stocking fish from hatcheries, it must be explained that many states have had great uccess in planting legal-size fish vith the understanding that the ish will be caught quickly. It's expensive but it keeps a lot of angers happy. This is particularly true f trout.

And now we are getting the necessary research by skilled biologists n some states as suggested by Mr. Eschmeyer. For instance, experiments have proved in many areas hat the closed season on bass during the spawning season is not essential. At least 11 states have year around bass fishing now. Some states have even gone farther in liberalizing the regulations by taking off minumum lengths for game fish. This, too, has worked well where it has been tried on warm-water ratio.

Another major step in solving the fishing problem is the proper ratio of one species to another in any water. A certan balance is necessary if good fishing is to be had. Experiments in this field have lead to the proper stocking of new waters and in most every case top fishing has resulted.

When you consider the steps already taken and what now is planned in the future, the fishing outlook appears on the bright side. And as soon as we all learn that a limit catch is not what makes the sport, we'll be headed in the right direction.

How much does it weigh? Great interest at the 1948 Indiana State Fair centered on the weight guessing contest for this giant wheel of Swiss Cheese displayed as part of the dairy products exhibit sponsored by the American Dairy Association of Indiana. A 5 lb. loaf of the new rindless Swiss cheese developed by Purdue University was given as a daily prize to the nearest correct guess.

Cars for Everybody

Most people thought Henry Ford's ideas about putting wheels under every American were just a lot of bunko. They just couldn't see how anything like that could be done. Some of Ford's early partners failed to grasp the idea, for they thought of automobiles as belonging to the rich. Ford's idea was too "harebrained" for them. They couldn't understand how anybody could possibly make a living selling cars to "poor" people.

But Henry Ford had the grain of an idea and the courage to see it through. America was a nation that encouraged such things. With an original investment of $28,000, he put the nation literally on wheels. Mass production was brought into its own, and costs came down. Ford wanted to make only a small profit on each car, and this sold millions of them. Competitors had to offer good values, too.

Jobs and Payrolls

Tin Lizzie and her imitators called for roads. Dozens of new industries came into being, in the building of roads. Our highways would circle the globe 41 times. Lizzie and the others had a thirst for gasoline. America's petroleum industry grew enormously. Filling stations had to quench that thirst. All these things made jobs. America became an industrial power, with this Ford-inspired motive power all the while adding to her efficiency and activity.

This new mass production created great industrial empires; mines for coal and iron, rubber plantations, timberlands and saw mills, hydroelectric works, chemicals, glass, textiles. The result was more and more jobs, bigger and bigger payrolls, more and more goods and products that people wanted. Then, with our cars we became a touring nation. All our states became neighbors. We came to know the face of America, the beautiful.

Plowed-Back Earnings

Out of that $28,000 and his idea, Ford developed a great industrial empire, with factories and assembly plants and branch offices. Yet, aside from the factories and the equipment that he owned, Henry Ford probably never owned more than 2 per cent of the wealth that he created. He was called a billionaire, but he counted his resources in buildings and machinery, not in money.

Ford was free to plow back his earnings into an industrial empire that created jobs and produced wealth, mostly for other people. There were no personal income taxes to penalize individual effort. In fact, corporation taxes did not begin until Ford's industry was five years old, and then the tax was only 1 per cent. It did not exceed 13 per cent any year until 1932. Today, taxes are a multi-million dollar item on many a company's books.

Any More Henry Fords?

Demands from the tax collector have made impossible a contribution like Ford's from any individual American in this generation. Present tax laws, and mushrooming growth of a revenue-taking government, make it almost certain that there will not be another Henry Ford, or anyone like him. Are we thus penalizing the future of America? Who knows what need may arise for the genius of a Ford, in years to come?

Our nation must never lose its inventive genius. This genius can best thrive in a climate of complete economic freedom. The spirit of industrial venture that Ford typified must be kept alive, for the good of America. Ford's contribution brought untold blessings to all of us. We should not make it impossible, through heavy taxation burdens, for any future Henry Fords to develop in America.

HINTS ON HEALTH

by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

HEARING AIDS

FEW persons hesitate to wear glasses to enable them to see better, but many individuals will not wear hearing aids to help them hear better. It is embarrassing to them for other people know they are hard of hearing.

Deafness should not be considered the end result of a defect, but should be considered an obstacle to be overcome by medical and mechanical help. The modern hearing aid is, in reality, a miniature public address system. It comes in a small box, weighing from eight to ten ounces, containing a microphone, vacuum tubes, batteries, volume control, and in some makes, tone control.

An ear specialist can assist in selecting the correct hearing aid. It is wise to take a friend along when trying one so that nother voice besides the salesman's will be heard. Hearing aids last from three to five years and cost between thirty and fifty dollars a year to keep up.

What the hard-of-hearing person is interested in is whether the contrivance will aid his hearing, how much it costs, how inconvenient it might be, and also how conspicuous in appearance. A good hearing aid does not disfigure or mar one's appearance, and no person wearing one should feel sensitive about it.

Y., Grange Hall, the GOP standard bearer was made an honorary life member of the natonal "Good Egg Culb" by Mr. Creighton, prsident of tch club's sponsoring organization-the Poultry and Egg Natioinal Board and Republican candidate for governor in Indiana. Mr. Creighton, a poultryman, explained to an audience of newspaper and radio men that Mr. Dewey, a dairyman, was being admitted into a special section of the club reserved for state governors. "We realized," he told Dewey, 'that we would have to move fast to get you as a member. We knew if we didn't induct your prior to Nov. 2 you might cease to be eligble for the governors section, and our board has not yet decided to create a section of the club with only one man eligible".

SPENCERVILLE MEN UNHURT IN ACCIDENT NEAR COUNTY LINE

Two Spencerville motorists escaped injury about 8:40 a. m. last Wed. in a near head-on-collision which occured on the DeKalb Allen county line road near the Wabash railroad crossing.

State Trooper William Hunter of Auburn reported that the cars involved were driven by William B. Erick, 52, Spencerville, and Robert Smith, 34 also of Spencerville.

The officer said both drivers reported that they had slowed at the crossing and were looking up and down the tracks and did not see the other approaching. They collided just west of the tracks.

Ericks 1941 Hudson was damaged in the front at an estimated $40. About $150 damage was done to the 1948 Chevrolet driven by Smith.

MRS. JESSIE HENDERSON DIES AT SPENCERVILLE

Mrs. Jessie Henderson of Spencerville, died at 12:30 a.m. Wed. at her home in Spencerville.

Her death was attributed to senility following a short illness. She was bedfast for about a month. She was a lifelong resident of the Spencerville community.

The bodys was taken to Walter funeral home in Spencerville for burial preparations and will remain for final rites which were held at 2 p. m. Friday. The Rev. Reuben, Cantrel pastor of the Mennonite church at Grabill officiated at the service with burial in Harlan cemetery.

Mrs. Henderson's late husband died in 1942. She was previously married to the late William Widdifield.

Surviving are the three sons, Ray and Homer Widdifield, both of Ft. Wayne and William Widdifield of Woodburn; nine grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

MAURER OBITUARY

Funeral services for Mrs. Constance Maurer Benjamin 71, were held on Thursday, Sept. 16, from the McConkey, Putman Funeral Home in Coldwater, Mich., and burial in Oak Grove Cemetry at that place.

Constance Benjamin was born near St. Joe, Indiana, Aug. 11, 1877 and departed this life Sept. 14, 1948 after an illness of three weeks of uremic poisoning. She was the daughter of Dennis D. and Sarah L. Burley

God's View of People

Lesson for October 10, 1948

"YOU can learn more about human nature from reading the Bible than from living in New York," said a Yale professor who had tried it both ways. He was right; for in New York you are likely to see your neighbors only on the outside, while in the Bible you are introduced to people on the inside.

Dr. Foreman

One great value of the Bible is its plain stories about people, all sorts of people—simple, great, wise, foolish, saints and sinners. They lived thousands of miles from here, and thousands of years ago. They dressed differently and many of them spoke in languages now dead. Yet somehow they live in these inspired stories.

Saints

ONE of the great biographies of the Bible is that of Abraham. If you will read it in Genesis you will see it is not like one of our modern biographies; it does not follow a continuous line, but consists of short incidents strung together sometimes without connection.

It is more like an album of pictures than like a movie. Yet putting all the pictures together we get an impression of a remarkable man.

Indeed, Abraham was one of the most remarkable men who ever lived. Without a church, without a Bible, without prophet or priest or tradition, born in a nation and a family that "worshiped other gods," as Joshua said later, somehow Abraham came to know that there is but one God, and not only to know that as a fact but to know that God as a friend. (In fact, Abraham's name among the Arabs to this day is "The Friend.") We must call Abraham one of the great religious geniuses of all human history.

Yet he does not stand alone. The Bible is a book of saints; the letter to the Hebrews calls the roll of some, and ends by saying time is too short to name them all.

Now a saint is not a person who lives totally without sin. A saint is one in whose life goodness is stronger than evil; a saint is one who actually lives as a friend of God, for whom God is the central fact in all his life.

Sinners

THESE are no whitewashed plaster saints, the great and small figures of the Bible stories. They come before us just as they were. Abraham, for example, at times was a coward, a liar, a bigamist, a slave-holder.

We must not suppose that everything any character in the Bible did was right, or is right today. The writers simply tell the stories, seldom using adjectives like "bad" or "good" or "noble" or "mean." We are left to make our own judgments.

We are shown what effects sin has on men, we see how evil spreads by suggestion and imitation, we see how temptation works. God inspired the biographers; but he does not inspire men to tell lies or to cover up evil by calling it good. So do not be shocked to find that even a saint like Abraham had feet of clay. The important things about him are the good, not the bad.

The Light That Shines

FURTHERMORE, when you read these Bible biographies, you can trace a very interesting story through them all: namely the story of the human understanding of Right and Wrong.

But in Old Testament times, as in the case of Abraham, we must remember they were in the dawn-years before the sunlight of Christ had risen. Some of the things Abraham did would get him into jail nowadays; but some of those very acts were then the mark of a gentleman.

Sometime when you are discouraged and think the world is growing worse, all you need to do is to think back to some of these old Bible stories. What the very best people did then, is now by Christians seen to be not always good.

The human race has progressed, and nowhere more than in its knowledge of what is right to do. And even so, a man like Abraham, as good and great as he was, shines with an even brighter light across the centuries, challenging us to rise above our times as he often rose above his own.

MANDRAKE TO APPEAR IN FT. WAYNE MAGIC SHOW

Complete with girls, rabbits, doves, girls, crows, and girls, Leon Mandrake, renowned as a successor to Harry Houdini, began a ten-day run at the Civic Theatre, Fort Wayne, Friday. (Oct. 1st)

Mandrake's show, "A Magical Musical," is a new and novel form of entertainment, combining the mystery and illusion that have made him world famous, along with top-notched singing, dancing, and variety entertainment. Critics throughout the country have acclaimed the two-hour show as the most colorful, entertaining and surprising production of the year.

The fascinating program is presented in separate scenes that transport the audienc Egypt, China, India, and the African Voodoo country for the performance of magic miracles. From puffs of smoke, Mandrake produces a succession of illussions that leave the audience spellbound and breathless.

Highlights of the magical parts of the show are "Brides of the Mandarin," wherein two slave girls suspended in mid air vanish and then reappear in a flash of fire in the audience; "The Crystal Cage," materializing girls inside a solid glass box; "East Indian Levitation," with a beautiful girl floating out toward the audience; and Mandrake's great "Black is White Mystery," so unbelievable that people declare it impossible even after seeing it performed.

Performance of the Mandrake show continue through Sunday. (Oct. 10)

VETERANS ORIGINAL TERM LIFE INSURANCE POLICIES EXPIRE THIS MONTH

Beginning Friday, October 8, and each month thereafter through Dec. 1953 original term life insurance of thousands of World War II veterans will expire.

Veterans, however, need not lose their protection because Congress has authorized renewal of National Service term insurance for 5 years from the expiration date of the original contract. World War I veterans similarly have been able to renew their term insurance for thirty years.

Veterans who have term insurance may continue to carry the low-cost protection to a maximu mof $10,- protection to a maximum of $10,- policy for five years prior to expiration of the original contract.

In renewing term insurance for 5 years veterans will be required to pay the premium rate for their attained age rather than the rate of the original policy. For example, a veteran who was 20 when he applied for term insurance in 1940 paid $6.50 a month for $10,000. If he renews his policy when he is 29 the premium rate is $7.

National Service five-year level premium insurance first was authorized by Congress October 8, 1940. When it became obvious five-year contracts written in 1940 might expire before the end of the war, Congress extended the original policies automatically for three years, if written before Dec. 31, 1945. Policies taken after that date expire in five years.

In most instances the Veterans Administration will notify veterans approximately six weeks before expiration of their original policies. The letter will contain an insurance renewal application which the veteran may complete and return to the Veterans Administration with his premum payment.

During the life of the original policy veterans have thirty-one days grace in which to pay premiums. Because there is no grace period for premium payment after expiration of the policy, veterans are cautioned by Charles G .Beck, VA deputy administrator for Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin to pay the premium for the first month of the renewal period in advance of the expiration of the original policy.

Complete information about National Service Life Insurance may be obtained in any VA contact office. The VA office in Ft. Wayne is located in the Purdue Center Building, 220 East Jefferson Street.

"It Pays To Advertise"

I do not want to rent your space,
But in that void and vacant place
That stared subscribers in the face
Lst week, insert this bit of lighter verse--
Which may be better, may be worse
Than empty space, which says, "For Rent",
At least we'll feel our money's spent
For something which is not all blanks -
Your welcome Teddy, skip the thanks.

I know a guy whose name is Bill .
Who fell in love as most guys will,
But he was puzzled night and day,
By what would be the proper way
To ask the girl to be his wife -
To share his fortune and his life.

And then one day he saw an ad',
Which raised his hopes and made him glad.
A course in writing letters smart
To get your girl and win her heart.
Bill got the course, and what a shame!
It didn't have the right girl's name.
Bill told the tale, he says it's true,
I pass it now along to you.

Said Bill, "That course in lannguage plain,
Gave me a headache and a pain.
"Dear Mary", it started out so bold,
"Dear Mary", --Boy that stopped me cold!
It said to say " I love you true, I do',
It said to say "You are divine" thats fine -
It also said that I should say
"Will you please marry me some day.
Your fair as roses and as sweet,
I lay my fortune at your feet",
But dear, oh dear, while this was true,
"Dear Mary", that would never do,
The girl I love is Alice Jane,
And she would think I was insane
If I should write to her and say
"Dear Mary" - so I threw the course away,
And to the guy whose ad' I'd read,
I wrote a note to say "drop dead!'

This happened many years ago,
But Bill still says the tale is so.
When leap year came, his Alice said,
"I'm thinking Bill it's time we wed,
It's time you show a little speed,
We're getting old', so Bill agreed.
Now poor old Bill has hit the skids,
He has a wife and seven kids.
But still he says in many ways,
That advertising always pays.

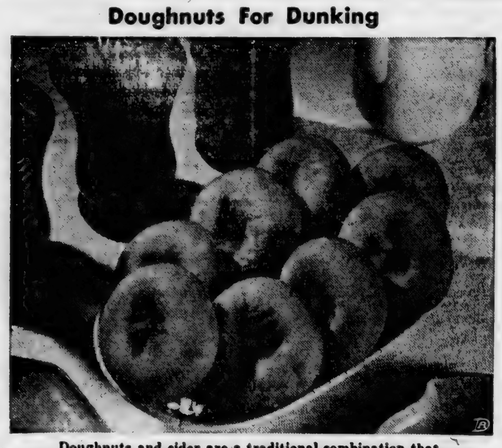
Doughnuts For Dunking



Doughnuts and cider are a traditional combination that wins new friends each year.

Whether you buy them at the bakery, or go home and fry your own, doughnuts have an appeal that makes them all-season eating. These sour milk doughnuts have exceptional tenderness and puff lightly when downed in deep hot fat.

Doughnuts are not hard to make, though there are certain pointers which make them special successes. Measuring correctly is important, and in this case, ingredients should be well mixed before doughnuts are cut from the dough. Use a floured cutter to keep the symmetrical shape and avoid sticking.

Be sure that the fat is hot enough— not smoking, but up to the "doughnut" or 375 degrees F. level on the fat thermometer. Slide the doughnut into the hot fat and watch it bubble to the surface as it browns its underside. Then turn and brown the other side. Just one turn insures that the doughnut is evenly done and not soaked with fat. Three minutes will do both sides.

Doughnuts are good just as they are, but you may want to roll them in powdered sugar or shake them in a bag with coarse granulated sugar.

SOUR MILK DOUGHNUTS

4½ cups sifted enriched flour
1½ teaspoons soda
1½ teaspoons cream of tartar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons shortening, melted
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk

Sift together flour, soda, cream of tartar, salt and nutmeg. Beat eggs until thick and lemon-colored. Add sugar, gradually beating it in. Add shortening and buttermilk or sour milk. Add flour mixture. Mix well. Roll out one-fourth inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with a floured doughnut cutter. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees F.) for three minutes. Brown one side and then the other. Yield: About three dozen doughnuts three inches in diameter.

ORDERS FOR BABY TREES NOW BEING TAKEN BY STATE

Orders now are being received by the Indiana Department of Conservation's Division of Forestry for young trees to be planted next spring.

As a part of Indiana's expanded reforestation program, a record-breaking number of trees was sold from state nurseries this spring and a further gain is expected in 1949. This years's sales approximated five million, while Department of Conversation officials are planning to ship out six million young trees next spring.

The following species are available; black locust, tulip poplar, soft maple, jack pine, red pine, white pine, Scotch pine, Austrian pine and Chinese arborvitae. Shortleaf pine and Virginia Pine will be sold for planting only south of U. S. Highway 40, and stratified walnuts also are available.

State Forester Ralph Wilcox pointed out that applicants for trees regulations: The trees must be planted only in rural sections of Indiana for woodlot, windbreak, erosion control or reforestral purpoess; no trees are to be used for ornnmental or shade purposes and none is to be re-sold. The purchaser also must agree to protect the trees and the planting areas from fire, livestock and trespass.

Persons applying for trees are requested not to send any money until thy have received the invoice. Then prompt payment is recommended as the paid orders will receive first chance for the available supply. Foresters will try to inspect all areas where orders call for more than 500 trees.

Application blanks for young trees may be obtained from county agricultural agents and district and extension foresters. They also are available at the State Forester' soffice in the State Library Building at Indianapolis.

Shipping of the trees will not begin until the middle of next March.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS

EVERY five minutes someone in the United States dies because of an accident. Accidents are the leading cause of death from one to thirty years of age, exceeding the deaths due to tuberculosis, heart disease or pneumonia.

In the age group of one to four there has been little improvement in the accident death rate in the past fifteen years although the death rate from disease has been cut 67 per cent. Among children five to nine there is an accident death rate of twenty-six per 100,000 population as compared with five for rheumatic fever and heart disease, the next cause. In the older group, age ten to fourteen, the accident death rate it twenty-one as compared with seven for rheumatic fever and heart disease.

The present low death rate from non-accident causes, as compared with the non-accident death rate of a few years ago, is the result of advances in medical science and determined efforts in the field of child health. In the past fifty years the death rate from accidents has increased steadily, while the death rate from disease has decreased. Accidents are now the fifth largest cause of death among the general population.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Most of us at some time or the other have describe a hunting buddy as a "good all-'round shot" and it always has been a mark of achievement in the gunning fraternity. But what constitutes a good a good all-'round shot?

To find an answer to that question Henry P. Davis of the Remington Arms Co., interviewed a number of sportsmen whose backgrounds in all phases of shooting qualified them to to set up a standard for comparing gunner. And from the concensus of opinion it isapparent that many of us have been using the "good all-round shot tag too loosely.

Mr. Davis found the sportsmen he nterviewed differently slightly in a ew cases, but by taking an average he came up with the following percentages that these men figured a gunner should have to do to qualify as a good all-'round shot: at quail, 60 per cent, at pheasants, 70 per cent at grouse, 35 per cent, at woodcock, 50 percent, at ducks on pass or timber shooting, 50 per cent, at ducks when shooting over decoys, 75 per cent.

That's a pretty big order for most hunters to fufill. Naturally there are hunters who usually can score better than 50 percent on quail; others will beat the 70 per cent on pheasants. But when you put them all together few gunners can boast such percentages.

Of course, in the strictest sense, to be classed as a good all-round shot you must be able to score well on target, skeet and trap ranges as well as in the field. The same men who set up the field standard were agreed that the following scores would qualify in competitive shootings, traps (16 yards), 46x50; skeet (all bore), 46x50; skeet (28 and .410 gauge), 42x50 .For small bore rifle work for 20 shots at 50 yards and 20 shots at 100 yards, 390 x400; for 30 caliber shooting off-hand at 200 yards, 44x50: rapid fire at 200 yards, 46x50. With a pistol shooting slow fire at 50 yards, 81x100; time fire at 125 yards, 92x100; rapid fire at 25 yards, 88x100.

Do you know many gunnners that can qualify for both field and range work? Possibly you do, but they'll be few and far between.

It is fortunate, however, that all sportsmen don't count the merit of their outdoor sport by the scores they shoot and the game that they bag. Most sportsmen have learned that it's a great thrill to follow along behind a pair of bird dogs or hunt in a duck blind with a retriever---even if the bag of game is small. And on the skeet, trap or target ranges, the man who scores a low total frequently has as much fun as the expert who is shooting for a new record.

EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

WITH grain prices high, many of the nation's farmers probably have decided that the hog is the best bet for that feed. This decision is in line with the government's plan to encourage more hog production.

Remember, however, that the hog needs some help from you to do the most efficient job. If he is infected with mites, mange or lice—or is forced to live with a batch of roundworms—you'll be paying for the extra feed it takes to make him gain.

Sanitation is the best way to keep down parasites, but it won't knock 'em all out. That's where the new chemicals — benzene hexachloride and sodium fluoride—come in. Both are cheap, effective and easy to use. They are safe so long as common sense precautions are taken.

Sodium fluoride, mixed at the rate of one pound to each 100 pounds of dry feed and fed for one day, knocks out roundworms fast. It should not be used in swill or slop, nor fed to sows with pigs. It won't affect the meat.

Benzene hexachloride gets lice and mange with one treatment. It can be used either as a spray or dust. A spray is considered better, but you'll probably want to use a dust in the coming winter months. It will taint the meat, and the best time to treat is shortly after weaning, whether pigs show signs of parasites or not. Hogs that are kept in the herd should be treated again before the breeding season.

When hogs are properly cared for, the dividends will be found in lower feed costs and the price per hundredweight at the market.

Caterpillars

Caterpillar is the second of four distinct stages of development which butterflies and moths go through: egg, larva (caterpiller), pupa (chysalis), and adult (moth). Damage is inflicted only during the larval, or caterpillar stage. Moths lay the eggs but do no damage, and they serve as a warning of the caterpillars to come. Any control program must be directed against the caterpillars themselves.

The Gold Standard and The Schoolteacher

by Philip M. McKenna,

President of Kennametal Inc., Latrobe, Penna.

As an inventor of hard metal tools which increase the productivity of men in machine shops, mines, and construction work, and as a business man who founded and is now President of Kennametal Inc., in the small town of Latrobe, Pennsylvania, I believe that money is just another tool —a measuring tool. How well it serves the needs of honest men depends upon the confidence which can be placed upon it, not only as a fair measure of value in day to day transactions, but also as a fairly consistent measure of honest payment for work done or savings made, to be paid for in longer periods of time.

Fortunately, Americans can restore the faith in the currency of our country by repealing promptly the laws prohibiting the use of gold money as a measure of value by American citizens. We have the necessary gold coverage to do it. A bill introduced recently in Congress by Howard Buffett, of Nebraska, H. R. 5031 will do it. Otherwise, we face the prospect of constantly deteriorating money, rising prices, and eventual galloping inflation and loss of freedom by arbitrary controls.

Look in an arithmetic book used before World War I and you'll find the tables of measures of weight, of capacity and of distance are as valid now as they were 40 years ago. The pound avoirdupois is still 16 ounces; the gallon contains 4 quarts; the yard is still 36 inches. The Bureau of Standards at Washington has faithfully preserved the necessary measures for us to use. But the arithmetic book of 40 years ago also had a table entitled "Measures of Value" which has been sadly distorted by political pressures. There one may read "the unit of value is the dollar. Its standard weight in gold is 25.8 grains." It also says that $4.8665 in American money is the value of an English sovereign; that the value of the French franc is $.193 and that of the German mark is $.2385. The arithmetic book concludes that since all these currencies are valued in gold it is "a simple and interesting calculation for the student to determine the exchange value of the English sovereign in French francs and so on."

Public faith in the arithmetic book's statement that the dollar was 25.8 grains of gold rested upon the long experience of Americans for 140 years that they could always redeem their money on demand in that ratio. Our only experience to the contrary in 140 years was during the Civil War, when the Confederate paper money became worthless, and the Greenbacks were subjected to a temporary discount. After the Civil War, the majority of the Greenbacks were called in, and all U. S. money was made redeemable in gold or silver.

When the United States Government deliberately abandoned the gold standard in 1934 and officially repudiated its solemn pledge to redeem its bonds and paper with gold, little attention was paid to the protests against this arbitrary action. We'd had honest money redeemable in gold on demand for so long we'd forgotten there could be any other kind in free America. In our school books we'd learned "Honesty is the best policy." Now 15 years later the evil consequences of this dishonorable act are beginning to make themselves felt. The common citizen is alarmed at the steady expansion of bureaucracy and militarism. He notes more and more deductions from his pay check to defray the costs of government. The schoolteacher, above all persons, should be able to show us the plain truth.

If they do not, they will find their moderate salaries deteriorating in purchasing power faster every year and the pension plans by which our citizens have tried to protect the schoolteachers, whom we learn to honor from childhood, will be paid eventually in money of very little value to them. A bill H. R. 5031, has been introduced in Congress by the Hon. Howard Buffett of Nebraska which would fix the value of the dollar as its present official rate of $35 an ounce of gold. We cannot rectify the wrong done to citizens in 1934 who were required by a law to turn in all gold and gold coins and receive $20 in paper money for each ounce turned in, or for each $20 gold piece. Shortly thereafter, when the gold was in the Treasury it was advanced in value to $35 an ounce. But we can stop further devaluation by returning to the redeemable gold coin standard of money now. Fortunately we have in the Treasury 23.6 billions of dollars of gold based upon $35 an ounce. Our Federal Reserve Notes have over 50% gold backing which is plenty to support redeemable gold money; it is now required to be 25% and a proposed bill may make it higher, say 40%. It has been as low as 30% in the 1920's when gold was freely exchanged for our paper money on demand.

The teacher of history may teach the truth in regard to the experience that not once in the troubled history of the world has paper succeeded as a substitute for money of intrinsic value. The teacher may recount the experiences under Roman Emperors in calling in the money and issuing lighter coins stamped the same value; or of debasing the coins by adding more base metal. The teacher may tell of the Mississippi Bubble sponsored by John Law in 1720 in France; of monetary quacks in France before and during the French Revolution; of the apparently reasonable paper money inflation based upon the value of the land seized from the Church and from the nobility during the Revolution but how, like all paper money schemes, it resulted in chaos and eventual repudation. In American history they may tell about the brave stand against paper money by Andrew Jackson, who pointed out that it defrauded the common man. They may tell of Sherman's courageous words in the 1870's, "the way to resume is to resume."

They may note that in recent years the first moves of Mussolini, Hitler and Lenin were to prohibit the use of gold and gold coins by citizens. They may show the close connection between human freedom and gold redeemable money. They may note Lenin's remark that the best way to take over a country is to encourage printing press money in it first. These and other studies caused me to write the following lines.

"PAPER MONEY"

"Best tool of tyrants," Lenin said.
"Debauch their money, then step in Coordination's in the head Disrupt their ways, make it a sin to bargain free. When Terror rules
Our Agents rise, control those fools."

Voltaire had said in sixty-nine, "Relax!
Can ruin come to fertile France
For sixty years then ruled by Quacks?"
Like those today who'd take the chance
He little knew what they were doing
He little knew the trouble brewing.

Schoolteachers, above all, should teach respect for the eternal truths.

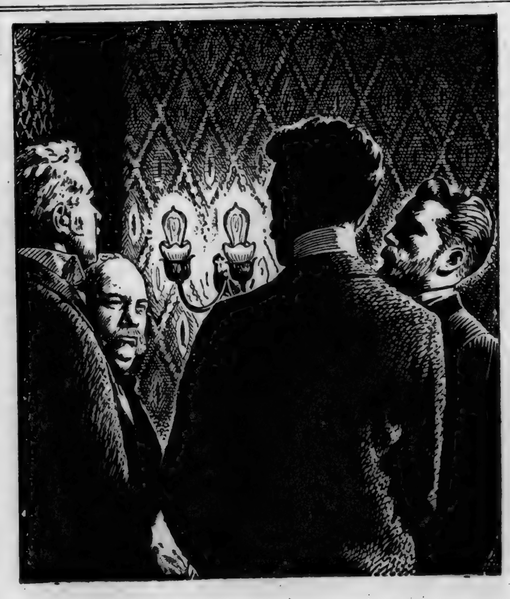
HOME EC ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM WILL BE HELD AT BUTLER GYM

The Home Economics Achievement Program will be held on November 4 at the Butler High School gymnasium, according to an announcement made today by Mary Lenor Moore, home demonstration agent. The afternoon program will be open to the public and tickets may be secured from the office of the home demonstration agent or from local home economics presidents.

The afternoon programs will include a New York Style Show sponsored by McCall Corporation and a Gay Nineties Parade sponsord by home economics members of DeKalb County. This will include two complete old costumes from each home economics club.

The forenoon program is especially made up for home economics members and will include the awarding of the plaque for club attendance at the achievement program. The initiation of new 1949 county home economics officers will take place on the forenoon program and a foods demonstration on salads and desserts will be given by Dorothy Heald of the A. E. Staley Co., Decature, Illinois.

The noon lunch will be served by the Butler home economics department. Members wishing to bring their own lunch, however, may do so. Get your tickets early for both the luncheon and for the afternoon program for there is a limited number available.



"Rich man's toy!"

That's what "wise guys" of the 1880's called the newfangled electric service. And that's all it might be today — IF . . .

IF people hadn't risked their savings to start electric companies such as yours, and to keep them growing.

IF others, often against expert advice, hadn't poured out their energy and time — to extend the wires farther and farther, make the service better and better, bring the rates lower and lower.

They took the risks — they developed the skills — and everybody benefits. That's the way the American business system works.

Rich man's toy? Today, electricity is everyman's good right arm!

INCREASE SHOWN IN AUTOMOBILE TRAVEL DURING SUMMER

Automoblie travel during the past summer showed an overall national increase of 10% over 1947, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club, announced today after a preliminary survey was completed by the motoring organization.

An average increase of 11 percent over the previous all-time high in 1947 was indicated at 10 major national parks, according to a check of the parks prior to the completion of the travel season on September 30

The study confirmed estimates by the club Touring Bureau that Ill. motorist were constituting a disproportionately high percentage of the nation's tourists. While the Prairie State ranks fifth in number of registered cars, it proved second in attendance at three of the parks: Sequoia Kings Canyon, Cal.; Rocky Mountain National Park, Colo., and Cave Keptucky. Illinois cars were fourth most numerous at the Grand Canyon Park and also at Crater Lake, Ore.

According to the survey, the number of cars admitted to the individual parks from May through August, and the increase over 1947 figures weer as follows: Grand Canyon, 103,934 cars, and increase of 1 per cent; Carlsbad, N. M., 238,077 cars, 4 per cent increase, Sequoia Kings Canyon, 120,566 cars, 4 per cent increases; Rocky Mountain National Park, 221,055, a 48 per cent increase; Mount Ranier 366,639, a 5 per cent increase.

Crater Lake Park in Oregon received 74,584 cars - a decrease of 14 per cent due to a delayed season caused by floods and adverse weather; Mammoth Cave, 20,587, a decrease of 37 per cent; Zion, 61,275 cars, a 13 per cent increase, Great Smokies, 266,154 cars, a 32 per cent increase and Yellowstone 260,508 cars, a 5 per cent increase.

LIGHTS STEP-UP EGG PRODUCTION

Apparently there is some doubt among farmers as to why the use of electric light in the poultry house results in extra eggs.

Alexander Gordeuk, Purdue University poultry extension specialist, says that although many folks believe that the layer produces more eggs because she has a chance to eat more, this is not correct. He asserts the truth is that reasearch studies on the effect of light have shown that light stimulates the egg producing organs of the layer. Therefore, the poultry specialist points out, the layer has to eat more feed and actually does so in order to lay those extra eggs.

However, about 14 hours of light per day seem all that is necessary for the hens in order for them to do their best laying. Gordeuk suggests that lights be turned on in the pens where the old hens are finishing their laying year anytime after September 1. The specialist warned that pullets pens should not be lighted until the pullets have passed the 50 percent production mark at least, and show signs of a slump. Lights should be turned up at that time to again bring up the production. Lights may be turned on quite abruptly in the fall but taken off gradually in the spring.

The specialist cited a study of 100 farms in Central Indiana which reported that operators with high-producing flocks were likely to use lights more than those with low producing flocks. The common practice of more than half of the operators was to have the poultry house switch located in the house and to turn on the lights when the family rises in the morning. The lights are again turned on for two to three hours in the evening.

LYE POISONING

EVERY year hundreds of children eat lye and are tragically burned on the lips, tongue and in the throat. Often a child swallows lye because he mistakes the white solution for milk.

When it is realized that a solution of lye will eat the stains off a kitchen kettle, it is apparent what it will do to the delicate lining of the mouth and throat.

The majority of victims of lye poisoning are between the ages of one and five years—82 per cent of them being in this age group. The eating of lye immediately causes painful and difficult swallowing. Unless treatment is begun early, stricture of the esophagus may occur, requiring prolonged care before the child can regain normal eating habits.

Death from lye poisoning has been greatly reduced since Congress passed a law in 1927 requiring that caustics be plainly labeled as poison. Despite all modern therapy the caustic properties of lye make it one of the most dangerous substances that could be swallowed by children.

Great care should be exercised by parents in keeping lye safely and definitely out of the reach of children. Used lye cans should be completely destroyed so children cannot get hold of them. If a child swallows lye, or any other caustic, he should be taken to a physician immediately.

Uncle Sam Says

Do you know the best way to assure your children a fine education? Possibly right now you are picturing them in a college cap and gown. But you must realize these will represent the entire cost of a college education. You need not wait until they enter college to start paying for it. Start now on the safe, sure-saving way with U.S. Savings Bonds. In ten years you'll have $4 to spend for every $3 you put in. There are two automatic ways for the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds, your firm's Payroll Savings Plan, or, if self-employed, your bank's Bond-a-Month Plan. U.S. Treasury Department

BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

SCRIPTURE: Leviticus 19:1-18; Deuteronomy 5—6; Matthew 22:34-40.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 19: 7-14.

Life and Law

Lesson for October 17, 1948

YOU, friend reader, probably know less about what is in the books of Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy than any other part of the Bible. These are the sections mostly filled with laws—"Thou shalt . . . Thou shalt not." You either skip these entirely or you say to yourself, "Well, that has nothing to do with me." If so, you have been missing one of the most interesting sections of the Bible.

Dr. Foreman

Some of these old laws are dead; but even a mummy can be interesting. Call them dead if you like; you still can learn a great deal about the times and the minds and the customs of those far-off days by reading the laws which governed people's daily lives.

But it is hardly fair to call them dead. Rather, they have been honorably retired. That is to say, they were admirable laws in their time and place, and God's will was learned through them.

The Living Soul of Law

THERE are two ways of looking at any law, or you might say there are two sides of every law, the inside and the outside, the soul and the body as it were. The body, the outside, is the letter of the law; the inside or soul of the law is the spirit or principle of the law.

The body of the law, like the body of a man, dies; it is not intended to live on and on. But the soul of the law (if it has one; some don't) lives forever.

Take, for instance, that law in Lev. 19:9, 10. The body of it, the letter, says: Do not be efficient in getting in your crops. Leave some wheat in the field. Leave some grapes on the vine.

Today that sounds rather stupid, on the face of it, and no good farmer would pay attention to it. But look at the spirit of that law: the wheat and the grapes were to be left for "the poor and the stranger." There was then no Red Cross, no bureau of displaced persons, no traveler's aid, no family service, no social security, none of our many modern agencies for the underprivileged. Those who had property were bidden to have a care for those who had none.

The duty of society to see that no one starves, the duty of all to help those in need, that is the living soul of this law, and it still breathes in laws of the 20th century—laws of old age assistance, maternity assistance, pension plans and so forth.

The living soul of the Old Testament laws can be expressed this way: The love of justice and the justice of love. The best and wisest laws today are those which give this same spirit its fullest and most practical form.

Jesus' Last Word

THE Jews figured out that there were in all 613 separate commandments in all the laws combined. They used to have interesting debates as to which of all the 613 commandments was the most important.

They came to Jesus with that well-worn question. Jesus quoted only two laws, one from Deut. 6:5 and the other from Lev. 19:18. Love God, love your neighbor, he said. All the other laws depend on these two.

To this day, Christian thinkers are not entirely agreed as to just how far Old Testament laws may be binding on Christians. But all are agreed on two points: The basic principle of these laws is always good, and that fundamental principle is love.

Love Is Not Repealed

THIS is what Christians mean when they say that the laws of God are eternal. We do not mean that every law between the covers of the Bible can and should be used as the law of our land today.

What we do mean is that the spirit of these laws is immortal, for the spirit is love, and love never has been repealed.

Show me a law which helps the strong at the expense of the weak, a law which encourages cheating and selfishness and fighting, and I will show you a bad law. Show me a law which encourages and helps men to deal fairly with one another and to live together in peace, and I will show you a good law. Every law that helps you love your neighbor is a good law; indeed there is something divine about it, for God is Love.

EAST MAUMEE MOTOR SALES

The success of any business enterprise has always been proportionate to the excellence of the products that are sold and the type of service that is extended and in no field of endeavor has the competition been greater than in the used car field. Yet at the same time this competition has created for the prospective buyer an opportunity to make a purchase with a small sales cost margin. Firms such as the East Maumee Auto Sales at 2920 Maumee in Fort Wayne have established their business with the idea of affording the public with an opportunity to buy or trade a car that is in good condition and will assure them of many thousands of miles of dependable transportation.

Mr. Hugh Swanscott and Garvin Ritchie, the owners and managers of the firm have traveled thousands of miles throughout this section to obtain cars that have not been worn out.

A visit to their lot, (shown here) will convince you of the many good buys that they always have. They have just completed a service building on the lots so that they can give personal attention to every car that is placed for sale. In late models they have on hand or can secure most anything you may wish, and can arrange financing for you.

AUBURN TANKAGE COMPANY

For the last thirty years the Auburn Tankage Co., under the ownership and direction of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Becker have afforded the farmers, food retailers and meat processors of this trade region with a responsible service. Improvements in both service and equpiment have been constant in the business as is shown by the modern pick up truck show in the picture here. From the purchasing of dead stock they have progressed to the point of buying country hides, and buying and selling of meat scraps through out a wide trade territory.

There are at present just two safe methods of disposal of dead animals, namely cremation and rendering. Of the two rendering is the more economical and convenient for the Auburn Tankage Co. will make a prompt pickup when you call them collect at Auburn 180W. For the stores and restaurants they offer a convenient service throughout the region and you will find their truck in your neighborhood several times each week.

BERCAW IMPLEMENT CO.

In 1832, one of the most difficult years of the depression, L. W. Bercaw embarked upon a business venture in the farm implement field that was to bring one of the most modern and well stocked retail establishments in north-eastern Indiana. To recall the small frame building in which the business started and to look upon the large, remodeled buildings that now house the Bercaw Implemennt Store is to realize that there must have been a lot of effort and ingenuity combined with dependable products and satisfactory service to obtain this result.

Today a visitor to the store can see displayed machinery and equipment of Allis-Chalmers and New Idea in the farm line as well as a variety of items made by General Electric and Maytag in appliances. In the service department they are equipped with all the latest machines to make or repair parts for all kinds of machinery. Their parts stock, as shown here, contains an almost endless array so that there need be no delay in making repairs to your equipment.

If you are a farmer or housewife and have not visited the firm of L. W. Bercaw, make it a point to drop in and let them demonstrate the many items they have for your convenience.

CREIGHTON MOTOR SALES

The pictures show here of the Creighton Motor Sales at 2225 S. Calhoun in Ft. Wayne gives the reader a pretty good idea of the volume of business that is carried on by Mr. Don Ball and his associates. When they started this lot two years ago it was with the idea of providing the public with a place where they could buy or sell a car at a fair price. Though there has been a considerable amount of comment and speculation on cars and their availability, the situation has changed little since the war and the dependable dealer has had to exercise care and effort to provide the buyer with good transportation without assuming a loss or making the cost excessive to the customer.

Perhaps you are not satisfied with the car you have at present, or possibly you are anxious to sell it If so drive to the Creighton Motor Sales, located on the northeast corner of Creighton and S. Calhoun and they will be glad to make a deal with you. If you wish to buy they are making a special offer to the readers of the St. Joe News by offering a discount of twenty dollars on any car you buy within a week after this edition of the paper is published.

LINCOLNWAY MOTOR SALES

Are you one of those people that have looked and looked for something in the way of an automobile? Have you become discouraged and decided to wait? Well, it isn't necessary for if you can't get that new car you have wanted so long you can still get a good bargain at the Lincolnway Motor Sales at 1139 Goshen Ave., in Fort Wayne. You may even get that post war make car that you have been seeking. Mr. Fred McKinney, the owner and manager has been identified with the automobile business for a number of years and opened the Lincolnway about a year ago. In this short period of time many hundreds of people have visited the lot and have found what they wanted at the price they could afford.

Usually, you will find on this lot about twenty or more cars of various makes or models and ranging in price from a few hundred to several. Each car is carefully checked when it is purchased and the buyer is assured of dollar for dollar value whether he chooses a small or large priced car.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

It seems that the addition of bowling shirts for the St. Joe "Legionaires", local bowling team, was the thing to start the local keglers clicking - - and clicking they are this season as they never have in their 3 year whirl in the Inter City League, at Hicksville. The only bad night encountered by the boys in league play was when they lost 2 out of the 3 games to the tough Brownie's Alley team of Hicksville. Since that time they bowled over all opposition very handily, taking 2 of the three games from the Ford Sixes of Hickvilel, two weeks ago, and then last week sweeping the whole three game series. Several good scores were posted by the boys last week, including a 210 and 194. R. Freeburn, H Baker, G. Smith W. Stewart, Jr., and L. Brunson, are the boys on the firing line.

The first practice session for the St. Joe High Tigers, basket ball team got under way last week with Coach Tatlock reporting a turnout of 31 hopefuls who will seek births on the two squads. Nov. 5 will be the date of the first testing for this years Tiger's squad. Place and team. Waterloo- - Waterloo Wildcats.

. . . . . .

The Auburn Red Devils seemingly lacking power on paper, have just about kicked all the pre-season dope for a loss, and coach Zeke Young has come up with another fine Auburn eleven. Their last two starts have been very impressive. In their last win their third in a row and their 4th out of five starts they socked a tough cadet team from the Howe Military Academy, with a 20 to 0 defeat last Friday.

STATE NOW IS DISTRIBUTING FISH TO ALL COUNTIES

The annual distribution of fish to lakes and streams in every county of the state now is being made by the Indiana Department of Conservation

Director John H. Nigh said approximately two millions fish are being distributed this year from the state's fourteen hatcheries. He added that the department is stressing size and quality of fish,rather than numbers, in this year's planting. Investigation has disclosed that the rate of survival is far greater when the larger fish are transplanted Nigh said.

The species being distributed this year to Hoosier lakes and streams are large mouth bass, small mouth bass, Southern small mouth bass, crappies, bluegills, red-ear sunfish rock bass and channel catfish .

Distrbution of the fish is handled by state hatchery personel and the conservation officers of the various counties. The fish are taken in containing aerated water, according to Harry Young, superintendent of fish hatcheries.

This state-wide distribution, a lengthy task, will not be completed until early November.

Shade Fruits to Avoid Sun

Though sunshine is very important for proper ripening, it will damage most fruits seriously if they are left in it after they are harvested. To prevent such damage, farmers should place fruits in the shade immediately after harvesting. Loads of crops such as peaches, watermelons and tomatoes should be covered on their way to packing sheds or to markets.

Song Birds Destroy Pests

Those people who say song birds aren't good for anything are in for a surprise, says Frank Fitch, Jr., wild life specialist of the Georgia extension service. As many as 66 different birds feed on cotton insects, he pointed out. Fifty-seven kinds of birds feed on the May beetel and 128 birds on wireworms.

To Ship Fudge

Homemade fudge may be shipped successfully if it is poured, while warm, into a tin pan which has been lined with several thicknesses of waxed paper. Leave sufficient paper to cover topand fudge may be lifted off by means of this top paper. The recipient who cuts the candy finds it fresh as when packed.

Sugar As Medicine

Sugar, unknown to the Greeks and Romans, was introduced into Europe as a medicine.

Kinds of Cheese

There are 18 distinct kinds of cheese available today and 400 different varieties.

DEPENDABILITY

THERE'S enough uncertainty in farming without putting up with old-fashioned sources of light and power anywhere on the farm . . . at any time.

Dependable low-cost electricity is one thing a farmer can count on. Winter or summer, it's there at the flick of a switch to do dozens of jobs quicker and cheaper than you can do them any other way. It will saw your wood, milk your cows, dry your hay, freeze summer foods for winter.

Electric brooders cut the mortality rate of chicks and pigs. Electric pumps bring hogs and cattle the extra water they need to fatten into top-price stock . . .

Are you making the most of dependable electric power on your farm? Keep posted on the new ways electricity helps farmers earn more money. Keep in touch with your farm equipment dealer.

RAT KILLING ARRANGED FOR COUNTY .

County Agent C. R. Gross announced that plans have been made to distribute prepared red squill bait to kill rats at the same time throughout DeKalb county. Friday Nov. 12 is the day set for this effort. 12 counties in Northeastern Indiana are combining their effects on the same day.

In urging farmers and townspeople to cooperate in destroying rats Mr. Gross points out that rats travel from one property to another. By baiting all properties at sone time it is possible to greatly reducethe infestation. Action now will prevent large property loses and great annoyance from these pests during the coming winter.

Prepared bait will be made available to everyone on a non-profit basis only for the one-day campaign. Distributors in every trade center in the county are as follows:

Newville Store; Hopewell Store; Spencerville Elevator; Auburn: Auburn Grain Co.; Farm Bureau Co-op; Auburn Hatchery & Feed Mill; Extension Office, Courthouse.

Garrett: Farm Bureau; Garrett Clipper Office

Butler: Longaker Mill; Farm Bureau Elevator, Bercaw Implement Store;

Corunna: Stonebraker Hardware

Ashley: Ashley Feed Mill; Seagles General Store

St. Joe News Office; Myers Elevator.

Commenting on the poison used for rat control, County Agent C. R. Gross says that red squill is the safest poison know. It comes from the East. On the market it comes in a powder made from a lily-like bulb. It is a Botanical second cousin of the blue squill that is one of the early spring flowers in some gardens. A poison to rats, it has been used, in very small doses, as a human medicine Syrup of it is a popular croup remedy. Red squill that is available as a rat poison containsa n emetic that causes vomiting when taken by cats, dogs, and human beings. Rats are unable to vomit and red squill causes death usually within 24 hrs.

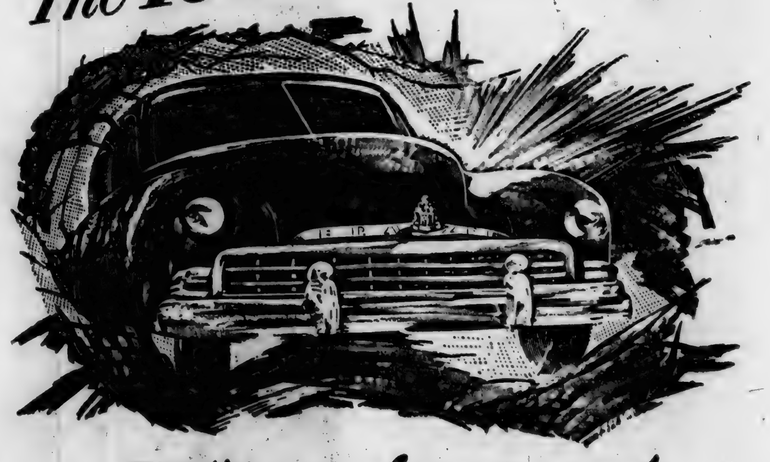
The 1949 FRAZER



Trailblazer-of cars to come!

Once in a blue moon the stylists and engineers outdo themselves. They create a car that goes beyond today and sets the pattern for cars of the future.

This is what they have done with the FRAZER for 1949!

Low, sleek and differently handsome it is the trailblazer in style of cars to come. Its exclusive colors and fabrics have made the world's leading fashion designers fall in love with it. They call it "the dream car".

The same car, the FRAZER for 1949, has even won the hard-to-win hearts of the test drivers who must relentlessly punish a car mile after mile for weeks on end. They say the Frazer makes such driving no punishment for them. Its driving ease and riding comfort "make 600 miles a day a breeze," they say.

There's a thrill waiting for you at your dealer's today. With 100 new features, improvements and refinements, the 1949 FRAZER is ahead of its time . . . out front—trailblazing the way for all the cars to come. First to break clean and scrap tradition, the cars from Willow Run have done it again. Because unlike other "new" cars built since the war, they've road-proved their dependability—2 billion miles worth! Value-proved to a quarter-million justly proud owners. See and drive the new FRAZER now! It's at your dealer's. Kaiser-Frazer Corporation, Willow Run, Michigan.

BERCAW IMPLEMENT CO.

In 1832, one of the most difficult years of the depression, L. W. Bercaw embarked upon a business venture in the farm implement field that was to bring one of the most modern and well stocked retail establishments in north-eastern Indiana. To recall the small frame building in which the business started and to look upon the large, remodeled buildings that now house the Bercaw Implement Store is to realize that there must have been a lot of effort and ingenuity combined with dependable products and satisfactory service to obtain this result.

Today a visitor to the store can see displayed machinery and equipment of Allis-Chalmers and New Idea in the farm line as well as a variety of items made by General Electric and Maytag in appliances. In the service department they are equipped with all the latest machines to make or repair parts for all kinds of machinery. Their parts department contains an almost endless array so that there need be no delay in making repairs to your equipment.

If you are a farmer or housewife and have not visited the firm of L. W. Bercaw, make it a point to drop in and let them demonstrate the many items they have for your convenience.

THE BUTLER CO.

Founded in 1894 the Butler Co. is engaged in the manufacture of pump jacks and sheet metal products for the farm such as water tanks, heaters, etc. They are also distributors for pipe fittings, pipe and allied lines.

The simple assertion that a certain number of people are given employment or that the payroll is so much, is far from adequate in outlining an industry's importance to the district in which it is located. Only when a community loses an industry do the people fully realize its significance and its value, directly or indirectly, to not only their community but to themselves individually. This is true whether one to be an employee or not.

An industry such as the Butler Co. does provide jobs for an average of some 33 people, but in addition they pay taxes and circulate a great deal of money. Railroads, churches schools-merchants and farmers are all benefitted through the manufacturer, more often than not in ways that they never connect with the industry yet which may be directly traced to them.

Nov. 2 - - - VOTE ! !

LAUB BROS. IMPLEMENT CO.

For nearly ten years the Laub Bros. of Butler have been catering to the needs of the autoist and farmers of this area. Beginning in 1939 with the Laub Bros. Oil Co. authorized dealers for Fleet Wing petroleum products, they have continued to expand and as show in the picture have founded the Laub Bros. Implement Co. with a dealership in J. I. Case farm machinery and a companion line of Hotpoint appliances.

There are many people who can testify as to the service and conveniences that were afforded by Laub Bros. during the past few years in the fuel oil and gasoline department. Farmers and home owners have found their products to meet every specification and that they are prompt and dependable in their deliveries.

In the farm machinery and appliance line every one recognizes both the names of J. I. Case and Hotpoint. Both have been well in the lead for years in engineering improvements and in meeting competition. Whether it is new equipment or appliances or the service on old you will find them well qualified to serve you. A modern service department is established with the idea of providing individual service to each patron. Both Fred and Ray Laub have followed the motto of service and satisfaction and you will find them ever ready to serve you.

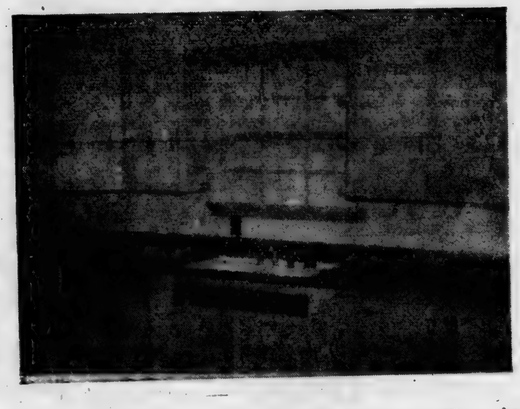
VAN DER VEER AUTO SALES

With the rapid acceleration that has been show in the production of new cars, the used car market has been able to offer a wider selection in the last few month in late prewar models as well as the post war cars. The picture here shows the Van Der Veer Auto Sales at 2529 S. easily recognize that the cars displayed are in good condition. The guarantee of Gaylord Van Der Veer assures that efficient operation and comfortable driving will be combined with appearance.

The Van Der Veer Auto Sales is one of the outstanding dealers in used cars in the Northern Indiana section, having been active in the field since 1942. In the six years the firm has been in operation it has established an enviable reputation among the car owners of this area, by affording service and quality that has been second to none

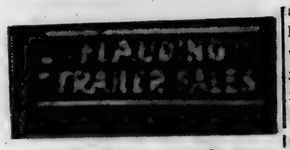
With cold and snow approaching, be sure that you don't have to go through the troubles of winter with a car that is not dependable. Trade or buy what you want at reasonble prices from Van Der Veer .

WAYNE CABINET CO.



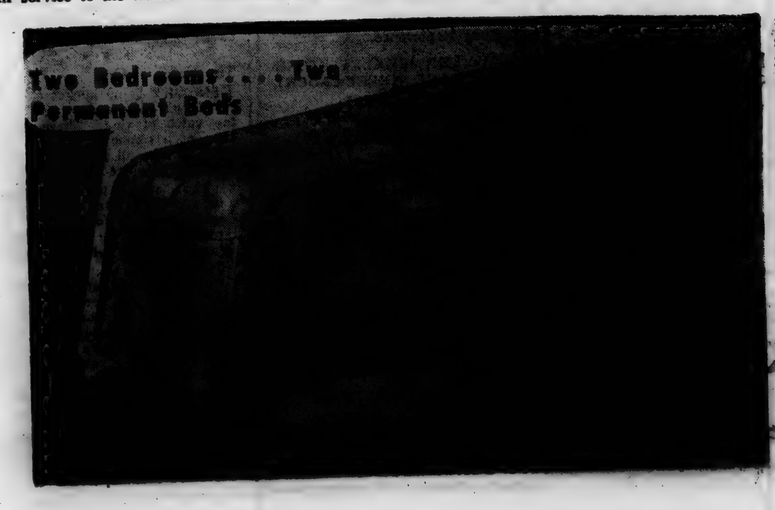
To the average housewife who is anxious to add efficiency and neatness to her home it is well to begin where most of the work is done daily, namely in the kitchen. With the improvments that have been introduced in styling and custom cabinet building the housewife can have the modern kitchen to her liking by calling on the Wayne Cabinet Co., at 1336 Goshen Avenue in Ft. Wayne.

Under the ownership and direction of Messrs. Ray and Arthur Beberstein, this firm with a background of three generations in the building field have specialized in the factory built kitchen ensemble that is tailor made and gives you the choice of inlaid linoleum, formica or stainless steel tops. They have every detail of equipment in their plant and expert workmen to build and install the modern kitchen for you. You need only call or write them and they will go over your plans with you, draw up the specifications and give you the best in guaranteed workmanship and materials.



In the same manner as the manufactureres of Liberty trailers have been responsible for many of the improvements and features of the house trailer so has the Flauding Trailer Sales on Lincoln Highway west of Fort Wayne been first in their service to the trailer owners and buyers of the region. Liberty has instituted and incorporated into their new models all of the comforts and conveniences that you will find in the home ideal. From the minor gadgets to the more important fixtures and appliances you will find every detail well thought out and engineered to afford space and accomodations for many occupants.

To the person who questions the using of a trailer for a permanent home, it is well to drop in at a camp or a dealer and let them show you just how much satisfaction the average occupant gets from his trailer home. Also talk to the sportsman or vacationer and let them tell of their experiences and how many times they have been able to locate in the places they wished to go that were it not for the trailer accomodations would have either been expensive or unavailable. Visit Flaudings and look over the new Liberty, see how every inch of space is accounted for and inquire as to the heating and lighting facilities. When you have seen and heard of its conveniences you will be amazed.



DEKALB COUNTY FARM BUREAU COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

A notable example of outstanding growth and progress is the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association. Organized thirty-five years ago it has today some 600 members and has played an important role in maintaining the high standards of agriculture that have made the county one of the leading ones of the state.

The elevator in Butler is completely equipped to offer the farmer a prompt and reliable service in feed grinding and mixing as well as as everything in seeds, feeds, fertilizer, grain and farm bureau equipment.

A service department is maintained at the co-op where you can be helped in many ways with information concerning farming, livestock feeding, and answers to many problems that confront the modern day farmer. You will find that the prices of their products are reasonable and it has been their aim to make and sell honest merchandise to help the farmer produce and prosper.

HEVALL MFG. CO.

Though there has been a rapid acceleration in the industrial production of farm equipment and machinery in the past few months it is well to note that there is still a great demand for equipment on the farm. Although this area is primarily an agricultural one there are many concerns that are active in the manufacturing fields and among them is the Hevall Mfg. Co. of Hicksville, O.,

Founded in 1942, this concern has been active in the manufacturing and distribution of loaders for tractors and caterpillars and has enjoyed a steady growth and success. No firm has, in this country, made any appreciable progress without meeting the exacting demands of the users, and the loaders of this concern are meeting with increasing favor over a wide section of the country. As a local industry it has contributed to the prosperity of the community by affording steady employment while at the same time distributing many thousands of dollars through local trade channels. That their product deserves the attention of the farmers of this section goes without saying.

AL'S AUTO SALES

Possibly you have driven by Al's Auto Sales at 2000 Fairfield in Ft. Wayne and wondered where he is able to obtain the many cars that are in such good condition. Although it is somewhat of a trade secret, we can speculate on the fact that Al Peconge with more than 25 years of association with the car dealers and manufacturers knows car values and has valuable contacts with both the general public and dealers .Maybe you recognize him from the picture as having sold you a car at some time or other. If so, we believe that you are getting real satisfaction and value in the car you bought.

More and more, people are realizing the value to themselves of doing business with dealers who have had years of experience in the automotive field. They recognize the fact that the firm with a future is interested in building a clientele of satisfied patrons who make their best advertisement. That this has been true of Al's Auto Sales, at Fairfield and Williams, is shown by the many people who have dealt with him year after year.

SCRIPTURE: I Kings 4:21—11:13.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 33: 12-22.

God's Hand in History

Lesson for October 24, 1948

SUPPOSE you were given a long flexible wire and were asked to arrange it on a pattern which would represent history, what would you do to it? Some people would cut that wire into little bits and let them fall in a pile like jackstraws. History, they would say, is a meaningless collection of disconnected events—it has no real pattern.

Dr. Foreman

Someone else would arrange the wire like a long arrow pointing upward; others would make it into an arrow pointing downward; these would be the pure optimists and pessimists among historians.

Others would arrange it in a series of up-and-down curves—history, they would say, sometimes goes up and sometimes down, but it never gets anywhere. Others again would make an immense circle, history goes around and around in cycles, repeating itself.

Others still might take that wire and shape it into a kind of spiral, almost repeating itself but never quite, often seeming to go backward but actually making some progress.

God's Chosen People

A GOOD deal of the Old Testament is taken up with history. Starting with Genesis and going through Esther, most of what you read is history. But it is not mere chronicles, that is to say it is not a mere listing of events.

The historical parts of the Bible were written by men who had a theory of history. They would agree that the Golden Age is ahead of us, not behind.

They would all agree that the most important figure in human history is not a human being at all, but God the Creator. They would all agree that his hand can be seen — if you look for it — in the events of man's existence here. And they all affirm that among all the nations of the earth there was one which could be called truly God's chosen people, the little nation called Israel, the people we know as the Jews.

The whole of Hebrew history is a sort of sermon on this text: Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people. The history of any nation, ancient or modern, would illustrate that text just as well; only the Israelite historians saw it most clearly. They showed how, when their people followed God's leading and his laws, they prospered; when they went their own stupid, selfish ways they suffered.

Somehow Good

ONE great lesson the Old Testament history teaches is that God's will is good, and that when man defies and disobeys that will, he does it to his own destruction, but that God can bring good out of evil.

People often act from bad motives; yet even the worst of motives God can overrule. David waded in blood to his throne, and he treated cruelly many of his enemies. That was not good; yet God brought out of that a national independence and strength.

David put Solomon on the throne because he was the son of his favorite wife; that was pure favoritism. Yet God brought good out of a choice which was selfish.

When the Israelites were tempted to fall for the cheap and nasty gods whose shrines filled the land, that was bad; but it gave the prophets their great opportunity to make perfectly clear the difference between false and true religion.

The Voice of God

HISTORY is no bucket of ashes. If you have ears to listen, it is the voice of God. These ancient tales of a nation long since dead, that lived in all scarce 500 years, carry God's voice to us today.

The diseases which are fatal to a nation's life are here described; the foundations on which alone true national welfare can be built are made quite plain.

Up to now, all nations have perished sooner or later. We can see some of them decaying in our own time. That is because no nation ever yet has built its life on God's design. But the pattern is there, the lesson has been written. God still waits for a people who will learn his lesson in how to live.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

At a meeting of coaches and principals of schools participating in this sectional basketball tourney to be held next spring, 11 representatives who were present for the meeting voted in favor of using the two gym site for sectional play as it was inauguarated last year. This does not mean for a certain that the two gym plan will be used again next spring. But with the majority of the schools seemingly in favor of of the plan that was used last year there is every reason to believe tha the IHSAA commission will again permit the plan to be used this year. Last year the Auburn and Garrett gyms were used for tounanment games unil the Saturday semi-finals which were held at Auburn.

At Dwenger Park in Fort Wayne Thursday evening, the Auburn Red Devils come through with another well played, well earned victory, this one, a 14-7 defeat, was over the Concordia High Cadets. This was thei fourth win in a row for Zeke Young and his Auburn eleven, and their fifth out of six games for the season .

Plans for the forming of a county basketball league for independent teams for this county, will get a final going over at a meeting of teams to be represented to be held in Auburn this week. The league which is being sponsored by Vim's Sporting Store of Fort Wayne will be operated in very much the same way as the Allen County league has been operating for the past several years. At present 6 teams have expressed their wishes to be in the league, with about two or three more expected to enter. The present plans call for games to be played as double bills with four of the league members seeing action in one gym during an evening of play.

IN ORDER TO better acquaint officials, players and the paying customers with the latest in basketball rules, the Indiana High School A. A. is sponsoring a series of basket ball clinics over various part of the state. There are several important changes in rules added this year, and it is in the interest of good basket ball that the fan as well as officials, coaches and players, know the latest in rules. The clinic for DeKalb County will be held at the Garrett Community gym on Wed., October 27, Mr. J. L. Mertz, of Aubrun, who has been officiating Indiana basketball for 27 years, and Paul Bateman of Garrett, will lead the discussion. Any plays that need to be demonstrated will be done so by the Garrett Railroaders. This clinic is open to the public. Perhaps a great many of basketball fan in this area would be less likely to be angered by so called "blind" referees if they attended a meeting like this and learned some of the technical points of the biggest job in the game - - - -officiating.

BOWLING RESULTS, the St. Joe Legionaires continued their rough tactics on opposition in the InterCity Bowling League, by pasting the Antwerp Oasis with a 3 game loss last Friday evening at Hicksville. Nearing a first complete round of rolling they have only had one bad night on the alleys REBUILDING?—Sitting high in the stands of the University of Mich. stadium at Ann Arbor, Saturday, we looked down certainly on two great college football teams. Surely the Northwestern Wildcats are one of the toughest competitors in the Big Nine and this year is by no means an exception. But the great team we were thinking of was a different one.

We were thinking of one of the greatest teams in collegiate football last year, a team that piled up terriffic scores against all opposition and then continued their onslaught against the Pacific Coast champs on New Years Day. - - - And we were also remembering what the preseason dopesters were trying to sell us this year, that this would be a rebuilding year for the Wolverines, and that the job that Bennie Oosterbaan had taken from Fritz Crisler was no small one. From what we saw Saturday, it looked like Bennie and his boys were so busy building up a good ball club, that they didn't have time to read the press notices, on, "Why Michigan won't defend their Big Nine crown What Coach Bennie, had his boys have done to prove the dopesters wrong! is little less than amazing.

Still using the old single and double wing offense instead of the much widely used "T" he has formed this club into razzle-dazzle fast, hard hitting outfit that is swamping the toughest opposition that can be put up against them.

If last years Wolverines were better than this years team, which we wouldn't doubt for a moment, we certainly would have liked to have seen it in action. It must have been a truly great team. Our hat's are off to a good team - - - seemingly so unlike one of the better college teams in our own Hoosier state, they didn't believe what they read, they just went outa and built up a darned good team.

1½ Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employes.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work —in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1½ billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 43c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

AUBURN, INDIANA

Lowe is the Leader in Hybrid Corn Improvement!

Ever since 1900 when the Lowe Seed Company was established, the name Lowe has stood for quality seed corn. But in the early 1930's Lawrence Lowe, present head of the company and son of the founder, began a new system of obtaining improved inbred lines out of the crosses and back-crosses of older inbreds. By 1936 Lowe was able to introduce into state yield trials new improved hybrids which caused a sensation by taking virtually all top awards.

Each year since Lowe has continued to improve his hybrids through his system of "convergent" breeding. It was this that made Lowe the leader in hybrid corn improvement and built this old, well-established company into one of the major producers of hybrid seed corn.

Each year since 1936 Lowe sales have increased and everywhere Lowe Improved Hybrids have been planted . . . throughout the corn belt and in several eastern and southern states . . . they have performed outstandingly. Each year more and more farmers have planted virtually their entire acreage to Lowe Improved Hybrids.

See for yourself how these improved hybrids will perform on your farm. See your new Lowe dealer as soon as you can. Order your supply of Lowe Improved Hybrid Seed Corn.

1947 Cotton Crop

Last years cotton crop was the highest grade since 1939, and way above 1946 in quality, says the agriculture department. The average staple length, however, fell a little below the preceding year. The department attributes the crop's high grade to the generally favorable weather which existed for harvesting in the cotton belt. The shorter staple length is put down to dry weather which hit certain spots, and expanded output in western Oklahoma and northwest Texas, where shorter staple cotton is grown.

The state of Nevada produces great welth from its gold, silver, lead, zinc and copper mines.

GET MORE MEAT with Less Grain

Free Choice SALT DOES IT

With plenty of salt before them all the time, livestock make better use of their feed. Their digestive systems are more active . . . they assimilate better . . . they pack on pounds faster . . . they're healthier and thriftier.

Purdue University tests show that, with hogs, for instance, 321.4 pounds of corn with salt did the work of 451 pounds with no salt. Salt also saves proteins and minerals.

For best results, feed salt free choice—not only to hogs, but also to dairy cows, meat animals, sheep. Put a few salt feeding stations around the farm and use Morton's Free Choice Salt.

NON-HARDENING under normal use and storage conditions

Morton's Free Choice Salt is especially developed for livestock feeding. It's pure, easy to feed, easy to use for mixing, and formulated to remain NON-HARDENING under normal use and storage conditions. Be sure to ask your dealer for it by name — Morton's Free Choice Salt.

Write for copy of "Free Choice Salt for More Profitable Livestock." This 40-page book is packed with facts every farmer and feeder wants to know. No other book like it. Mailed free. Morton Salt Company, Chicago 3, Illinois.

MORTON'S Free Choice SALT

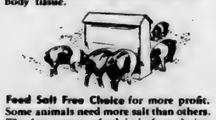
Salt Saves Food because it supplies the sodium and chlorine needed by the digestive system—the sodium for making bile which digests fats and carbohydrates; chlorine for the hydrochloric acid which converts feed proteins into body tissue.



Feed Salt Free Choice for more profit. Some animals need more salt than others. The best way to feed it is free choice. Then each animal can take what it needs for maximum thrift, faster gains, lower feeding costs, and greater profits.

MODERN FARMING

Herd Improvement Through Cow Testing

"Boarder" cows — cows that don't produce enough milk to pay for their room and board — take a big bite out of the dairy farmer's bankroll. To help dairymen discover and eliminate "boarders" from their herds, thousands of cow testers, employed by local Dairy Herd Improvement Associations, visit farms of D.H.I.A. members once each month.

The cow tester weighs morning and evening milk production of each cow, tests it for butterfat content, and fills out a monthly report in the D.H.I.A. herd book. He weighs the grain and roughage fed each cow, too. The simplified herd record book he keeps for the farmer, shows at a glance which cows are paying for their keep . . . which are not. The records also show which cows' calves are worth saving for herd replacement. Records are especially valuable to buyers and sellers when stock is offered in private sales or at dairy cattle auctions.

According to many of the Nation's top dairymen, the combination of cow testing and record-keeping the D.H.I.A. way is the most important thing dairy farmers can do to boost milk production and increase dairying profits. The picture-story below shows some of the steps in the D.H.I.A. program.

Once a month the cow tester weighs the milk produced by every cow in the D.H.I.A. member's herd. Evening and morning milk production is recorded in the herd record book. Annual production per cow, figured from these monthly checks, is almost as accurate as if milk production was weighed every day.

With his Babcock test, the cow tester determines the percentage of butterfat in milk produced by each cow, and figures total butterfat per cow. In this way he discovers cows that produce "low test" milk so that the farmer can eliminate them.

Feed consumed by each cow for a 24-hour period — hay, grain and silage — is also weighed and entered in herd book. By figuring feed at going market prices, tester quickly sees which cows are producing milk to pay for their feed bill.

Usually the cow tester spends a full day each month at the member's farm, weighing and testing the milk, entering production, feed consumption and feed costs in the record book, and helping the farmer analyze and use the records for herd replacement. The tester also helps in many management problems.

After studying the record book, cow tester and farmer look over the herd and decide which cows should be sent to the butcher, and which should be used to provide calves for future herd replacement. Sometimes, testers go with farmer-members to cattle sales to aid in selection.

Here's why thousands upon thousands of farmers say—

IT PAYS TO FEED THE WAYNE WAY!

Yes—year after year the Wayne Way pays. Local, state, regional and national records prove it. Your own success and profits—in feed-lot or showring—will prove it. So feed as nearly a million farmers do. Start today on the Wayne Way with your poultry and livestock, and cash in with results such as reported here.

$4.41 PROFIT PER BIRD—H. A. Cannon, LeMars, Iowa, following the Wayne Way exclusively for the past 6 years, reports his flock averaged 237.7 eggs and $4.41 profit over feed cost in 1947.

You, too, can feed for profit-results like these:

WORLD'S RECORD-MAKING MILK PRODUCTION—Royal Muffin, 5 year old Brown Swiss, made 18,845 lbs. milk and 741.5 lbs. fat in 305 days on 3X milking. Says owner Reinhard Geredes, Princeton, Ill.: "She made this record on Wayne. My 14 cows averaged 507.7 lbs. fat and 12,532 lbs. milk last year on D.H.I.A. I've fed Wayne Dairy Feeds 14 years!"

222 LB. HOGS IN 5 MO., 2 DAYS—Jay Wood, Columbia City, Ind., marketed 44 Wayne-fed hogs averaging 222 lbs. in 5 months, 2 days . . . required only 6 bu. grain, 39 lbs. Wayne Hog Supplement to produce 100 lbs. pork. Hogs fed grain alone usually require about 12 bu. Small wonder he wears that corn-saving, profit-making Wayne smile!

FIRST PLACE SHORTHORN STEER in the Yearling Class at the 1947 International Junior Livestock Show was "Tubby," shown by Donald Moody, Lovington, Ill., who says, "I started 'Tubby' on full feed Dec. 1, and he was never off once. Wayne Sweet Mix is highly appetizing—puts on a quality finish. Dad and I follow the Wayne Way with all our livestock."

P.S. Be an Early Bird!
1 Fall ○ = 3 Spring ○○○ in Profit

Fall egg prices are high; production low. Less chicks were hatched last spring—less pullets are producing now. So this year, of all years, get your flock laying early. It's easy the Wayne Way. Dairy

By SUSAN LOWE

I think the ten years I spent judging fairs gave me the most fun I've had out of life. For it not only afforded me the opportunity to taste all those countless delicate cakes, those rich juicy pies, cheese tortes, sugar cookies, butter horns, and all the rest, but it made it possible for me to get to know these other farm women, who like myself found such joy in cooking.

Cooks just don't come any better than our country women. For one thing, each woman has one or more dish that is her pride and no one can measure up to, or surpass her particular standard of perfection. As a matter of fact, our farm women have glorified our American way of life by taking the fruit of the land — milk, cream, butter, eggs, cheese and transforming it into food fit for a king!

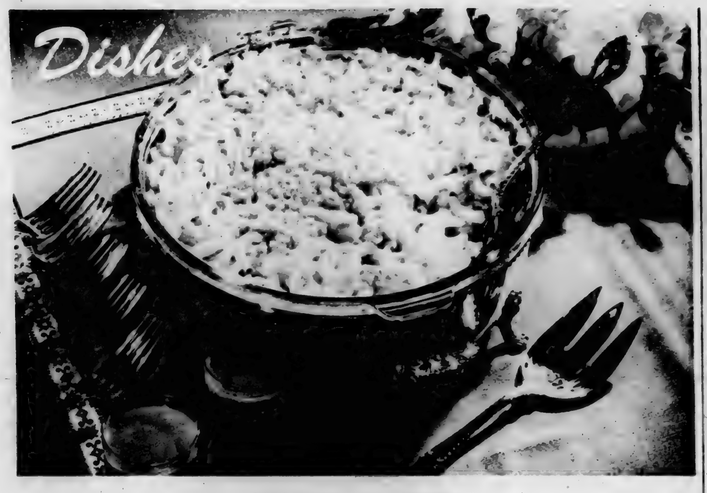
Much of this art came from the Old World originally . . . take for instance, Swedish Butter Fingers, Danish Pastry, Armenian Beaurack, Rice Bavärian or Bohemian Kolacky. It was while judging the county fair, year after year, up in Manitowoc County in Wisconsin, that I really became acquainted with that rich Bohemian dessert — kolacky — "little wheels" that spin magic! But just as these women had varied the kolacky and made original fillings, so has all of our food taken on a New World accent, until our Dairy Dishes have become our truly American food!

SOUR MILK PANCAKES: the well-remembered kind that grandma used to make and with the same melt-in-your-mouth goodness.

(serves 4 to 6)
2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
2 cups sour milk
2 tbs. butter, melted
2 eggs, well beaten

Sift dry ingredients together, add milk. Stir lightly. Add butter and fold in eggs. Bake on hot, ungreased griddle.

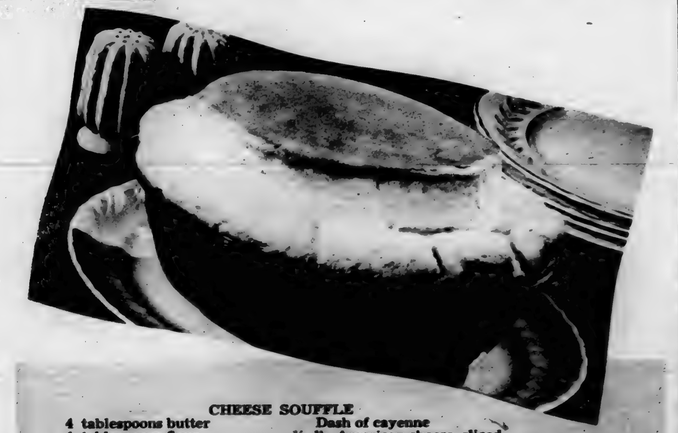
NO SECOND CALL FOR BREAKFAST — if there's butter horns, cinnamon rolls or rich pecan coffee cake hot out of the oven!



MACARONI AND CHEESE

1. 8-oz. package Macaroni
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ lb. yellow American cheese
½ cup crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cook Macaroni following directions on package. Drain and arrange in shallow buttered baking dish. Melt butter in heavy sauce pan and blend in flour. Stir milk in slowly; bring to boil being careful not to burn. Add seasonings. Cut cheese in ½ inch cubes. Scatter over macaroni and pour white sauce over all. Crush cereal flakes; press over top. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. (350 Deg. F.) Serves 6.



CHEESE SOUFFLE

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
½ lb. American cheese, sliced
6 eggs

Make a sauce with the butter, flour, milk and seasonings. When thickened and smooth add the sliced cheese, and stir until the cheese is melted. Remove from the heat and add the beaten yolks of the eggs; mix well. Slightly cool the mixture, then pour it slowly onto the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, cutting and folding the mixture thoroughly together. Pour into a 2-quart casserole and bake 1¼ hours in a slow oven, 300°. Serve at once.

HOT PINEAPPLE EGGNOG: A tantalizing refresher for a large group; intriguing flavor.

16 egg yolks
16 egg whites
2 cups sugar
3 quarts pineapple juice
1 quart cream
¼ cup orange rind, grated

Combine egg yolks, 8 egg whites, and 1 cup sugar; beat thoroughly. Bring pineapple juice to boiling point, add cream, reheat. Pour over first mixture, stirring constantly. Beat remaining egg whites and add remaining sugar. Fold egg whites into hot mixture. Sprinkle with orange rind.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS . . . A DELICIOUS TWO-FRUIT TREAT—"CRAN-APPLE" PIE!

¾ cups sugar
3 tablespoons corn starch
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup KARO Syrup, Red Label
⅓ cup water
1½ cups cranberries
1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups chopped apples
1 recipe pastry

Mix sugar, corn starch and salt in saucepan. Gradually add KARO Syrup and water; mix well. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens slightly and comes to a boil. Add cranberries and cook until skins are broken. Remove from heat; add orange rind and butter or margarine. Cool. Add apples. Roll ½ of pastry ⅛-inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Pour in filling. Arrange lattice of pastry strips across top. Seal edges well. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) and bake 40 minutes longer, or until crust is brown and apples are tender.

YOU CAN MILK...

YOU CAN FEED...

YOU CAN CLEAN...

Without ALL that STOOPING and SQUATTING!

Cows will come to you to be milked. In fact, with a little training and the right equipment she will put her udder and teats within such easy reach that you won't ever have to stoop over or squat down again to put on a milking machine. What's more, you won't ever have to step over a gutter with the Surge system of milking cows.

With FEWER Steps and NO HAULING!

The more cows you have, the more miles of walking and hauling it takes to feed them. Just because you're used to doing it is no reason why you have to. With a Surge system the cows do the walking and hauling for you.

A lot Easier than the way you Do!

The daily chore of barn cleaning can be dodged, too. With a Surge system of milking cows you can quickly hose down the milking room and use a power loader once or twice a year to clean a loafing barn. In fact, there are plenty of other reasons why this is the way cows are going to be milked on most farms some day.

Registrations Indicate Heavy County Vote

Largest Number In County History Are Eligible To Visit Polls On November 2

County Clerk Murray A. Steele has reported that there are 16,402 DeKalb couny voters registered to vote in the forthcoming Nov. 2 general election the heaviest registration in the history of the county.

The heavy registration has led observers to predict the greatest turnout of voters in November ever recorded at a county election.

In 1944, there were 15,432 voters registered in the county. Two years later the number jumped to 15,703. In Auburn alone, registrations increased over 500 from the 1947 city election. Garrett also showed a large increase, with 398 more voters registered for the coming election than were eligible in 1947. One Grant township precinct, in Waterloo, showed an increase of over 100 registered voters.

Mr. Steele reports that election officials will probably order more ballots with the heavy increase in some of the county's precincts.

Registrations closed Oct. 4.

Personel at the clerk's office also reported that over 150 absentee ballots have already been mailed to voters who will be unable to be at the polls Nov. 2. voters may vote absentee in the clerk's office Ocober 23 The following Saturday, October 30, is the final day for voting absentee in the cerk's office and also the last day in which written application for absentee ballots will be received and ballots sent out.

AMERICAN LEGION URGES CITIZENS TO VOTE

The Indiana American Legion is urging all of the citizens in Indiana to be sure and vote in the coming election, November 2. Department Commander, Joseph F. Lutes has requested every Legion Post in the state to enlist other active non-political organizations in their community to help get out the votes.

The state bonus will be one of the major issues in this campaign. Veterans are being urged to see that favorable action is taken if they desire a state bonus.

The American Legion has furnished all post with window cards and stickers regarding the bonus. They admonish all the citizens of Indiana that no democracy can survive special tnierest of subversive foes if they abdicate their rights to vote. Every citzen has the right to vote for the candidate of his own choice, but in order to retain that right, he must exercise it and vote.

COMMISSIONER YEISER MAKES PLEA TO VOTERS FOR CHAIN-LAKES STATE PARK

A plea for voters of DeKalb County to vote "yes" on the Chain-o-Lakes state park project at the polls next Tuesday was made by L. W.Yeiser, county commissioner from the southeast district.

Mr. Yeiser advanced the following facts of the matter as they affect the taxpayers of DeKalb County.

It is proposed to buy the park site located in the south central part of Noble county. The counties participating in the purchase being Allen, Noble, Whitley and DeKalb. After acquisition of the land surrounding the lakes it becomes the property of the state of Indiana and will be developed and operated by the Conservation department. The amount to be paid by each county will be according to its assessed valuation Allen, therefore, bears the greater portion of the cost. DeKalb county's share is placed at $32, 000 and $15,000 of this amount has been raised and is now in the countyy treasury.

Also at stake in the voting is a proposed state highway leading west from Spencerville to act as a feeder road to the new park. The state highway commission has passed a resolution that they will act on the new state road if the park proposal becomes a reality.

After dinner, Howard Mathews of the Agricultural Research Department gave the students an hour's talk on the meat packing industry. Frank Laub and Dale C. Wicoff, Vocational Ag. teacher accompanied the students

At noon Sunday, Robert Witt of Spencerville was surprised by relatives and members of his 4-H club the occassion being his birthday. Mrs Witt served a dinner consisting of fried chicken, mashed potatoes pickled eggs, pickles, celery, jello, apple pie and Devils food cake to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Estelle Getts; Joyce, Don, Morris, Larry, Joan and Jimmy Getts, Mr. and Mrs. Albert King of Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. William Witt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Witt, Patty Jo and Nila Jean of Auburn, Billy and Mary Wilder, John Shull, James Shilling of St. Joe, Franklin Dwyer, Mary Jones, Frank, Billy and Donna Johnson of Spencerville.
The afternoon was spent playing baseball, basketball and visiting.

CULTURE CLUB

The ladies of the Culture club were very pleasantly entertained at Mrs. Lester Anthony's Wednesday evening, October 20th, Mrs. Virgil Laux was co-hostess to the Masquerade Party.

The home was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers, lovely leaves and bittersweet; carrying out the fall motif. Black cats and Jack-o-lanterns also were part of the Hallowe'en scheme.

Mrs .Paul Drerup read the peom of the evening. Mrs Baidinger had received a letter from the lady in Helsinki, who received our "Care" package, in which she states they are in need of warm clothing. She has two daughters and a baby son. The girls are nine and thirteen years old.

At the next meeting, November 3rd at Mrs. Wineland's home, the members are asked to bring worn clothing or new hose to help make up a "Care" package for this winters needs.

The luncheon tables were decorated to remind us of the "spooky nite", and the lunch consisted of apple salad, doughnuts and cider.

BIGGER INTERNATIONAL PREDICTED IN CHICAGO

Work has begun on the 49th edition of the International Live Stock Exposition, the nation's leading agricultural event, and early reports indicate that the 1948 show should attract larger classes than in any previous International in the nearly 50 years of its history.

The Exposition, which transforms Chicago into a great focal point of the continent's live stock industry, drawing nearly a half a million people from the 48 states, all Canadian provinces and foreign countries is scheduled for November 27 through December 4, in the huge International Amphitheatre of the Chicago Stock Yards.

Expect Larger Showing

Livestock shows throughout the continent were generally larger this year, W. E. Ogilvie, manager of the show, announces, and this is a good barometer of what may be anticipate at the Chicago exposition. The management predicts entries this year will exceed the 12,500 head of animals exhibited last year.

The International is looked on by stockmen and farmers as the high court among all such events, where final decisions in matters of livestock are made. An International winning is regarded as the highes award that exhibitors can attain.

Premiums for the show have been increased this year, as breed associations have volunteered more money for International classes, and the prize total of the show will exceed the usual $100,000 for the competitions of four breeds of beef cattle, 11 breeds of sheep, nine of swine and five of draft horses.

The Junior Livestock Feeding Contest for boy and girl feeders of fat cattle, swine and sheep, nine of a fat cattle, swine and sheep will again assume its prominent palce on the first day's program.

The 26th International Grain and Hay Show will bring samples from 6 Caadian provinces and most of the 48 states to a world-renowned competition where the "royalty" among crop producers are crowned.

Halloween Party At Gymnasium Saturday Evening

Public Invited To Evening Of Entertainment, Sponsored By Fire Department

A full evening of entertainment has been scheduled for St. Joe and the surrounding community, when the St. Joe Fire Department will put on their annual Hallowe'en Party at the St. Joe High Gym, on Saturday, October 30.

The big evening that proved to be such a big hit last year for young and old alike, will start off with a masked parade at 8 o'clock sharp. After the goblins, witches and other masked characters are herded into the gym, prizes will be given to the best masked persons in three groups. Prizes will be given in the childrens class, intermediate and older persons for the best costume.

Other special events of the evening will be the showing of two reels of movies. Some free acts have also been scheduled for the evening.

Young and old alike are invited to come and enjoy a full evening of entertainment, sponsored and prepared by the St. Joe Fire Dept.

FALL INSTALLMENT OF TAXES NEAR DEADLINE

With the fall, taxpaying period close at hand a report by County Treasurer John C. Brown stated that collections up to Monday amounted to only $87,336. The payments during the spring period ending in May, totaled$532,000 and the receipts this fall will likely reach half a million dollars. The collections last spring were 24 per cent higher than during a like period in 1947. due to higher levies and increased valuations of property.

The last day for payment without penalty is Monday, Nov. 1. The treasurer's office is open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, including Saturdays this week and next.

The problem of securing a good place to hunt is one that confronts more and more novice gunners each stason. And the experienced hunters, too, frequently find it difficult to make the right contacts in unfamiliar territory.

This problem, however ,can partially be solved by two things. First, make friends with the farmers in regions you want to hunt, cooperate with them and lend a helping hand during the off-season. Second, learn and follow the rules of good sportmanship.

"For the individual who practices all the simple, yet important, rules of sportsmanship, this problem becomes self-effacing when the word gets around that a certain hunter is a 'right kind of guy!" says Gail Evans of the Remington Arms Co.

We know farmers who keep a "black list" for certain hunters and the farms always are closed to this group. Yet these same farmers welcome the "right guy" when hunting season time arrives.

Few gunners enjoy hunting alone and most sportsmen welcome congenial hunting partners who speak the same language. Most sportsmen, however, are reluctant to run the risk of getting stuck for a day in the field with some thoughtless or careless hunter who ignores the niceties of field etiquette or violates the unwritten laws of sportsmanship. They make that mistake with the same individual only once.

So if you are invited this fall for a hunt with some sportsman who has contacts with the farmers where game is plentiful ,watch you step way you'll be invited back.

And above all things, don't take chances; observe all the rules of safe gun handling. Then adehre to field etiquette. For instance, give your companion all the breaks in shooting. The accepted practice is to alternate on singles, so follow this rule and never try to "wipe his eye" by hogging shots. You best find out what side your companion shoots from--then you take the other side, being careful never to shoot a bird traveling towards your gunning partnner. And don't get branded as a "claimer" by always being sure you killed a certain bird before claimng it. A "claimer" never gets a second chance to hunt with good sportsmen.

If you are hunting with a dog that belongs to the other fellow, never try to handle it. But be sure to praise its work when good, overlooking faulty bird work by not mentioning it And be sure to let the dog make an effort for the retrieve before you start reaching for a dead bird.

There's an old adage to the effect that "if you want to find out about a man, get him in a poker game or take him hunting." Remember tht the next time you are in the field.

Several years ago an old hunter with a wide varied bakground in the shooting game told us that it always is wise to pattern test a new shotgun before taking to the field after game. He explained that no two guns are identical and that some scatterguns will handle certain size loads much better than others.

We have followed his advice with each new shotgun we've bought, and only recently we completed field tests with a new Browning 20 gauge automatic that will be our arm for the current waterfowl and upland game season.

The automatic is equipped with a Poly-Choke, with an overall barrell length of 26 inches. And for the tests we used the new "sealed gas chamber" shot shells developed by Western-Winchester after almost a decade of research.

First, we'd like to report that the gun, the Poly and the new loads lived up to all advance notices. We had never owned a gun equipped with a Poly before but even the pattern firing proved its worth. And we found no "blown" patterns in nearly 200 rounds, from No. 2's to No. 9's with the newly designed shot shells.

For the past several years we have been shooting 12 gauge guns, both automatics and doubles, at waterfowl, usually using No. 4 or No. 5 shot. But when we step into the duck blind opening day this season we'll have along a box of No. 6's. It was this size shot that produced the best pattern, fired with the Poly set full choke,at ranges from 30 to 45 yards.. And we found the tightest patterns for No. 2 shot ,a good goose load at long ranges, with the Poly set on cylinder. Normally the full choke setting should show up best, but we're sold on trying the cylinder with No. 2's--if and when we can try a little "honker' gunning.

With both the improved cylinder setting we found the No. 8's and No. 9's patterning well for close-in quail work where most of the shooting is 20 to 30 yards. And No. 7½'s proved good in the some settings up to 35 yards. That load will work on pheasants at fairly close ranges. When the pheasants are flushing wild, No. 6's with the full choke setting should be the right ticket in bringing down the ringnecks.

After the pattern tests we honestly believe we have selected the right size shot for our field work. Now if we do our part in pointing the little automatic right there'll be no excuse if the birds or ducks don't fold up and drop. At least we have hopes of bagging our share of birds before the curtain drops on the 1948 season.

True Wisdom

Lesson for October 31, 1948

WHAT is the most important thing in the world? What is worth more than anything else? Some would say Money; some Power; some Goodness; some Truth. Another answer is given by the writers of a group of books, two of which are included in our Bible. "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom," they say.

Dr. Foreman

The books of Proverbs and Ecclesiastes in our Protestant Bible, and the books of Ecclesiasticus and the Wisdom of Solomon in the Apocrypha, all have this viewpoint and are therefore called the Wisdom Literature.

Other writers in the Bible divide the human race into the Good and the Wicked, or the Believers and the Unbelievers; but these writers see mankind as the Wise and the Foolish. The books they wrote (especially Proverbs) were intended particularly for those who are so far neither foolish nor wise—that is to say, the young.

Knowledge Is Not Wisdom

WISDOM (as these writers use the word) is not the same thing as knowledge. A person may know a great many things and still be a fool. Or he may not even know how to read and write, and yet be wise. Some modern writer has said: Knowledge is knowing what to do; skill is knowing how to do it; and virtue is doing it. Wisdom is all of these put together.

But the special feature of the "Wisdom Writers" is this: True wisdom begins with the fear of God. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom . . . the knowledge of God is understanding." In other words, wisdom without religion, without faith, is foolish after all.

We can see how in our times the story of the Nazis has shown this once more to be true. The German Reich of 1935-1939 had the best of the science of the world; they had scholarship and wealth and "know-how" in many fields; but they rejected God and defied his church—and so a nation was destroyed.

We too may profit by their example. We of the western nations have wealth and technical skills beyond any other peoples, we have the atom bombs—but have we the wisdom without which all these things are but as torches in the hands of madmen?

University on Ant-Hill

KNOWLEDGE may be expensive. It costs a great deal of money to know what it takes to be an engineer or a surgeon. Wisdom, strange to say, is less expensive. It is fact on such a low shelf that most people pass it by.

Consider where the "Wisdom Writers" tell us we may learn wisdom. One place is experience. "Experience keeps an expensive school, but fools will learn in no other—and hardly from that," says a more modern proverb.

Many of the proverbs in our Bible are simply distilled drops of experience. "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger," for example. Do you need an angel from the sky to tell you that?

Another source of wisdom is just Nature herself. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard (lazy fellow); consider her ways and be wise." A lazy man is a fool; but how shall he learn to be wise? Not by reading books—just by watching the ants.

Inspired Common Sense

A FORMER governor of Virginia used to say that during his term of office he received more practical help from reading Proverbs than from any of the books on political science in his library. For the science, or the art, of government is simply one specialized form of that most important art, getting along with people. And the Wisdom Literature shows us how it is done.

Some people think that Inspiration is always mysterious, and that the Holy Spirit would not stoop to inspire what we could learn in any ordinary way. But the Christian church, when it declares Proverbs (for example) inspired, expresses her belief that there is such a thing as Inspired Common Sense.

God may speak to us, and does speak—if we will listen—in the advice of our parents, in our everyday experiences, in the hard-working ant and the majesty of the soaring eagle. All truth is God's truth, even when we find it in our own backyard.

SEASON NEARING FOR HUNTERS AND TRAPPERS IN STATE

Hoosier hunters and trappers soon will be taking to the fields in their annual quest for game birds, rabbits and fur bearing animals.

A brief open season on pheasants, recently decreed by Director, John H. Nigh of the Indiana Department of Conservation, will enhance this autumns pleasure for Hoosier sportsmen.

Because of the shortage of these game birds, pheasant hunting was banned in this state throughout all of last year. At that time, however, Department of Conservation officials promised sportsmen a pheasant season in 9148 if the number of birds justified it.

Present evidence indicating a moderate season, the Deparment decreed that male pheasants could be legally hunted November 11, 12, and 13 thiis year with one cock bird to be the daily bag limit. These dates, which include Armistice Day and a Saturday, were selected in order that working men and school children would have two holidays on which to hunt pheasants.

Opening and closing dates on the complete fall hunting and trapping season, together with bag limits, were listed by Donald R. Hughes, state Fish and Game director ,as follows:

October 29-November 27— Ducks, geese and coot. Four ducks, 15 coot and 4 geese daily. Two geese may be Canadian geese or two white-breasted geese or one of each.

Nov. 10-Dec. 20—Quail. Ten daily.

Nov. 10-Dc. 20. Hungarian partridge. Five daily.

Nov. 10-Jan. 10. Rabbits Five daily.

Nov. 11, 12, and 13. Pheasants-One cock bird daily. No hen pheasants.

Nov. 15 (noon)-Januaary 15 (noon) Raccoons, opossum, skunk, mink, muskrat Two 'coon daily; no bag limit on others. No open beaver season.

It also was pointed out that hunting dogs are no permitted in the woods at nights from Nov. 1 to Nov. 15.

Chevrolet... Leader in Value

Your choice for QUALITY on all these counts

...at prices that are lower than those of any other car in its field!

Your No. 1 Choice for RIDING SMOOTHNESS

Men and women agree that Chevrolet gives a much smoother, steadier ride than other cars in its field. The reason is that Chevrolet alone has the original Unitized Knee-Action Ride, backed by more than 14 years' experience in building Knee-Action units. This feature is found elsewhere only in higher-priced cars.

Your No. 1 Choice for PERFORMANCE with ECONOMY

You'll enjoy much finer performance with economy in Chevrolet. Its world's champion Valve-in-Head engine holds all records for miles served, owners satisfied, and years tested and proved. And Valve-in-Head engine-design, like so many other Big-Car features, is found only in Chevrolet and more costly cars.

Your No. 1 Choice for ALL-ROUND SAFETY

You and your family will ride in safety, thanks to Fisher Unisteel Body-Construction—safety plate glass in all windows—the road-steadiness of the Unitized Knee-Action Ride—and the stopping-power of Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes—fourfold safety-protection exclusive to Chevrolet and costlier cars!

Your No. 1 Choice for TASTEFUL BEAUTY

You know—and your friends know—that the emblem, Body by Fisher, is the hallmark of bodies that are better by far. Chevrolet's Bodies by Fisher reveal this finer quality in every detail, including the hardware, upholstery and all appointments. Naturally, these bodies are exclusive to Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

COUNTY FEDERATION OF CLUBS WILL SPONSOR BOOK REVIEW TO BE HELD AT AUBURN

The DeKalb County Federation of Clubs is sponsoring a book review to be held in the Auburn Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 30th. Mrs. Jane VanWinkle of Dunkirk has been booked for the review, the selection to be anonunced at a latter date.

Mrs. Vincent Thelander of the Ladies' Literary Club of Auburn county chairman of ways and means is in active charge of the project. Her committee is made up of the presidents of the federated clubs of the county, thirteen in number, representing a total active membership of almost 300 women.

Due to the limited seating capacity each club can be allotted tickets only to the number of one and a half times its active membership.

At a recent meeting held in the home of Mrs. Thelander, the nine members present were in hearty agreement in the election of Mrs. Van Winkle as their guest reviewer. Other plans in connection with the project were discussed and details were relayed to those members who were unable to attend.

This venture, somewhat new to the federation, is being undertaken to assume DeKalb county's share in the 12th district responsibility as co-hostess in entertaining the state federation convention in South Bend next May.

Tickets will be distributed through the club presidents and will be ready for distribution during the week ofOctober 25th.

Mrs. Carl Swank of Ashley is president of the DeKalb county federation.

Seeds for Seasoning

Dutch poppy and caraway seeds are back on the grocery store shelves and in good supply for the first time since the war. Home makers who like their food flavored will welcome the return of these little seasoning aids. Caraway seed tones up many cheeses which have been mashed or put through the grinder. Continental cooks add a spot of caraway to flavor gravy, particularly mutton and veal gravy. And poppy seed gives a lift to rolls, cookies and cakes.

A Stopover

Grandpa Scruggs, 99 years old to the day, had never gone "an overnight piece" from the quiet of his native Appalachian valley. Now, he approached the mountain preacher.

"Parson," he said, "I don't reckon I'll do no travelin' 'til I'm a speerit. But I've allus wanted to see a big town. So I wish you'd jes' mention to the Lord that, whilst I'm on my way to heaven, I'd like powerful well to make a little detour down by Knoxville."

Distant Danger

An Indiana boy told his teacher that his sister had the measles. The teacher became somewhat excited.

"You go home, Johnny," she said, "and don't come back until your sister is well."

Johnny left in a hurry. After he had gone another boy held up his hand and said, "Teacher, Johnny Dolan's sister what has the measles is in Boston."

Ray F. Carnahan

R. R. 3 Phone-1242-2

AUBURN, INDIANA

Lowe is the Leader in Hybrid Corn Improvement!

Ever since 1900 when the Lowe Seed Company was established, the name Lowe has stood for quality seed corn. But in the early 1930's Lawrence Lowe, present head of the company and son of the founder, began a new system of obtaining improved inbred lines out of the crosses and back-crosses of older inbreds. By 1938 Lowe was able to introduce into state yield trials new improved hybrids which caused a sensation by taking virtually all top awards.

Each year since Lowe has continued to improve his hybrids through his system of "convergent" breeding. It was this that made Lowe the leader in hybrid corn improvement and built this old, well-established company into one of the major producers of hybrid seed corn.

Each year since 1938 Lowe sales have increased and everywhere Lowe Improved Hybrids have been planted . . . throughout the corn belt and in several eastern and southern states . . . they have performed satisfactorily. Each year more and more farmers have planted virtually their entire acreage to Lowe Improved Hybrids.

See for yourself how these improved hybrids will perform on your farm. See your new Lowe dealer as soon as you can. Order your supply of Lowe Improved Hybrid Seed Corn.

His wife? . . . Sure, she helped a lot—and she kissed him, too! But the co-star in this morning drama is really electricity.

All through the day, electric service does so many jobs so quietly and efficiently you almost forget it's there. But try and live without it! Yet it costs so little. As a matter of fact, electric service is by far the biggest bargain in your family budget. What else does so much—for so little?

No, electricity can't kiss you. But it can do almost everything else!

DEWEY - YIELDS - TO - TRUMAN!

Telegraphs Congratulations Wednesday Morning At 10:00 A.M.

We "Done Him Wrong"

GOV. THOMAS E. DEWEY

An unbelieving world listened Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning as returns poured in turning Governor Thomas E. Dewey's expected victory in the 1948 presidential election into defeat by President Harry S. Truman's unexpected vote pull. All polls, predictions, wild guesses. etc., had given Gov. Dewey a comfortable margin of victory and the Republican nominees had entered the race virtually assured of victory - to all appearances. But something happened - that something probably due to the Taft, Hartley Law.

In the 1944 elections much was said about the contributions of labor unions (Sidney Hillman, et al.) to the causes of the Democratic Party. However comparatively little was heard this year about them; but their vote caused the defeat of many congressmen who supported the Taft, Hartley Law (including, Congressman Gillie of the Fourth District of Indiana) and who had supposedly "anti labor" sentiments.

DeKalb County Goes Republican

DeKalb Co, Republican predictors can find some solace in the fact that DeKalb Co., went Republican all the way - - not one Democrat received a majority although in some instances the Republican margin of victory was not very large.

The following completed tabulations were given the St. Joe News at four o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

LOCAL NEWS

Mrs. Clara Hart was in Saint Joe, Tues., afternoon. She is employed as a registered nurse in the Paulding Memorial Hospital, Mrs. Hart and daughter, Ruth Ann are making their home with Mrs. Hart's father at Paulding.

The condition of Mrs. John B. Brown of R. 8, Butler, a patient at the St. Joseph's hospital in Fort Wayne, following surgery, is reported to be fairly good. Mrs. Brown underwent an operation last Friday. She is in room 479 at the hospital.

According to a usually reliable source, a dispatch from the central Canadian, big woods, near Kenora, Ontario, Walter Fetters, who is hunting with his brother, Wayne, has bagged a deer. The boys will return home as soon as they can hire a truck big enough to haul the critter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reasoner gave a birthday dinner Sunday for their son, Floyd Reasoner of Fort Wayne Others enjoying the festive occasion were his wife, Dorothy and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs H. S. Bowman, and the host and hostess

Nearly 300 members and friends attended the 15th annual Albion Production Credit meeting, Thurs., evening, October 28. L. K. Mason, Fieldman, was in charge of the meeting. Music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Smith of Auburn and the Indianan Redbirds Mr. Peters, attorney from Fort Wayne, and Raymond Stone from the Production Credit Corporation of Louisville, were guest speakers. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served during the visiting hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Matherly of Elkhart, Ind., spent last Sunday in the Brooks Trenary home.

Mrs. Florence White of Garrett has resigned as DeKalb County Red Cross nurse because of ill health and at a special meeting of the county Red Cross executive committee, Monday night in Auburn, Mrs. Erthenia Quance of R. R. 3, Auburn was appointed to the position.

Mrs. Quance formerly served as DeKalb County Red Cross nurse for two years under the administration of Ralph Griest. She is a graduate of Massachusetts General Hospital and is a registered nurse.

Mrs. Quance will have an office on the first floor of the court house in Auburn, occupying the former OPA room. Any parent desiring to see her may call or write for an appointment at any time.

The announcement of Mrs Quance's appointment was made by Mrs. Fred Paulsen, Auburn, county home nursing chairman.

The "Doc" Price Prediction on the election was fooled by Harry's victory, too. "Doc" had given Dewey 434 electoral votes and Truman 97. That's "Doc's" first miss in six elections.

Keeler-Haver

The Garrett Church of Christ parsonage was the scene Sunday afternoon, October 24, of the marriage of Miss Beverly Haver, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Haver of 219 South Lincoln Street, Kendallville, formerly of Garrett, and Judson D. Keeler, son of Mr and Mrs. William Keeler, of St. Joe. E. Iacy Scatterfield, minister, read the vows for the double ring ritual and a sister of the bride ,Miss Ruth Haver of South Bend, and a brother of the groom, Clayton Keeler of Dayton, Ohio, served as the attendants.

Copper color slipper satin afternoon frock was chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice had a round neckline and cap sleeves The skirt was full and a wide sash of the same kind of material as the dress, worn around the waistline, was tied with a large bow in the back to form a bustle effect. Her shoes and purse were of dark brown suede and her hat was trimmed with brown feathers. White gloves completed her ensemble At her throat she wore a strand of pearls, her gift from the groom. A white orchid with greenery was worn on the shoulder of the dress. Miss Ruth Haver was attired in a forest green frock with flowers were Talisman roses and brown and gold accessorie. Her she wore gold earrings and a gold pin that were given to her by the bride.

Mrs. Haver and Mrs. Keeler wore black frocks with accessories of white and black and their flowers were shoulder corsgaes of white baby mums .

A reception from 3 to 5 o'clock was held in the Haver home, where the dining table was laid with a handmade lace cloth. The wedding cake on a bed of smilax centered the table and lighted white tapers in crystal holders furnished illumination. Miss Doris Clabaugh of of 215 South Bratton street, Garrett, Mrs. Robert Kline of Kendallville, the former Carrie Schulthess of Garrett, Mrs. Robert Ridgway of St Joe, Mrs. Kenneth Weirich of Helmer and Mrs. Robert Crawford of Churubusco assisted with the serving.

When the young couple return from their wedding trip they will reside with the bride's mother. Mrs. Keeler is a graduate of Garrett high school and is employed by the Kroger Co. in the Kendallville store. She is a member of the Garrett chapter of Sigma Phi Gamma sorority. The groom, a graduate of St. Joe high school is employed by the International Harvester Co. in Ft. Wayne.

BUTLER PRODUCE AND CANNING CO.

The vital importance of the canning industry to the country was well brought home to the American people during the period of the last war. There is no question but that it was mainly responsible for the quality of food that was consumed both at home and on the battle fronts. As an important cog in the canning and produce industry the Butler Produce and Canning Co. Inc. at Butler has represented one of this section's most important industries since 1938 and has served both the public and the farmer in a twofold capacity. Maintaining sixty acres that are planted to tomatoes (shown in picture) and contracting with many farmers in the area they afforded the raiser a dependable market while at the same time providing labor in the harvest season, and housing them in special quarters on the company's property in Butler.

In addition to the canning plant the company also carries a complete line of feeds, supplies and baby chicks for the farmers of this region and through their activities as many as 125 people are employed during the busy canning season.

AUBURN AIRPORT

In the same manner that the manufacturers of Cessna and Piper Cub airplanes have been instrumental in a great many features of aircraft progress so has the Auburn Airport, under the direction of Dorsie A. Likens been first in its service to airplane owners and enthusiasts in DeKalb County.

As authorized dealer for both Cessna and Piper Cubs the Auburn Airport is well qualified to sell and service anything in the line of aircraft in the smaller field. They have the best of equipment and highly trained mechanics to give your plane whatever attention it may need.

At the Auburn airport you will find planes and pilots available for charter to take you anywhere you wish to go. You need only give them a little notice and advise where you wish to go and a plane with a dependable pilot will be at your service at a price that will be surprisingly low. If you are interrested in learning to fly their instruction service is approved by the CAA for primary and commercial training.

BOLEYN AUTO EXCHANGE

The one industry that has assumed great post war importance in the lives of the American people is that of the automobile. Everyone has read of what it accomplished in war production, and it has real accomplishments to point to in its progress since the war. Yet it has not yet reached the point where it can satisfactorily meet the demands of the public. It has therefore been been necessary for the average person to seek other markets than the new one. To fill the needs of the public, Thornton A. Boleyn, formerly of the West Side Motors, started the Boleyn Auto Exchange at 215 First St., Ft. Wayne in 1944. In four years he has built his clientele to a point where there is hardly a community in Northwestern Indiana where there is not a car that ahs been on dipslay at the Boleyn Auto Exchange. His slogan has been, "Always a Square Deal" and he has kept it in mind in all his transactions He is open evenings until nine excepting Saturday when he closes at noon. For the person who is looking to buy, sell or trade, he can be assured of a good choice by visiting the Boleyn Auto Exchange.

FISHER IMPLEMENT CO.

The names of McCormick-Deering and International Harvester are one that we readily recognize as belonging to the farm equipment industry. In fact, they have become synonomous with the name of progress in farming and agriculture. Going back to the days of the hand instruments such as the sickle and coming to the present day tractor, combine, refrigerator, etc., we can steadily trace the handiwork of these concerns with the increased productivity and reduced labor that are now recognized on the farm.

In the past few years these companies have embarked upon a more expansive service campaign to the farmers in standardizing their dealerships and placing in the hands of experienced men the handling and servicing guarantee that will give greater and more working hours to your machinery. If you are seeking repair have it rebuilt to increase efficency, stop in at Fisher's and see for yourself the manner in which the plant has been equipped, and assure yourself of the service you will receive in having McCormick-Deering or International on your farm or in your home.

AUTO EXCHANGE

Since April, 1947, Virgil M. Brown has maintained a used car sales known as the Auto Exchange at 718 E. Pontiac in Fort Wayne. From seven-thirty in the morning until nine in the evening during the week and until six on Saturdays you can visit the lot and see for yourself the variety of models and makes that are always on display on the lot. The adjoining pictures give an idea of the number of cars that are usually there.

In the course of the past three years there has been much said and written about the automobile business and the difficulties the average buyer encounters when he is looking for another car. However, there are dealers such as the Auto Exchange that have looked to the future and have built their business upon a basis of fair dealings and fair prices. The result has been that hundreds of people all over this section have been able to get the kind of car they wanted. So whether you are looking for a late or prewar model, you can make a selection at the Auto Exchange.

MAUMEE TRAILER SALES

There is no industry that has assumed such great importance in the lives of the American people as has the trailer coach industry. When the men began coming back from the service and the housing situation was highly critical, the trailer industry stepped forward to fill a need in a manner that has won the praise of housewives, sportsmen and travelers. Having originally designed the trailer as a convenience for the traveler and tourist, the builders soon realized that there were thousands of small families in the country that preferred the portable home if it provided the convenience of the permanent one. They then spent a great deal of money and effort to design and build all the comforts of home in a limited space. That they have been successful is verified by visiting a trailer camp and speaking to the dwellers.

For the person looking for real value in trailers, the Maumee Trailer Sales at 3401 Maumee in Fort Wayne is the dealer for many popular makes, namely, Buckeye, Marr, Yellowstone and Midco. In addition they are dealers in supplies and bottled gas together with an installation service. You will find sizes ranging from ninteen to twenty seven feet and you will see in these models all the latest improvements that have been generally incorporated by the manufacturers. Maumee Trailer Sales is open evenings until 8:30 and on Sunday until four in the afternoon.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: The Book of Job.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Job 23:3-10.

Drama in the Bible

Lesson for November 7, 1948

THOMAS CARLYLE, a crusty dyspeptic but a literary artist of no small skill, was visiting a Christian friend. In the morning at family prayers (so the story goes) his host put into his hands a copy of the Bible and asked him to read a chapter. Carlyle opened at the first chapter of Job; read it—read on to the next and the next and the next — and refused to stop reading till he had finished all 42 chapters.

Dr. Foreman

Job is like that. It is a book you hate to put down. In all the Bible it is the outstanding example of the drama; a drama of conflict in which the opposing forces are not people as much as ideas.

The Characters

THE characters at first are three: God, Satan and a man named Job. Job is a good man, in fact God calls him perfect. He is also prosperous, and thereby hangs the tale. For one fateful day God and Satan have a conversation about this man. The Lord inquires if Satan has seen him, and how good he is. Oh yes, Satan says airily, he has seen him, but he does not think highly of his "goodness." He is too well paid for it. He has a large and happy family, and has immense wealth; why shouldn't he be good? Take away his prosperity and he will curse you to your face, Satan sneers.

So God lets Satan work his malice on the man. In a terrible series of disasters, one rushing on another's heels everything Job has owned vanishes. His children are killed by storm and fire, and Job is left a childless, penniless man. But Job does not complain; his faith in God still does not waver.

So when next Satan reports to God, the Almighty asks again: Did you see my servant Job? He holds fast to his integrity. Ah, yes, sneers the unbelieving fiend. Yes, but he still has his health. He can have another family, another fortune. Make life itself so miserable that he will long to die, and then you will see his goodness vanish, then he surely will curse you to your face.

So God let Satan do his worst—Do all you can to him, God says, only leave him alive. And then Job is made horribly and painfully ill, he cannot sleep for the torture of boils covering him from head to foot. Three of his friends come to visit him. For seven days they sit in silence, and then begins a great debate with Job on one side and his friends on the other: Why must such things be? Why must good people suffer?

Was Job Real?

DON'T ask: Was Job a real character, or a made-up one like Hamlet and Macbeth? It is very likely there was once upon a time some man by that name who suffered in that way, and that he had friends, not too sympathetic, who talked it over with him.

As Hamlet and Macbeth were historical characters, whom Shakespeare used with high art to express profound ideas, so the author of Job may well have used the trials of some man he knew, or knew of, to express truths about a problem as profound and widespread as the human race.

For Job most surely is real: his local name may be Smith or Jones, and he may be living just around the corner from you. Indeed, sooner or later every man's name is Job. Sooner or later, every thoughtful person has to face the tragedy of human suffering: Why must such things be?

Suffering Is Test

THERE is, however, one solution which comes out in the course of the drama. It is not a theoretical solution; that is, it does not altogether answer the question, WHY must men suffer? It does tell us WHAT we can do about it.

Suffering is a test: A test of man's faith and real goodness. "When he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold," Job says. (23:10.) The test of a ship is not the quiet waters of the harbor but the roaring open sea; the test of a man is not comfort but stress and pain.

To have faith in God only when we are well-fed and softly cushioned is not faith at its best. Faith and goodness prove their reality only when they hold together even when torn by the nails of a cross.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

GO GET 'EM YOU TIGERS That will be the cry at Waterloo this Friday evening when this year's edition of the St. Joe High School basketball team takes to the floor for their opening game against the Waterloo Wildcats.

Hoping to erase the memories and make amends for a somewhat off-season last year, the boys under Coach Jim Tatlock are putting in all the time they can in conditioning and scrimmage drills. And to be sure when this year's Tigers romp out on the gym floor at Waterloo, Friday evening, local fans will see one of the best Tiger teams as far as physical shape, and — well drilled that has taken the floor for some years. Although lacking any great abundance of height, Miller, Fetters, and Walters, all approaching the 6ft. mark will be depended upon to carry the burden of the rebound, and under the basket work Murphy, Hanna, Fetters, Bowser and Wade, have been moved up to take their place with last year's first team veterans, Yeiser, Miller, Richmond, Lochner and Walters to complete the first team.

FOR THEIR FIRST GAME opponents, the Waterloo Wildcats, who will be a lot tougher after a few games under their belts, the locals may possibly get a first game break and rack up a win over the Wildcats.

FACING more of a rebuilding year than our own local squad, the Wildcats have only 4 of last years first team back. The framework of a fairly large but inexperienced team will be big, 6-3, sophomore, Dick Hickey, and another 6-3, but a lot huskier junior, Don Robinson.

SEVERAL OF the town boys spent Friday and Saturday up at Hamilton Lake getting in a little duck and coot shooting. One of the local nimrods who happens to be a soda jerk by trade had such an exciting day Friday, that we somehow think that the feathered, web footed creature is haunting him. For one of the wierdest tales that has ever come to our ears was told to us by our friend Sunday morning.

AS WE GET IT, when our friend and the Mrs. returned home late Saturday night, - - lo and behold right on his front porch lay one of the prettiest wild mallards that you ever sighted your old double barrel at. Death apparently came to the beautiful bird from a severe blow suffered around the neck and wings. Explanations have been flying ever since Sunday morning, but the best one yet, is that the quacker was flying the waterway (St. Joe river) when the low ceiling in the form of a thick fog set in, and our flier got off his course, plowed head first into one of the big trees in the front yard and landed with a thud on Smitty's front porch.

WHAT WE CAN'T figure out is why a duck would come back to haunt this particular hunter? We just can't believe that our Garford did enough damage to the web-foot family in one afternoon of hunting for them to send down a representative for haunting purposes. Why he only shot 4 boxes of shotgun shells Friday. But on second thought it was Halloween.

PLANS for the new Northeastern Vim League for independent teams are at last complete and the following 7 DeKalb County teams and one entry from Steuben County, will start active play next week. Partee Co., from Spencerville, Butler, Auburn Legion, Garrett Legion, St. Joe, Auburn Clutch, Bob Inn from Waterloo and Angola.

ALL GAMES will be played as double headers with four teams seeing action in one gym during an evening of play. The Butler and Waterloo gyms will be used. Play will be on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, with each team seeing action once a week. At the end of the two rounds of play, 14 games for each team, a tournament play-off will be held. Trophys and medals for the winners will be supplied by the Vim Sporting Co. of Ft. Wayne. Each club will be allowed to carry 15 players. Because the Butler gym is not available for the opening round, the first night of play, with half the teams seeing action, will be held at the St. Joe gym. In the first game at 7:45 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, will be between Par-Tee of Spencerville and Butler. The second game slated to get started at 8:45 will match the locals against Bob's Inn of Waterloo.

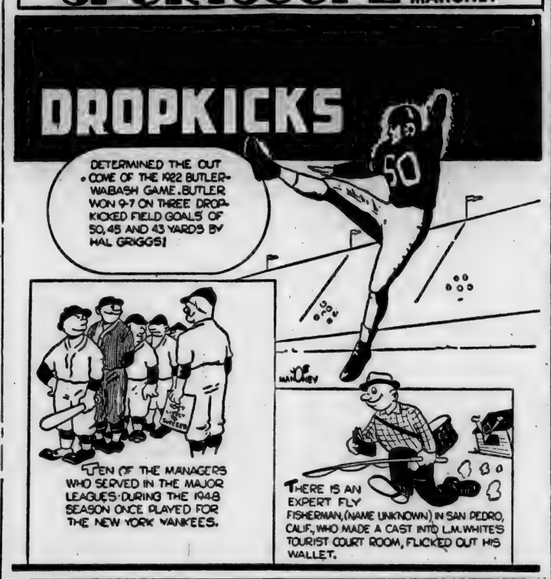
THE LOCAL SQUAD will round out their third week of practice with a warm up game with the Waterloo Legion here at St. Joe, Saturday night. The Waterloo squad, led by Bob Curie, formerly of St. Joe, will be present for one game starting at 8 o'clock.

Although hitting a snag, in the Crystal Lunch and Locker Market, both of Hicksville in their last two evenings on the alleys, the St. Joe Legionaires are still in the lead in the 8 team, Intercity Bowling league at Hicksville. However they share that lead with the Ford Sixes and Brownies Alley. Losing four of their last six games, to the Crystal Lunch and Locker Market, the boys hope to bounce back with a big night against the Harlan Lions.

SPORTSCOPE By JOE MAHONEY



CALLING ALL OUTDOORSMEN

By Jim Mitchell

New ideas are popping up all over the outdoor field these days and one of the latest and most remarkable items to be announced is an outboard motor featuring neutral, forward and reverse gears.

This new motor, made by Johnson and known as Model QD, has a gear shift control that allows the motor to be operated much the same as driving an automobile. First you put the gear shift into neutral, then start the motor. If the boat is in a storage stall, you shift to reverse and back out into open water, or you shift to forward to just move away from a dock.

The Model QD also features another new twist in outboard motors Instead of the customary fuel tank built into the motor, this outboard has a separate five gallon tank with a 12 foot flexible fuel line attached. On the other end of the line is a self-seal connector that is plugged into the motor to complete the fuel circuit.

With hunting pressure mounting steadily and available hunting areas decreasing annually, it probably would be wise for all states to consider programs similar to Michigan's Williamson Plan. Under this program in recent years the Wolverine State has opened up thousands of acres of good hunting territory that once was closed to all sportsmen.

Here's how it works: First, conservation department employees contact the farmers and solicit their cooperation. The farmers agree to let a certain number of gunners shoot daily, the number depending on the size of their respective farms. In return for the right to hunt on farms in the Williamson Plan, sportsmen must park their cars in the farmer's yard, stop by the farmhouse and get a permit At the end of the day the sportsmen check out at the house and report their kill.

The permits and signs for the farms are furnished free by the state. Farmers who have participated in the plan for several years are sold on its merits. They say it eliminates the trespassing-type of hunter that frequently is careless and not responsible for damage to livestock or crops.

We see no reason why similar programs wouldn't work equally well in all states. At least, it's a point well worth considering.

New "Contraption" For National Farm and Garden Show

Designer's drawing of new 4-wheel drive tractor to be introduced at National Farm and Garden Show in Chicago Coliseum November 27 - December 4. Novel mechanism with engine in rear is said to drive like a team of horses, with "gee" and "haw" levers, and to do work of ordinary tractors in two hours less time per day.

This is just one of hundreds of new and improved implement and equipment items to be displayed for crop, dairy and livestock farms, truck gardens and that "vegetable patch." City dwellers will find power lawn mowers, weed killers and garden accessories to lighten Saturday afternoon chores.

The ladies will not be forgotten at the Farm and Garden Show. In addition to latest home appliances, including deep freeze units, refrigerators, washers, ironers, sewing machines and ranges, there'll be a big home economics section with cooking demonstrations by experts daily.

The National Junior Poultry Judging Contest, the second annual show of the Karakul Fur Sheep Registry, a "Milking Derby", "Farmer's Daughter" beauty contest and various contests in the domestic arts are among special events planned in conjunction with the show.

Farming and farm activities will hold the center of interest in Chicago during the week of the show. Being held concurrently are the 4-H Club Congress, the International Livestock Exposition and many farm association annual meetings, which will attract great numbers of rural visitors and agricultural leaders.

Radar Ferry Outwits Fog

New York's first radar guided ferry didn't have to wait long to prove its mettle. Within four days after it started service, a dense fog settled over New York harbor, crippled maritime traffic in the area and even caused one freighter to go aground at Coney Island. But the Westinghouse radar aboard the ferryboat, THE TIDES, enabled the boat to shuttle back and forth between Brooklyn and Staten Island without a hitch.

FAST. Automatic. Clean. That's the platform for electric cooking. A landslide winner on every count that counts!

Fast . . . but with adjustable speed for every cooking job. Automatic . . . you dial the heat you want and automatic controls take over from there. Clean . . . like an electric light, without flames or fumes. And thrifty, too—like everything else electrical.

Yes, here's one candidate that lives up to every campaign promise it makes. Ask a fortunate friend who already has an electric range—or arrange today for a show-me demonstration.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE ST. JOE HIGH TIGER'S suffered two losses in their first two opening games of the season. They lost the season's opener to the Waterloo Wildcats Friday evening by a 35 to 22 score and then were topped by the Harlan Hawks by a 52 to 27 score at Harlan on Wednesday night.

THE LOCALS trailed the whole game Friday night at Waterloo, albehind until the last. They looked until the last minute. They looked exceptionally good on defense, but never got an offensive spree underway that was sufficient enough to give them a lead. Only once, midway in the third period, did the home towners threaten to tie up the game. Lochner hit two of his four buckets in quick succession, as the locals pulled to within 2 points. Lochner's 9 point total was high for the Tigers while Hilkey was piling up 14 to lead the Wildcats.

IN THEIR SECOND encounter, this one with the rangy Harlan Hawks, the orange and black were smothered under a disastrous last half after the locals had held a one point advantage at the half-way mark. All of the first five with the exception the game via the personal foul route during that last half. The final score was Harlan 52, St. Joe 27.

THE SPENCERVLLE Red Raiders, have found the art of making more baskets than the opposition an equally tough problem, as has the locals. They have suffered losses in their first two games, and along with the Tigers will be pointing for a home floor victory Friday.

BOTH OF the Raiders losses have opener with Harlan last Friday resulted in a 36 to 33 loss for them, and their second loss came Friday night when the Butler Windmills nipped them 40 to 36.

The Independents also lose in their first outing last Saturday.They lost to the Waterloo Legion by a 37 to 32 score.

Let Us Be Grateful for the Past and Practical About the Future

Clyde Hart Tells Of Early School System

W e have a great amount of local history which shuld be presented for future generations; much of our earliest history has already become tradition. I can well remember when the schools were run locally. Township trustees were elected but they had little to say regarding the running of the schools; this was left to the community. A director was elected in each district to oversee the business of the school.

"School meetings" as they were then called were held in each district in late August for the purpose of choosing a teacher, selling the wood contract and electing a new director.

Teachrs' applications were first considered, this often bringnng out considerably heated arguments. In some districts brawn as well as brains was a characteristic needed by the teacher.

The school then was divided into a winter and summer term.

The winter term lasted four months and all the big boys and girls attended. The summer term lasted two months; this was primarily for the younger pupils who also attended the winter term.

The contract for furnishing the wood for the school was keenly sought. The bidding was done by auction and it was bid off at a very low price, usually at seventy five cents to one dollar a cord.

The director's job was not sought after, as it paid no salary and was guite a responsibility, and he was usually the recipient of much criticism

(Next week I will comment on the "Little Red School Houses" of Concord and Spencer Township.)

The Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Elnora Blue at 2 o'clock.

Sunday dinner guests at the Mrs. Fred Leighty home were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Beaber, Mrs. Melvina Quance and daughter, Dian, and Mrs. M. E. Hull of Helena, Ohio.

CULTURE CLUB

Mrs. Glen Wineland was hostess to the Culture Club, November 3.

Mrs. Lester Anthony was leader of the lesson for the evening, choosing an object lesson in safe driving, "A Ride with a Mountain Bus Driver".

The special work on the topic "Alaska" was presented by Lorretta Keesler .

Mrs. Armstrong read two fine poems. Fifteen members responded to roll call with "Women in the News".

The president appointed a committee to pack the box of clothing to be sent to Helsinki.

Guest nite will be held at Marvels Cafe in Auburn on November 17th.

The hostess served an apple dessert, home made cookies and coffee.

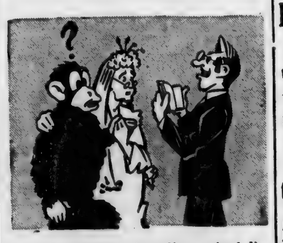
Persistence Pays

A life insurance agent called upon a big business man at the close of a busy day. When the agent had been admitted, the big fellow said:

"You ought to feel highly honored, young man. Do you know that today I have refused to see seven insurance men?"

"I know," said the agent, "I'm them!"

NO HOUSING PROBLEM



A clergyman at a dinner had listened to a talkative young man who had much to say on the Darwin theory. "I can't see," he argued, "what difference it would make to me if my grandfather was an ape."

"No," commented the clergyman, "I can't see that it would. But it must have made a great difference to your grandmother."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Amos 5:21—6:6; 7:10-17; Micah 4:1-5; 5:2-4; 6:6-8.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 55.

Voices of God

Lesson for November 14, 1948

"WHAT became of our lost mules?" That is the kind of question which prophets once upon a time were expected to answer (I Samuel 9:1-10).

Dr. Foreman

Some people still have this notion about prophets in the Bible, as if they had been gypsy fortune-tellers, tea-leaf readers or astrologers. They were nothing of the sort. It is not possible to open the Bible to the books of the prophets and read history-in-advance, finding out when the next war is coming and when the end of the world is scheduled.

If we could really use the prophets of the Bible in this way, then any reader of these books could write history accurately in advance; but no one has done this yet.

Hired Man and Aristocrat

THE genuine prophets, whose writings make up so much of the Bible, are something far loftier than mere fortune-tellers. They are authentic voices of God. Because of the way they spoke, the timeless truth of what they said, they are God's spokesmen to our own times as well as to their own, and to all times.

The Bible prophets were not "professionals." They had no churches to support them. No regular meetings were arranged for them. You never would have read in the Jerusalem Journal, if there had been such a newspaper, that the Rev. Dr. Isaiah would preach at the temple at 11 a. m. and there would be special music. Few ever knew when or where a prophet might speak.

No one knew beforehand where a prophet might come from. Amos, for example, was a hired man from a sheep-ranch. Micah was a small-town preacher. Isaiah was a highly cultured citizen of the capital, intimate with all the important people. Ezekiel was a trained priest, loving ritual and pageantry. Jeremiah was a lonely, hunted man, living often in jails. Daniel was a member of a king's council, wealthy and famous.

They were all kinds of men, these prophets, but one and all, they were God's voices, pleading, warning, teaching all who would hear.

Their Times and Ours

HUMAN nature is always much the same. One man alone, or one man with another man, or a man with a woman, or a man in a crowd—in the Eighth century before Christ when Amos preached, or now in the 20th century after Christ, the same sort of situation brings out the same temptations, the same sins. The prophets often sound quite modern, but that is only because the human race is so old-fashioned.

The prophets looked about them and saw a world much like our own. They saw people spending more than they could afford; they saw wealthy women dressing in competition with one another while poorer women starved; they saw crowds of business men attending religious services on Sabbath mornings and spending the rest of the Sabbath figuring out how to cheat their customers on Monday.

The prophets lived in evil times and they brought the judgment of God to such times—then, now and always.

Sins of Society

IN AN American town there was a lynching one Saturday night. The next morning there were four sermons in the four little churches of the town; but not one of the preachers had a word to say about that lynching or any lynching or about the causes that produce such crimes.

The prophets never would have missed an opportunity like that. They were not afraid to speak out, even when they had the whole community against them.

What Does God Require?

IT IS easier to say "Don't" than "Do." It is easier to criticize than to construct. But the prophets did not stop with warnings. They have given us a pattern for living, which Micah summed up in those matchless, inspired words: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

Everything that is good, in public life or in private, is included in those 22 words.

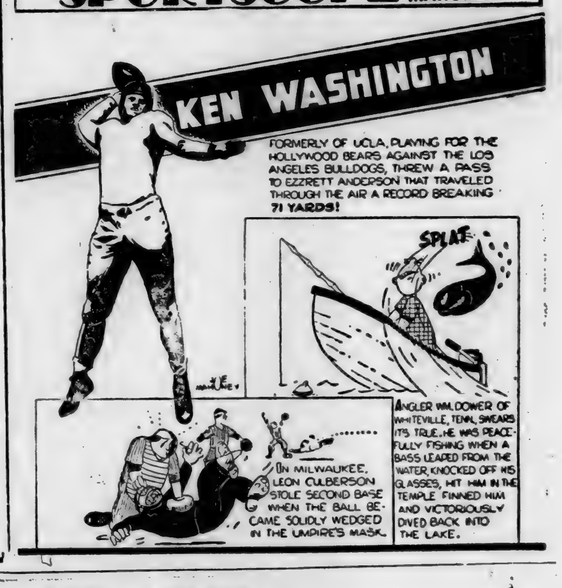
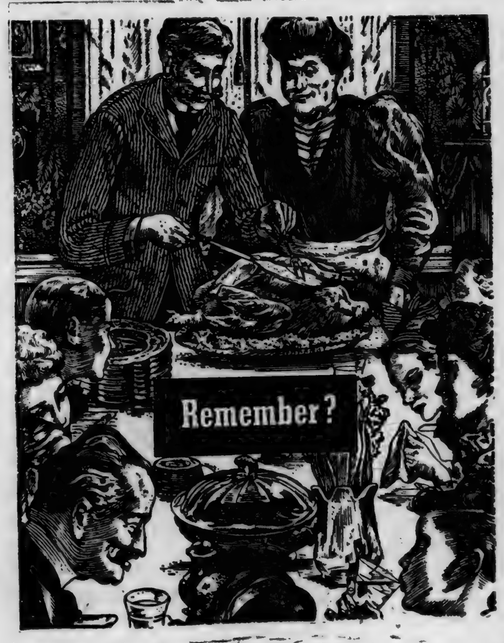
SPORTSCOPE By JOE MAHONEY





Remember the Thanksgiving dinners of years ago—and how big a part water played? Excited youngsters to scrub before the meal . . . mountains of dishes to do afterward. Water for cooking, water for laundry—lots of water, both hot and cold.

Not much of this has changed. A farm still needs plenty water . . . more, perhaps, than ever before. But on the most profitable farms today, water is pumped—and heated —electrically.

Electricity pumps the extra water that puts top-price poundage on stock, that make hens lay more eggs, cows give more milk. It will pump all the water a man could pump in a day—for any purpose—for just about 2 cents. And electric water heating is economical, too.

Look into electric pumping and water heating. You'll be thankful you did.

Not So Dumb

THOMAS ROY JONES

Rejecting the saying "it's all right to be dumb on occasion but there's no sense in making a career out of it," Thomas Roy Jones, a Kingman, Kans., boy who became one of the nation's leading industrialists (he's board chairman of American Type Founders, Daystrom Furniture, and other companies) once told an American Management Association conference:

"You are now looking at a man who has made a career of being dumb and thinks it does make sense. I have learned from experience that any answer which I may have for a problem is probably, at best, only half right, so I go to the best man I can find on that particular problem, and if I don't have all the answers when I come away it's because I haven't thought of all the questions. Then I take action on the other fellow's advice and get a reputation for being smart and am invited to come to conventions and make speeches to the fellows from whom I obtained the answers."

Wanted: Men and Money!

There are two chief ingredients in the American recipe for prosperity and economic well-being. The first is men, honest-to-goodness men. These must be men who are not afraid of work, who will not be stopped from getting a job done. They are men who believe in honest work, who give value for value received. They have pride and satisfaction in doing a good job well. Indeed, our American workmen (there are today few Americans who do not work) have no equal anywhere.

Then there is money. Money is the most popular exchange for work. We "make" money. Therefore, we can say that money is stored-up work. Another name for this stored-up work is capital. We Americans have found that if we take money and men, then let them both work together for full production, the result is a prosperous and progressive community. In the main, the recipe needs good workmen and plenty of capital.

Use the Recipe

The formula has worked wonders for us. Our nation has benefitted by having so many good and honest people. By using the tools that capital has bought, we produce the things that all of us need. Will this formula continue to work us wonders and bring us the kind of prosperity that is the envy of the world? Can we keep these good living standards that seem so commonplace to us? Yes, if we can depend on the ingredients of our recipe: men and money! In a nation of free people, men and money can continue to do the job.

We have the men. Employment is good. Yet, there is danger that we may lose the other half of the team that has made America great. Money (capital) to buy the tools of production is getting hard to find. Since 1930, America's stock of tools has gradually slipped back to where it was in 1920. This is the first period in our history that we didn't gain in the tools of production. Our tools are of less total value, and they also provide fewer horses (horsepower) to workmen.

A Nation's Builders

Now, if we had no men of vision and promise, we certainly could not expect the money to do its part. But we do have men. America has intelligent young men, willing to build their dreams into realities.

What need have they with money? You see, "harebrained" ideas, like Alexander Graham Bell's telephone, require money for development. New products, new manufacturing processes, new inventions, new businesses—all must have capital. In a free economy that permits competition, capital works hand in hand with men to give the nation the jobs and the goods that it needs and wants. Men and money!

Boost the Team!

In losing the money, there is also danger of losing the men. Inventiveness and ambitions may be killed, when rewards are not available. If we do not have capital to invest, to explore new developments and new businesses, with hope of larger profits ahead, then what happens to your men? They don't invent, and they don't develop anything! No new jobs, no new products, no progress. No getting ahead. It's national suicide.

Why is there so little money today for investment and risk? Our tax system puts heavy burdens on incentive. Taxes take away the money. Twenty-five cents out of every national income dollar in America now goes into taxes. Half the total income of Americans making $5,000 or more annually is turned over to tax collectors. With strict economy in government, this would not be necessary. We must give risk-money a real chance to team with men. Only that way may we keep America prosperous and jobs plentiful.

HINTS ON HEALTH

THUMB-SUCKING

THUMB-SUCKING was regarded as natural and harmless until a Viennese dentist, along about 1870, declared that the habit was dangerous. Parents were frightened and resorted to "remedies" to protect their children from the dire results of thumb-sucking.

Parents do the same today. Bitter substances are daubed on baby fingers, cuffs are put on hands and various torturous preventives are employed. Baby hands have even been tied to bedposts. These treatments often result in nervous conditions more serious than the thumb-sucking habit.

Thumb-sucking in itself is not a serious matter. There is considerable doubt as to whether the habit deforms the jaw, spoils proper alignment of the teeth and causes enlargement of the adenoid.

The first time a baby gets its thumb into its mouth it gives him a sensation of comfort that he wants to repeat. Time and patience are needed by the mother in order to dissuade the baby from continually putting its fingers in its mouth during the period when muscular habits are being formed.

Thumb-sucking is not vicious, but as a persistent habit it is only an unattractive pre-occupation in the growing child.

New Frazer Features Custom Appointments

Exclusive custom features, including an unprecedented 57 varieties of body color and fabric combination, highlight the 49 Frazer and Manhattan sedans being introduced by Kaiser- Dealers throughout the country.

In announcing the new models, the most luxurious ever offered K-F became the first auto maker to market four 1949 models this year.

Edgar F. Kaiser, vice president and general manager, described the Frazer and Manhattan models as th most luxurious ever offered by his company and as embodying more custom features than any other mass-produced car.

Kaiser listed more than 100 styling and mechanical advances "in of 16 body colors and 18 interior fabrics, and a total of 23 such combinations in the Frazer."

The accumulative effect of the new exterior styling---which includes a "honeycomb" grille, one piece wrap around bumpers, door handle level chrome "crease molding," and deeper skirted body panels--its increased streamlining and a lower-appearing silhouette.

Kaiser said that the new silhouette was developed without sacrifice head room, while increased road clearance was gained at the same time as the result of new frame design.

Interiors, completely redesigned, feature Bedford flat wale woolens and broadcloths, distinctive chrome hardware, a new instrument panel with clustered dials, and multi-coil foam rubber cushions on the 62 in. wide seats.

Fully upholstered center arm rests, wide enough to double as "jumper" seats for small children, are standard equipment in both cars, and power driven window controls have been added as optional equipment on the Manhattan.

Custom color styling has been carried to the point of harmonizing carpets and pedal cushions with the selected fabric and finish combination. Many of the color choices are in new lighter, brighter shades of blues, grays, greens and browns.

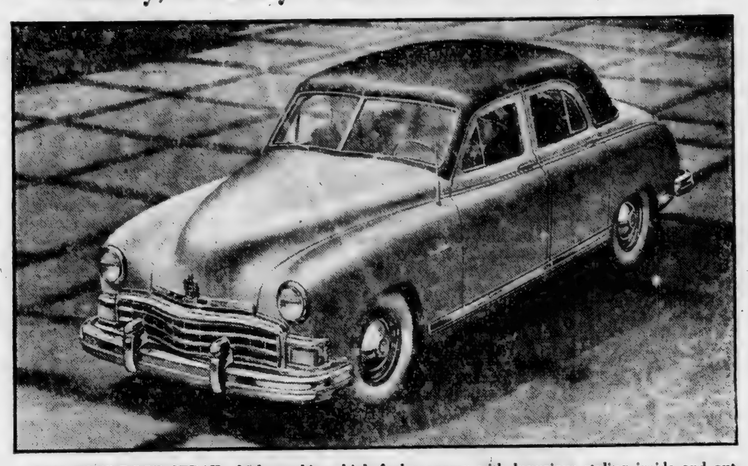
Other interior custom car features exclusively styled ash receivers and lighters, slide type door locks, push-button door releases, assist handles and lighting refinement.

Mechanical improvements likewise emphasize luxury with such "extras" as a smoother, more powerful engine, a ball bearing front seat adjustment and softer, more responsive steering and pedal action.

Champions of 1948 Chicago Feeder Show

CHICAGO—These blocky Hereford feeder calves brought a new Chicago record price of $65.75 per cwt. when they sold recently at the Annual Chicago Feeder Cattle Show and Sale. They had previously been declared Grand Champions over 128 carloads of all breeds shown. These 20 Herefords which averaged 366.5 pounds per head were purchase by John P. White & Sons, Batavia, Ill., from the breeder and exhibitor, the DeBerard Cattle Co., Kremmling, Col.

Luxury, Economy Combined In '49 Manhattan



A 1949 FOUR-DOOR SEDAN which combines high fuel economy with luxurious styling inside and out is the Frazer Manhattan, now being introduced by Kaiser-Frazer dealers. The car's six-cylinder engine, which has a compression ratio of 7.3-1, highest of any standard mass-produced automobile, has been stepped up from 100 to 112 horsepower with no increase in fuel consumption.

ARE YOU MISSING SOMETHING?

No matter what you've been offered for your present car, your nearest Kaiser-Frazer dealer would like to tell you what he thinks it's worth. It could be much more than you think.

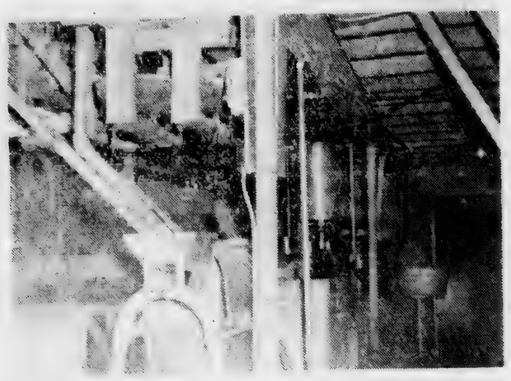
GOEGLIN CIDER MILL AND MARKET



A concern which had a very modest beginning in 1940 and has grown to considerable proportions through hard work and vision in meeting the public's need is the Goeglin Cider Mill and Market on Maysville road. A review of their activities shows that they are now engaged in the manufacturing of apple butter and custom canning work as well as operating a clean and sanitary meat market where you can obtain the best in fresh meats at any time. It makes no difference whether your order is large or small you will find them courteous and accommodating at all times.

From the days of the old salting process to preserve meats we have grown to the point where the majority of our produce and a great deal of our meats are now processed and canned. For the farmer particularly, the custom canning service at Goeglin's is both a saving and accomodation. Go there any day of the week, take your meat, fruit, or vegetables and take advantage of their excellent service.

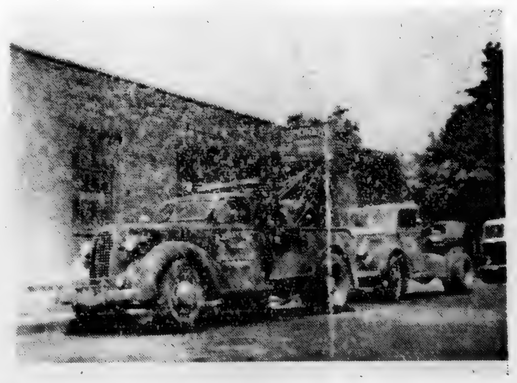
AUBURN CONCRETE PRODUCTS COMPANY

There is no industry that has assumed such great importance in the lives of the American people in the past few years as has the concrete industry. With the restrictions that were placed on building and the cost of frame construction, the concrete block industry has made possible the building of many structures that otherwise would not have been erected.

Here in this region we have the Auburn Concrete Products Co. which has today one of the most modern shops in this section. They manufacture concrete and cellocrete bolcks that have been tested by both the Toledo Testing Laboratory and the A S. T. M. and have consistently withstood the pressure of a thousand or more pounds of pressure per square inch The cellocblock is one to which anything can be nailed and has gained great popularity even in the home construction field.

Under the direction of Mr. Geo. H. Siaminton and A. L. Hooker this firm has established a dependable service in both the block industry as well as in several lines of building supplies and you will find their service is efficient and the prices reasonable.

McKINLEY TRUCK SALES



When we speak of the progress, and evolution of business among the outstanding features may well be included the fact that the truck has come to the front an is becoming more and more essential in modern business and industry. It was not so many years ago that the only means of transportation for any distance was by rail or water. Today the safe, economical and efficient method is by truck.

In the line of truck manufacturing the name of Reo has been a leader, and in Fort Wayne the name of McKinley Truck Sales has been first in the sales and servicing of trucks of all sizes and description. There you can look over the Reo line which has a truck for every purpose, whether it be home delivery or freight carrying. Furthermore in buying at a sales and service firm such as this you are doing business with a firm that can give you the type of maintenance that means the difference between economcial and costly operation. As is shown in the pictures they have the most modern equipment both for wrecker or repair service and factory trained mechanics who can tear down and overhaul your truck in record breaking time, while at the same time doing a guarantee job. Mr. McKinley, the owner and manager, has long been identified with the automotive and trucking field and he has instituted and followed a policy of service and quality.

RINGWALT'S CENTRAL AUTO SERVICE

One of the contributors to the needs of the car and trailer buying is Ringwalt's Central Auto Service at 810 W. Main St. in Fort Wayne For 25 years Mr.Ringwalt has been identified with the automobile sales and service business in this region and today is president of the Fort Wayne Auto Dealers Association and State Director of the National Association. During the time that he has figured prominenty in transactions of every nature pertaining to the buying and selling of cars.

Probably in no field of business has there been more criticism in the past few years than in the used car field, but with such firms as Ringwalt's you are assured of dependable cars and trailers and dependable service. In fact, they have taken the lead in many cases in organizing the dealers in assuring the buyer of fair values on both early and late models of cars,

In the trailer field the picture gives you some idea of the size and variety of new trailers that are on display on their lot. If you are looking for a portable home without excessive expense, we suggest that you stop on the corner and let them show you the many improvements that have been made in the post war trailer coaches.

DILGARD

One of the important concerns catering to the needs of the home owners in DeKalb County is the firm of Max Dilgard successor to the Noble Cabinet and Case works in Auburn. Taken oved in May of this year the firm has in a short period of time come forward to gain an enviable reputation for expert work in both general contracting and cabinet work. Mr. Dilgard has a modern shop and is capable of completing such work as a modern kitchen shown in the adjoining picture.

For the person who has planned on moderizing and improving his home and has been somewhat skeptical in doing so with costs as high as they are, it is well to note that the majority of real eastate and building experts do not forsee any appreciable drop in building costs for at least four or five years. So if you want to modernize, do it now. Good quality materials are available and Max Dilgard and all those employed by him have had many years of experience in both cabinet and building work and can give you an excellent job at an economical figure.

WEAVER SALES & SERVICE

An enterprise which has gained the confidence of hundreds of people throughout the Fort Wayne Trading area is the Weaver Sales and Service at 4303 Piqua Ave in Fort Wayne. As shown in the pictures, Mr. Weaver maintains a modern, well equipped auto repair and body shop where he offers dependable service to the motorists of the region and where the cars that are placed for sale on the used car lot are all carefully gone over and reconditioned. Here is one place where you are assured of a good used car from a member of the Ft. Wayne Auto Dealers Association.

To the person who has been seeking something in dependable transportation or is desirous of getting one of the post war models they need only visit this lot and see Mr. Weaver or Mr Williams. They will offer you a fair trade and assist you in obtaining the proper and economical financing if you wish. In the repair department they specialize in complete car service and they do everything from small adjustments to complete overhauling and body and paint work.

Truth Set to Music

Lesson for November 21, 1948

"THE opposite of poetry is not prose; it is science." There were poets in the world long before there were scientists, but that does not prove that poets are out of date. Many people in our modern world think we could not get along without science but could well burn all the books of poetry. If we did, it would be a dreadful mistake. Poet and scientist each has his truth to see and to speak. We need them both. Certainly if we tried to burn all the poems we should have to destroy some of the best-loved parts of the Bible.

Dr. Foreman

Not All Poets Have Long Hair

SOME "practical" people sniff at poets for being peculiar. "Longhairs" is a slang name for them as for other people who know something besides arithmetic.

As a matter of fact, many poets are very practical people themselves: engineers, farmers and soldiers all have written poetry. The poets of the Bible are of many sorts. If you will look into an editon of the Bible in which the poetic sections are printed as poetry is printed in other books, you will be impressed by the very large proportion of poetry, especially in the Old Testament. The new Study Bible or the American Revised Version or Moffatt's translation will show this at a glance.

These Bible poems are of various kinds. Some are war-songs (Judges 5), some are proverbs (the book of Proverbs), drama (Job), love-songs (the Song of Songs), odes (Isaiah 40), prayers (Psalm 16), hymns for public worship (the Psalms).

The writers were never professional poets, so far as we know. Of the poems which are this week's lesson Scripture, two were written by housewives, one by a sheep-herder, one or more by a soldier-king, one by a preacher (Habakkuk), and only one (Lamentations) possibly by a professional poet. The original Hebrew book of Lamentations does not claim Jeremiah for its author; but if he was the writer, then it was written by the most practical man of his time.

World's Greatest Hymn Book

"LET me write a nation's songs, and I care not who writes their laws," said a famous man. The same thing can be said about religion. "Let me write a church's hymnbook, and I care not who writes their theologies."

The hymns our mothers loved, the hymns we heard before we heard any other kind of poetry, the hymns that we have learned by heart and that become a part of our minds—these mean far more to most people than all the printed creeds.

Now the Christian religion is a singing religion. Our very first hymnbook was the Book of Psalms, and all the hymnals since, down to the present day, grew out of this one book in the Bible. It is the greatest hymnbook in the world; not the longest nor the oldest, but the greatest in its influence for good upon mankind.

Poetry Was in Jesus Blood

OF OUR Lord Jesus himself, it truly can be said, poetry was in his veins. He came of a poetic family. His most famous ancestor, David, was a poet; another royal ancestor, Hezekiah, wrote poetry. The book he knew best, the Old Testament, was full of poetry. His own mother Mary, before he was born, sang a song of her own making, so beautiful that it is still sung in Christian churches and loved the world around.

When Jesus died on the cross, two of the last seven sentences that came from his lips were quotations from the Psalms. The poetry of his people was in his blood, for in his last agony the words that came from his breaking heart were words first spoken by the poets of the Bible long ago.

So it is always. "Truth in song will tarry long." Today and always, the parts of the Bible which are most cherished, the parts most often learned by heart, the parts which we carry with us to the valley of the shadow of death, are the truths set to music, long centuries ago, by inspired men who knew how to clothe truth with garments of shining and immortal loveliness.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

ST JOE TIGERS again failed to protect a first half lead in their first home game with Woodburn, Friday night, and dropped a 37 to 26 contest to the Alien County five last Friday night. After holding a 17-14 first half edge the locals could only tally 9 points in the second half, as the Warriors turned a close game into a 11 point victory margin.

TH5 LOCALS got off to a good start start and held the visitors scoreless from the field nearly the whole first quarter. But the Warriors, with Fielder and Becker carrying the main part of the offensive burden, had closed the gap to 17-14 at the half.

THE ST. JOE SECONDS also lost a first quarter lead and bowed 31 to 25 to the Woodburn second team. Walters looked especially good on the second team and got 11 points for his efforts.

FRIDAY EVENING the Tigers will go to Churubusco, hoping to find their first win of he season there.

THE SPENCERVILLE RAIDERS third game of the season was the lucky one and they shaved a close one from Ashley, 39 to 37 in their first appearance before a home crowd. After trailing the Aces most of the game, the Raiders pulled in close, late in the last period to trail 35-34. A moment later they had grabbed off a 36 to 35 lead, only to have Ashley knot the score at 36 all. Ashley, however, had lost two of their mainstays, Lehman and Harmes on fouls, and the Raiders were able to grab a two point edge and hold it.

THE LEGION Independent team bounced back to a victory in the Vim Northeastern League, with a 41 to 31 win over the Auburn Legion. At the end of the first half the score was deadlocked at 16 all. The locals shot into a short lead shortly after the half and had stretched it into a 30-22 lead by the end of the third quarter. Ridgway got 14 points for the winnners to lead both teams in scoring.

GAME HERE SATURDAY— Saturday evening, November 20, the Depew Cleaners of Garrett will be here for a single game starting at 7:30.

THE ST. JOE LEGIONAIRES rolled their strikes where it did the most good last Friday night. They were nearly successful in their bid to knock Brownie's Alleys team off of the top rung in the Inter-City bowling league, by taking two of the three for the evening they were able, along with the Ford Sixes to go into a 3-way tie for the top slot.

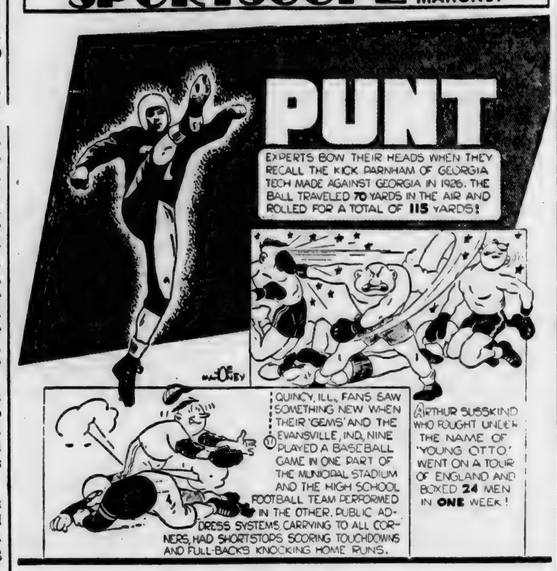
SPORTSCOPE By JOE MAHONEY



Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

A decade or so ago, when the waterfowl population was large and the hunting pressure comparatively light, the loss of a couple of million ducks and geese annualy from lead poisoning was not considered too important in the overall waterfowl picture.

But it's different story today! Waterfowl populations are down; the number of hunters is at a record peak. And the saving of all the ducks and geese possible is a must if sportsmen are to continue to enjoy this great gunning sport.

Frank Bellrose, game technician with the Illinois Natural History Survey, recently estimated that between 2,000,00 and 3,000,000 ducks die each year from lead poisoning. This malady results from the ducks swallowing lead pellets picked up while feeding in heavily shot areas.

Last winter a severe outbreak of the disease at an Illinois wildlife refuge focused attention on the need of finding a remedy, if possible for lead poisoning. This resulted in the current full-scale attack on the History Survey's field laboratory at Havana, Illinois. Cooperating in the experiments are the University of Illinois and Olin Industries, parent organization of Winchester and Western, at East Atlon, Illinois, in addition to the survey staff.

Utilizing all the modern technical equipment and with trained biologists conducting the experiments, it is hoped that a remedy can be found to stop the inroad on waterfowl resulting from lead poisoning.

The preliminary tests are being made on domestic Pekin ducks in an effort to learn the affect of ingested lead shot on waterfowl. Later wild ducks will replace the domestic species for the final field tests.

Should the findings of these experiments warrant additional study, Olin Industries' experts will experiment with the production of a toxic shot to replace the present lead pellets used in scatterloads.

With many agencies striving to up waterfowl production in the north country breeding grounds and steps being taken to protect the birds in wintering areas, the lead poisoning experiments are just another step in keeping outdoor gunning available to sportsmen. We wish them luck in finding a remedy

Town + Farm

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

PLAY it safe and keep dairy cattle out of cornstalk fields that were sprayed earlier this year with DDT, chlordan or toxaphene. These chemicals were used extensively in many areas this season—DDT for corn borer and chlordan and toxaphene for grasshopper control.

Specialists advise farmers to follow this practice until information can be compiled concerning the effect of insecticides on milk. It is known that DDT, chlordan or toxaphene applied early in the season will not harm the animal itself. No definite results have been obtained however, regarding the effect of these chemicals on humans consuming their milk.

Cream containing traces of these chemicals and sold to make butter may be a total loss. Butter shipped from one state to another is confiscated by the federal government if it shows traces of these insecticides.

Hay that was sprayed just before it was cut may also carry the chemicals. It is better and safer not to feed chemically treated hay to dairy cattle. Whether it is harmful or not depends upon the stage of growth the hay was in when the chemicals were applied. According to scientists, plants sprayed when emerging from the ground have lost all harmful qualities by the time they are ready to feed.

Experts believe that beef or nonmilking cattle may be turned into treated fields, or be safely fed hay that was treated before it was cut. They have found no evidence of such chemicals being injurious to the animals or their meat.

THE EXILE
ALSO—THIS IS AMERICA

What goes on here?

Referee makes first down—or did he really just miss it? Field judge blocks out the nearest tackler—or was it clipping? If the officials call 'em—and play too—what kind of a game is that?

You wouldn't stand for that sort of thing on a football field—but it happens every day in the electric light and power business. Government not only regulates the electric companies—but is in competition with them at the same time!

The catch is that government sets up two different sets of rules. The government's electric agencies pay little or no interest on the money they borrow, and pay no Federal taxes—but electric companies do, and expect to. When government-in-the-power-business can't make ends meet—it gets a handout of tax money from the U. S. Treasury. Who foots the bill? American taxpayers—of which you are one.

If government can get into the light and power business this way—it can get into any other business the same way.

In sixty-odd years, the self-supporting electric companies have built for America the most and the best electric service in the world. While costs of everything else are way up (including the costs of making and delivering electricity) electric service is still the best bargain in the American family's budget . . . it does so much, and costs so little.

This is a good record for the thousands of people who work in power companies, and for the millions of people who invest savings in them.

Don't you think these men and women deserve a fair break?

The answer is yours to make, for government money is your money.

WINNERS 4-H CLUB HAS ACHIEVEMENT NIGHT

On the evening of Nov. 5th the Winners 4-H Club of Spencer township met in the basement of the Lutheran Church at Spencerville for a pot luck supper after which an interesting program was given.

A special 4-H movie and a comedy were shown by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shilling.

Robert Witt the adult leader gave a report on the achievements of the club. Fourteen of sixteen members completed their projects with a total value of $2,230.00. The five project, and five record book prizes won at the DeKalb County fair totaled $18.00. The club entered a float in the parade and won fourth prize of $20.00

Benny's Got The Bird

After the leaders report the club continued with the regular business meeting with Billy Wilder presiding.

Rev Allen Trout of St. Marks Lutheran church of Auburn was the main speaker of the evening. The club enjoyed hearing him relate his experience while bear hunting in the hills of his boyhood home.

John Smith, formerly a singer for WLS sang several numbers, accompanied on the organn by his wife, Lois Smith.

Lester Boger, president of DeKalb Co. Co-Op. gave a talk on 4-H Club work

Mr. Lesiuk the assistant county agent of DeKalb gave information on 4-H projects for the coming year.

At the close of the meeting the club and their parents presetend Mr. Witt with a gift in appreciation of the work he has done to make the club so successful.

Guests present beside the club members and their parents were as follows: Rev and Mrs. Allen Trout of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and children of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Lesiuk and daughter of Auburn, Mr. Lester Boger of Auburn, Mr. Vinton Miller, Spencer Twp. Trustee, Mr. Fred High of Spencerville.

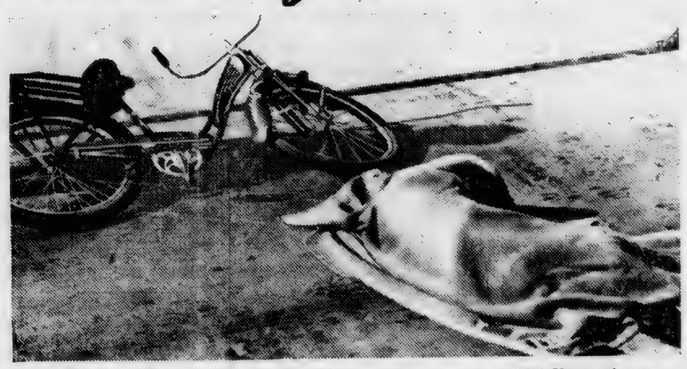
For Beet Growers

Beet growers who use mechanical means to thin the stands are cautioned to make sure they are leaving 120 beets for every 100 feet in rows spaced 28 inches apart or 100 beets for each 100 feet of 22-inch rows.

Sometimes you get away with it... but

You drive right by the "School" sign. But you don't slacken your speed. You're in a hurry to get to the office. And this morning you get away with it. But . . .

Sometimes You Don't!



You'll be later than usual at the office this morning. A child lies pathetic in death beneath your wheels. The rest of your life you'll relive this horrible scene every time you look at your own child. You need never pay this terrible price if you will do this simple thing: Drive extra carefully in school zones. Slow up and let the children grow up.

Be Careful—the child you save may be your own!

Enid Curie Weds In New York, Oct. 29

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Curie are announcing the marriage of their youngest daughter, Enid, of New York City, to Mr. Edward A. Munyer of Baldwin, Long Island. The ceremony took place on October 29, in the Washington Square Methodist Church, with the Rev. Dr. Lewis Christian officiating. The attendants were Miss Emily Mikstzo and Mr. York. A dinner at the Hotel Brevoort preceded the wedding, which was followed by a small supper-dance at the Hotel Plaza.

Mr. Munyer is the son of Mr. A. E. Munyer of Stamford, Connecticut and Mrs. Munyer of Baldwin. He was graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology as a printing engineer, and during the war was a navigator with the 10th Air Force, and later served as a navigation instructor in the Air Transport Command. He is associated with his father and brother in the A. E. Munyer Printing Co.

Mrs. Munyer formerly was an editor in the advertising and publicity department of the General Electric Company in Schenectady, and for three years was science editor of Whittlesey House, the trade division of the Bowles advertising agency as the technical writer for the General Electric Chemical Department.

After November 15, they will be at home to their friends at 27 West 75th St., New York

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

There are four of us-June, Joan, Ann, and myself, Margie .Our last meeting was in June before we left Northwestern University to come home for summer vacation. Then the plans we had made were still unfinished and uncertain, plans to spend our junior year of college studying in Paris, two at the music college, L' Ecole Normale, and two at the Liberal Arts College of the University of Paris, Le Sorbonne. Since we each lived in different states and cities, our letters were our only contact with each other through the summer.

Then all so quickly it was August and our plans were no longer uncertain. We had to begin the actual cramming of things into trunks and suitcases, a job more difficult than it would at first seem, because we wanted to be prepared in every way for a whole year, trying to remember all the warnings of "Take a lot of soap. They don't have much in France" - "All the cigarettes allowed. You can use them better than money" - "Lots of chocolate, very hard to get in France" - "Better take some coffee if you like it. Their coffee is terrible."

Finally the job was done, and again, seeming unbelieveably sudden, it was August 31st and Joan and I were driving up in a taxi to Pier 90 in New York. It was difficult to make our way to the Cunard Building. There were taxis and automobiles jammed together and people everywhere. We finally got our trunks, checked into the hold and our suitcases into the cabin, got our cabin numbers, and made our way past the officials busy checking passports, tickets and passes. As we went up the gang plank, all we could see of the Queen Mary, being so close, was a huge black wall on each side.

What a happy, noisy reunion there was when we finally found the other two in the cabin! There were so many things to say we were all talking at once.It was so hard to believe we were all really there on the Queen Mary ready to sail for France.

We spent the next few hectic hours going over the boat from stem to stern. And this did take hours, especially because there were crowds of people dashing madly all through the corridors and rooms - passengers looking for staterboms, luggage, or porters - porters looking for staterooms, luggage, or passengers.

It was also very easy to lose the way since it was so huge, like a city in itself, or, more aptly, like three small cities connecting into the other, because each class, First, Cabin and Tourist, had its own lounge, smoking room, dinning room, sun deck, sports deck, offices, stores and staterooms.

Warning bells kept ringing and there were loud gongs because visitors had to be off the boat by 11:00 p.m. The boat was to sail at midnight.

An especially nice steward informed us, however that boat was actually not setting sail until 4:30 a. m. because of the tide. So while we were sitting in the lounge talking after the vistors had left, we decided to stay up and see the ship leave New York Harbor.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

The Legion basketball team smothered the DePew Cleaners of Garrett under a 58 to 24 score at the St. Joe gym in a non-league game Saturday evening. St. Joe grabbed an early lead and were going strong at the finish. 10 players saw action for the locals and all of them registered in the scoring column. Deiderich, Ridgway, Keller, Monroe, Storer, Kinsey, Baker, Pugsley, Brown Sechler ,and Tatlock, all added to the scoring.

IN A LEAGUE GAME with the Angola Legion Tuesday night at Butler the locals showed they could come from behind against tough opposition, when they clipped the Angola outfit by a 43 to 38 score in a close one. Angola floored a big, rangy outfit that just could'nt miss. In a first quarter that saw the Angola boys hit for 18 point they threatend to turn the game into a early rout and were leading 18 to 8 at that time. By the end of the half the Angola fire had simmered down a little and St. Joe had begun their uphill battle to take the lead that finally paid off in the last quarter. The 3rd quarter started with Angola riding on the top of a 23 to17 score. Storer and Kinsey both came thru with 2 field goals to spark a 13 point rally and the boys had stepped in close and were trailing 31 to 30 when the last quarter started. Ridgway and Storer added two from the field and Kinsey hit one fielder and added 2 from the foul line. Angola just could'nt get back in the game, and could only pick up 7 points in the last period.

THE HAMILTON INDEPENDENTS will be on hand for 2 games here in St. Joe Saturday night, with the first scheduled for 7:15. St. Joe now won 2 out of 3 in league play family spent Sunday in Ft. Wayne

LOSE TO BUSCO AND HICKSVILLE—The Joe High Tigers fell victim to big, clever bunch of boys from Churubusco on their floor last Friday and suffered a 62-27 defeat. Tuesday evening the locals went down 43 to 21 under the Hicksville High team in a game played at the St. Joe gym. The seconds, also looking for their first win, lost a heartbreaker 21 to 20.

To Celebrate 50th Year Of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Waltz will Observe Anniversary Sunday, with Family Dinner and Open Hours

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs Harry O Waltz will be observed Sunday, Nov. 28 with a family dinner at their home, 401 South Randolph street, Garrett at noon, followed by open house from 2 to 5.

Mrs. Waltz (maiden name Cora Belle Forker) and the couple's marriage took place Nov. 24, 1898 at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Amos Forker, 1½ and a half miles northeast of Hicksville, O. Both Mr. and Mrs. Waltz are natives of Defiance county. Mr. Waltz was born March 17, 1878 and Mrs. Waltz on Jan 10, 1880.

Mr. and Mrs. Waltz went to live after their marriage at Lee Center, Ohio. Then they moved onto a Defiance county farm, and later a farm east of St. Joe in DeKalb Co. They moved to Garrett in 1936. Mr. Waltz became an employee of the Farm Bureau Service. Their children are Harold D. Waltz of Chicago and Olen E. Waltz of St. Joe. A brother of Mr. Waltz, Edward, lives in Trinidad, Colorado.

Mr. Waltz is a member of the Garrett Lions club. Mrs. Waltz was stricken with paralysis several months ago but is now able to get about. She is a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Garrett Methodist church.

The only person still living who attended the wedding 50 years ago is a neice of Mrs. Waltz, Mrs. Dora Sherman of Hicksville. She will be a guest at the golden wedding celebration.

God's Story-Teller

Lesson for November 28, 1948

"TRUTH in a tale," it is said, "will enter in at lowly doors." The greatest truth of the entire Bible does not come to us in the shape of an essay but of a story—the story of Jesus.

Dr. Foreman

"The gospel did not appear on the editorial page but on the news pages." Many people can understand essays; millions more can understand a story. Jesus himself, when he gave the world his message, used stories to do it. We are told that he never made a talk to the people without using a parable. The parables of the Bible are simple stories, often no more than a sentence long.

They are all alike in this: Whatever the story may be, there is more in it than meets the eye. Parables were not a form of entertainment; they were a way of teaching.

No Cause Is Lost

SOMETIMES the teller of a parable would explain what he meant, as Isaiah does with his little song of the vineyard. Sometimes, and most often in Jesus' case, the meaning is so plain that only a very stupid person could miss it.

Matthew arranges several of Jesus' parables in pairs; one of these is the twin story of the mustard seed and the yeast in the meal (Matt. 13:31-33). Both mean the same thing, and both are so obvious that Jesus did not think it necessary to explain them.

The Kingdom of Heaven—the ideal world, the world as God intends it to be—is a living thing, a growing thing, something at first small, almost invisible. But it will grow: you cannot stop it.

So the ideal world, the Kingdom of Heaven, (Jesus hints) is not an artificial thing, it cannot be constructed by blueprints. It has to follow the course of living things. It does not come all of a sudden, it grows very quietly. You might not see the seed in the ground, but the farmer knows it is there.

Pearl of Great Price

SOMETIMES two or three of Jesus' parables are like a musical theme with variations. The twin stories of the pearl worth more than the jeweler's whole collection, and of the treasure hidden in the field, are very much alike, yet just a little different in meaning.

Both tell us that the Kingdom of God is more valuable than anything else on earth; indeed, it includes everything else of value. But the stories are different. One tells of a man who was looking for something, the other tells of a man who was surprised by finding something.

Once a Chinese gentleman became dissatisfied with his inherited Confucianism, and set out to find a better religion. For years he shopped around, never finding what he needed. He left Christianity to the last, for in his section of China only coolies and peasants were Christians. But when he began to make friends with some real Christians, he was overjoyed. This was what he had been looking for. This was the pearl of great price.

On the other hand, a drunken sailor, certainly not looking for religion, wandered one night into a Salvation Army meeting. They could do nothing with him, but before they dragged him off to the lodging-house one of them slipped a bit of paper into his pocket. The next morning, cold sober, wondering where he was, he put his hand into that pocket and pulled the paper out. On it were penciled three words: God loves you. It hit him right between the eyes; and he became a Christian. That was the "treasure hid in the field."

How Far Will Love Go?

JESUS' contemporaries told parables too, but they have all been forgotten. Jesus' parables are incomparable, unforgettable, immortal. If Jesus had been known for nothing else, he would have been remembered for the four stories of the Good Samaritan, the Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin, the Lost Son.

These all have much the same point. "Lost" does not mean hopelessly doomed. How many persons we give up as hopeless! But God never gives up any one. A "lost" person is one whom God is seeking.

Calling All Outdoorsmen

Shorter gunning seasons and reduced bag limits are the common methods employed by conservation agencies in efforts to control the pressure on our wildlife resources. No one questions that these controls do play a part in controlling game populations. And sportsmen who obey all the rules and regulations are participating in the overall program to save the game animals and birds.

Still, there is another important conservation idea that often is overlooked and that is the use of a dog on each trip afield. As it often has been said, "Use a Dog; Get that cripple!"

The number of rabbits or quail or pheasants that are harvested each season by hunters is not the number of birds or animals that go into the game bag but the number that is shot. And without a dog to retrieve, the losses in cripples and unretrieved dead bird is staggering.

We know actual cases of pheasant hunters without dogs leaving more than 70 percent of birds they shot unretrieved. Waterfowl gunners, too show a high percentage of unretrieved ducks and geese. So if you shoot four pheasants and only find two, or eight ducks and only retrieve four, you've actually harvested twice your limit. Game population can't stand that type of hunting.

Just compare those figures with the losses shown by hunters using dogs. A 10 percent loss is high, and we've know hunters to go an entire season without the loss of a single bird. Of course, that is the exception and they had remarkable dogs.

Frankly, it is better to hunt with a well-trained and well-bred dog for usually the dogs in this class are the best game-savers. Yet we've seen six-month-old pups find crippled bobwhites, outrun a fast ringneck downed by a wing shot or outswim a big mallard making a dash for the weeds.

Also the breed of dog always is important, actually some breeds are better suited to certain tasks and it is an advantage to use them in their specialities But we know of collies that work well on ringnecks and beagle hounds that will retrieve quail.

Hunting with a dog saves game; there's no argument about that. And too, it is far more sport to take to the field or marsh with a good dog. You'll need no more than one trip after quail with a good bird dog or a trek to a marsh after waterfowl with a retriever to be sold on the merit of hunting with a dog. You'll soon learn that it is as much sport to watch a dog work as it is to kill game.

Thanks to many people for many things

THIS IS THE SEASON OF THANKSGIVING . . .

And there is much for which we can all be thankful in this great country of ours.

Certainly we are thankful for a bountiful harvest of grain and corn, for a high level of production and employment, for a standard of living that is the envy of the world.

Most of all, perhaps, we are grateful for our American heritage . . . freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom to think and worship according to our own beliefs.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

We Feel as a Chevrolet dealer it is an appropriate time to convey our sincere appreciation to the people of this community for their loyalty, patience and understanding.

For Despite Chevrolet's production of more cars and trucks during 1948 than any other manufacturer there is still a long "waiting list" for America's most-wanted cars and trucks.

Chevrolet is doing everything within its power to maintain and increase production. Meantime, we would like to express our thanks . . .

Thanks to Buyers and Prospective Buyers of New Chevrolets for your generous recognition of the honest value built into this first-choice car in the low-priced field. More people have bought Chevrolet cars and trucks, during the eighteen-year period from 1931 to date, than have bought the cars and trucks of any other manufacturer.

Thanks to Those Who Are Waiting for Orders to be Filled for your patience and understanding. You can be sure we are doing our best to treat all customers fairly . . . doing our best to speed the day when we can give you the good news, "Your waiting days are over!"

Thanks to Service Customers for the opportunity to keep your present cars in safe driving condition. We have tried to serve you well, and appreciate your patronage.

Thanks to all whose friendship and favor have helped maintain Chevrolet's leadership . . .

Thanks for your patronage which has made

In Thanksgiving

Lord God, we give Thee thanks this day,
Humbly, in our faltering way—
Not with the graceful wordy arts,
But simply, deeply, with our hearts—
As little children mindful of
A Father's broad and boundless love.

We thank Thee, Lord, for everything—
The shining miracle of Spring,
Green grass, and cool and kindly rains,
Stars, and soft clouds in silken skeins,
For tall trees, patient and precise
That point the way to Paradise.

We give Thee thanks for life's rich years,
For courage, and for cleansing tears,
For faith that builds us tall and strong,
For laughter, and the gift of song—
And most of all—that we are free
To bring our grateful hearts to Thee.

Dear Lord, we give Thee thanks for youth,
For trust and tenderness and truth,
For brotherhood—that we may tread
A peaceful earth, and break the bread
Of friendship with our fellow men;
We give Thee thanks for love. AMEN.

Deep Sea Life

Life of the deep sea is remarkable among the great faunas of the world for its state of unbalance. Since there is no plant life, other than bacteria, green plants being completely dependent upon sunlight, the animals of the lightless depths are dependent on the rain of failing bodies from the rich life of the lighted surface zone. Thus the deep-sea animals must be scavengers or must prey voraciously upon each other.

Will This Be the First Trip to the Moon?

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

We put on our pajamas and coats, grabbed four blankets and our alarm clock and went up on deck at the front of the boat, settling down in four deck chairs. We planned to sleep for an hour or so and set the alarm at 4:15. But it was to exciting to watch the sailors make ready. In the uncrtain mingled light of the night and of the spotlight on the boat, we watched them as they scrambled around on those thousands of ropes and nets stretched every which way from masts to deck.

The alarm went off before we even went to sleep, on the dot of 4:30 the boat slowly began to move. We were really on our way to France.

We watched the Cunard sign, side of which the Queen Mary had been docked, until its bright lights became dim; watched the lights of New York along the river pass by on our way to the harbor. Then we picked out from the hazy shapes in the harbor the light of the Statue of Liberty, and finally even that disappeared. By the time there was only the last vague bit of land to be seen in the distance on one side and a vast stretch of ocean on the other--the sun began to rise out of the ocean--one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen, and all the more unforgettable because it also marked the beginning of the first day of our long trip.

Finally back in the cabin I went to sleep thinking, "How smooth this is I can't even tell I'm on a boat!"

Two hours later were up again getting ready for breakfast at 8:00. I had a chance then to look at the cabin more closely. It was quite small, about 12' by 12'. All the furniture was in maple--and took up most of the space. There were two double bunk beds one on each side of the room, one small cloest which held only a few of our things; the rest we left in our suitcases shoved under the bunk. There was also a wash bowl with a large mirror above it on the wall opposite the door, a small cabinet on the wall for our tooth brush and water glasses,one chair and one porthole, always closed because our deck was so low we were under the water line from time to time. Ours being a tourist class stateroom, was nothing spectacular, but comfortable enough. The first class cabins and suites are, of course, much more elaborate.

Mrs. Nan Lysher and son, Edgar, entertained the following guests for Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Anna Koch and son, Roy, Mrs. Lee Jackson and Mrs. Pearl Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Emerson of Mongo. Mrs. Koch spent the remainder of the week with her sister, Mrs. Lysher.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Harris entertained for Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Carrie Haines from the convalescent home in Butler and Jim Harris and family.

Mr. Mrs. Jesse Loftus, accompanied their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wappes of Churubusco to the home of Mr: and Mrs. Earl Robinson east of Canedere, Michigan for Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Means entertained at six o'clock dinner, Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Means of Butler, Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan of Spencerville, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Anthony and daughter, of south of St. Joe and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Means and little daughter of South Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. James Draggoo and son, Tommy, and Mrs. Marie Draggoo, spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. M. Morr and son Jerry at Washington C. H., Ohio. Mrs. Marie Draggoo, remained for visit with her daughter until after Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hudson entertained at Sunday dinner, Mr. Bert Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Jackson, Mrs. Pearl and Lee Jackson, they all enjoyed the dinner. In the late afternoon they went up to Mr. and Mrs. Ford Jackson and spent a couple of hours.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Keller enjoyed an oyster dinner at the home of Mrs. Pearl Jackson.

On Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Keller entertained Mr. Bert Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Perkins, and Mr. and Mrs. Ford Jackson and little Ford William Hudson.

The marriage of Miss Marie Christlieb to Burt Sponhower was recently announced. Marie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christlieb of Auburn, Route 3. Mr. Sponhower is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sponhower, also of near Auburn. The vows were spoken on August 14th in the Church of Christ parsonage in Angola, before the Rev. Lee Carter Maynard. After spending the winter in Florida the Sponhowers will make their home six miles southeast of Auburn.

Mrs. Loretta Hull, Mrs. Margaret Hull and Mrs. Lora Leighty enjoyed Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Quance in Auburn at the annual family gathering.

Donald Inlow of near St. Joe and Glenn McClish of R. R. 3 Butler, both graduates of St. Joe High last assigned in the army. The boys left year have enlisted for one year un- Monday for their physical exams at Fort Wayne.

CHRISTMAS REHABILITATION PROJECT TO BE THEME OF DEC. MEETING OF LEO AUXILIARY

Mrs. Vernon Halter, heads the Renabilitation Committee of the Leo American Legion Auxiliary Unit in the collection of Christmas gifts to be sent to the Cold Springs Veterans Hospital, where all disabled veterans may choose gifts of toys, toilet articles, aprons, ties, etc. to be wrapped by volunteer unit members and sent to the Veteran's families free of charge. Hospital authorities agree this is one of the best moral builders for the patients and a blessed sevice that every Unit member can share in giving for those who risked their all that we might have our Christmas Peace as always.

Small toilet articles, cosmetics and hand-work materials are also requested to make up a box for the Indiana's Girls' School Christmas Cheer.

Assisting members are the Mesdames Williliam Bender, Jesset Farmer, Lawrence Pequignot, William Mertens and Archie Sauder; the committee will also plan the Christmas Party to be given for Post members and their families.

Mrs. William Warner and Mrs. Harold Kryder will give their Convention reports at the regular meeting, Dec. 1st, at the new Legion Home on the Leo Road. Other report will be given by Mrs. Edward Halter, Mrs. William Warner, Mrs. Harold Kryder and Mrs. Edison Martin, delegates to the 4th District Meeting. Mrs. Floyd McNiece will report on a Community Service Project of Sewing for the Allen County Cancer Society. Unit members are asked to bring old sheets and pillow cases to donate for a badly needed service.

Delegates Warner, McNiece, and Kryder will report on the recent Allen County Roadside Council radio broadcast and election meeting held at the Leisure Electric Home.

SPENCERVILLE

BONNIE WITT WRITES OF TRIP TO CHICAGO

Four girls from DeKalb county received trip awards to Chicago, based on their achievement records. They were: Audrie Trenary, Betty Sipe, Madgelan Martin and Bonnie Witt.

We went with Miss Moore our home demonstration agent who chaperoned us. Seven girls from Allen County. Miss Moorehouse and Mrs. Moore from Allen County were also in our group.

We left Auburn at about 6:30 a. m., Monday morning and arrived at the Hall of Science and Industry in Chicago at 10:30.

A guied showed us thru the museum. I belive the coal mine was the high point of interest in this building. We ate dinner in the cafeteria of this museum.

Next we toured on to the planetarium. Here we saw "A Dream of Heaven", the moon and stars. We actually saw Chicago at sunrise and sunset.

Then we drove to Hotel Croyden where we had reserved rooms during our trip. We had lovely rooms and good service. We ate supper in the hotel dinning room. Afterward we shopped awhile.

Then we saw the stage show, "High Button Shoes", which was excellent. After the show we returned to our rooms and had a party among us girls.

Tuesday morning, we got up at 6 o'clock and went to the "Breakfast Club with Don McNeil".

Next we went to "Welcome Travelers" which is a radio show.

We ate dinner at Marshall Fields and shopped at this store.

We had a guide show thru the Art Museum. Here we saw art paintings, antique furniture and dishes.

We ate luncheon at a Swedish resturant. The food was quite different from our American foods.

Wednesday morning we packed our clothes. We ate breakfast at the hotel.

We went thru Sears and Roebuck store. Here they make experiments of different products.

We also viewed the place Sears fill orders for their customers. We ate dinner in Sears Cafeteria.

At the flower conservatoy we saw banana, lemon, orange and grapefruit trees. We also saw cotton plants. The flowers were very beautiful.

Then we started for home. We arrived in Auburn at 9:00 p. m. We all enjoyed this sight seeing and educational trip.

How to send more for less!

When you send food and clothes overseas, you naturally want to send as much as you can for your money. By sending a CARE package, you send the most you possibly can — and exactly what's most needed!

A glance at the chart shows you how much farther $10 goes for a CARE package than one you could assemble yourself. That's because CARE, a non-profit, government-approved service, buys in bulk. CARE-sent packages are delivered duty-free and tax-free. And delivery is guaranteed — or your money back.

People overseas are still on emergency rations — in many instances, barely enough to keep alive. The splendid European Recovery Program, now under way, is a long-range program—so there is still desperate need for immediate help. CARE enables you to send person-to-person help with a minimum of delay. And the money you save by helping through CARE means you can send more food and more clothing more often.

Obey that impulse — fill out a CARE coupon today.

Story of Revolution

Lesson for December 5, 1948

THE MOST important history in the world is in one small book. The most important movement, the most revolutionary, the one that is destined to change the world more than any other, is the Christian church. The story of how it began is in the book of Acts. No other book in or out of the New Testament tells this story: The history of the beginnings of the one and only international, interracial, world-wide movement that sets out to aim at nothing less than a complete transformation of mankind, the Revolution from Within, the Christian Church.

What the Church Is

THERE are hundreds of churches today and they do not all agree. But every church, whatever its name or peculiarities, aims to stay on the course marked out by the Christian church when it was one and undivided, the church of the Apostles. We look back to the story in Acts to see what the true church is.

In the very beginning, the church was not the place where the Christians met for worship. It was not the officers. The Apostles themselves were not the church. The church was not a thing at all; it was people.

In Acts these people are seldom called Christians and never called churchmen or church-members. They are given more meaningful names. They are called "disciples," that is, learners, students. They are called "believers." They are called "brothers" for their life was like that of a family. They are called the people of "the Way,"—travelers together to the same destination. The church, in short, is a fellowship, the Family of the Friends of Christ.

How the Church Began

THE infant church was like all human babies; it began small and poor. No bystander would have expected it to live; but it had life in its heart. Two forces set that church on its way. One was the command of Christ.

The people who were in it, or rather the people who were the church, took their orders from Christ. It was because of him that they went out to bear witness to him to the "uttermost parts of the earth."

Then the people were filled with the Holy Spirit; they were guided constantly by the Spirit. The book of Acts has often been called the "Acts of the Holy Spirit" rather than of the Apostles.

Leaders

GOD never does for people what they can do for themselves. So guidance of the Spirit was never a substitute for human leadership. A true church is not a mob: It acts, as the New Testament church did, in an orderly fashion.

One of the church's first problems was that of finding leaders. The history in Acts is largely the history of certain leaders—John, Peter, Paul. But these were not alone. Not even the Apostles tried to run the church like a dictatorship. The people themselves chose the officers who were ordained by the Apostles.

What the Church Does

FIVE things the Apostolic church did, and these mark any true church today. They "continued in the Apostles' teachings;" the beginning of all our church schools and Sunday schools is in that brief phrase. They formed a fellowship; the church then was not a list of names of people who cared little for one another; it was a true family.

They observed the sacraments; they and their households were baptized, and they continued "in the breaking of the bread." Baptism and the Lord's Supper have always been observed in some form in every Christian church! They "continued in prayer;" a church in which only the minister prays is a feeble affair.

Above all, they were "witnesses." That is to say, they told the story of Jesus—his life, his teachings, his death, his resurrection. Jesus lives! Jesus is Lord! So the Apostles preached, from Jerusalem to Rome and far beyond. But their preaching would have been mere shouting in the wind, if Christ had not lived again in thousands of everyday Christians.

by Clyde Hart

Concord and Spencer Townships, were when laid out, called DeKalb Township. Afterward it was renamed Concord, and later it was divided into two townships and the north half was called Concord. The south half was called Spencer. I have but little information on the earliest schools that were held in the township but do know that a school house was built at Coburns Corners as early as 1840. This neighborhood has had at least four buildings since the above date. The first was a log building. The next one is the kitchen part of Kenneth Coburn's home and the third is the granary on the farm owned by Mr. Pratt. The fourth, was the one across the road from the church on the Woodcox farm.

There were eleven School Districts in the Township, in the early 80's.

District Number one was at Orangeville, located just east of Mr. Roop's home. Number 2 was located on the northeast corner of the Baker farm, at Widney's corner. Later a new building was erected at Saylor's Corners and this is where taught my first term of school, fifty years ago this winter. Number 3 was located just north of Bakers corner and was known as the Hayes School.

Number 4 was two miles south of Hayes School and was know as the Carr School.. Number 5 was located just west of the Jenkins cemetery and was called Kinderhook. To the best of my knowledge this was the first school disbanded in the township.

Number 6 was the St. Joe School. Number seven was the Cheese Town School which is still standing and so named because a cheese factory stood across the road. This building is the barn across the road from Victor Dermott's house. Number 8 school was located at Coburns Corner. Number 9 was located across road from Flora Renn's on Claud Laub's farm. This was called McCauly School. Number 10 was the Spencerville school. Number 11 was known as Pigeon Roost and is now used as a residence by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Goldsmith.

To the best of my knowledge the following are the only living teachers who were teaching fifty or more years ago. John Woodcox, Clarence Woodcox.O. K. Shull, Anna Rickett, Charles Krise, M. J. Hadsell, Nina Kees, Mabel Erick and Clyde Hart.

White-Footed Mouse

White-footed mouse is a mouse after all, but he doesn't deserve the black reputation accorded the house mouse and the meadow mouse. Owls, hawks and other predators are continually after him.

How Much Government?

It's 2,272 miles from New York to Salt Lake City, Utah. Yet, if all the civilian employees in the executive branch of our federal government were six feet tall (they're not), and you placed them head to toe on U. S. Highway 30, they'd reach the distance easily with 1.4 miles to spare. This comparison is conservative. It was based on an estimate of 2 million government workers in the executive branch alone.

Perhaps nobody can ever know just how many there are. During the first four months of this year, they increased at a rate of more than 450 a day. Use another comparison. There is one executive worker in the federal government for every 21 income taxpayers. In other words, these 21 taxpayers are paying the salary of the 22nd man. And that's just in the executive arm of the federal government.

Paying the Piper

Each and every American citizen must not fail to be interested in this problem of mushrooming government. As long as we fool ourselves into the habit of asking for more government, we'll see more and more added to the payrolls and we'll pay higher and higher taxes. We need to decide how much government we want. Certainly the more of it we set up the more we have to pay for. At the rate we have been going in the last decade, most of us will be working for the government in a few years.

That would be one of the simplest ways to take the country into socialism. Let most of us be drawing paychecks from the government, in salaries and various benefits, and we would have socialism right here without voting for it. What we need constantly to remember is that the government has not a cent to spend except what it collects from you and me and from our neighbors.

It's Up to Congress

Our next Congress will have a real test, and a real opportunity. Last year, the 80th Congress provided this historic opportunity by establishing a commission to study the reorganization of the executive side of our government. Membership of the Commission includes some of our most public spirited citizens. These experts are giving the structure and functions of many a government agency a thorough going over. They are also studying expenditures, with the idea of proposing changes that will bring both economy and efficiency.

Must Say: "No!"

The 81st Congress will have the job of acting upon whatever recommendations the Commission may present. It is not an easy task. Any executive finds it hard to lop off an office here, and an office there. When the government starts a service, it is hard to find a stopping place. Moreover, each and every department will fight to the finish for increased personnel and more money.

May the coming Congress find enough gizzard and gristle to stand up and say no. We must end waste and extravagance in government. When nearly thirty cents out of every dollar you earn goes directly or indirectly toward support of federal government, that is too much. We cannot continue to be the strong and financially stable nation we must be, unless something is done to curtail the spread of government.

Deaths by Disasters

There were 480 lives lost in the Texas City, Tex., explosion. By comparison the past decade has seen an average of about 1,390 deaths caused by disasters each year. This year is no excpetion.

KELLEY FLYING SERVICE - MYER AIRPORT

Although there has been a great deal of romance woven about flying, the late war brought home to millions of people that it is today a grown up industry and is now taking its place in both thecommercial and social circles of the country. Most of us realize that it is proving to be as essential to commerce and travel as the automobile. It therefore behooves us all to become familar with aircraft and their operation.

To fill this need was the purpose of the Kelley Flying Service at Myer Airport on Wayne Trace Rd. just out of Fort Wayne. For the past three years James Kelley and Lester Myers have operated this service which includes planes for charter, plane rental, G. I. flight instruction as well as civilian and commercial pilot training. They are the authorized dealers for Luscombe planes and maintain a service department which is equipped to give your plane whatever attention it may need. This service includes everything from making a minor adjustment to a complete rebuilding or overhaul job.

BRADEN and HOWELL SALES

The next time you are driving into Fort Wayne, go in State St. and stop at Braden & Howell Sales at 315 West State and take a careful look at the cars on their lot. With a lot that takes up nearly a square block they are able to offer a wide selection from which to choose. Their cars are all reconditioned and checked by their service department which is one of the largest in Northwestern Indiana. They have an experienced staff of mechanics and auto body and painting men who restore them to their original style and usefulness.

To conduct a successful used car sales today is not as simple as the casual observer would think. It requires experience and the knowledge of cars and motors, so that purchases can be made to assure a reasonable resale price as well as driving and riding comfort for the buyer. Both Mr. Braden and Mr. Howell are active in the business and have built an organization that has operated efficiently and economically. As a result the buying public has been the big gainer.

ALSCO of FORT WAYNE

It is interesting to note the many uses to which aluminum has been put in the last ten years. It seems that there is hardly an item made of wood or steel that cannot be replaced by aluminum and be made to serve a better purpose. To illustrate we can take the new Alsco Aluminum windows, doors and screens. Not only have they replaced in service the older types but have introduced many features that have made them popular with home owners throughout this section. Alsco is a self storing screen and storm window that requires but a moment to operate. In this section of the country where the weather is unpredictable and changeable it well serves the occupant of a home office or business because anyone can quickly make the change from screen to window or reverse.

Alsco windows and doors are ruggedly constructed and being of aluminum will not require painting, will not rust or soil the paint of a building. Their cost is small in relation to the quality of materials and workmanship. To convince yourself you need only stop at at Calhoun and Columbia in Fort Wayne and Mr. Plummer or his assistants will be glad to demonstrate the effectiveness of the Alsco Aluminum Products.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE LEGION Basketball team continued their fine showing Saturday evening when they took two game from the Hamilton Independents, at the local gym. They contined their high scoring sprees against non-league teams in the vicinity when they handed out a 36-33 defeat in the first game and drubbed out a 62 to 34 victory in the nightcap. In the first game Hamilton held a 19-16 edge at half time, but the locals had pushed out in front and were leading 26 to 24 when the next period ended. From there on out they never lost the lead.

IN THE SECOND affair, the locals got off to a very slow start and trailed Hamilton 7-6 when the first ten minute period was over. They finally took the lid off the basket in the next quarter. Paced by Storer, who poured 4 of his 7 fielders for the game through the hoop in this period, the legion was out in front 24 to 15 at the half. From then on it was just a question of how big a score the boys could pile on. The locals outscored the visitors in every quarter. The last ten minutes of play saw the boys put on a scoring show, when they cracked the cords for 9 shots from the field and 7 from the charity line. Deiderich got 11 points in this quarter, but had to take the third spot in total scoring, with 12. Ridgway with 15 and Storer with 14, placed 1-2 for top scoring.

THE OPPONENTS for the Legion next Saturday will be the DeKalb County Rural Youth team, a newly organized group that has former high school players from all the schools in the county. Next Week will be a full one for the St. Joe boys; on Monday they go to Pauld-V. F. W. Post team, and then on the next night, Monday, Dec. 7, at 8:45 p.m. they tangle with one of the better teams in the Vim Northeastern League, the Johnson Furniture team of Butler. A Saturday night home game with Ronnie's of Hicksville, will round out the week. Joe vs Butler-7:45.

IN A LEAGUE game at Butler Tuesday evening the Partee Co. of Spencerville, poured a 50 to 30 defeat on the legion, to make the locals standings read 2 wins and 2 losses in league action. The Partee boys with Krause as their big point maker for the evening, swept into an early lead and never got behind. Partee's victory left them in second place in the league standings with 3 wins and 1 loss. There next action in league play will be next Thursday evening at the St. Joe gym, when they play the Auburn Legion.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

If you readers will be patient with the column this week, we'd like to climb on the old soap box and get a couple of things off our chest. While duck hunting the last few days we saw several things that, by all laws of decent sportsmanship, should be punishable by serious penalities.

But before telling more we would like to say that for every game hog and law breaker there are dozens of good sportsmen. We're thankful for that.

The other morning on a duck marsh we happened to draw a blind that was within 150 yards of another blind. In front of this other blind was open water, in the back heavy weeds and brush. There were four hunters in it.

Most of the ducks that morning were favoring this group of hunters and boys got this type of gunning that most hunters just dream about But a lot of the ducks they shot fell in the heavy weeds or escaped there as cripples. And not once did the hunters attempt to find a downed duck in the heavy cover. They just kept shooting picking up only the birds that fell in the open water where they were easy to retrieve, signaled to be picked up and went on their way leaving at least 11 ducks crippled in the weeds without so much as a minute's time spent looking for them.

The next day we shot at another place and again occupied a blind fairly close to another group of hunters. The early flights were mostly teal and other small ducks and nearby gunners downed 10 or 12 of them. Then in came the mallards and the three gunners quickly killed 12 greenheads, the day's limit. What happened to the teal? They were tossed aside on the way to the clubhouse.

This virtually made our blood boil. And it wasn't sour grapes on our part either, for, despite the ducks favoring the other blind, we birds for the family to enjoy a duck easily managed to fill plenty of dinner.
dinner.

Here in two days we saw hunters violate the law and waste a couple of dozen ducks. And we'll wager that every sportsman has seen the same thing happen time and time again in every part of the country

What can be done about it? No one wants to be a stool pigeon, still it should be the responsibility of every real sportsman to report violations to the proper authorities.

There wasn't a game warden around the other day when I saw the game violations above, but you can bet a good duck call against a penny that the wardens will be giving these two clubs the once over from now to the end of the season.

Greatest Show Ring Bull Retires

After dominating the show rings of the nation for the past 12 years as the greatest of show animals, Netherhall Swanky Dan, the national grand champion Ayrshire bull, is retiring.

This announcement was made by Otto Schnering, president of the Curtiss Candy Company, which operates the farms at Cary, Ill., where Swanky Dan will continue to serve as their famed Ayrshire herd sire.

His latest triumph—senior and grand champion at the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa—represented the 84th consecutive championship of his career, achieving the record of winning more championships than any other dairy or beef animal. He has become both a legend and an institution throughout the agricultural world. Swanky Dan qualifies as the "grand old man" of any group of champions. His 13 years of age are equivalent to 75 years in a human. He continued his winning ways at an age twice that of most prize show cattle.

His greatness is also supported by the winnings of his progeny. At the Dairy Congress, he was sire of the first prize get-of-sire, as well as sire of heifers that won the junior and reserve junior championships. His get stand high in production. His first daughter to finish her production record at the Curtiss farms gave 18,000 pounds of milk and 666 pounds of butterfat.

"All good things must come to an end and so has Swanky Dan's show ring career," Mr. Schnering commented. "He could go on winning for some time yet, but it is more appropriate that he quit as an undefeated champion."

HAZARDS IN THE HOME

THE basement stairway is one of the most hazardous parts of a house. Black and blue bruises, broken legs — even deaths — have resulted from falls down these stairs.

Being somewhat out of sight, the basement stairs are often in a sad state of repair, unlighted, and cluttered with odds and ends. Brooms, mops, wastebaskets, cans —even roller skates—are habitually parked on cellar stairs.

The top and bottom of the basement stairway should be painted white and there should be a handy light switch to illuminate this dangerous passage. Broken or loose steps should be repaired at once.

While on the subject of the basement, the hazard of fire should be pointed out. The neglected pile of rubbish in the basement corner should be cleaned up. Many fires originate in the basement from spontaneous combustion among old rags, newspapers and such materials.

The wiring around the washing machine should be properly safeguarded, for wet hands on defective electrical equipment cause catastrophies.

Improper or careless use of ladders or stepstools may result in disastrous falls. Numerous everyday household appliances have in them lethal possibilities. Bathtubs, sliding rugs and electric wiring are common things but are potential injury makers.

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

MORE tomorrows for your tractor can be insured by giving it proper pre-winter care before storing. The cooling and fuel systems, crankcase and cylinder walls, all are in need of special attention if the tractor is to be idle during the winter months.

The crankcase should be drained, flushed and refilled with new crankcase oil. The engine then must be operated long enough to circulate the new oil to all working parts. The air cleaner also should be serviced.

Then drain, flush and rinse the cooling system. Leave the drain plugs out until spring, to allow all water to escape. To eliminate the fire hazard and prevent formation of gummy deposits in the fuel system, the fuel should be drained from the tank and carburetor.

To prevent rust from forming inside the engine, remove the spark plugs and place about two tablespoons of heavy motor oil in each cylinder. Then turn the engine several revolutions to coat the cylinder walls with an oil film.

Dirt should be cleaned from the outside of the engine and the exhaust pipe closed with a piece of rag or a cover, to prevent moisture from entering the engine. Store the tractor indoors if possible. Otherwise cover it with a canvas to protect it from the weather.

Check the operating manual for your particular tractor for further helpful hints. A couple of hours spent this fall can save lots of time and expense next spring.

Note to Farm Purchasers

Farmers who purchase land at inflated values and mortgage it for more than one-third of the total price may encounter serious financial difficulties when prices and farm values decline.

Fu Lung, who had just opened a laundry on one corner, gazed appreciatively at the signs on the business establishments on the other three corners.

On the bakery was a sign, reading: "We never close." Over the garage, the sign read: "We stay open all night"; and over the restaurant: "We never sleep."

The following morning over Fu Lung's laundry appeared the neat handprinted sign: "Me Wake Too."

Growing Mushrooms

Mushroom farming is a profitable full-time business for those who have the money and the skill that comes only from experience. Mushroom growing can also be a pleasant hobby. Domestic mushrooms are an indoor crop. Although particular about moisture, temperature and light, mushrooms have been grown in cellars, sheds, caves, root cellars, in greenhouses between other crops, and in special mushroom houses. The location must be one that will enable the grower to keep temperatures 45 to 68 degrees during the growing season, for mushrooms refuse to prosper under higher or lower temperatures.

Uncle Sam Says

The dollars my young nieces and nephews earn this summer can give them a stake in the future and help keep the country's economy running on an even keel. By investing as much of their summertime earnings in United States Savings Bonds as possible, junior and sis will be building a nestegg for achievement of future goals. It's up to us grownups who have learned how big a nestegg we can accumulate through the payroll savings plan for buying savings bonds to impress upon sis and junior that the future holds for them what they hold for the future.

Hattie Widney Stone Passes Away

Services Held Sunday For Lifelong Resident Of Community

Mrs. Hattie Alma Widney Stone, 78, a lifelong resident of DeKalb county, died suddenly at 10:45 p. m. Thursday night at her home a mile and a half northeast of St. Joe.

Her death was attributed to a heart attack. She had been in poor health for three years and was a patient at a Fort Wayne Hospital and later at the Dr. Bonnell M. Souder Hospital in Auburn.

She appeared in fair health Thursday and had talked long distance with her son in Columbia City only 25 minutes before she was stricken.

Mrs. Stone was born Jan. 14, 1870, in Newville township. She was the daughter of the late Samuel S. and Mary Elizabeth Davis. About 16 years after her birth, she moved with her family to Concord twp. where she resided until she was married in 1886 to the late H. M. Widney who preceded her in death in 1927.

The couple operated for many years the Widney orchards near St. Joe. Previously, Mr. Widney was engaged in the lumber business for a short time in Auburn and later at Albion.

About 10 years ago, she was married to Hal Stone, who survives with the son, Blanchard Vondale Widney of Columbia City; a brother, C. Ray Davis of Auburn and two sisters, Mrs. Mae Smith of Portsmouth, O., and Mrs. Arthur Flynn of Chicago.

A daughter, Doris Davis Widney, died in 1919. She was also preceded in death by a brother, the late Judd Davis.

Mrs. Widney was a member of the St. Joe Lutheran church and the Culture Club here.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Lutheran church here. The Rev Frank Stevenson of Muncie, former pastor of the church at St. Joe officiated at the church and graveside services. Burial was made in Riverside Cemetery.

COBURNTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Laub and son of Bloomington, Ill., were week-end guests of the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Laub.

The Christian Companions Class of the Coburn's Corners Church of Christ met for their monthly party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Rediger, Saturday evening, Dec. 4. There were 22 members and 11 children present.

The members of the cast are hard at work on the Christmas play to be given at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waggoner spent Sunday afternoon in Decatur with Mrs. Waggoner's parents. Her father is seriously ill with pneumonia.

G. L. C.

Mrs. Paul Hilkey will be hostess to the G. L. C. Home Economics Club on the occassion of their annual Christmas party, December 14, 1:30 P. M. The Christmas Story will be read by Mrs. Winifred Page. A gift exchange will be in charge of Mrs. Grover McNabb, and Mrs. John Snelling will conduct the Cooky exchange of Christmas Specials that each member bakes, then as each takes one of the others, a variety of all is obtained. Much speculation has enlivened the meeting about how well the 1948 New Year's Resolutions have been kept. Proof will be revealed when the secretary, Mrs. Howard Klopfenstein charges the members with opening of the envelopes sealed at the Jan. meeting.

Officers elected for 1949 are to be installed in the Club ceremony.

Mrs. Fred Marolf Sr. was hostes at the Leo School for the Nov. meeting with the husbands of members and the P. T. A. as special guests. The film of England and European Countries including scenes of Erlach, Switzerland, Mr. Marolfs' birthplace, was shown; the Marolfs' giving an inteersting talk describing their recent trip. Another feature of the evening was the visit to the school rooms where the childrens' work was observed.

One new member, Mrs. Charles Yaeger, was welcomed into the club.

Our Early School System

As I have some facts about the early history of the schools of Concord and Spencer townships, may I add my bit to Mr. Hart's article and say that three teachers, of some prominence were not mentioned. They are Anna Koch, and Wm. Shutts daughters, Laura Shutt and Eva Shutt -Elson. Anna Koch taught at the school house on the Baker corners and was the first teacher in the Carr school house, after it was built. Among her pupils were the Layman children, Sherman Rickett, seven from the Jim Draggoo family and others. Eva Shutt taught at Pigeon Roost or "Pigeons Retreat" as the scholars christened the new school, that is still standing, and she also taught at St. Joe and boarded with Aunt Kate Leighty. Laura taught at Spencerville.

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

When all four of us were up and trying to get ready in a hurry it was quite a comical battle to get all needed things or even to get enough room to move. We finally worked it out in a shift.

In the dinning room at last, we were served a delicious breakfast of juice, cereal, bacon, eggs toast, rolls and coffee. I didn't understand why Ann couldn't eat anything except a little tea. Bu it wasn't long until I understood quite well.

By this time it was evident that we were on a ship in the ocean. There was a constant slow rocking from one side to the other. It was this motion, which not only increased, but increased with added attractions as the day went by and finally got the best of all of us.

After breakfast it became more and more difficult to maintain my balance as I walked through the halls, and rooms of the ship, and up and down the stairs, forced first against the wall on one side and then against the wall on the other side.. But at this time it still seemed kind of fun and I managed to stagger my way through boat drill with life preserver around my neck. This consisted of following signs and the rest of the crowd to a particular life boat station and standing in rows while listening to a record over the loud speaker giving directions about what to do in case anything should ever happen. It was just a necessary formaliy in case of emergency, like a fire drill in school.

After the drill I went up to the top deck, the sun deck about 5 flights - or five rows of portholes up from our cabin deck, "D" deck, the lowest. This time I used the elevator, feeling a very queer sensation, going up and at the same time back and forth with the boat

We spent the rest of that day on the sun deck in our deck chairs sleeping, watching the ocean and walking, all wrapped in deck blankets. We stayed there because we discovered that we felt much better, that is, the leas seasick, up in the cold fresh air rather than down in our cabin where the cooler system still had not completely relieved the heat from the engines.

At dinner that evening there were just two of us at our table for four. We tried but somehow the food just did not taste right, along with such an uncertain feeling like that in the pit of our stomach.

SPENCERVILLE MAN WILL FACE NEW CHARGES WHEN RELEASED FROM PRISON

Elmer L Reed, a former Spencerville young man who is now serving time in federal prison at Chillicothe, O., will be returned to DeKalb county for prosecution on charges of child neglect after completion of his sentence, county authorites reported this week.

Reed is now serving a one-to-10 year federal term for auto theft.

Prosecuting Attorney James A. Angelone said a detainer would be filed in the local circut court within the next several days and a warrant forwarded to federal authorities. Reed is expected to be released from federal prison in 1949.

Sheriff Carpenter reported Reed is wanted in this county for deserting his wife and child, residents of Spencerville, last summer.

The sheriff said federal authorities reported that Reed was arrested for auto theft in Knoxville, Tenn., several weeks ago. He was tried and convicted a short time later in federal court.

WHAT DO MEN REALLY SEE IN WOMEN

What do boys really "see" when they look at a girl for the first time? Is it the eyes, the smart clothes, the bright smile? Is it the way she walks, the way she talks, the way she says "hello"?An amusing and informative article, "What Men Notice About Women" by Judith Chase Churchhill, in the November issue of Ladies' Home Journal probes that men's standards for judging women "on first sight" are surprisingly diverse.

Robert Taylor for example, notices a woman's walk. "I hate to see a little mincing walk on teetery heels," he says, "just as much as I hate to see a girl striding along like a distance walker." Bing Crosby and Eddie Cantor feel differently on the subject. In their opinions, the eyes have it. "A look into a woman's eyes has always been for me a sort of labor saving device," admits Mr. Cantor, and Bing characteristically remarks, "The first thing I observe about a woman is her eyes: If they twinkle, she has a sense of humor and can take a rib-- and I dearly love to rib a dame."

A somewhat more serious opinion is offered by Author Budd Schulberg. "Very early in the game," he explains, "I divide those women whose role is being attractive from those who are more at peace with themselves and meet you as people rather than as manikins . . . an attractive woman doesn't feel that she's entitled to a life pass to the ball park merely because she exists - - she's a thing of beauty and a joy forever." In the same line are the words of Edward Fenton, who says: "one is not aware of anything specific, but of everything at once and especially of that fact that she is a woman and knows it fully."

Wyatt Home Damaged By Fire

Three Departments Battle Flames That Gutted Farm Home Northeast Of Town

Flames gutted the newly- remodeled farm home of the Robert Wyatt family on Road 8 northeast of St. Joe early Saturday morning causing loss estimated at over $5,000.

Three county fire departments, from Butler, St. Joe and Auburn, battled the flames for over two hours. Firemen were hampered by a shortage of water.

The attic and most of the upstairs of the remodeled stucco home were swept by the blaze. A large part of the first story was badly damaged. In addition the family lost a majority of their clothing and the furnishings of the home.

The fire was discovered about 12:30 a. m. by Mrs. Wyatt, who was awakened by what she described as a "cracking" noise in an upstairs closet.

By the time the Butler firemen, who were the first to arrive on the scene, got there the upstairs of the home was blanketed in flames.

The St. Joe fire department was called shortly afterward, and the Auburn firemen were summoned a little later.

The fire is believed to have been caused by defective wiring in the attic of the home. Firemen said that a home built on the preenst site of the Wyatt residence burned to the ground about 25 years ago.

LEO LEGION AND AUXILIARY ANNOUNCES CHRISTMAS PARTY

Jack Brinker American Legion Post 409, Leo, and the Auxiliary Unit will hold a Christmas Party at the new Post Home on the Leo Road, for members and their families. The pot luck supper and social gathering will be held Saturday night, December 11th.

An interesting program is being planned by the Auxiliary Rehabilitation and Hospitality Chairmen, Mrs. Vernon Halter and Mrs. William Warner, respectively. Music will be porvided and moving pictures of a recent Europeann visit by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marolf will also be shown. Santa Claus will bring a Christmas treat for the children at some time during the evening. All members are urged to bring all members of their families for an enjoyable and entertaining evening.

NEWVILLE NEWS

The Busy Bees of the U. B. Sunday School entertained the Winners of the Mt. Pleasant S. S. Friday evening in the church basement.

Numbered among the sick last week were Dr. Cecil Miller and his sister, Mrs. Jett Schram.

L. W. Yeiser spent several days last week at Indianapolis and in attending commissioner's Court at Auburn, this week.

The Christmas entertainment at Mt. Pleasant will be Dec. 19. The one at the Christian Church will be Dec. 23, and the one at the U. B. Church will be Dec. 24.

Mrs. Phyllis Ostrander who spent the past week here in the Dickerson home returned to her home in Ft. Wayne, Sunday.

The house on the Robert Wyatt farm 1½ miles west of Newville on road 8 was discovered to be on fire early Saturday morning. Fire Departments from St. Joe, Butler and Auburn responded to calls and saved the building, but the inside and the roof was badly damaged. Work on repairing the house was started Monday.

Letters in the Bible

Lesson for December 12, 1948

A LETTER in the mail! Those are exciting words. It was so when the Babylonians chipped open their dried clay envelopes, it is so when we rip the end off our paper envelopes, it was so when the marooned and homesick Timothy broke the seal on the papyrus notes that his old friend and teacher Paul sent him. Most letters reach the wastebasket, and we know that some of Paul's did. But fortunately his friends thought enough of about a dozen of his letters to save them and copy them and file them with some others and pass them around. And so we got more than a third of our New Testament, and perhaps a good deal more than a third of our theology.

Dr. Foreman

Yesterday in Television

THESE letters that have come down to us from so long ago are not only keenly interesting, they are immensely valuable. An honest informal letter is like an open window. We see into the writer's mind and life, we see the life of his times. Any historian feels lucky when he lights on a packet of old letters. Here is yesterday in television.

The letters of the New Testament, especially Paul's, are not propaganda literature. Paul was not writing for publication or for posterity. He would be bothered by a problem; he would think and pray about it, and then he would sit down and write about it.

However trivial the problem might seem, such as a local church quarrel, Paul never wrote trivially about it. He would pour out his mind on papyrus, usually dictating his letters to a secretary and sometimes so fast that the secretary obviously had a hard time keeping up.

If you want to know how an Apostle's mind worked, here it is. If you want to know how an inspired religious genius, one of the great of all time, planned and grieved and hoped and rejoiced, read these letters. Further, these letters televise for us the early Christian church. This is not a view of the church on parade, this is a glimpse of the church as it was "on the hoof," struggling, quarreling, ignorant, scarce one step removed from raw heathenism, and yet with the root of Christian faith in its heart, the seed of the great church that has grown up through the centuries.

Friend to Friend

THE letters in the New Testament are of various kinds. The letter to the Philippians from Paul was written, from prison, to some of his best friends. Recently they had sent him not only money but a man named Epaphroditus to stay with Paul and help him, Paul being in constant bad health. But Epaphroditus himself had fallen ill, and when he grew better he was still homesick.

Paul, generous as always, decided to send his sick friend home to convalesce, and by his hand sent the letter which the Philippian church loved, saved and copied, so that it eventually made its way into the New Testament collection.

There is some high theology in the letter; but there is also some warm human friendship, and some of the best advice Paul ever gave. It is in this letter we discover Paul's secret of happiness. I have learned (he wrote) in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content. (See chapter 4.)

When you read those paragraphs, simply glowing with happiness, remember they were written by a sick man, in jail, facing a serious charge on his forthcoming trial. Paul had actually discovered a joy which is trouble-proof.

Father to Sons

PAUL knew he would not live forever on this planet and could not live everywhere. So he spent much effort training helpers and successors. Some of these disappointed him sorely; but he was never disappointed in Timothy.

His letters to Timothy are personal, but they are more than that. They are advice from an older minister to a younger one, from a veteran missionary to a fresh recruit.

In I John we have another kind of letter, from an old, perhaps retired minister to a congregation he knows and loves. Again in I John the reader gets the impression of reading a family letter from father to sons and daughters.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE SPENCERVILLE GYM was at its usual capacity - - full, at 6:15 Wednesday. The ones that had been there since 5:30 quit eating their supper they had so wisely carried with them - - the St. Joe Tiger and Spencerville Red Raiders game was about to get underway. This was the setting Wednesday evening as the Spencerville High boys took the show over from there to take both the second team and varsity game, the latter being by an overwhelming 41 to 19 tune.

AFTER 3 minutes of even matched play, the Raiders had taken a small 5 to 4 lead. Jim Bowser came into the game and had time enough to hit two of his one handed specials from the corner, to send his team into a 9-4 lead at quarter time. a lead the Tigers never broke. The scoring was even in the second quarter and the locals trailed 16 to 11 at the main intermission. Sunny Hook and his little brother, Edddie put on a scoring show in the last half. Piling up 14 points between them, the two spearheaded a 25 point second half that left the locals far behind. Peschen took an early trip to the showers, picking up his fifth personal foul shortly after the half. Richmond, Tiger guard also went out after picking up his fifth foul early in the last quarter.

IN HIGH SCHOOL basketball around the county the Auburn [illegible] Devils are definitely jumping into the slot as the team to watch in the County, and perhaps in Northern Indiana, as the first month of play for most schools comes to a close. Coach Showalter, using big, Jim Schooley as the hub has built up a team that has been showing its heels to the best of competition as yet. Conquering the Concordia Cadets by 20 points, and South of Ft. Wayne by 3 last week, has brought them no little attention in this part of the state along with Huntington, who from all early reports are the proud possessor of a team they call the Vikings,, that have everything - - speed, height, and an ability to get the ball thru the nets with nothing to be desired. The Auburn Red Devils will be out to continue their clean sweep of the Summit City schools, and to do this they face the task of adding the scalps of the North Side Redskins to their belts, come Saturday night at Auburn.

AFTER ENJOYING a hot shooting nite against the County Rural Youth last Saturday, the Legion team went into a two game slump and were defeated in games Monday and Tuesday.

THEIR WIN Saturday night was a 76 to 56 affair ,and although winning by 16 points, the locals actually held only slim leads until the closing minutes of play. Russ Ridgway dumped in 23 points to lead in scoring but was given a close race by Jim Kinsey who had 22.

Saturday evening the locals will play host to Ronnie's of Hicksville in a single game starting at 8 p. m.

IN A VIM league game at the St. Joe gym, Thursday evening, the Auburn legion won their first league game when they hit a hot 21 point last quarter to upset the Par Tee team of Spencerville by a 41 to 38 score. Mavis led the Auburn vets with 18 points, while Lemish bagged 12 for the losers.

THE LEGIONAIRRES bowling team struck a hard blow to the Locker Market of Hicksville in Inter-City league competition. In their bid to take over the top slot, they handed their opponents 3 losses.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

With the waterfowl season over in the northern states and just underway in the South, sportsmen the nation over already are campaigning for a longer season and a larger bag limit for 1949.

Most every one you talk to has a different idea on just how long next year's season should be and the number of ducks that should be allowed, but the average is six to seven weeks of gunning and a bag limit of six to eight birds per day.

We've seen more ducks passing on our favorite flyways this year than for the last couple of seasons. And, naturally, that would lead us to believe that the waterfowl population is up. Just how much this increase is we would hesitate to guess but there is an increase.

We have gone along with the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service 100 per cent in its methods of controlling the waterfowl seasons. The flyway management system in our opinion, is okay; however, there are plenty of sportsmen yelling loud and long that it's definitely unfair to give one section of the country a longer season and other sectins.

Many sportsmen feel that everyone is equal and entitled to equal hunting rights. The are probably right and it's reasonable to asssume that the pressure will be heavy to make next year's regulations the same the nation over. And we're getting right now that the 1949 rules will be the same as to the length of the season and the bag limit.

But we think it's too early to be discussing next year's regulations. Reports of the number of ducks are too spotty to be of real value in accurately figuring the waterfowl population.

After the season is over and the federal agencies have the opportunity to check the wintering grounds, the year's kill and other essential details is the time to start talking about the 1949 setup.

But you can bet your old duck call against a week's shoot that the wildlife boys had better be prepared to ward off many blows from sportsmen who think that four or five ducks a day and a 30 day season is too little.

If we have the ducks for a longer season, well and good. But let's not endanger the future of waterfowl gunning by getting greedy

Common Cold Still Defies Science

With about 94 per cent of the American population due to come down with at least one cold during the next twelve months, scientists throughout the country are continuing their fight against the nation's number one disease. At any one time in the winter, an average of 23,000,000 persons suffer from this unpleasant ailment. Experts estimate that colds cost the nation at least $2 billion annually in medical expenses and lost pay.

What causes the common cold has puzzled humanity for over 2,000 years. During the course of history many theories have been advanced, including everything from "pestilential vapors" and the influence of comets to bed bugs and face powder

About twenty years ago, it became generally agreed among the medical profession that colds were caused by viruses, invisible bits of matter which reach their victims through the air as well as by direct contact.

Then, late in 1947, the U. S. Public Health Service announced that researchers at the National Institute of Health had succeeded in isolating a virus which is the cause of one type of common cold.

But the researchers themselves stated that their work pointed only "to the possibility, not the probability of producing a vaccine." Nevertheless, this first successful isolation of a cold-causing virus is a real ray of hope for the eventual solution of the problem.

Although no cure for colds has been found, there are ways to avoid them. Medical authorities offer these suggestions as the be. insurance against colds:

Keep healthy by eating proper foods and getting enough fresh air and exercize and plenty of rest.

Avoid chilling by dressing properly—wear warm clothes in cold weather and wear overshoes, rubbers and protective covering when it rains or snows.

Whenever possible, stay strictly away from anyone who has a cold and keep out of drafts.

If you fall victim to the common cold, go to bed and rest, eat light meals, and drink plenty of water. Call a doctor if you have a fever, aches or a racking cough for more than 24 hours.

What's Under the Hood?

Machine loving, curious Americans, we are. If we buy a new car, most of us want to know first what it's got that makes it go. Many a lad, since grown up but still curious, remember's papa's razor-strop or mama's rage because he tore up the Big Ben alarm clock. He just wanted to see what made it tick! The genius of young America today, for understanding things and machines and gadgets, shows a quality of mind and spirit that is distinctly American. May we never lose it.

To want to know what's under the hood is a mighty fine thing. But about America itself: the story of our enormous growth, the foundations for our freedoms and prosperity—these things we have not looked into. We know that America is the best land in which to live, but we don't always have the answers why That's not fair to America, nor fair to the future we all have a right to expect. We ought to know the How's and Why's of the American Miracle.

Seeing Is Believing

Ever since I came back in 1936 from a ten-year stay in China and a look-see at dozens of other nations both ways around the world, I have been plugging for real understanding of America. When we steamed into New York harbor that time, my wee daughter thought Heaven would be wonderful if it were half that nice. She didn't mind saying so. She was born in China. But I found a nation full of confused people, and I felt that many of my fellow Americans were faint-hearted.

I do not regret having since devoted so much time and energy to the job of reselling everybody I meet on the idea of America. It's not that Americans are against the American way of doing things. We've been so free, and so busy, that we just haven't paid much attention to the reasons for our well-being. Then, when some Johnny Commie happens along to tell us: "Down with capital and hate your boss!"—we fail to have answers ready for him. Such a misunderstanding of America can be serious.

Know Your Land

I am happy to see that the Advertising Council, Inc., a non-profit organization made up of men in the advertising profession, will dramatize the story of America in magazines, newspapers, and on billboards. Many companies and publications will sponsor the advertisements prepared by the Council. The American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and other groups are helping. If you see any of the ads in November and later months, please read them.

A Greater America

You will also want to read "The Miracle of America," a booklet which will be offered free in the advertisements. Two full years of work were put into preparations for this educational campaign by the most talented story tellers in the land: America's advertisers. They are doing a fine job telling the story of our nation and the benefits of the American system. Let us echo the story and pass the word around!

You bet, America's going ahead, if we all pull together. If we count our blessings, and at the same time view our glorious future, it'll not be possible for a single American to fall for anybody's false ideas. There's no country with a past like America's nor any with as great a future. If we inform ourselves, and determine that our way is the best, we can settle down and get going toward the goal of an even greater America! What's under the hood will take us places!

Ancient Swiss Custom

In certain sections of Switzerland it is customary to make a wheel of cheese when a daughter is born in the family, and not to cut this wheel until her wedding day.

Preparing tasty, nutritious home meals is an art, well mastered by Phyllis Albright, 17, Cayuga, who has been named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Food Preparation program. Phyllis has prepared and served 56 meals and 177 separate dishes during her nine years as a 4-H member. She has also completed 36 projects: making 355 bakings, canning 319 quarts of food, raising four calves and one barrow, sewing 38 garments and cultivating a garden. She has been president, reporter, and song and recreation leader in her local club and song leader and reporter in the county. She is a junior leader. As a recognition of her 4-H achievements, Phyllis was awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by Servel, Inc.

For the skill and knowledge shown in the planning, selecting, constructing and assembling a rayon dress which won first place in the state 1948 4-H Dress Revue, Rhea Smith, 14, of Muncie, won a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago. Her winning outfit is a navy blue rayon crepe afternoon or short party dress. The basic dress features a scalloped neck line and scalloped wing sleeve. With addition of three-quarter length sleeves slipped on under the dress and fastened to a short bodice, it makes a street dress for Rhea. The dress may still be worn another way by attaching a draped peplum. The total cost of the dress was $18.60. State winners who participate in the National 4-H Dress Revue at Chicago will each receive a $25.00 U. S. Savings Bond from Simplicity Pattern Company, which also provided the National Club Congress trips.

Providing his family with plenty of healthful home-grown vegetables was a major achievement for Norman Chestnut, 21, of Elnora, but he has now also been recognized with State honors in the 1948 National 4-H Garden program. During his 10 years of club work, Norman planted and tended three acres of vegetables which included 20 varieties. In addition, he produced 103 acres of soybeans; 159 acres of corn; 75 acres of melons; 27 acres of tomatoes; and 1,900 pounds of potatoes. Although this is his last year as a 4-H'er, Norman plans to continue as an adult leader. As a recognition of his achievements, Allis-Chalmers provided Norman with an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

If you visited her home in Sharpsville, you would readily see why Jacqueline Tyner, 17, has been named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Home Improvement program. Jacqueline made needlepoint for a chair seat and foot stool. She remodeled her clothes closet by adding more shelves; a shoe rack and short rods for blouses and skirts along one side; higher rods for coats and formals; and one at convenient height for sports and street cloths. In recognition of her achievements, Sears-Roebuck Foundation is providing Jacqueline with an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

These Trying Days

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

After the attempt at dinner we made our way to the couches in the cool smoking room. We stayed there a while to sleep because it was still uncomfortably warm and seemed to be more rough down in our cabin Besides I didn't feel then as though I was able to get all the way to the cabin because right at that time we were really in the tail end of a hurricane and the rocking of the boat had increased so that we felt as though we were on a newly invented "all thrills rolled in one" and most sickening ride in some street fair or amusement park.

Waking up in the smoking room about midnight, I decided to go down to our cabin to go to bed. Finally, as I was falling thankfully to sleep again in my bunk I thought, "I certainly know I am on a boat now!" and I wondered in despair. "Will we feel like this for the rest of the trip?"

The next morning when I woke remembering our sea sick trouble of the day before, I got up very cautiously instead of bounding out of bed as usual and waited for "that old feeling" to come on me again. But strangely I felt absolutely wonderful and it even seemed kind of fun to balance against the rocking of the ship. (After a while we did this balancing unconsciously.) I asked the other three if they feel as good as I did, and the answered was "yes!"

Still unable to believe that this complete transformation would last, we went to he dining room, expecting the worst any minute.

The boat was still rocking, but that miralcle of the sea had happened. We not only had our "sea legs" but our "sea stomachs" as well! We enjoyed our first meal together to the utmost.

We felt fine and without a tremor, could watch the six-foot high, greenish waves. capped with white foam and sparkling in the sun.

Before the day was over we had made many friends from among our fellow travelers.

One was a little Puerto Rican, Felipe who looked just like a Frenchman with his pointed goatee and black beree. He was on his way first to England and France for a visit before going to Madrid, Spain to attend the university there. He wants to be a playwrite and has already written and had published several plays.

Another was an English fellow, Michael, who had been visiting in Canada and was returning home to England to go back to Oxford. He knew the French language very well and spent many hours giving the four of us very useful lesson in French while we sat up on the sun deck.

Also, there was Diana, a darling American girl from Mount Holyoke College who was on her way to study in London.

There was another older Englishman who invited us to stay at his home in London, whenever we should come, so that his three daughters, near our age, could show us around.

Then there was George, a Frenchman who hart been in the U. S for a year and was now returning to Paris. There were several girls from Smith College who were on their way to study in Switzerland, and a couple of fellows from Harvard who were going to study at the Sorbonne.

Having met all these interesting people of all ages and nationalities, we began to do everything together in one big friendly gang. There was always something going on, always fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Monroe who were married November 24 at the Trinity Methodist Church at Fort Wayne, Ind., were given a party and shower in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stamen east of town, on Saturday night, Dec. 11th. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sechler, and son Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Church, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sechler and sons, Mrs. John Dilley and children, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Monroe and Nancy. Mrs. Jessie Sommers of Spencerville and Don Smith of Auburn.

Chalmer Beaty and family of Spencerville, Earl Coburn and Mrs. Viena Rude of this place spent Sunday with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartsough at Goshen, Indiana.

Mrs. Elmer McKay of St. Joe, who has been in St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond, Ind., the past three weeks submitted to major surgery last Saturday and is in a serious condition.

Charles (Chuck) McIntosh, restaurant operator at St. Joe, was again denied a license to sell beer and wine in St. Joe, when his application before the liquor board was rejected at the board's hearing, early Wednesday morning.

The music department of the St. Joe School will present a Christmas program for the December meeting of the P. T. A., Tuesday evening, Dec. 21st at 7:30 p. m. at the high school gym Eighty five pupils will take part in the program. An operetta, "Santa Claus", will be given by grades one to five. A musical play' "The Clackville Chior's Christmas Carlols" will be given by the high school boys and girls chorus.

COUNTY DRIVE FOR C.R.O.P. IS BEING CONTINUED

An intensification of the drive to obtain contributions for DeKalb county's participation in the Christian Rural Overseas Program (C. R. O. P.) was announced Thursday by Fern A. Morr of Waterloo, general chairman.

The collection of two of the three articles sought for shipment, soap and clothing has been progressing satisfactory, with over a ton of soap being collected by the county and city school. However according to reports by the chairman the third and major phase of the campaign, is collecting grain for shipment overseas. This phase of the project is being directed by the various township Farm Bureau leaders.

Farmer have been asked to turn in grain of any type in any amount to the elevator nearest their farms. This grain will be exchanged into wheat which, with the clothing and soap, will comprise DeKalb county's contribution.

The C. R. O. P. drive is sponsored by all denominations of churches in the U. S. The expense of collecting, shipping and distributing the food, clothing and soap to the needy overseas amounts to less than five percent of the amount given. Distribution is under the direction of church officials to lessen the possibility of the relief supplies falling into the hands of the European black market.

Chairman of the tri townships, Newville, Spencer and Concord, is Carl Carpenter; Brooks Trenary-vice chairman; Mrs. Carl Carpenter-S. & E. Leader in Concord ;Mrs. Floyd Roberts, S. & E. Leader in Newville Twp. and Mrs. Lestery Anthony S. & E. Leader in Spencer.

Indiana Teachers Well Trained, Report Shows

POOR EMPLOYMENT PRACTICES CAUSE FREQUENT SHIFTING OF STAFFS IN TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS

Teachers employed in Indiana School cities and towns rank well above the national average in college preparation, 87 per cent of Indiana city teachers and 73 per cent of the town teachers being college graduates or above as compared with approximately 47 per cent of the teachers of the United States as a whole. Township schools, on the other hand, employ teachers who average far less preparation, merely equalling the low national average in this respect, according to a report of the Indiana School Study Commission.

High school teachers in Indiana have as a group much more extensive preparation than elementary teachers, the report states. The desirable standard of five years of preparation for all teachers has been reached by two-thirds of the high school teachers in township high schools are that well prepared, the Commission report declares.

Approximately half of the elementary teachers in Indiana fall below the 'minimum acceptable standard' of four years of preparation, the Commission found. Three-fourths of the elementary teachers in the cities do not hold a Bachelor's degree. The commission points out that a minimum standard of four years of professional preparations has been accepted in the United States for nearly 30 years and that it has been the legal requirement for certification of new teachers in Indiana since 1940.

"However," the report states, "it must be clearly understood that a large per cent of Indiana have secured training considerably beyond the required standards. Also there are many teachers of superior preparation in elementary as well as in secondary schools, and in numerous town and township schools as well as in city school," the findings reveal.

There is an extensive shifting of experienced teachers from school to school, especially in the town and township schools, in many cases to the 'great detriment of the children', the report declares. "The frequent shifting of teaching staffs in town and township schools is truly alarming", a Commission spokesman stated. The report says that this shifting is due primarily to conditions or practices in the schools and communities rather than to factors within the teachers force.

The Commission report warns that "conditions and practices which produce such mobility among stable, experienced teachers are certain to have devastating effects in many ways upon the quality of teaching service to the children of Indiana". It was found that some of the factors which appear to have a bearing upon this mobility are dismissal of teachers to avoid tenure, especially in some town schools, lack of tenure provision for teachers in township schols, short school terms in many corporations, higher salaries and better working conditions in many city schools, search by teachers for school employment under satisfactory administration and supervision, and general school or community conditions. Evidence exists to indicate that some Indiana cities discriminate against married women in staffing their schools.

"The effort of the State of Indiana to encourage the employment of superior teachers by rewarding experience and training in salary schedules appears to be somewhat misunderstood by some employing officials, particularly many township trustees who make appointments without consulting county superintendents or principals. In such instances an apparent lack of appreciation on the part of the trustee of the value to the children of the trainiing and experience of the teacher has brought about a form of discrimination against such superior teachers," the report states.

The Best News

Lesson for December 19, 1948

WHAT kind of news is good? Christians always have called the heart of their religion "Good News," for that is what "Gospel" means. We do not call it "Good Resolutions" or "Good Ideas" or even "Good Ideals." Just Good News. But what is good about it? It is a fair question to ask at Christmas time, for the story that Christmas brings is the beginning of the Gospel.

News of Peace

ONE of the best kinds of news there is is to learn that someone we thought was an enemy, is actually a friend. The end of misunderstanding, of estrangement—what a rush of warmth to the heart it brings!

That is the news of the first Christmas—that God is our friend. Christ did not come to assure men that there is a God. That was well known, indeed few doubted it. He did not even come to announce that there is but one God, for that was already known to the wiser sort of men. Neither did his coming unveil the God of justice. The Greeks and Romans, as well as the Jews, knew such a God only too well.

No wonder a Roman poet, looking about on the religions of his time, concluded that fear is the great god-maker. His notion was a mistake; but it was a natural one. For all the religions of the ancient world, even the religion of the Jew, were attempts to ward off the anger of offended gods.

The coming of Christ was to put an end to all that. This was more than a friendly gesture, it was an act of love. Those who have discovered God in Christ have found that God is not only our Maker but our heavenly Father and Friend. There is no better news!

News of a Gift

IT IS good news also when we hear of a legacy or gift of some sort, especially when it is something we could not have expected. And the story of Christmas is the news about God personally entering the life of man. It is God giving us himself. True, the world is full of the gifts of God.

In the Child of Bethlehem, in the Man he was to become, in the work he was to do, there was a new thing—the self-giving of God. That is one reason why Christmas means infinitely more to a Christian than to any one else.

For the non-Christian, the story of Christmas, for all its charm, is only another story of a child born to poverty, doomed to pain—another chapter in the long agony of man. For the Christian, the story of Christmas is the Good News of how God gives himself, for our sake.

News of Rescue

MANY Americans, caught in the war, starving behind electric fences for years on end, caught their first news of victory from seeing American planes roaring high overhead. No words were needed. It was news, good news, the news of rescue, of freedom.

So it is with man. Caught in the long war between good and evil, a prisoner in the enemy's country, behind the high fences of frustration, plodding heavily through the freezing mire of barren sins, man despairs of strength or freedom.

To all mankind, to each one who will listen, the Christmas story is good news of rescue. A Child is born, but more . . . "a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord."

From a Far Country

IT IS good news when from a far country, until now dark and unknown, we learn that it is a land of friends who send us welcome across the miles. So the meaning of Christmas is good news from a far land, the land beyond what we call death. "Our Saviour Jesus Christ hath abolished death, and brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel" (II Tim. 1:10).

As on the first Christmas, so ever since, the Gospel of God is not alone the good news of a God who loves and forgives and who brings us the victory, it is the news of God who stands at the end of our dark journey to welcome his children home.

Good news! The world has none to equal the news of Christmas.

By Lewis Walter

THE SPENCERVILLE Red Raiders continued their fine showing in High School competition by downing Pleasant Lake by a 57 to 27 score at Spencerville Friday evening. Their win was the Raiders 6th in a row, their only losses coming in the first two games of the season, a 36 to 23 loss to Harlan and a 40-36 defeat by the Butler Windmills.

THE ST. JOE Tigers lost the varsity and second team games to the Ashley Aces Friday night an the only bright spot in the whole evening cerned was the win by the St. Joe Freshman team over the Ashley Freshmen, in the first game of the evening.

ON December 29th the Latty, O., High will play the St. Joe High School both second team and varsity teams. The games will be played at St. Joe. On the next night, Thursday, December 30th the High School and the St. Joe Alumni games will be played at the gym.

THE LEGION lost their Saturday night game here to Ronnies of Hicksville by a 59 to 54 score in a see-saw contest at the local gym. The locals were behind 19 to 15 at the end of the first quarter, but by the end of the half the locals had stolen the lead and were out in front 34 to 28, Straley, Bowers and Jones all helped out heavily in the third quarter for the visitors, and they were once again in the lead 47 to41 as the final period got underway. Storer led both teams in scoring with 19 points.

IN A LEAGUE contest at Butler Tuesday night, the locals lost a hard fought game to the Auburn Clutch by a 45 to 37 score. The locals jumped to an early lead andwere still in the drivers seat, 16 to 9 at the end of the first quarter. The Clutch had forged into the lead by halftime, mainly through their efforts from the free throw line and were ahead 26 to 20. During the second half the Clutch was only making 4 field goals but their constant parade to the charity stripe cinched the game for them. 28 personals were tagged on the locals and 12 were charged against the Clutch Dinelt with 13 and Roland Davis with 12 led the winners. Jim Kinsey had 12 for St. Joe.

THE LOCALS will continue Saturday night play here, meeting the Waterloo Independents in a single game here this Saturday night at 7:30.

TWO VIM league games are on schedule for the St. Joe gym next Thursady evening. ParTee will meet Angola in the first game at 7:45 and the locals will take on the Garrett Legion in the second game.

. . . . . .

LOCAL fans can take advantage of the fact that the Tigers aren't in action this Friday and can get a real line on the power basketball teams in the county and perhaps a pre-look at two sectional favorites when the Auburn Red Devil and Garrett Railroaders, battle deluxe, at the Auburn gym.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

As the 1948 hunting season moves towards the finale in the north country and hits high gear in the southland, the same old stories that always plague the hunting fraternity again are making the headlines. We're referring to stories about this hunter or that one being fatally shot while in the field.

A duck hunter wades out to right some decoys, steps into deep water and is drowned; a deer hunter sees the brush move and shoots, thinking it's a deer only to find he's killed his compahion; a rabbit hunter dies from a charge of No. 6's in the stomach when his gun goes off while climbing a fence.

The stories fall into the same pattern in most ever state and year after year. They don't make pretty readings, yet little has been done to rid the nation of repeat performances.

That's a tough question to answer. It has been suggested by some sportsmen that tests be given before licenses are issued. Handle it, they say as you handle the issuing of a driver's license - - make a man show he's competent before issuing a permit.

Maybe this idea has merit; at least it shows thinking in the right direction. However, tests migh not prove practical for all cases. Teach a man how to handle a gun before giving him a license probably would remedy some of the deaths resulting in climbing fences, shotguns or rifles discharging in an automobile and the "unloaded guns" that take their tolls in homes.

But what about Mr. Trigger-Happy Deer Hunter who shoots first and looks afterwards? He probably could pass a license test with flying colors, yet he's a menace in the woods!

Our answer for this fellow is "manslaughter"--make it a crime to kill with a hunting weapon.

All the stories we've read this year uses the word "accidental" in reporting hunting deaths. We don't believe that's the right description of many of them for, with few exceptions, these deaths could have been avoided if the hunters had used just a little common sense when in the field.

Possibly it is a mass education job of hunters that's needed to solve the problem. But most likely it is a job for each individual hunter to learn the rules of safe gun handling and sportsmanship, an to practice these rules every trip afield.

Again it, seems like long distance telephone calls will reach a new high over the Holiday Season. May we suggest the following to expedite your calls:

1. Give the operator the name of the distant city and state.
2. Give the operator the number you are calling; in the event you do not know the number, give the name and address of the called party.
3. If you wish to talk with a particular individual, tell the operator the person's name.
4. Wait until the operator asks for your number.
5. Allow time for the operator to answer. Remember many other calls are in process of completion.
6. Past experience shows peak loads are from 9:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M. and 3:30 P. M. Your call may be completed faster if you avoid these peak hours.

1010 MOTOR SALES

It was not so many years ago that there were hardly any used car dealers in the country, because new cars were readily available. Today, the used car dealer offers the majority of people the only posible means of getting another car. To the average person who is seeking a car, one of the most important considerations is where to buy. The assurance that their cars are in good condition is given by Bob Hisley at the 1010 Motor Sales at 1010 E. Pontiac in Fort Wayne. For 26 years Mr. Hisley has been in the automobile and service field and still today operates one of the most efficent auto repair shops in the area. In his shop all his cars are gone over and given whaever repair is required. The car owner who is looking for a place to have his car overhauled will find Hisely's a most efficent and economical place to have it done, for they are doing expert work at greatly reduced prices.

If you are shopping for a car these days it is well to look over the ones on dipslay at Bob Hinsely's. He has a large selection from which to choose and they will give the type of performance that you desire.

MARTIN'S NURSERY

A person's charm or personality are most usually quickly reflected from their smile and features. This also is generally true of the home. If its exterior breathes its own personality it is truly home in every sense of the word. Let your home reflect the charm of its own personality by adding those items in the gounds that will add to its appearance. Maybe it needs just a few perennials, or flowers, or shrubs; whatever it may be in that line, you will find that Martin's Nursery at 3316 Leo Rd., Ft. Wayne, has it for you. As you can see in the picture they have a wide variety of hardy items with which to make the landscaping around your home be the talk of the neighborhood.

For expert advise or service on planting, you need go no further than Martin's for they have a complete landscape service that is designed to meet the economical need of the average home owner. In fact hundreds of people all over this section of Indiana are familiar with the work that they have done and with the beatuy of their roses, evergreens and shrubs. So the next time you go to Fort Wayne, stop just at the city limits and visit Martin 'sNursery.

Dehydrating Alfalfa

When alfalfa is dehydrated it usually is cut with a field chopper which blows it into a large wagon. As soon as the wagon is filled it is hauled to the dehydrating plant. The ideal timing is to get it into the dehydrator in less than two hours—then little wilting (or enzyme action) has taken place. Actual process of dehydrating takes only a few minutes.

A Farm Investment THAT PAYS

FARMER after farmer in this area has found how profitable electric helpers are . . . electric milkers, electric water pumps, hay dryers, feed grinders and all the rest. That's why you see so many electric ranges being delivered to farms around here. Electric cooking is just plain good sense.

An electric range saves steps for mother because it's automatic. It saves money because it reduces meat shrinkage and the less expensive cuts come out more tender. It saves work because it's clean. No soot or grime to scrub off pots and pans or dirty up the kitchen.

This Christmas, give your family an electric range. Your nearby appliance dealer will be glad to demonstrate that it's the best cooking device ever invented. Why not see him now?

Does Government Management Work?

For a decade before World War II, France was moving toward control and management of her major industries. Private employers were unduly criticised. The profit system was represented as being abused. There were those who apparently found it easy to foment confusion and strife. Employees were set against employers. Production went down, standards of living went lower and lower. The security of France became doubtful, as dangers arose.

Then came the attack from Hitler. France fell quickly. Her divided condition, her hatreds and factionalism, made defense feeble and weak. Then five years later, liberation came. France again established her own government. But industrial confusion was still everywhere. Employers were so discredited by the propagandists that production couldn't get going.

From Chaos to Worse

The trouble was that the French people in general, fretted by the propagandists, couldn't get down to straight thinking. The public wanted more and more for doing less and less. The call for government to take over major industries became louder and louder.

Certain industries were therefore taken over in 1945 and 1946. One of these was the coal industry, in which the government took over ownership of the mines. It employed the management, and hired all the workers. The government was placed in full and complete control. Three years passed.

No Happy Family

You have perhaps read the news in recent weeks. Government employed miners went out on strike against their government employer. These government employees so seriously damaged government owned mines that government soldiers had to be sent out to protect the property and the mines. You might think that under Socialism, everybody would be just one happy family.

Not at all. Fighting has been going on between the government miners and the government soldiers. Property has been so damaged that some mines cannot be reopened for many months at best. Lives have been lost in the fighting, and many persons wounded. All this at a time when France is in a critical hour, when her people need coal and fuel. This is all wrong, and it certainly proves that government management cannot insure industrial peace.

Keep Industry Safe

There are other important observations. Very important is the fact that government ownership and management of mines did not increase production per man day. On the other hand, 4 million tons of coal have been lost, and the price has risen about 50 per cent. This has led to the diversion of 19 million Marshall Plan dollars from other purposes, to buy fuel for the French people.

Many who wanted government management are still not satisfied. Many of them are promoting a Communistic state, now. That would happen in America. There is no indication that government management would work any better here. It is only a step toward Communism, which we do not want. Let us work in every way to preserve private management, a system which has helped America to achieve the highest wages and best living conditions ever known.

MODERN FARMING

What's New In Farm Equipment

Five thousand years ago, man's principal farm implement — perhaps his only implement — was a crooked stick. Today, on farms in the United States alone, more than 6 billion dollars worth of power machinery and implements are used by farmers to produce the crops that make us the best fed, best clothed nation in the world.

Farm tractors in this country now number over 3 million, with an average of five tractor-operated implements per tractor . . . 15 million power implements including more than 100 different kinds of tools.

Eighty percent of all heavy duty farm work, and 60 percent of all farm field work is done by tractor or tractor equipment. More than 80 percent of the land is disked or plowed with tractor power. Ninety percent of the small grain crop is seeded and harvested with tractor-drawn machines. Half the nation's corn crop is harvested with mechanical pickers.

Mechanization of farming hasn't reached the saturation point yet! Research by farm equipment manufacturers goes on and on . . . developing better tools, better equipment, better machinery to make each farm job easier, more efficient and more profitable for American farmers. The pictures below show some of the newest types of equipment introduced by implement companies during 1948.

Fertilized Pastures

help build the productivity of your soil

Many farmers are using long-rotation pastures, generously fertilized to build up the valuable organic matter, as a practical means of preventing erosion and increasing the crop-producing power of the soil.

By fertilizing pastures with plant foods of high potash and phosphate content, you can nourish the healthy growth of cover crops which add needed organic matter to the soil. In this way, you prepare the land for the future production of cultivated crops, and at the same time provide abundant money-saving forage for your livestock.

You will find it profitable to depend on high quality International Fertilizers, as so many other farmers have for nearly forty years, for the mineral-rich plant foods you need for pastures and other crops.

Your International Fertilizer Agent is prepared to help you select the plant foods best suited to the requirements of your crops. See him now—place your order early for International crop-producing plant foods to be sure of obtaining the fertilizers that will give you satisfaction at harvest time.

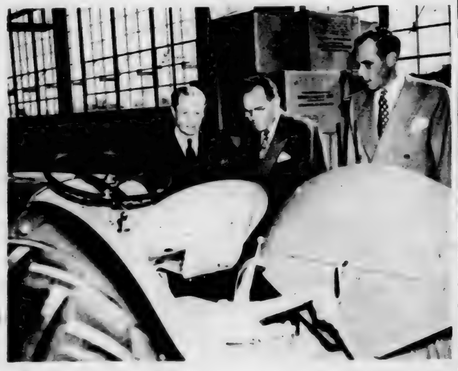
One of the newest and most radically different tractors to come on the market during 1948 is this Allis-Chalmers, featuring a rear-mounted engine, and a full line of front-mounted, quick-hitch companion implements. The cultivator on tractor above can be attached or removed in five minutes flat!

New quonset portable corn feeder is mounted on wooden platform and skids for easy moving. Holds 500 bushels of ear corn, eliminates 90 per cent of the work required for feeding hogs.

Parlor milking, such as this Surge installation, is taking the farmer's fancy much faster than you would think. Starting in the Pacific Northwest, it has spread to almost every state in the union. Its advantages are numerous — miles of steps can be saved, the operator works standing up, the gutter has been removed, and it's easy to wash up a small compact milking room after every milking.

Just out this year is the New Idea power take-off mower, which is designed for quick, easy hitching to all farm tractors equipped with standard power take-offs and drawbars. All weight is carried and balanced on mower's rubber-tired wheels. Power take-off lifts and lowers cutter bar

New for 1948 is this Artkraft utility refrigerator, produce-holder and milk cooler, designed to hold 20 gallons of milk in cans, 11 cu. ft. of storage space for keeping garden produce crisp and fresh for days, as well as ample space for efficient storage of household foods



Harry Ferguson, (left), and other executives of his newly formed tractor manufacturing company at Detroit, Mich., inspect the first tractor off the assembly line of the big new plant. This is a dream come true for Ferguson, Irish-born inventor of the famous Ferguson System of tractor and implements, who now has his own manufacturing source in the United States for the first time.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS

1 cup sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
3 squares candy-making chocolate
¼ tsp. salt
1½ cups heavy cream

Combine sugar, corn syrup, chocolate, salt, and cream. Place over low heat and stir constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue boiling over low heat until mixture begins to thicken. Pour into lightly buttered 8 x 4 x 3 inch pan. (Do not scrape pan.) Let stand until cold. Mark with knife in ¾ inch squares and turn on cold slab, top side up; cut in squares, using full length of long, sharp blade. Let stand in cool place 2 to 3 hours to dry. Wrap each caramel in waxed paper.

FRUIT CAKES form the backbone of holiday refreshments

FRUIT CAKE

2 lbs. currants
2 lbs. seedless raisins
½ lb. chopped candied pineapple
½ lb. chopped candied cherries
1 lb. chopped candied citron
2 cups sherry or fruit juice
4 cups sifted flour
1 tblsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. allspice
½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. nutmeg
1½ tsp. salt
2 cups shortening
2 cups sugar
¾ cup grape jelly
12 eggs
1 lb. chopped blanched almonds
1½ lbs. broken pecans
2 tblsp. vanilla extract

Combine fruits, add sherry or fruit juice. Cover and let stand over night. Sift together flour, spices and salt. Cream together shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add jelly and mix thoroughly. Beat eggs and add to creamed mixture alternately with flour mixture. Add nuts and fruits, a small amount at a time. Add vanilla extract. Bake in greased paper-lined loaf pans in slow oven (300° to 325° F.). Bake large cake 3 hours. Bake small individual cakes 2½ x 4 inches, 1 hour. Cool, cakes in pans. When cool, cakes may be garnished with fruits and nuts. Makes about 4 fruit cakes.

Glaze for Fruit Cakes: 1 cup sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, ½ cup water. Combine ingredients and cook until mixture forms thick syrup. Cool. Spread on cake. While moist arrange garnish of candied fruits and nuts. Wrap in cellophane or store in covered containers.

As the Yule Log Burns

It's Christmas Eve and as the yule log burns, let's draw up our easy chairs while we rest and chat a bit. You've been so busy with your holiday baking, your Christmas shopping and gift-making that you haven't had a moment to wonder what the Christmas tree held for you. Someway no mother ever thinks about that.

So I've tucked some surprises under the tree and into some of those gaily wrapped packages that hang from its branches. See that red box perched high among the tinsel trimming of the tree? That's a box of homemade candy — chocolate caramels at that!

There's a steamed pudding for your Christmas dinner; that's in the drum-shaped object all done up with huge silver bows. And that large golden box swinging from a lower branch contains fruit cake. You'll be able to keep that for months, I hope, but that may depend upon your holiday guests!

There's Christmas Stollen, of course — marked with Mother's name. And it wouldn't be Christmas without cookies, would it? If you peek into the poinsettia box beneath the tree, you'll find it's crammed full of Yuletide cookies for this gay 1948 season.

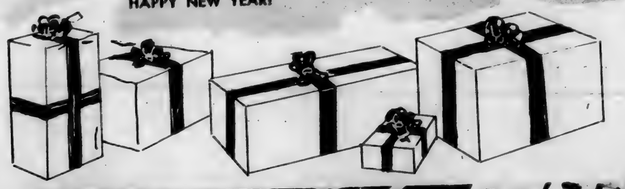
There are refreshments for tonight on the table near the fire — a luscious Holly Wreath Nut Cake that's very special. Then there are piles of popcorn balls and loads of candy for all the family to enjoy.

MERRY CHRISTMAS, my friends . . . and a HAPPY NEW YEAR!



STOLLEN — a Yuletide favorite of Old World and New World alike

1 pkg. yeast, compressed or dry
¼ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup milk
2 tblsp. shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
2½ cups sifted flour (about)
¼ cup raisins
¼ cup chopped citron
¼ cup chopped candied cherries
2 tblsp. melted butter
Confectioners Sugar Icing, chopped nuts.

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup flour. Mix well. Add softened yeast, egg and lemon rind. Beat well. Add raisins, citron and cherries. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1½ hours). Punch down. Divide into 2 equal portions. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll each portion into an oval ⅜" thick. Brush one half of each oval with melted butter. Fold over like large parkerhouse rolls. Do not press edges together. Place on greased baking sheets. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 30 minutes. Frost lightly with Confectioners Sugar Icing and sprinkle with nuts. Makes 2.

HOLLY WREATH NUT CAKE

Christmas comes but once a year —

Measure into sifter:
2¾ cups sifted cake flour
2 tsp. double-acting baking powder
1½ tsp. salt
1¾ cups sugar
Measure into mixing bowl:
1 cup of shortening (room temp.)
Measure into cup:
° milk (see below for amount)
1 tsp. orange extract
1 tsp. almond extract

Have ready:
3 eggs and 1 egg yolk, unbeaten
¾ to 1 cup finely chopped nut meats
° use ½ cup milk with butter, margarine or lard. Use ¾ cup milk if vegetable shortening is used.

Mix by hand or at a low speed of mixer. Stir shortening just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add milk and mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes. Add eggs and beat 1 minute longer. Add nuts and blend. (Count only actual beating time. Allow about 150 strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and spoon often.) Turn batter into loaf pans. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 1 hour or until done. Spread with frosting and decorate with wreath of cut citron and maraschino cherries.

For Something Special in Good Eating

Try this sweet pickle cure for smaller pieces at butchering time

Are spare ribs, neck bones, liver, tongue, and other odds and ends a problem with you at butchering time?

This year, instead of rushing to use up these smaller pieces immediately, put them up in a pickle made with Morton's Tender Quick. Use them at your leisure. You'll have some of the grandest eating you ever sat down to.

For your hams and bacon, cure with Morton's Tender Quick and Sugar Cure. Your meat will be firm, sweet, tender, perfectly cured from rind to bone—the best-tasting, best keeping hams you ever had.

Curing from the inside out and from the outside in, the Morton Way is faster and it's safer. More than a million farm families use no other method.

Cure your hams this easy, simple, safer Morton Way

First — Dissolve Morton's Tender Quick in water and pump along the bones. This fast-acting curing pickle starts curing INSIDE . . . helps prevent bone taint, off-flavor, under-cured spots.

Then — Rub the outside with Morton's Sugar Cure. This complete sugar-curing salt strikes in from the OUTSIDE, curing toward the center . . . gives a thorough cure, and rich, smoke flavor.

For delicious sausage, use Morton's Sausage Seasoning. It's a rare blend of salt, peppers, sage, and other choice spices, ready to use. Just add to the meat and grind.

The secret of the exceptional quality of Morton cured meat is the special ingredients in Tender-Quick that bring out and intensify the rich meat flavors hidden in the meat cells and which you don't ordinarily experience. It also adds delicious taste and firmness to the fat.

Cure your meat the improved

Frank Curie, Sr. Dies Suddenly

Heart Attack Fatal, Shortly After 71st Birthday Celebration

Death came suddenly to a lifelong resident of DeKalb County and the St. Joe community, when Frank Curie, Sr., 71 of Newville Township died suddenly of a heart attack at 9:15 p. m., Saturday. Mr. Curie was celebrating his 71st birthday and had just finished eating his birthday dinner with a friend, Peter Amstutz of near Grabill, who also was 71 on Friday.

Following the dinner which was held at the Curie residence, near the junction of state roads 101 and 1 and eight, Mr. Curie started to fix the fire and collapsed of a heart attack. The Gerig ambulance was summoned but the elderly farmer and livestock buyer was dead upon its arrival. His death was unexpected, although he had complained recently of not feeling well.

Final rites were conducted on Tuesday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Cleo Roth of Hicksville officated at the services which were held at the Newville U. B. Church. Burial was made at the St. Joe cemetery.

A lifelong resident of DeKalb county, Mr Curie was born Dec. 17 1878. He was a farmer and stock buyer. The Curie family formerly resided in St. Joe, and Mr. Curie was janitor at the Concord Twp. High School buildings for a number of years before moving to the farm about 6 years ago.

Mr. Curie is survived by the wife, Cora; two sons, Frank, Jr., at home and Herbert of Garrett, wive daughters, Mrs. Katherine Jump, Mrs. Grace Cook Mrs Mary Brown and Mrs. Ruth Moore, all of Hicksville, O., and Mrs. Lucile Frederick of Ft. Wayne; 15 grandchildren, two brothers, Morris of St. Joe and Grover of Kendallville, and five sisters, Mrs. Amanda Klopfenstein of Grabill, Mrs. Charles Koch of Garret, Mrs. Harry Henderson of Newaygo, Mich., Mrs. Frank Beams of Spencerville and Mrs. Emma Schilling of Baltimore, Md. One son, Charles, preceded him in death.

Card of Thanks

We wish in this way to express our thanks to our many neighbors and friends for their sympathy and kindness shown to us during our recent bereavement; also for the many floral offerings.

THE ST. JOE NEWS

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

Am I dreaming? No, here are Joan and June and Ann lolling in the sun right beside me, watching the waves dance away into the horizon. But it just doesn't seem possibble that only a short week ago we were driving in a car from Buffalo to New York through the Catskills, and they really were gorgeous.

Of course, this is beautiful too, a majestic and awful sort of beauty. It makes one feel insignificant and alone out on this vast ocean. And you wonder just what would happen if this great Atlantic got to kicking up a big fuss as it really can do at times But there's no feeling of fear for this boat has been well named - the Queen Mary. And she truly is Queen, as she majestically glides over the waves, the white wake trailing behind just like a train on queen's gown.

Huge! My she's huge! I think back of Ft. Wayne and how tired I used to get sometimes when I had a lot of Chistmas bundles to carry, and walking from Wolf and Dessauers to the Transfer Corner, then it seemed to be a terrible distance. Of couse, the bundles made it seem farther. Well, you could walk that distance from one end of this boat to the other, and you still wouldn't be off of it. Ten hundred and eighteen feet long! Just thirteen feet shorter than the Queen Elizabeth, the largest passenger boat in the world, more than three average city blocks.

Did I say something about a feeling of being alone, a minute ago? That was ridiculous too, I understand the boat is just about filled to capacity and it can carry more than two thousand passengers. If you will thinks of St. Joe with about five times as many passengers Then there's the crew, too. I've forgotten the figures but I think the crew numbers more than seven hundred. So, with passengers and crew we are not much short of three thousand. And that's a lot of people. But guess what!

With all those people on the boat, I ran into a nephew of one of my teachers at South Side High School, Mrs. Welty. She taught Latin and she was swell. Her nephew is on this boat and I met him and had quite a talk with him. He's going to Paris, too. He's a student at Princeton University and he's with another boy from Princeton. So your'e out on the ocean and it looks like a big world. And - - presto! - - you bump into somebody from home and it's not so big after all.

At that, I'd hate to have to cook the meals for his crowd. Just Think! Forty thousand meals for one trip over. Twenty-five tons of potatoes alone. Six thousand eggs. Twenty tons of meat. Five tons of ham and bacon. Over six tons of sugar. Thirty-six hundred quarts of milk. Two thousand quarts of ice cream. You think I've got a good memory, but these figures I'm getting off of a circular.

There are fourteen decks on this boat - sports deck, sun deck, intermediate deck, decks A, B, C, D, etc. which reminds me that so far I haven't located the poop deck. I think I'll make that my number one project. Oh, Oh! there goes the call for dinner and am I hungry! Now, that's my number one project.

ASKING $10,000 FOR DEATH OF WOMAN AGE 77

Heirs of Mrs. Manford Smith Sue Wabash R .R. for Crash Which Took Her Life, Last May

A $10,000 suit for damages against the Wabash Railroad Company for the alleged wrongful death of the late Mrs. Stella B. Smith, 77, of Hicksvillet, O., was filed Wendesday in the DeKalb circuit court.

The action was filed by W. Dale McNabb of Garrett, a son of Mrs. Smith and and administrator of her estate.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, Manford Smith, 81 were killed instantly last May 14 when a Wabash passenger train struck their automobile at the Howey crossing, north of St. Joe.

The elderly woman was a lifelong resident of DeKalb county until the marriage to Mr. Smith about six months before her death

The son, through his attorneys, Mountz and Moutnz of Garrett, charges that the train which struck the Smith automobile was traveling at a high and dangerous rate of speed. He also accuses the trainmen of not sounding the engine's whistle.

There are no flasher lights at the crossing, and the plaintiff charges that the crossing was obscured by high ditch banks and that that the railroad company negligently let weeds, brus and other plants grow at the crossing to further block the

New Push Button Electric Range

This revolutionary new electric range, operated by push buttons, is being produced by Hotpoint Inc. In addition to the innovation in cooking control, there are 40 new features which give the homemaker unprecedented automatic performance at the touch of a button. Behind each button is a "talking color" light—red, yellow, violet, green and blue—to identify at a glance the five different heat settings for the four surface units and oven. The new range also has rounded interior oven corners for easier cleaning, greater storage space, new timer clock, 36-inch fluorescent lamp to light cooking surface, high speed Calrod surface units, oven signal light, electric time measure, and finger-tip ball bearing drawers with locked stop. The new range comes with two full size ovens, or in a single oven model.

God's V-Day

Lesson for December 26, 1948

EVERYBODY loves a fight, they say. But the underdog does not love it, and nobody loves one that goes on and on and seems to have no end. The longest war in history is the war that mankind wages against everything that is out to destroy him. It is the war between man at his best and man at his worst, between the angel and the devil in man himself. We seem to be the underdogs—and how tired we grow of it!

Dr. Foreman

God's Fight

THE Bible shows us that this fight is not one in which we human begins are left to defend ourselves alone. We have an enemy, Satan; and we have an ally, God. Whenever a man lines up against anything that is wrong, hateful, deceitful, destructive, and on the side of what is creative, just, brotherly and true, he finds that this is not a private fight, it is not even the struggle of mankind alone. It is a cosmic conflict.

God's universe is not a neat garden in which only flowers grow; he has to work cutting down the weeds. His universe is not a realm at peace, with no need even for police; treason is abroad, rebellion breaks out here and there.

The Greeks used to think that the gods never went to any trouble; they ruled without effort. But the Christian Bible tells of a God who does have troubles, who meets opposition and fights against it.

Bright Books for Dark Times

TWO books in our Bible bring this out in a startling way: Daniel and Revelation. We have been thinking through three months now about various kinds of literature in the Bible. The kind represented by these two books is called "Apocalyptic." Scholars have discovered a number of similar books, but these two are incomparably the greatest and were the only two to be admitted to the Bible. One feature of all apocalyptic literature is that it always appears in dark times, and its first readers are people down at the bottom of the heap, people beyond all human hope.

Daniel, long before the time of Christ, and Revelation, two generations later than Christ, came as lights in a very dark world. The first of these books circulated when the Jews were hard pressed by Syrian persecutors, and when the other came out, the Christians were about to be crushed out of existence by cruel Roman emperors.

Observing what went on in those days, you might have thought the Jews, or the Christians as the case might be, had no prospects of surviving. But these books brought a brighter message: Have courage! God will not lose!

A Code in Pictures

DANIEL and Revelation are both hard to understand, and for the same reason. Their messages are framed not always in plain language but in symbols. Hidden meanings abound.

This had to be so; if one of these books fell (as sometimes they did) into the hands of the persecuting agents of the Syrian or Roman governments, it would not get the owner into trouble, for the agent would hardly be able to interpret the strange language.

All sorts of weird creatures and events move through these mysterious pages, and they often probably refer to persons or events known to the writers and the first readers: beasts with iron teeth and horns with eyes; a flaming throne set on a river of fire; golden vials filled with the wrath of God; a red dragon sweeping the stars down with its tail.

God's Victory

WE NEED not be distressed now at not being able to unlock all the code in which these extraordinary books are written. We can read them for their sheer beauty and force of imagination, for one thing, and we cannot miss their main truth. The bright picture of the New Jerusalem in Rev. 21, 22 is one of the loveliest and most comforting passages in the entire Bible.

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

"THE pine tree is our own tree, a grown tree, a cone tree, the tree to face a bitter wind, the tree for mast and spar—a mountain tree, a fine tree, a fragrant turpentine tree, a limber tree, a timber tree, and resinous with tar. . . ."

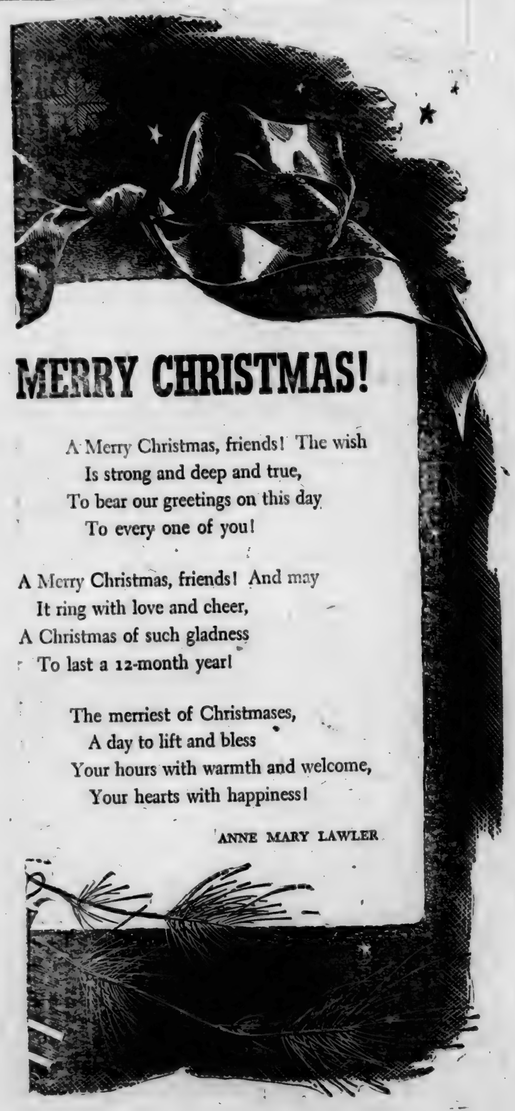
The man who wrote that neglected to add that in the American mind the pine tree is always associated with Christmas. He also omitted the fact that its resinous quality can make it a fire hazard unless it is properly cared for.

Keeping it safe starts as soon as the tree is brought home. Give the butt of the tree a slanting cut, removing about an inch all around the bottom, and set it in a pail of water. The cutting of the tree on a slant removes the surface of the resin which hampers the tree in absorbing water. Then keep this surface covered with water, before and after mounting the tree.

Some chemical treatment may be found that will make evergreens fire resistant, but the experience of Forest Service specialists is that no chemical treatment has been fully satisfactory.

In addition to making the tree itself safe, a few more hints can be offered in regard to appliances and ornaments. Check the wiring on tree lights carefully, and keep paper ornaments and hangings away from the bulbs. When you leave the house be sure to turn the tree lights off, since unattended trees close to draperies can cause disastrous fires in your absence. A canvas cloth around the base is a handy needle-catcher, and when painted red or green adds a decorative note.

To all of you I want to extend my warmest Christmas greetings, and every wish for all good things in the New Year.



MERRY CHRISTMAS!

A Merry Christmas, friends! The wish
Is strong and deep and true,
To bear our greetings on this day
To every one of you!

A Merry Christmas, friends! And may
It ring with love and cheer,
A Christmas of such gladness
To last a 12-month year!

The merriest of Christmases,
A day to lift and bless
Your hours with warmth and welcome,
Your hearts with happiness!

SUB DEB COLUMN

According to a national survey, tallied in the Sub-Dub article, "WHAT'S NEW", "AND WHAT'S NEWS!", in the September issue of Ladies Home Journal, high school fads and fashions from coast to coast are detined for a crazy, colorful school year.

For example, out in Arizona, when a girl is going steady she lets the world in on her secret by lacing her shoes upside down. And in Alabama a girl puts her hearts on her sleeve by wearing a big bright bow tied at the back of her hair. The West Virginia peaches report that all the smoother "honey-chiles" are wearing shorter hair-do's and even the muscle men round school have taken to peroxiding "lucky streaks" in their hair. From Wisconsin comes a new friendship trick for girls-you wear one fancy earring, and who wears the other? Why, your best girl friend of course-just to show you are best friends.

YES there is a SANTA CLAUS

Woman Killed In Auto Accident

Mrs. Louise Bry, 57 of Near Spencerville is DeKalb County's 18th Traffic Fatality

Mrs. Louise C. Bry, 57, of Rt. 1 Spencerville, lost her life in a violent two-car collision Sunday morning at Coburn's Corners. The accident occured about 10:30 a.m. at the intersection of State Road 101 and a gravel, east and west road, at the site of the Coburn Corners Church. Injured were: Andrew Herschberger, 37, also of Spencerville, driver of the death car, his son, 14-year-old Melvin Herschberger, both seriously. They were taken to the Hicksville Community Hospital, where they were reported improving Monday.

Injuries in the other car, traveling south on 101, and driven by Glen Smith of Rt. 1, Hudson, were sustained by his wife, Mrs. Bonnie Smith, 50; Pamela Lee Cribbetts of Champaign, Ill., 5-year old granddaughter of the Smiths' and the child's mother, Mrs. John Cribbets.

Mrs. Smith and the little girl were brought to the Souder Hospital in Auburn where their conditions were not considered serious

Mrs. Bry, an employee of the Universal Tool and Stamping Co. at Spencerville, died instantly of a skull fracture, according to the County Coroner.

Police said Herschberger was driving west on the country road and proceeded across the intersection of state road 101, after failing to stop at the crossing. The officers reported that his view to the north was obstructed by shrubs, trees and automobiles parked at the church. Mr. Herschberger said he slowed at the intersection and looked both ways but did not see Smith's 1941 Buick which was traveling south on 101. Smith said he did not see the Herschberger car until it pulled out in front of him at the crossing. He applied the brakes and skidded nearly 40 feet before crashing broadside into Herschberger's 1941 Plymouth.

The tragedy was witnessed by a son and daughter of Mrs. Bry, who were in another car, also enroute to the Clarence Bry home.

The victim was a native of Dubuque, Iowa. She was born June 15 1891. For the last 12 years she resided in the Spencerville community. Her husband died seven years ago.

Survivng, besides the son, Clarence, are two other sons, Edward Bry of Rt. 1, Auburn, and Charles Bry of Auburn; four daughters, Mrs. Virginia Martin of Auburn, Mrs. Helen Stemen of near this place, Mrs. Milderd Shouldel of Auburn, and Mrs. Myrtle Hornett of near Butler.

Services for Mrs. Bry were held Wednesday at the Cedar Chapel -Methodist Church south of Garrett. Final rites were conducted with the Rev. Joseph Ferguson officiating. Burial was made in the church cemetery there.

L. L. C. CHRISTMAS PARTY

The members of the Ladies Literary Club entertained their gentlemen on Friday evening, December 17, at the Mt. Pleasant Church, north of St. Joe. Forty-two members and guests were present.

The welcome was given by the club president, Mrs. W. J. Staman, followed by a response by Mr. O. K. Shull. Christmas Carols were sung by the group. Grace was said by Rev. Peter Soudah, pastor of the Garrett Presbyterian church and guest speaker of the evening, and was followed by the dinner served by the ladies of the Mt. Pleasant Church.

The speakers table was lovely with a Christmas tree centerpiece of glistening multicolored balls flanked by tall red candles. The guests' tables were illuminated by tiny red Santa candles and little tinsel angels and colorful little Christmas carol booklets.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer, chairman of the program committee, introduced the Rev. Soudah, whose subject was, "Christmas Customs in the Holy Lands."

The program was concluded by the showing of the sound movie, "Twas the Night Before Christmas" by Mrs. Stanley Means.

Small Schools Need Study, Report Shows

Indiana's small high schools should be studied by the people in the local community before changes are made. They should not be arbitrarily combined, states a report released today by the Indiana School Study commission.

Although the commission has found that the most urgent problem relating to reorganization of schools in Indiana involves the small high schools, the report emphasizes that any plan for combining these small schools will necesarily be a long-time program.

The Commission report strongly recommends making the county, exclusive of the cities, the unit for administering and operating schools, but it advocates that consolidation of schools is a problem for local determination.

"Preceding any program of reorganization of schools should be a plan for a comprehensive study which will show where the permanent school centers should be located and which schools should be combined in the future. It is a problem which must be studied and solved in terms of the situation in each county and in each community in that county", the Commission states.

The Commission has found that Indiana is operating most of its schools within administrative units (areas) too small to provide adequate programs at economical cost because the number of pupils in these units is too small.

In 1947-47 there were 1196 school administrative units in Indiana - 7020 township units, 77 towns, 98 school cities and one county school administration been reduced to 190, -92 counties and 98 cities.

"It is impossible for an administrative unit to provide the minimum facilities and service needed for a satifactory school program extending from kindergarden through grade 12 at an economical cost unless the area is large enough to include a minimum of about 1500 pupils or about 50 teachers", the Commission report points out. All throughout the country in the past 20 years have recommended 1500 as an absolute minimum, the Commission declares, and states that an area encompassing 3000 to 5000 pupils would be more desirable and would be less costly. Educators point out that there is no particular advantage in having over 10,000 pupils in an administrative area.

The Commision found that 99 per cent of the township school corporations fall below the 1500 minimum. None of the 77 school towns in the state has over 1000 poplis.

If the county were made the unit for school administration and operation only one county would have under 1000 pupils, and only two counties would fall between 1000 and 1500 pupils. On the county basis only one county would have more than 10.000 pupils the report shows.

"Administrative units having fewer than the 1500 minimum should be reorganized into larger administrative units even though some or all of the small schools may need to be retained in those units", the report emphasizes. The fact that administrative units should be reorganized is not the significant factor in determining which schools should be retained and which ones should be discontinued, the Commission advises.

The old year is breathing out its last hours in a hush of expectancy. But in that quiet we know that there are horns waiting to be sounded, bells waiting to be rung, hearts waiting to be lifted with bright new hopes. May 1949 be a happy New Year for you!

NEW SERVICE OFFICE SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Residents of the Garrett area who have business or inquiries connected with the operation of the Federal Old -Age and Survivors Insurance system will now have access to a local Social Security office on a regularly scheduled basis, Christian H. W. Luecke, Manager of the Ft. Wayne, Indiana, office of the Social Security Administration, said today.

A representative of the Ft. Wayne Social Security Office will be at the Post Office in Garrett between 10:00 and 11:00 a. m. on the 2nd Tuesday of every month. The new service is being established to give persons of this area an opportunity to file applications for Social Security benecial security cards, and make infits, obtain new and duplicate soquiries concerning the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program.

This Federal family insurance, which covers employees in industry and commerce, provides for the payment of monthly retirement and survivor's benefits to qualified workers and their families. Retirement benefits are payable to the employee and eligible members of his family when the worker reaches 65 and ertires. Survivor's benefits are payable to eligible members of the insured person's family on his death at any age. Applicotions must be filled, at an office of the Social Security Administration, for all benfits paid under the program.

The first visit under the new schedule will be on January 11, 1949, from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m.

"MUSIC FROM THE SKY"

There are people and people. Some of us, whose souls are in harmony with the celebration of the birth of Christ, are enjoying the recorded music broadcast each night from the Lutheran Church. The repertoire is well selected and includes well known Christmas carols and classical music such as Ave Maria and Selections from the Messiah.

And each night as the music peals forth we think "Oh evil, war-torn world, oh little town of St. Joe, stop, listen and realize that God is still in His Heaven"

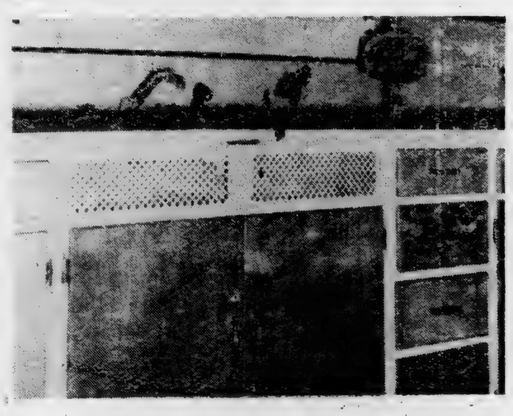
QUALITY CABINET COMPANY

To the person who has planned and hoped for years to make home improvements or to modernize his kitchen and has been somewhat hesitant to proceed during the present time of high costs, it is interesting to note that in the opinion of financial and economic experts it will be several years before we can expect any appreciable drop in the cost of both materials and labor. They say that if you in a position to have the work done now, you may as well go ahead this year.



In the past few years there has been a recognition upon the part of craftsmen to the fact that the housewife does most of her work in the kitchen and that until now it was not an efficient place in which to operate. With this recognition the cabinet and carpentry crafts have set about to remedy this condition and the average home owner will find that they can not only lighten the work load in the home, but can greatly enhance the value of their property by having a concern such as the Quality Cabinet Manufacturing Co. at 3331 Olin Ave. in Fort Wayne design and build them a new kitchen. Mr. Donald Roose, the owner and manager has been active in this field with some of the largest cabinet manufacturers in the country. In December of 1947 he took over this concern and since that time has made a specialty of kitchen cabinet ensembles. He will be glad to look over your house and assist you in modernizing your home by starting when it's most important.

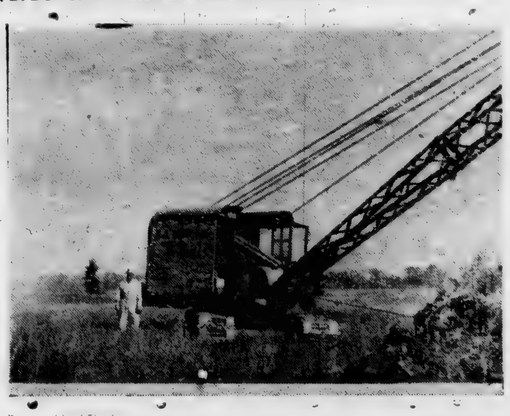
BUSICK TRAILER SALES

Many of us are constantly being reminded of the housing shortage that is still prevalent in the country. There are also many of us who have noticed the increases in the number of house trailers upon the highways and in the camps. Although there have been some people who did not move into a trailer by choice, it is safe to say that the large majority are there by preference, and the other few have been converted because of the conveniences and ecooomy they offer.

In the field of trailer sales the Busick Trailer Sales at 424 W. Jefferson in Fort Wayne has been one of the pioneers and today represent the leading manufacturers such as Alma, Liberator and Challenger, ranging in size from 24 to 33 feet and in price from several hundred into the thousands. Brusick Trailer Sales are open seven days a week and you can drop in in the evening and they will be glad to show you the many conveniences and innovations that have been built into the new models. It can be truly said that a trailer make a home, whether you want it moving or permanent. For the trailer owner and enthusiast Mr. G. A. Busick can discuss the merits of the different makes and outline the accomodaaions that his firm can offer in trailers and supplies.

S. D. DUNCAN — EXCAVATING & GRADING

A notable example of substantial growth and steady progress is such as has been enjoyed by S. D. Duncan of 3515 Wayne Trace in Fort Wayne since he started out a short while ago in the excavating and grading business. Having been employed with one of Indiana's largest concerns in this field for several years he has had considerable personal experience with the most modern of equipment and is able to offer the contractors and farmers a dependable service in excavating, grading, drainage and tile work.



The pictures here show Mr. Duncan operating his drag line on a project just outside of Fort Wayne and gives the reader some idea of the type of work his equipment can do.

That it pays to support and patronize local small concerns such as this has been demonstrated many times to the people of the community area, for it assures them of an available service where many larger firms will hesitate contracting.

Town + Farm

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

NOW that the Christmas holiday season is over, a lot of forward-looking farmers are starting to make plans for next year's production.

Past experience has shown that in planning ahead, even progressive farmers sometimes forget a few minor but important phases of ordering farm equipment to be used during the coming year.

A suggestion, that may prove helpful in looking at your next year's farm production schedule, is to order now the farm equipment that is in short supply. Among those things that are currently scarce, due to the shortage of critical materials, are such items as replacement parts for machinery, wire fencing, nails, staples, bale ties and similar articles. Economists report that there will be a shortage of iron and steel products during the coming year, though the supply is catching up slowly. Some areas are better supplied than others, so check your local situation.

Other reasons for ordering now are that parts will be more readily available now than later in the spring, when others also will be ordering. The money situation also may be better now than when production, with its attendant expenses, starts again. Finally, by ordering now, there will be less chance to have field breakdowns than if you try to make the old, faulty parts and materials do the job.

Looking ahead now, Mr. Farmer, will make you happy that you did —next year.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

As the old year blends with the new, it is a good time for all sportsmen to take stock, balance the books and start a fresh page in the outdoor ledger marked 1949.

As reports come to our desk from scattered parts of the nation it's easy to see that 1948 was a good year--fishing was better and hunting was near the top of its cycle. Naturally, not all places enjoyed better hunting and fishing, but the good overshawdowed the bad and the average was up over 1947.

Probably the brightest spot in hunting was in the waterfowl picture. After hitting rock bottom, the duck and goose populations are on the increase. Lower bag limits and shorter gunning seasons probably had a hand in this increase, but give Nature a pat on the back for supplying a good breeding season in the northland for the water birds.

Also 1948 saw a leveling off in hunting pressure. The number of people in the field was of skyscrapper proportions in comparison to pre-war figures but down slightly from 1947. Fishing licenses, however were up in 1948 over the previous year.

We'rs carrying a healthy balance into 1949 in both game and fish but to keep this balance all sportsmen must lend a helping hand.

For one thing 1949 should see the upping of the federal duck stamp. Now don't scream about this for we'd like to see the extra revenue go for more rigid enforcement of the waterfowl regulations, eliminating the pot-shooting and illegal kill of ducks and geese. And the only way these disgraceful items can be stopped is to have more men in the field enforcing the laws.

No true sportsmen should complain about paying a couple of bucks more the right to hunt ducks and geese--if this extra money assured him of more game to gun for.

The new year, too should see more and more sportsmen falling into line in abandoning the "legal limits" in favor of the more sensible limit of only the game that's needed for the table. This state or that one says you can kill 10 quail or four pheasants or 12 rabbits, but why kill that many birds or animals if you can use only half that number in feeding your family. The same is true of fish, for far too frequently we're all inclined to take the legal limit when we can use only half that number.

In 1949 more sportsmen should take active interest in posrtsman's clubs, rather than letting just a few of the boys do all the work in helping conserve our wildlife resources.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

In two interesting league contests at the St. Joe gym last Thursday the Par-Tee Co. of Spencerville defeated the Angola Merchants in a rough and tumble first game by a 58 to 44 score. In the second game the St. Joe boys led all the way to knock over the Garrett Legion, 42-32.

IN THE first game, marred by a total of 56 personal fouls, 31 of them against the Par-Tee boys, the Par-Tee men jumped out to a fast start and held a 15 to 6 lead at the end of the first quarter. Krause continued a torrid scoring pace that he hit in the first quarter, and had a total of 24 points to his credit when the game was over. He hit 8 field goals and added them to his 8 succesful attempts at the foul line, to give Par-Tee the winning punch.

AFTER FIVE MINUTES of close play in the second game, the locals broke into the clear and were ahead 15 to 8 at the end of the first quarter. The locals had stretched their lead to 26 to 14 at half time. The third period score was 33 to 19. Jim Kinsey playing his last game for the team, turned in an admirable game, from both an offensive and defensive view. His 16 points was high for the winners, and his work under both baskets made up for the height advantage held by the Garrett vets. Andy Monroe enjoyed his best scoring night this season, hitting 6 field goals and 1 of his 4 chances from the charity stripe for 13 point. All scoring honors however had to go over to the visitors. Kelley bagged 19 points for the Garrett squad.

DRAWINGS for the annual DeKalb county basketball tourney were held Thurs. evening. The tourney will be played at Waterloo this year and all county teams with the exception of Auburn will participate in the three day, 10 game meet, that includes both reserve teams as well as the varsity squads. The Garrett Railroaders, defending champions and at present holding down a record of 6 wins and 4 losses, will probabliy repeat their performance of the last two years. 3 teams however, Spencerville, Butler and the rangy, Ashley Aces, who are just beginning to find themselves, could upset the dope. The Spencerville Raiders, are holding the best record of any of the teams entered in the tourney, 8 wins and 2 losses, but because of such varied and widespread opponents a comparison of any accuracy cannot be obtained. About the best measuring stick we can find: is the fact that the Garrett squad defeated the Ashley five by 5 points the first game of the season and the Raiders from Spencerville turned the same trick on the Aces twe weeks later, by a 2 point margin.

THE ST. JOE second team will see action on the first night of opening play, they will play the Garrett reserve team at 7:45 Thursday evening. The local varsity team missed the first round of play, and will not go into action until Saturday afternoon, playing the winner of the Garrett-Waterloo game.

Alll games will be played at the Waterloo gym. Evening sessions will be held on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 6 and 7, and an afternoon and evening session on Saturday, Jan. 8.

The complete schedule is as folows:

RESERVE TEAMS

Thursday Evening

Game 1—6:30, Waterloo vs. Butler
Game 2—7:45, Garret vs. St. Joe.

Friday Evening

Game 3—6:30, Spencerville vs winner game 1.
Game 4—7:45, Ashley vs winner of game 2

Saturday Evening

Finals—7:00, winners of games 3 and 4

VARSITY TEAMS

Thursday Evening

Game 1—9:00, Butler vs Ashley

Friday Evening

Game 2—9:00, Garrett vs Waterloo

Saturday Afternoon

Game 3—1:00 Spencerville vs winner game 1
Game 4—2:15, St. Joe vs winner of game 2.

Saturday Evening

Finals—8:15, winners of games 3 and 4.

No season tickets are being sold prior to the tourney.

TWO VIM LEAGUE games will be held at the St. Joe gym next Thurs. In the first game at 7:45 the Auburn Legion will play St. Joe, and in the second game Garrett will go up against Angola.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 22:15—23:39; Luke 2; 3:1-3; Galatians 4:1-5.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 1:46-55.

Before Sunrise

Lesson for January 2, 1949

TAKE another look at your new calendar. 1949 it says! 1,949 years since the one single event on which turns the history of the world—the birth of Jesus. (As is well known, the first calculators missed the exact date by four or five years; but the main idea is there all the same.) With the coming of the Son of God to this earth, it was as if a twilight world first saw the sun.

Military Government

IF WE go back in imagination and think what the world was like before there was a bit of the Christian religion in it, we can better understand the story of Jesus and of the nineteen Christian centuries. For the next six months we shall be thinking, week by week, of the life of Jesus Christ. But first let us think of the world in which he lived.

Jesus' homeland of Palestine was run by a military government. Roman soldiers were everywhere, taking the best of everything. Jews could scarcely forget, even for a day, that they were a beaten people, any more than a Japanese or Austrian can forget it these days.

Jesus grew up in the sort of atmosphere which military occupation always tends to produce: uncertainty, fear, hatred and desire for revenge, tense with underground plots, rumors and conspiracies. The Romans found Palestine hardest of all their possessions to rule. When Jesus was a boy there was a terrific uprising near his home, and the Romans cruicified 2,000 people in reprisals.

Established Church

WE MUST not think there was no religion before Jesus was born. There was too much of it—that is, of the wrong sort. The "established church" of Jesus' land was the Temple at Jerusalem, with its complicated ritual, its countless beasts roasting on the great altar, its white-robed choirs chanting by day and night.

The High Priest himself was appointed by the Roman overlords; chosen for his skill in rabble-soothing, he held office on condition that he could hold the masses in check. However, the Jerusalem temple was a very small part of the actual religious life of the ordinary citizen.

Even the most religious would see the place only a few times a year. Jesus seldom referred to it, and it was finally the leaders of the established church who hounded him to his death.

The Sects

THEN as now, not all the religion of the people was confined to the official priesthood and "officers of the church." There were other religious groups, unofficial sects, and not all good. There were the Sadducees, aristocratic and wealthy, professing a strictly this-world religion, not believing in any life after death and rejecting most of the Scriptures.

The Pharisees were the unofficial religious leaders of Israel, as the priests were the official leaders. They were the traveling preachers, the Bible teachers, the D. D.'s of that time. Closely associated with these were the Scribes, experts in the study of the laws of Moses.

They should have been good, but what Jesus thought of them can be seen in the blistering words of Matthew 23.

Watching for the Dawn

IT WAS a discouraging world in which to be born. Under the Roman heel, with government in the hands of foreigners, with religion under the leadership of political bosses, hypocrites, church lawyers and fanatics, it was not a hopeful time.

And yet there were some really Godlike souls. The stories in Luke 1 and 2 bring before us God-fearing people old and young: a priest who had real faith in his heart, old, old people who prayed for nothing else so much as for God's kingdom, and simple shepherds who welcomed the message of God. And above all, Mary the blessed among women.

Mrs. Paul Hilkey entertained nineteen members of the G. L. C. Home Economics Club at their Christmas meeting and installation of 1949 officers. Mrs. Owen Esterline and daughter, Pamella and Mrs. Richard Hallopeter were guests for the afternoon program which included a reading of the Christmas Story by Mrs. Winifred Page, exchange of Gifts and cookies and the opening of 1948 New Years' Resolutions. It seems to take more than a years' time to keep such earnest avowels as "to find time to varnish all those pieces that I never had time for on the regular surge;" "to refrain from volunteering when the president asks and thus give some other the honor of serving; to keep one hour a day just to keep up with piano practice;" etc. In fact every one confessed slightly shattered resolutions but agreed she was better off for having tried to remember.

Mrs. Glenn Myers, the Club President won the Flower Fund prize for the first time in her club years. She also received some special gifts in appreciation of her loyal service as president, for which she thanked the group graciously, at the same time voicing her appreciation for the loyalty each member had given in the interest of the Club's projects throughout the year. An amusing feature was receiving of packages from Mrs. Harold Greenwood, and Mrs. John Snelling, re-freshment committee members that contained ingeniously wrapped candy canes, representing the balance of the food fund.

Mrs. William Warner and Mrs. David Mumma were received as new members. The next meeting will be at Armanda Klopfenstein's home in Grabill featuring a panel discussion, led by Mrs. Richard Hartigan, on "Getting Along With Those You Love."

LAVON J. BLAIR

For the past two and a half years the firm of Lavon J. Blair on State Road 1 at the Wallen Road has afforded the farmers of Northeastern Indiana with a service in form drainage that is second to none. It was only a few years ago that the task of draining and tiling a piece of land was both difficult and expensive. But with the introduction of the mechanized equipment of ditch diggers and bulldozers it is now possible to do the work quickly, economically and efficiently.

Today there is no reason for the modern farmer to let his land lie idle or to have crops rot because of insuficient drainage. The cost of having the work done by such concerns as Blair's is so low that in a short period of time the returns from the land will pay the expense of drainage. For over a quarter of a century Mr. Blair has been in the mechanical field in the Fort Wayne area. With the knowledge of equipment and with the best in bulldozers he is qualified to solve your problem for you.

Services For Clara McCann Held Tuesday

87 Year Old Resident of St. Joe Passes Away at Hicksville, Sat.,

Mrs. Clara McCann, 87, a lifelong resident of the St. Joe community, died at noon Saturday in the Community Hospital at Hicksville, O., where she had been a patient for 11 days.

She was the widow of Daniel McCann, and was a member of the Christian Church here.

Surviving are two sons, George of Lima, O., and Wilbur, of Waterloo; 16 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Mary Goings of White Cloud, Mich., and a brother Clarence Hinkel.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Walter Funeral Home at Spencerville. J. L. Sennett of the Church of Christ officiated at the services. Burial was made in the White City Cemetery, Spencerville.

Commission Recommends Changes In Administration

Indiana should change from its present township system to the county, exclusive of the cities, as an area for school adminstration to provide a better school program and for financial advantages, the Indiana School Study Commission declares in a report issued today listing reasons for the poposal.

The Commission recommends a five member board elected by the people on a non-partisan ballot for four years overlapping terms as the county board of education. Under the proposal the board would appoint a superintendent of schools of the county, exclusive of the cities. The Commission plan of reorganization does not call for abandoning schools and hauling all the pupils into a central school.

The following observations, the Commission points out, summarize some of the major deficiencies and difficulties to be found in the present plans of administering schools within township boundaries:

1. Many local school administrative units, especially towns and townships, are entirely too small to meet minimum acceptable standards. A satisfactory school program can never be offered in these small units under the present plan of organization.

2. The township school organization is unsatisfactory partly because of the large proportion of townships with only a small number of children and partly because one man cannot sevre satisfactorily both as the school board and as the administartor for the system.

3. Voluntary consolidation of townships and of towns and townships has resulted in some progress but it is not a satisfactory means of solving the problem because many of the consolidated units are still too small and, in voluntary consolidation, some of the less financially able units which should be included are commonly omitted from the reorganization.

4. In many cases existing township, town and city boundaires constitute serious barriers to the development of an adequate school program.

5. The present county school organization is of little significance because it has no real responsibility or authority for assuring needed coordination and cooperation.

6. Practically no voluntary co operation exists among township, towns and cities in such matters as purchase of suppies, maintenance programs and routing of school busses, where substantial savings might be effected through a cooperative program.

The commission reports that satisfactory reorganization, making the county, exclusive of the cities, the unit for school administration should mean that:

1. Competent administrative and supervisory leadership could be provided for all schools of the state a situation which does not exist today in many of the township systems were an untrained officer is the head of the schools.

2. The provision of competent and trained leadership should result in better educational planning which would assure greater efficiency and hence greater economy of operation.

3. Substantial and definite savings should result from quantity purchase of supplies and equipment at wholesale rather than retail prices at which they are purchased in practically all school systems today. Similar substantial savings can be made in personnel time and services required for various aspects of the maintenance program.

4. The building program can be so planned that available funds are spent with a maxium of of economy. The saving of space equivalent to one classroom under present conditions will resutl in preventing the unnecessary expenditure of $30,000 the minimum cost of just one classroom today.

5. Better administrative and supervisory leadership should result in a substantial improvement of teaching.

6. The problem of assuring adequate support should be greatly simplified. The present range in ability to support an educational program amounting to about 25 to 1 among the townships and towns could be reduced to about 8 to 1 if all school towns and townships in each county became a part of a reorganized county school administrative unit.

Reorganization of local school administrative upits in Indiana therefore is imperative as an economy and efficiency measure, the Commission declares. Under the present system, involving so many small units, Indiana is not receiving full value from part of the money spent in many of those units, the report states.

NEW 1949 FARM ACCOUNT BOOK HAS BEEN REVISED

Several hundred copies of the new 1949 Farm Account Book were brought back from Purdue University to DeKalb county by C. R. Gross, county agent upon his return from the annual extension workers conference last week at the University.

Gross said that the book has been revised considerably to meet expanded farm operations and DeKalb county farmers will find the design of the book much to their liking. The revision make it possible for the farmer to determine his net cash income, the farm income, return to labor and management and rate earned on investment for the farmer's entire operations. A special feature of the new edition is the space provided for a complete division between landlord and tenant on all entries.

An important new feature is the farm business analysis section whereby with a very little pencil work on the part of the DeKalb county farmer using the book he can see his strong and weak spots of operation

The increased space allows for inventories, reports of purchases and sales. The expense heading now corresponds with those items needed when filling out the federal tax form 1040-F. The Purdue agricultural economists say that every amount needed for the tax filing job can be found when the revised book has been properly kept.

A charge of 35 cents which covers the cost of printing is charged for the book.

States' Boundaries

A boundary between two states of the United States may be changed by agreement of the states' legislatures, but the agreement must be approved by congress.

SPENCERVILLE

Mrs. Clara Howey of near Auburn had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. She is a patient at the Sanders Hospital. Mr. Howey will be with their children in Ft. Wayne for a while.

First Victory For St. Joe Tigers

Start New Year With Victories Over Scott Center Varsity and Seconds

The St. Joe High Tigers bounced out of a season long slump Tuesday evening, and posted two victories over the Scott Center Varsity and second teams. The 49 to 31 win for the local varsity team was their first of the season.

Fetters started the victory hungry Tigers on their winning way with a long two handed shot shortly after the game had started. The Scott boys bounced back with two quick baskets and a foul shot, however, to take a short lead. Bub Lochner playing his best game of the season, and perhaps the best of his High School career, hit 2 of his 7 field goals at this point. Then Fetters split the nets for another basket and it looked as if the locals were out to make an early steal of the game as they posted a 15 to 9 score favoring them at the end of the first quarter. This early flurry of baskets proved to be a false start however, and it wasn't untill midway in the second quarter that the locals grabbed the lead they were never to give up.

Scott Center started picking away at the Tiger lead early in the second quarter, and when Evans, Scott's tall center sank two quick ones the game was knotted at 17 all.

Miller finally put the Tigers on the top end of the score, making it 20-18, and this time it was the real thing. Walters hit a one handed shot and Miller tipped in a rebound on Fetters foul shot. Just seconds before the half ended, Lochner drove under for a perfect layup, and the score was 26 to 18.

Baskets by Lochner, Yeiser and Miller kept the St. Joe fans yelling during the third quarter. During this time the Scott team was held to just 3 point and the Tigers had bulged their lead to read 35 to 21 when the third period had ended.

Lochner bagged 18 points for the evening for the Tigers and Miller got 11 to take second spot. Evans paced the losers with 10.

The St. Joe Seconds after being held down 4 to 2 by the Scott C. seconds in the first quarter, broke loose with a rash of good shooting and coupled it with a good floor game and completely ran away with their opponents The score at halftime was 15 to 6, with the Tigers holding the edge The final score was 28 to 11.

Business And Financial Outlook For 1946

By Roger W. Babson

General Business:	off 5%
National Income:	off 5%
Farm Income:	off 15%
Bituminous Coal:	off 5%
Anthracite:	off 10%
Crude Oil Production:	up 3%
Steel Output:	up 5%
Automobiles	up 10%
Building and Construction:	off 20%
Lumber:	off 5%
Foreign Trade:	up 5%
Airline Passenger Miles:	up 10%
Military Activities, including Aircraft:	up 50%
Retail Trade:	off 5 to 10%

1. Total volume of business for 1949 will be less than that of 1948. There surely will be many soft spots

General Business

2. Most industries will show small-er net profits. This means that, in many cases dividends will be less in 1949.

3. Military preparedness will be a new and powerful industry which this country never heretofore experienced in peace time. It is destined to bolster employment for some years ahead, but not the standard of living.

4. Inventories quoted both at their dollar values and in volume will increase during 1949.

Commodity Prices

5. Some rationing or priorities may be attempted in 1949. The public will make demands for price controls in the case of certain products Beware of installment purchases in 1949.

6. We expect the peak in wholesale commodity prices has been reached for this cycle. We, therefore, advise going easy on inventories. 1949 is a time to get out of debt and stay out of debt.

7. The retail price of some goods, other than food products, may be higher during 1949, but we believe that the Cost-of-Living Index has turned downward

8. Retail price change lag after wholesale price changes. This explains why we expect many retail prices on good quality merchanidse to hold up for a while after wholesale prices decline.

Farm Outlook

9. The total farm income for 1949 should be less than that of 1948, due to lower prices for wheat, corn, pork, poultry, eggs and certain products. Farmers should diversify more in 1949, get out of debt putting surplus money into savings and prepare for real trouble some day.

10. The supply of certain vegetables and fruits should increase during 1949. The price of these should fall off, barring some weather, insect or blight castastrophe.

11. Poultry and dairy products will also increase in volume during 1949, prices averaging less than 1948 prices.

12. Farmers will continue to work for extensions of subsidies. The above four Farm Forecasts assure normal weather, A drought could upset these.

Taxes

13. The Federal Budget will not be decreased during 1949.

14. Federal taxes will not be decreased during 1949, but there may be some readjustments to encourage venture capital and to ease the tax burden on wages.

15. We forecast that an attempt will be made by some cities to put ceilings upon real estate taxes or enact local sales taxes.

16. The long-term capital gains tax of 25% will remain unchanged.

Retail Trade

17. Goods on counters will be of better grade in 1949 .

18. There will be many "markdown sales" of inferior quality goods. Curbs on installment buying will continue.

19. The dollar value of all retail sales in 1949 should about equal that of 1948, perhaps off 5%.

20. The unit volume of retail sales will be less in 1949 than in 1948.

Foreign Trade

21. Our foreign trade will remain about the same We shall continue to help Europe; but it will be on a more efficient basis.

22. More foreign credits will be granted during 1949; but these mostly will be direct to business concerns.

23. There will be greater competition from other countries in legitimate foreign trade where the credit is good.

24. Throughout 1949 war talk will continue; but no real World War III will start in 1949. WAR PREPARATIONS WILL CONTINUE.

Labor Outlook

25. Good business depends upon two things: (1) reasonable wages and (2) reasonable prices. When both of these factors are in balance there is good business; but when they get out of balance, look for trouble. Low prices are of little help when people have insufficient wages with which to buy; but it is also true that good wages are of little use if prices are too high for people to buy. The Taft-Hartley Law will be repealed or amended to encourage free speech, union protection and increased production.

26. The income of wageworkers must increase before an advance in prices. Contrariwise, too high prices always precede a decline in employment and wages. This downward cycle leading to unemployment may begin n 1949. Much depends upon crops and weather.

27. Labor leaders who get increased wage rates usually get re-elected while those who do not get wage reases are liable to be defeated. Hence, labor leaders have naturally kept urging higher wages, although they may feel in their heart that wages are high enough for the time being. We forecast that 1949 will see some change of attitude in this regard and that wise leaders will be more interested in preventing the "bust."

28. If wages are too high organized labor is the first to be laid off when business declines. Unorganized workers have the steadiest jobs and will go through 1949 without losing their positions.

Some labor leaders will,. during 1949, work for pension systems and sick benefits. This would be a constructive program for employers who can afford to do it, but many employers cannot afford even these benefits at this time. Both employers and wageworkers will some day get together and unite in urging a program which will give steady work through out the year. This is the best hope for lower building costs. Bricklayers, painters and carpenters are criticized today for doing such a small amount of work, but we must remember the many days when they are unable to work due to weather and other conditions.

Inflation

30. Inflation(high prices) comes when consumpton exceeds production. This means that inflation can be checked only by increasing production or by reducing the money supply. The job of getting prices down today depends, therefore, upon what management and labor produce per hour. We believe that wage increases during 1949 will be accompanied by a correspondent increase in the per hour production of the wageworkers.

31. Some object to the large profits that their employers are getting today compared with the 1930's. It however, should be remembered that during these depression years most employers had no profits whatsoever. We forecast that profits will continue to be regulated automatically by the law of supply and demand, rather than by the government

32. At some time during 1949 we forecast that the point will be reached where the nation's inflated money supply will have become fully employed. Hence, emphasis may shift from efforts to stop inflation to efforts to halt deflation.

Stock Market

33. 1949 may not be a better year stock market wise than 1948. Investors will especially get out of stocks of companies which have most of their assets in big, "vulnerable in case of war" cities, reinvesting in companies whose assets are well distirbuted and safe from attack.

34. The administration will not want the Dow-Jones Industrial Average to go too high on account of the consequent effect upon labor's demands. Commodity speculation will continue to be curbed.

35. The wisest will not try to pick any special "winners" in 1949 but will diversify broadly. Those who have too many stocks will gradually build up good reserves, in cash or Governments, for the big break which will come some day. Careful buyers of stocks will insist on making full payment and avoid borrowing during 1949.

36. Safe dividend paying stocks will be in greatest demand, especially if double taxation on dividends should be eliminated.

Bonds

37. We are definitely bearish on low-coupon rate, long-term taxable bonds as money rates will gradually increase.

38. If Congress should exempt dividends from double federal taxation, 1949 will see a further falling off in the prices of certain tax-exempt bonds.

39. We forecast no change in the nation's monetary policy relating to credit control and interest rates during 1949.

40. Invesors will give much more attention to diversification in 1949 and will try to have their bond maturities either fairly short or staggered.

Real Estate

41. City real estate will continue to hold firm through 1949, due to less available rental space caused by pulling down structures to save taxes, provide parking spaces etc. There also is a disinclination to build new city property in view of the present high costs.

42. Surburban real estate will continue in fair demand during 1949 although there will be some shading of prices.

43. Big commercial farm acreage will sell for less during 1949; but subsistence farms located close to established communities, will hold up in price.

44. General building will decrease during 1949 although the cost of building may decline a little. The quality of workmanship will improve.

45. Both office and residential rents will be higher in 1949. Only as property owners are granted higher rentals, will there will be enough houses to rent.

46. Mortgage interest rates during 1949 will continue about the same as in 1948. Any change will be toward increases.

Politics

47. The Administration will encourage legitimate new enterprises and full employment, continuing its loyalty to labor and the farmers.

48. Vacancies in the various commisssions and government corporations roganized since 1932 and which have great powers will be filled by men acquainted with legitimate business but friendly to Mr. Truman.

Congress will take our foreign policy out of the hands of the State Department and the Brass Hats.

50. The Administration will be fair to both labor and management or lose the Congressional election of 1950 by bringing on depression.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON

President—Harding College Searcy, Arkansas

Money for Adventure

We Americans are accustomed to growth and change. We have seen our nation go forward. We moved ahead not because we conquered other lands or won territory. That kind of progress has not interested us. Our fathers did find a new and raw continent here. But even while it was being explored and peopled, the inventive minds and venturesome spirits of Americans were laying the foundations for living standards and for peaceful industry that never before existed.

Our progress may be measured in greater standards of living and in greater production for the people. Hard work has produced growth. Now, there is no earthly reason why we cannot continue to grow and grow—except one. We cannot have progress if we are willing to quit growing. Like so many great civilizations of the past, it is possible for us to hit the skids. We can do just that if we become unconcerned and stop wanting to grow.

Savings That Work

Certain seeds of decay are now planted in our economy. You see, industrial growth does not come by itself. Expansion of our great industries has depended upon venture capital. Yet, venture money is scarce today. But what is venture capital? Venture capital is the money that has built these great factories. It is the savings that are risked to help people like Henry Ford and Alexander Graham Bell get started—and keep on going.

It goes into brick and mortar. It is turned into locomotive and drag lines. It pays for the research that discovers new drugs and new plastics. It strings power lines to homes and factories. It buys lathes and dump trucks. It is back of pay checks that men must have, even before sales bring in the expected income. You see, if we want an adventurous industry, we must have venture capital, to do all these things and more.

Business Is Thirsty

Now, the big trouble is this. We have throttled down our supply of venture money. There are some who maintain that this source for new industrial activity has dried up. At least this is true: both young enterprises and established firms are thirsting for the capital which even today's normal growth requires of them. They are also hungry for the go-ahead signal, to build new plants and to improve old ones. This requires much venture capital.

Consider the oil industry. Traditionally, the oil and gas business has been financed by private risk money. Yet, men in the industry say that 12 to 15 billion dollars more will be needed in the next ten years. Dollars for plant equipment and labor go less than half as far as they did 20 years ago, while risk capital has shrunk 75 per cent in that period. This industry is typical of many others that are hungry for capital!

Shortage Hits Us

Shortage of this venture money hits us hard at every point! Without it new products that might go far in enriching mankind are sidetracked in favor of the sure moneymakers. New businesses, that must live almost entirely on risk capital, are handicapped. Without sufficient capital, production everywhere is curtailed, and this affects our jobs and our national well-being. No venture means a weak industrial machine that openly invites foreign aggression. Naturally, if no venture money is found for expansion, government always wants to step in and do it for us. We must remember that money for venture will be scarce and fearful until we cut down government expenses and revise taxes downward. It is your responsibility and mine to help keep our industry strong, adventurous, and free.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We don't know whether or not you included any "outdoor" resolutions among your New Year's Day thoughts for 1949, but it might not be amiss to do so now -even if it's a few days late.

We've been doing a lot of crystal ball gazing in recent weeks in an effort to forecast what the new year has in store for sportsmen. And the picture we've seen has been encouraging.

First, the waterfowl situation has a considerably brighter hue than the picture that confronted us at the start of 1948. Unquestionably the duck and goose populations are up over a year ago. True, the kill has been heavy this current season but the waterfowl still are going upgrade and the carryover that will get back to the breeding marshes in in the spring should be comparatively large.

So, as the No. 1 resolution, let's all hope that Dame Nature treats us with a helping hand in supplying a good breeding season as we had last year. That'll put more birds in the flocks winging southward next fall and winter, and assure gunners of some swell sport.

And next in the crystal ball picture is the top-of-the-cycle in upland game production. Reports trickling in from scattered parts of the nation indicate that rabbits, quail pheasants and the other sporting animals and birds more than held their own during the curent season. Here the carryover also is good and consequently, breeding stock should be large enough to keep the fields and coverts productive with game.

And our second resolution is directed at the weatherman whose cooperation is needed in giving us the right amount of rainfall for birds and animals to raise the young and in making farm crops good so the game will have ample food.

There's been a leveling off, too, in the hunting pressure. Although statistics are not yet complete, early returns show about the same number of licenses the current hunting season as in 1947. So we now know where we stand and how much game we're going to have to produce to keep the hunters happy.

Crystal ball gazing is a hazardous occupation as best, but we're willing to stick out our neck and predict that1949 will be a good year with slightly improved fishing and hunting in most places over 1948.

WORLD FAMOUS GLOBE TROTTERS TO APPEAR IN HICKSVILLE

The World Famous Globe Trotters will play the strong Garrett Eagles Semi-Pro team in Hicksville, Ohio on Sunday, Jan. 9. They have won 46 of 48 games played so far this season. They have a master of everything that has to do with basketball on their team. A few of the Stars are:

Johnny Watts, 5-10, with a life time average of 22 points per game, and with his 11th season with the Globe Trotters.

Wilbur Carter, 6ft, 7th season on the team and one of the best and fastest dribblers in the game.

Goody Goodwin, 6-1, has an average of 15 points per game, mostly all long shots, and a clown at ball handling.

These are just a few of the many stars that you will see play.

Ronnies of Hicksville will play Essex Wire of Ft. Wayne in the preliminary.. Admission prices are: adults 90c and children 50c, tax included. The first game starts at 7:30 EST, second game 8:30 EST.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE ALUMNI and High split their two games last Thursday evening. In the second team contest, the High School overcame an early lead that the over-30 Alumni's had taken and went on to outlast the former grads by a 37 to 24 count. The Alumni boys who saw action in the game were: Keith Davis, Eddie Collins, Babe Coburn, Merlin Simanton, John Dilley, Dale Collins, Walt Ervin and Clayton Baker.

IN THE second game, the High School lost by a 54 to 31 score. The Alumni boys who got in this contest were: Charlie Freeburn, Russ Ridgway, Gene Deiderich Andy Monroe, Franklyn Sechler Gene Baker, Ned Keller, Richard Davis, Frank Curie and Marcel Pugsley. The highlight of this game was a hot shooting streak by Gene Baker in the last quarter. He hit 6 field goals out of 6 attempts in that last period for 12 points.

VIM LEAGUE games this week are scheduled for the gym here. St. Joe will play the Auburn Legion in the First game at 7:45 and in the second game Angola will play Garrett. Remember this Thursday evening, Jan. 6, at the St. Joe gym.

THE PAULDING V.F.W. team will be present for a single game with the Legion team on this Saturday evening, Jan. 8.. A single game will be played starting at 8 p.m.

. . . . . .

THE DEKALB county basketball tourney which will pair all the county teams with the excepion of Auburn, will get started Thursday evening at Waterloo. In both the Thursday and Friday evening games there will be two second team and one varsity game. On Saturday, afteroon, Jan 8, two varsity games will be presented. The St. Joe Tigers first team will make their first appearance in that first afternoon game against an unknown opponent at this time.

BASKETBALL FANS who were hoping that the New Years Tourney at Auburn would provide a battle between two of the top-rated teams in this part of the state, will have wait until Jan. 14 when the Auburn Red Devils go to Kendallville for the only encounter between the two this year. Auburn lived up to their half of the bargain in the Saturday tournament by whipping Angola to go into the finals, but the Comets from up Kendallville way, fell victim to an inspired Nappanee squad, whom they had beaten earlier in the season, and lost their first game of the year in the second tournament game. Auburn rounded out the day of being a very unfriendly host by soundly whipping the Nappanee Bulldogs by a 66 to 33 score.

THE VIM League games for next week will be held at the Spencerville gym on Thursday, Jan. 13. In the first game at 7:45, Par Tee wil play Garett Legion and in the second game St. Joe will play Angola.

New winter accident facts, based on research by National Safety Council, reveal alarming increase of skidding and poor visibility crashes during snowy, icy weather. Authorities urge equalized brakes, using tire chains, windshield wipers, defrosters, good lights and lower speeds to minimize the added seasonal hazards of inadequate stop-and-go traction on snow or ice and reduced visibility.

In Remembrance

Lesson for January 9, 1949

JESUS OF NAZARETH was the Unforgettable Man. All our information about him as he lived in Galilee comes from four small booklets known as the Gospels. There was a little more about him in the letters of Paul, and a few additional sayings of his have been preserved in papyrus fragments in Egypt. But the main source of our historical knowledge of Jesus is in these four Gospels. All put together they do not make a big book; but any one of them by itself is a great book.

Who Remembered Him?

IT BOTHERS some people to discover what scholars have always known, that our Gospels as we have them are based on earlier writings and spoken traditions. But this gives us an even better reason for trusting the reliability of these records. They were not made up for the first time a generation or more after Jesus' resurrection. They go back to the lifetime of thousands who personally knew Jesus.

The farther back scholars can trace the origins of the Gospels, the more historically reliable they are proved to be. Some of the information worked into our Gospels came from personal reminiscences; this is the case with large parts of Matthew and John. In the case of Mark, the early story in the church was that as a young companion of Peter on missionary journeys, Mark jotted down the stories which Peter told about Jesus.

At any rate the Gospel of Mark contains just the sort of things that a man like Peter would be likely to remember. Luke himself, a missionary doctor and great friend of Paul, never knew Jesus personally, but lived for two years in Palestine and gathered the materials for his Gospel while there were still hundreds of people there who remembered Jesus well.

What They Remembered

JOHN tells us that it would be impossible to write down all that was then known of Jesus' life. Out of the 400 days (at least) during which Jesus' public ministry lasted, not over 40 are recorded, even in part.

Yet what these men did recall and record is enough to reveal a matchless Person. A fifth Gospel might enlarge our knowledge of Jesus; but it would not greatly change it. Jesus never wrote a book, not even a letter so far as we know; yet such words of his as were remembered have influenced the world.

Jesus' entire public ministry lasted a shorter time than it takes to go through college; yet what he did has had a deeper effect on the world than the work of any university graduate in history. Jesus started no corporation, no formal organization; yet out of his fellowship have grown the greatest institutions in the world.

Why They Remembered

THE STORY of Jesus was remembered and recorded by his followers partly because they could not help it. They could not forget him and did not want to forget him. One thing is true of all those who lovingly cherished these memories of the Master: they loved and adored him.

No unbeliever ever wrote a Gospel. Pilate wrote no life of Christ. Even if Judas had lived, he could not have written one. Our Gospels were written by men of faith, for the purpose of calling out faith in others. "These things were written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Son of God." (John 20: 31).

In one sense of the word we could write a better Gospel now, for today 19 centuries of Christian experience are behind us, and those centuries are full of the doings of Christ through his church. The four Gospels tell us of what Jesus did in Galilee. But now we can tell the story of what Christ has done in Africa and Greenland and Australia and America. Reading the Gospels is interesting, it is important; but the reading has not hit the bull's-eye if it leaves you, the reader, merely better informed than you were.

WHEN you see the 1949 Chevrolets, a glance will be enough to tell you they're new—all new—in line and contour, in beauty and style. And when you look inside, and under the hood, and beneath the chassis, you'll see that their newness is not merely in outward appearance, but in design and engineering and construction as well.

But, to a lot of people, the 1949 Chevrolet is already old. They know what it will do, and how exceedingly well it will do it—they know all about its performance, its comfort, its power, safety, durability and economy. They are the engineers and technicians of the General Motors Proving Ground—the largest, most completely equipped, outdoor testing laboratory in the automobile world.

Here, before a single new 1949 Chevrolet went into production, experimental models were tested—made to show that they possess, in greater measure than ever, all those qualities on which Chevrolet has built its leadership.

In short, the General Motors Proving Ground tests are your assurance that your new-model Chevrolet has proved its worth through many months and many, many thousands of miles of rough handling.

Soon you will see the new Chevrolet—and when you do, you will see a car not only new, but tried and true.

EXPENDITURES FOR PUBLIC AID SHOW DECLINE IN COUNTY FOR 1947

Expenditures for public aid in DeKalb county amounted to $172,809 or $6.98 per capita in 1947, as compared to a statewide average of $10.24 per capita, a study made by the Inidana State Chamber of Commerce showed today.

The State Chamber study, which will be included in the 1949 edition of its Indiana Tax and Social Security Manual to be published in January, covers each county's public welfare department expenditures townships relief costs and net operating expenses of county homes and orphanages.

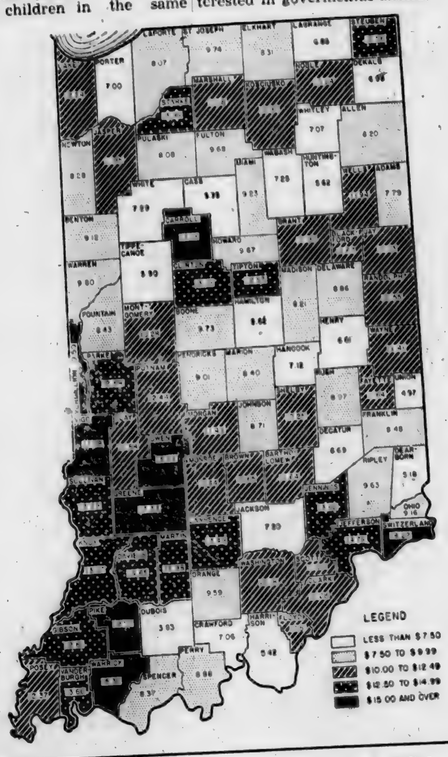
Statistics for DeKalb county for the month of June, 1948, show that 295 persons received a total of $9,931 in old age assistance. The average individual monthly payment was $33.66 as compared to the statewide average of 32.96.

Under the program of aid to dependent children in the same month, 57 children of 24 famileis received an average monthly payment of $21.67 to make a total of $1,235. The statewide average individual payment avas $20.57 per child.

Grants totaling $243.00 were made in June to 8 recipients of blind assistance, or an average of 30.31 per monthly payment in the state was $35.09.

Total expenditures in the entire state for county public welfare programs, township relief and county home and orphanages in 1947 were $35,104,015. (Figures for 1948 are not yet available.)

The State Chamber's Tax and Social Security Manual is published at the beginning of each session of the Indiana Legislature, presenting statistical facts and comments on all phases of government financing and social security in Indiana. Copies will be made availble to members of the Legislture, newspapers radio stations, libraries, members of the State Chamber and others interested in govermental affairs.



How Safe are Planes?

Safety in private planes varies with a number of conditions, just as it does with any other form of transportation. The pilot, the condition of the plane, the weather, are all factors. In general, underwriters of air insurance will figure insurance at about twice to three times the cost of the same kind of insurance for a car which is driven in the country.

Cannibalistic Belief

Cannibals do not always eat each other merely to satisfy their appetites. There are cases in which, among relatives, it is a sign almost of filial affection.

The Roosevelt family in America traces its descent to Claes Martenozen Van Rosenvelt, who came from Holland to New Amsterdam in 1649.

AVERAGE mortality of electrically brooded chicks is less than 5%, long-term studies by farm organizations show. Pig and lamb growers, too, report more stock goes to market when electric brooders are installed.

Electric brooders provide steady, uniform warmth—more like that of a mother animal's body than any other mass brooding device you can get. It's clean, safe heat, without flame or harmful fumes—and it's cheap.

St. Joe News Feature Writer Has Travel Trouble

Marjorie Haberkorn and Friends Detained At Spanish Border

Miss Marjorie Haberkorn, who is writing the column "Report From Paris" and is the sister of the editor of the St. Joe News, was allowed to return to France yesterday after having been held at the Spanish border while officials checked ownership of the car in which she and a few of her friends, also studying in Paris, were making a holiday trip.

Complete details are not yet available. But scattered bits of information indicate that the group rented a car for the trip and, intentionally or unintentionally, crossed the Spanish border when they attempted to return to Paris. They were stopped when they tried to reenter France and questioned as to the ownership of the car. Apparently the border officials weren't satisfied and a few days' delay resulted.

Miss Haberkorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Haberkorn, Sr., of Fort Wayne, were called by both an Indianapolis and a Chicago newspaper on Tuesday concerning the incident which, up to that time, they had heard nothing about. A few anxious hours were spent while the State Department straightened things out, which it did, and announced Wednesday that the group had been released.

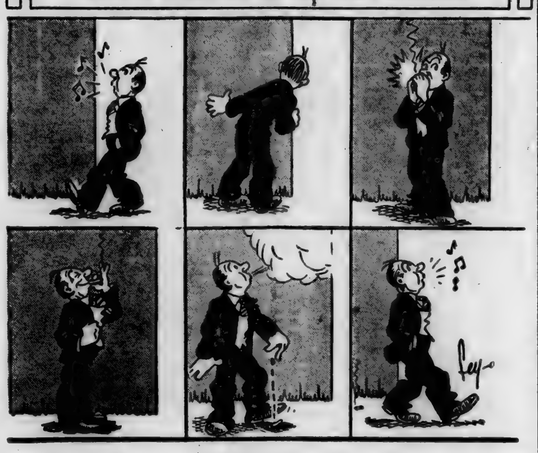
Picture of a Man and His New Year's Resolution



- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

Every day on board the Queen Mary we took part in one of the most delightful customs of the English. Each afternoon at four o'clock all the passengers all over the ship were served tea, bread and butter and cookies in every lounge and even up on the windy sun deck. That is one very easily acquired English custom.

Then all too quickly it was Sunday, our fifth day aboard ship. We were landing early the next morning, so most of this last day was devoted to taking pictures - of the boat of each other, of all the friends we had made and even of our nice English waiter, Johnny.

The next morning of our landing in Cherbourg, all packed and ready, we ate breakfast earlier than usual, then sat and talked in the lounge with all our friends, mos of whom were going on to Southampton, England, the last landing. We were waiting to have our passports and papers checked before geting off the boat.

Looking out of one of the portholes of the lounge I had my first view of France. On one side of the ship was a long rock sea wall, and on the other, the rolling green countryside of France!

We were very excited and happy but at the same time a little sad to have to say good-bye to many of our newfound friends.

At last we found ourselves walking down the gangplank on to a tug which was to take us from the Mary into the harbor of Cherburg to solid land, again, where we were to catch a train for Paris.

The little ride across the harbor was exciting, and we watched the huge ship become smaller as the distance between the two boats became larger. We heard the startling, hoarse, fog-hornish good-bye whistle that the Mary called to us as we left.

The ride was even more exciting because Cary Grant and Ann Sheridan were both on the little boat with us. Clutching my litle camera, I eased as closely as I could to the two movie stars and, feeling slightly embarassed, I tried to snap Cary Grant's picture. Just as the camera clicked, a man's back came between Cary and the lens. He obligingly apologized that the man's back had not conveniently been x-ray, and posed smilingly while I, astonished but very pleased, snapped his picture and then one of Ann Sheridan.

We found out a month or so later why the two had come to Europe. June and I were walking down a street in Paris one day and were surprised to see in a store window a picture of Ann Sheridan and Cary Grant together on the front of a magazine . Curious, we went in to buy one of the magazines and discovered that they were making a picture together with Germany as the setting. "The Male War Bride" was the title stated at the time, but it may have been changed since then.

Finally, then reaching the dock, we made our way off the little tug to solid earth again. The first thing I noticed as I walked down the dock through a tunnel into the railroad station was that everyone, all the ship workers and porters, was speaking French. This, of course, was expected, but startling just the same.

I also began to notice that, although I was off the Queen Mary, she still was having an effect on me. I felt myself going up and down and from side to side just as though the waves were still rocking me on the ship. From time to time I actually had to clutch at something to keep from losing my balance and persisted for almost three days after I was off the ship.

Mrs. Oscar Harriss was removed from the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett to her home in St. Joe Saturday.

ESTATE MUST PAY $1,000 FOR DAMAGES TO RAILROAD ENGINE

The Wabash Railroad company was awarded a claim of $1,000 Wednedsay afternoon in the DeKalb circuit court on an action filed against the estate of the late Waldo Anthony former Spencerville school teacher.

The finding in favor of the railroad was returned at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday by the DeKalb petit jurors who deilberated three and a half hours before reaching a decision. Freeman Kelham of Rt. 2, Avilla, served as jury foreman.

The verdict climaxed a trial that opened Monday morning in the DeKalb Circuit court. Judge W. D. Stump presided.

The railroad alleged that Mr. Anthony was negligent when he drove into the side of a speeding Wabash Redbird passenger train engine at a crossing two and a half miles north of St. Joe. The Wabash had sought damages of $1,405.63 against the estate.

The fatal accident occured Dec. 19, 1947. Mr. Anthony was a teacher in the Spencerville grade schools and a resident of northeast of Butler. He was killed instantly.

Harold D. Stump of Auburn and Bower, Freighty and Palmer of Huntington were counsel for the railroad. Former circuit court Judge Dan M. Link and William P. Endicott, both of Auburn, represented the estate.

Public Interest And Support Needed For Schools - Report

Far more Indiana citizens are indifferent to the public schools than are critical of them, the Indiana School Study Commission has concluded upon completion of its eight months study.

There is more evidence of interest than of indifference or of censure, the report states, but the per cent of interested active patrons is still far too low. The Commission emphasizes that there is very evident need drawing lay citizens into the schools to acquaint them with the problems and to enlist their cooperation.

There are many constructive factors in teacher-community relationships in Indiana, according to the Commission reports:

1. Teachers in general feel that there is very little restriction imposed upon them by the communities in which they teach.

2. Many parents are cooperating with teachers in their efforts for the education of their children.

3. Civic oganizations are generally giving strong support to schools and teachers.

The Commission found however, that the following adverse conditions exist in some Indiana communities:

1. A small number of teachers are subjected to undue restrictions by the communities or school officials.

2. Most communities do little to induct new teachers and make them feel welcome.

3. A large proportion of parents fail to take advantage of opportunities to work with teachers for the benefit of their own children.

4. Many citizens are still to indifferent toward their schools.

5. Teachers do not participate in community activities as widely as would seem desirable.

Twenty-one per cent of the 1947 Indiana high school graduates entered college for the 1947-48 school year - the breakdown shows 26 per cent of the graduates from city schools, 16 per cent from town high scohols and only 13 per cent of the 1947 graduates from township high schools went on to college, according to a report of the Indiana School Study Commission released today by William T. Kinder, Tipton, Commission Chairman.

With limited curriculum offerings in many of the small township schools teachers are teaching the traditional academic subjects to all pupils regardless of their aptitudes and vocational plans. In many cases this is coupled with the fact that teachers are assigned classes in which they have inadequate preparation.

The data shows that Indiana high schools lose approximately 27 per cent of the pupils of each grade before graduation - many of them because of lack of interest and poor scholarship. During the 1947-48 school year over 2000 boys and girls withdrew from high school to work or for financial reasons. Township schools lose a larger percentage of their pupils than city schools. In view of these facts, the Commission reports states that it is reasonable to conclude that school curiculums and teaching methods are failing to meet the needs of this portion of the school's population.

Many of the schools offer only the necessary 16 units of credit needed for graduation from high school. In schools with such limited offerings of subjects during the four years to the varied interests and needs of a large percentage of the pupils, the report points out.

The commission visiting committees found that in 36 per cent of the schools visited the requirements regarding choice of subject permitted a pupil to study in fields appropriate to his needs. However, 28 per cent of the schools had requirements which would not permit appropriate selection of studies.

In general, then schools permit pupils to enter the curriculum of their choice and some of the larger schools use counselors, advisers, deans and principals to help the pupil make a wise choice. However, the reports states, if only one curriculum is available, the pupil's privilege of choice means nothing. The visiting committees found that in 25 per cent of the township schools only one curriculum was available.

The Commission report reveals that many of the high school programs are based upon a traditional program of colegle preparatory education. The data show that a majority of pupils enrolled in high school at the present time do not enter college. The report emphasizes that high schools must break with the 'prep' tradition and organize for more effective service to those for whom high school is the end of formal education.

The Commission report reccommends that the administration of the schools of Indiana be placed in the hands of men and women who have been trained for positions of educational leadership. It states that the present management of a large number of the schools by lay trustees cannot contiue under a program for the improvement of schools. Burley V. Bechdolt, Study Director, pointed out that the Commission report recognizes the place of a lay board in forming of school policy and in making decisions concerning fiscal matters but that recommedations concerning employment and assignment of the teaching staff should rest with the professional administrator. Also, the school principal should be charged with the responsibility for the educational program of the school - which means that he should be given time for administrative and supervisory duties.

The Commission report recommends that every high school in the state provide a basic program of education that will consist of (1) a series of common learnings taught to all youth regardless of their residence, economic status, mental ability, or individual interests; and (2) a series of opportunities for individualized learnings which will provide for the special interests and abilities of the pupils; (3) opportunities for youth to prepare for the work life of the communinty. For many pupils opportunites for vocational preparations will end upon graduation or withdrawal, from school.

Robert H. Wyatt, executive secretary of the Commission and of the Indiana State Teachers Association, said that the legislative committee of the Association will meet Saturday in Indianapolis to review the findings and recommendations of the 600 page Commission report as a basis for formulating a program to be presented to the forthcoming session of the Indiana General Assembly.

DEKALB COUNTY ALLOTTED $62,000 FOR 1949 CONSERVATION PAYMENTS

DeKalb County has been allotted $62,000 for the purpose of making AAA payments to farmers who perform Conservation practices on their farm in 1949 for which a payment is offered; last year our allotment was $37,000.

The AAA Committeemen met in Auburn, Jan. 6, 1949, with two representatives of the State AAA office and selected the practices for which a payment will be offered. These practices include liming, fertilizing, contouring, terracing, tree planting, tiling and several other practices. In order to obtain financial assistance in performing Conservation Practices the farmer must declare his intentions before Apri 1, 1949. Township meetings for this purpose will be held in all townships at the following places and time:

Wimington-Butler City Hall, Jan. 12 9-4 p. m.; Newville- Newville Center, Jan. 13, 9-4 p. m.; Jackson-Jackson Center, Jan. 14, 7-10 p. m.; Concord-St. Joe T. Hall, Jan. 18, 1-5 p. m.

Every man that owns or operates land in DeKalb County should try to attend the meeting in the township where his farm is located; if this is not possible he may contact the County AAA office anytime before April 1, 1949.

Corn insurance will be explained at all the township meetings.

CANCER CAN BE CURBED

. . . if discovered early and treated promptly. Needless delay can literally mean the difference between life and death. Pain is seldom a sign of early cancer—but there are other DANGER SIGNALS:

1. Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.
2. A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue.
3. Bloody discharge from the nipple or irregular bleeding from any of the natural body openings.
4. Any change in the color or size of a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion.
6. Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Any change in the normal bowel habits.

See your doctor the MOMENT you discover a DANGER SIGNAL!

The BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 2:13-15, 19-23; Mark 6:3; Luke 2:39-52.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 2:25-32.

His Growing Years

Lesson for January 16, 1949

DOUBTLESS God can do anything he wants to do. He could have sent Jesus to earth on a moonbeam; he could have had him for the first 30 years of his life on a lonely peak in the Andes, far from any human dwelling; he could have sent him into the world full-grown, without ever having to go through the grind of growing and learning as the rest of us do.

Dr. Foreman

But God did not plan it that way. If the manhood of Jesus was to be real, and not a hothouse facsimile, he had to come up the hard way. Angels do not grow, they just are; but human beings grow. The great difference between Jesus and ordinary mortals is not that they grow and he did not; the difference is that he grew straight.

No 'Good Chance'

THE world around us makes its impression on us; it makes no impression on dolls. They go on smiling their built-in, painted-on smiles, but we have to learn through tears. And so did Jesus. The heavenly Father saw to it that his experiences were not always easy one. He was born in a stable, of parents who were very poor, living the first few years of his life as a displaced person in a foreign country, with a price on his baby head.

He grew up in a village "off the main line," among companions not one of whom ever became famous, working through long years at a simple and not too well-paid trade. During Jesus' first 30 years his neighbors never guessed that the most extraordinary person of history was living in their village.

We sometimes wish that we had an easier time of it, and that God had seen fit to cast our lot in some big city with a rich family, instead of where we are. We feel we could be better people if we "had a chance." Yet every reader of these lines has a far better chance than Jesus. It did not take perfect surroundings to shape a perfect life.

Holy Family

WE CALL Joseph and Mary and the rest the "Holy Family," but they were not known that way in Nazareth. They were just Joseph the carpenter, and his Mary. Then there were the boys and girls; Mark (6:3) tells the boys' names, but no one ever remembered to put down the sisters' names. Even then it was no small family. Jesus, as the oldest of seven, would have many responsibilities. After Joseph's death he would be the chief breadwinner. Seeing that the rent was paid, that there was grain in the house for Mary to grind into meal, finding money for clothes for seven growing children—this could not have been easy for Jesus the young carpenter.

They were not an easy family to live with, those boys and girls. When Jesus later began his work of teaching and healing, we hear that even his brothers did not believe in him. But in spite of the brothers, there was always Mary. Mother-like, she loved her first-born as no other could or did.

There are some who worship her as "Queen of Heaven;" but it is enough for us to remember that she was queen of the home where Jesus the child grew to be Jesus the man. Not this side of heaven can we know how much we owe, as Christians, to this one woman, whose mind and spirit were woven into the thought and spirit of her Son.

Home Memories

INDEED, Jesus' whole boyhood was woven into his manhood. Among life's most precious memories are those of our growing years. Later on, we can see how Jesus' mind was bright with memories of home. The parables of the patched garment, of the leaven hidden in the meal, of the poor woman hunting with a lamp for her one lost coin, of the hungry neighbor at midnight, of the son who said "I go" but did not go—these and many others may well be echoes of Jesus' boyhood home. Deeper than these are Jesus' habits of prayer, his fondness for calling God "Father," his familiarity with Scripture even in death's agony—here surely are patterns learned in childhood's growing years.

NEITHER producers nor buyers want dirty eggs. A little planning and system on the part of the egg farmer can cut dirty eggs to a minimum.

Experts suggest, to insure clean eggs, use a deep litter, possibly of whole corn cobs, on the chicken house floor. Also, lime sprinkled over the deep litter will keep chickens' feet cleaner. Broody hens, which foul nests, should be put in coops. The drinking fountain should be mounted over a wire and gravel base to avoid a wet litter. Nests should be kept dark, to keep the chickens from molesting one another. Ventilation should be provided near the roof, to help keep the house dry.

The installation of self-delivery nests are a real help. These allow the eggs to roll down a gentle incline to the rear. The eggs aren't touched until they are gathered.

Ample space should be allowed in the chicken house. This will reduce humidity. It's best to allow three square feet per bird for Leghorns and three and one-half to four square feet for heavier birds.

Rear entrance nests also are a help. The birds then enter from the rear and the eggs are gathered by unhooking a board in the front. Gypsum pads should be provided in the chicken house. This chalky material covers the dirt on the feet and prevents egg soiling. The chicken house's temperature should be kept at about 50 degrees in the fall, winter and spring, by proper wall and ceiling insulation. Egg condition improves remarkably as temperatures are kept above freezing. Pullets should be housed in the fall to give them a chance to learn to use the nests in the laying house.

These simple procedures will save time . . . and result in greater [illegible]

FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON

President—Harding College Searcy, Arkansas

What Witch Hunt?

"No Communist, no matter how many votes he should secure in a national election, could, even if he would, become President of the present government. When a Communist heads the government of the United States—and that day will come just as surely as the sun rises—the government will not be a capitalist government but a Soviet government, and behind this government will stand the Red army to enforce the dictatorship of the proletariat."

Please read the above quotation again. Could an American have said that? Or does it sound like a message from Moscow? Indeed, everything in that statement is un-American. It was written by William Z. Foster, head of the Communist Party in the United States. This statement is reprinted in large type on the back of a pamphlet prepared and distributed by a Committee of the U. S. House of Representatives. This is the Committee that is accused of "witch-hunting."

Sworn Statement

Nor is the Congress guilty of distributing the sayings of Communists as propaganda for the Soviets. The publication which carries Mr. Foster's sworn statement is very much anti-Communist. The booklet is called: "100 Things You Should Know About Communism in the U. S. A." It is one of a series of five publications "on the Communist conspiracy and its influence in this country as a whole, on religion, on education, on labor and on our government."

By giving Mr. Foster a prominent position on the back cover of this booklet, our Congress hoped to show Americans that native Communists really condemn themselves whenever they open their mouths. In the quotation, there is revealed Communism's greatest appeal: the lust for power, and the urge to dominate others that some people have. There is revealed also its greatest weakness, for people everywhere do not like to be dominated by force. People like to be free.

Light and Facts

The Congressional Committee to which I refer is the Committee on un-American Activities. If you have ever listened to the palaver of Communists or the "fellow travelers" (Communist sympathizers), the chances are you have heard this Committee of Congress strongly criticized. Like the committee says, the right answers given in the booklet, by using the facts, must certainly infuriate the Communists. It is true also that many of these right answers will shock the average citizen who has not studied the "ism" closely.

It is not my purpose to apologize for the Committee on un-American Activities. No apologies are needed. It has done a great service to the American people in a time when light and facts are needed to clear up so much confusion. If the Committee has made minor mistakes in the course of its work, it has at the same time done a glorious job in reselling our people on the American way of life. It has opened the dark secrets of Communist conspirators.

Hired Men

The Communist policy is to break down existing nations any way they can, and in the confusion to seize control. They will promise every kind of "better life," but they have never been known to deliver it. As an American I am thankful for the work the Committee has done. I say with the Committee: "You know what the United States is like today. If you want it exactly the opposite, you should turn Communist. But before you do, remember you will lose your independence, your property, and your freedom of mind."

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT OF ESTATE

Notice is hereby given to the creidtors, heirs and legatees of Mary E. Betz, Deceased, to appear in the DeKalb Circuit Court, held at Auburn, Indiana, on the 31st day of January 1949, and show cause, if any, why the Final Settlement Accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs are notified to then and there make proof of heirship and receive their distributive shares.

PEACH FILLED CREAM PUFFS

Puffs

¼ cup shortening
½ cup water
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Filling

1½ cups sliced canned cling peaches
¾ cup whipping cream
Few grains salt
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1½ teaspoons lemon juice

Puffs: Bring shortening and water to boil in saucepan. Stir in flour and salt all at once; beat until mixture leaves sides of pan and follows spoon around. Remove from heat. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition until thoroughly blended. Drop onto oiled cooky sheet in desired sizes. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for about 25 minutes.

Filling: Drain peaches thoroughly. Whip cream until stiff. Beat in salt, sugar and lemon juice. Fold in peaches and fill cream puff shells.

Makes 4 large or 8 small puffs.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE GARRETT Railroaders continued their jinx over the Spencerville Raiders in County Tournament play, when they defeated them in the finals, by a 47 to 37 score at the Waterloo gym, Saturday evening. The Raiders had gained their right to the finals by battling the Butler Windmills in the afternoon game, to top them by a 37 to 35 score.

IN THE AFTERNOON first game, it looked for a while as though the small, speedy Windmills were going to chase the Raiders clear out of the Waterloo gym in the opening minutes of play. They set up their plays almost at will and were sending Bellamy and Campbell in for baskets, and just couldn't miss. They held a 12-5 lead at the first quarter and it looked as though it would take a miralcle to stop them as they stretched their lead to 16 to 5 early in the second quarter. Before the half had ended however, the tide had turned and the Raiders had finally taken the offensive. R Hook, Paschen and Akey all hit good before the half had ended and the Raiders were playing a superb defensive game, picking up their opponents right from the out-of-bounds play in, and dogging them all over the floor. The Windmills had trouble getting the ball down and were making bad passes that were being intercepted and turned into Spencerville goals. The Raiders took the lead shortly before the half and held on 23 to 18 at the main intermission. It was 29 to 23 at the end of the third quarter, Spencerville still holding the whip. In the last quarter the Windmills started too late to regain the lead they had tossed away. Ed Gengnagel tried to spark the Butler five back into the game. He hit 3 of his one handed push shots near the end of the game to narrow the Raiders lead to 37 to 35. Spencerville held the ball however, and with less than a minute to play put on an effective stall.

ONLY ONCE in the finals between Garrett and Spencerville did the large group of Red Raider fans get a chance to exercise their vocal chords. Clark, Dewitt and Poer put on a good scoring show for the Garrett fans in the first half and they led 24 to 14 at that time. Akey hit 2 fast ones from near the foul line in the third quarter, and Bowser hit one of his corner specials and then Sonny Hook hit both of his free throws to make the score 26 to 21. That was the end of the Raiders rally however, and Garrett swept back into a ten point, 31 to 21 lead at the third quarter mark.

GARRETT'S RAILROADERS varsity and second teams, tripped up both of the Tiger teams in the tourney. Their B. Squad defeated the Tiger seconds 36 to 18 on the first night, and on Saturday afternoon, their first string dumped the locals 58 to 20.

. . . . . .

IT WAS the third consecutive year that coach Parks and his Railroaders have stepped out to take the trophys after the final tourney game. And it has been the third consecutive time that they have beaten the Red Raiders to do it.

. . . . . .

THE LEGION lost a hard fought game to the strong, Paulding VFW by a 46 to 44 score at the St. Joe gym Saturday night. The locals started off fast and had little trouble rebounding against the big veterans team from Paulding and held a 13 to 2 lead at the end of the first period. By the end of the half the visitors still had not shown the powerhouse offensive that they had displayed before on their home floor, and the legion still held with a 22 to 10 lead. By the third quarter ending however, the Paulding team had hit their stride, and by picking up 18 points in that quarter against 8 for St. Joe, they had edged into a 31 to 30 lead. In the last quarter the visitors stepped out in front at one point and held a 10 point lead. The locals rallied however late in the last period but it fell short by two points.

THIS SATURDAY evening the Ashley Independents will furnish opposition for the Legion. One game will be played starting at 7:30 at the St. Joe gym.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Most of us who enjoy the pleasures of boating, whether it be just joy riding in small craft or the use of a boat or canoe for fishing and hunting, frequently overlook the fact a legislative program is necessary in keeping boating on a sane keel.

Frankly, most of us take boating for granted and never think much about the laws that are needed to control the sport. But not the Outboard Boating Club of America, a virtual watchdog over the sport.

The Boating Club recently completed a model boating law, drafted primarily for referral to all state legislatures concerned with small boat regulation. And that means every state, for boating is an important sport in each one.

After a study of the model OBC law, it is easy to see that the suggested law provides the maximum of regulation with a minimum of restriction. That's the way it should be, and sportsmen should see that we have this type of boating law.

The model law is based on broad provisions recommending observance of safe operating speeds and careful navigation at all times, and the prohibiting of reckless navigation.

The oustanding feature of the law is "that every motor driven boat approaching or passing a canoe, rowboat, sailing vessel or bathing beach should be slowed down to a speed that will cause no damage to the occupants of the other craft."

This year will see more motor-driven boats in operation than ever be-fore, and as more and more sportsmen become boat-minded the proper regulations are a must. We have to protect this sport the same as we guard the game and fish in keeping our great outdoors a grand and enjoyable place.

INDIANA ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE COMMISSION RETURNS $1,862,198.36 TO COUNTIES AND SCHOOLS

For the six months period ending December 31, 1948, the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission returned retail permit fees to the civil units of the vaious counties in the amount of $1,241,469.51, and to the school units $620, 728.85, a total of $1,862,198.36, Neil D. McCollum, Director of Public Relations, announced yesterday. DeKalb County share was $6,375.62.

All retail permit fees are returned to the county of origin, two thirds to the civil units, one-third to the school units. The school units of each county receive approximately one-half of the amount returned to the civil units but the school unit distribution cannot be shown by counties as it become a part of the State Teachers Tuition Fund and is distributed on the basis of the school units in each county as determined by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Since repeal, the retail permit fees returned to the school units of the various counties amounts to over 14 million dollars and to the civil units over 23½ million dollars a total of over 37½ million dollars.

Effective Method to Break Dog of Chewing Habit Given

Associating Practice With Something Unpleasant Will Soon Bring a Stop

One of the most frequent questions from dog-owners is, "How can I teach my dog not to chew things?" The following suggestions by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, represent recommended methods for training a dog to refrain from exercising his teeth on shoes, furniture and other household articles.

Almost all puppies go through a chewing period — particularly when they are cutting their second teeth — and even older dogs seem to have a strong urge to gnaw on things. Dogs that are lonely or bored through confinement or inactivity are especially prone to this habit.

One of the first things to do in curing the chewing habit is to give the dog something of his own that he can chew on. A large raw knuckle or shin bone with the meat well scraped off should be kept where the dog can reach it at any time. Encouraging the dog to play with and chew on the bone will help to keep him from turning his attention to the rugs or furniture. Poultry, steak or chop bones should not be used for this purpose as they splinter easily and can cause serious injury to the dog.

Dogs should never be given old gloves, socks or shoes as toys. All shoes, socks and gloves look alike to a dog and he won't know the difference between the old ones and the newest and best in the house.

Caught in the act

The quickest and best way to break any bad habit in a dog is to make him associate that habit with something unpleasant happening to him. If the dog starts to use his teeth on some forbidden object he should be whacked on the rump and told in a stern voice, "No! No!" or "Stop that!" Incidentally, whatever phrase is used to make the dog desist from any disapproved activity, that same phrase should be used every time the dog is to stop what he's doing. It is useless to say "No" one time and "Bad dog" or "Stop that" the next—the dog won't know what is meant.

If a dog is not apprehended until after he has already chewed something, he should be taken by the collar, led to the damaged object and scolded sharply. If a chewed article is not discovered until long after the chewing took place, it won't do any good to scold or punish, as a dog's memory is short.

At times a dog will develop a fondness for gnawing some one particular object such as a rug, or a chair leg. The best remedy for this is to sprinkle red hot cayenne pepper on the article. Just one taste of the hot pepper is generally sufficient to make Mr. Fido lose interest once and for all in that article.

Until a dog is absolutely trustworthy, he should not be allowed to roam at large through the house. If it is necessary that he be left alone, he should be confined where he can do no damage and given his shin or knuckle bone to chew. In most cases, dogs get over the chewing habit as they mature, but while Fido is still in the destructive stage, the above suggestions will keep damage to a minimum, the Gaines Dog Research Center states.

HOTEL DIRECTORY FOR DOG-OWNERS PUBLISHED

Traveling with a dog should be a great deal easier in the future for vacationists and other wayfarers, who find it necessary to take the family pet along on their journeys. The Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y., has recently completed a nationwide survey of hotels and motor courts to determine those which accept guests with dogs and has compiled and published its findngs in the form of a directory available to dog-owners without charge. A preface to the directory gives helpful suggestions for simplifying the problem of feeding Towser while on the road and makes a plea for dog-owners to make sure that their pets do not cause annoyance to other hotel guests or damage to furniture or rugs.

'Big Five' Behind Introduction of New Chevrolet

Key figures directing the 1949 Chevrolet inspect the unusual design of a new front suspension which is one of the major engineering secrets behind the car's amazingly smooth ride: (l. to r.)—John G. Wood, chief engineer; T. H. Keating, general sales manager; Hugh Dean, manufacturing manager; W. F. Armstrong, general manager, and E. W. Ivey, chief administrative assistant. This is the first postwar picture of top management.

You're asking for more and more electric power . . .
and GETTING IT from INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY

Here's what your electric company did in '48 . . .

DEMANDS for electricity upon the system were greater last year than ever before in the company's history—almost twice what they were in 1939—yet with minor exceptions there was no curtailment of service—every customer got all the power he needed.

Here are a few figures that show how this company's management and 2,060 skilled employees spent their busiest year ever in your service:

2,089,439,000 KILOWATTHOURS delivered—last year our customers required 23% more electricity than in 1947 and two and a half times as much as in the prewar year of 1939.

9,382 NEW CUSTOMERS added—44% of them in rural areas. Total customers served now at an all-time high of 205,842.

170 MILES of transmission and distribution line built in 1948. Our lines now extend 10,015 miles, reach 169 communities.

$5,889,499 spent for the coal we used last year. Our coal bill was 51% higher in 1948 than in '47. Coal cost us 73% more per ton than in 1939.

During and since the war this company and five others associated with it in the Central System of the American Gas and Electric Company have built new plants as fast as we could get delivery of the equipment.

1,323,000 HORSEPOWER of new plant capacity has been added to the system since 1939. We have doubled our capacity in less than ten years. The companies in the system are continuing to build more and more plants.

1,106,000 HORSEPOWER of new plants are now under construction and the last unit is scheduled for completion by the end of 1951.

Our expenses last year—like yours—continued to rise. On the average, materials and supplies we bought were twice as high as in 1939. But improved production methods and your greater demand for power have enabled us—thus far—to hold our charges for electricity at prewar levels.

Each day, of course, our problem of meeting rising construction and operating costs becomes more difficult. But we shall continue, as in '48, to bring you the best possible electric service at the lowest possible rates that will enable us to continue to expand and maintain our service to you.

ALLEN COUNTY CANCER CENTER WILL SOON BE IN OPERATION

Doctors, operating unde the supervision of the Fort Wayne Medical Society, will staff and serve the Allen County Cancer Detection Center when it is put into service, according to Dr. Orval Miller, president of the Fort Wayne Medical Society. This announcement was made following release of the news that quarters for the detection center had been located by the Allen County Cancer Society.

With the availability of the cancer center, the Indiana State Medical Association has requested that it be made available to not only Ft. Wayne and Allen county, but also to the surrounding counties in Northeastern Indiana.

Serving on the supervisory committee for the center from the medical society are Dr. L. W. Elston, chairman, Dr. B. W. Rhamy, Dr. S. R. Mercer. They will co-operate with the medical committee of the cancer society, officials said.

Operation of the medical aspects of the center will be the responsibility of the medical society, while maintenance of the center will be responsibilty of the cancer society. Mrs. Rosella Todd, R. N., present executive secretary of the cancer society, will continue in that capacity, officials said.

The center will act as a detection station only, as outlined by the American College of Surgeons, officials explained, and will not act as a hospital or clinic. County Loan Cupboard services of the society will continue to be available to home cancer. Literature, motion pictures, pamphlets, and speakers are available without cost upon request to the cancer society, presently located at 221 West Wayne Stree.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN BEGINS FRIDAY, JAN. 14; 1948 BAD POLIO YEAR

Greater support in Indiana than ever before for the March of Dimes campaign against infantile paralysis was urged today by Dean H. Mitchell, of Hammond, March of Dime state chairman. The annual appeal opens in every county Friday, Jan. 14 under direction of local chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and extends to Jan. 31.

"Polio epidemics in the nation this year have been the worst in more than 30 years and marks the sixth consecutive year of unusually high incidence of the disease," Mr. Mitchell said. "Costs of financing increasingly expensive medical care for polio victims, plus the necessity for continuing intensive and ever more hopeful research into causes and cures for the disease, make the 1949 campaign a critical one."

HOME EC. CLUB WILL MEET FRIDAY, JANUARY 21

The Home Economics Club of Concord Township, will meet at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, Friday, Jan. 21, with the following program:

Devotions-Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick; Installation of officers-Mary Lenore Moore; Home Agents Lesson, "Household Pests"-Mary Lenore Moore.

PASSING IT ALONG

JOHN had been permitted to attend a stag dinner, and now he was back home telling his wife about it.

"We had a rather unpleasant moment just before the party broke up, dear," John related. "Harry Green started handing out a lot of gossip, and we had to reprove him sharply. As you know, we don't allow idle gossip at our parties."

"Most commendable," his wife commented. "Most commendable."

John finished the account, and was preparing to turn out the lights, when he noticed a familiar questioning expression on his wife's face.

"What is it, dear?" he asked. "Was there anything I forgot to tell you?"

"Yes, dear," said the little woman, "you might tell me what that gossip was that Harry Green told at the party."

CARE GOES WHERE HUNGER IS

Hunger, today, is the capital of many countries.

Millions of minds, wanting peace and freedom, are mocked by empty stomachs.

To these countries — to the men, women and children who are these countries — CARE goes.

CARE goes with parcels of food, with clothing, with woolen blankets.

But CARE goes nowhere without YOU.

Non-profit CARE makes it simple and convenient for you to help persons or families you know in Europe. Non-profit CARE sends more for your money than you can send in any other way. Non-profit CARE guarantees delivery — or refunds your money.

CARE is government-approved. Twenty-six major American relief groups are members of CARE.

If you are now sending parcels abroad, please investigate CARE's organization. Through CARE, buying in immense volume, you can send more for less. If you are not now sending help abroad, the need is urgent. Full information from CARE, 50 Broad Street, New York. Or from your local bank, YWCA, Western Union city offices, your local CARE committee.

Fertilizing Ponds

To grow more fish, wise farmers fertilize their fish ponds throughout the summer and fall. Fish growth is slow when there is little fertilizer in the water, states E. F. Kennamer, Alabama Polytechnic Institute extension wildlife specialist. Underwater weeds also grow faster because sunlight can penetrate deeper through unfertilized water," he says. A good way to determine when more fertilizer is needed is to stick your arm straight down into the water until it touches your elbow. Then if you can see the tips of your fingers it's time to fertilize. One application of fertilizer consists of 100 pounds 6-8-4 and 10 pounds nitrate of soda or its equivalent to each acre of water.

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusive to the St. Joe News

In the station we discovered that our train was leaving in about a half hour. We found our coach and compartment, then found our luggage from among the many heaps of suitcases piled along the train. Soon it was time for the train to leave and we were on our way to Paris!

It was lunch time when the train pulled out of Cherbourg and we were hungry, so at first call we went to the diner. This was our first experience with a French menu and waiter. The food was delicious, however, and everything went well until we tried to get some water to drink. The French waiter expects a person to drink wine with meals, of course, as all the French people do. He finds it difficult(intentionally or unintentionally, I don't know) to understand that you want only water. We ended up with a capped bottle of Vichy water. Not knowing exactly what this was, and thinking that, perhaps, this was the only way they could serve water on a train, we poured some out and took a gulp- - the last- - because it was bottled mineral water, healthy, but horrible tasting stuff, instead of plain water. So it was at our first meal we learned our first lesson of how to order in French so that we could get specifically just plain water.

After we got back to our compartment, the French customs officials came through. They checked our passports and asked if we had anything to declare. We said nothing over the limit and, I guess because we were students, they trusted us and did not bother to look through our suitcases.

I had expected the scenery to look different, and it did. There was one particular kind of tree which seemed rather strange - - looking. It was straight and very tall with leaves that came out umbrella like, right at the top. The houses, tiny and picturesque, some made of stone looked different, too. On the roads we saw only on or two automobiles, but instead, lots of bicycles ridden by the young and old alike.

Going through Caen we saw for the first time a bombed city still not restored, it had been so completely destroyed. At that moment came the startling realization that I was actually going through some of the places where the last war had been fought, and to Paris, which was not only beautiful Paris, center of art and intellect, but also Paris, the capital, which had been occupied by the Germans.

The first thing we saw coming near to Paris was the Seine, a dissappointment to anyone expecting a huge, torrentous river, because it is small compared to our large rivers. Nevertheless, to me the Seine stood for Paris too, and therefore I was thrilled. I was ever more so when coming into the outskirts of the city I could see the Eiffel Tower rising in the distance. Soon the train was stopping in the Gare St. Lazarre. We were actually in Paris!

We had a minor tussel with a porter in trying to get our suitcases off of the train and, not knowing how difficult it is to find a taxi in St. Lazare Station or that it is the porter's job to do so, we made the mistake of tipping him before he had procured one for us.

Then, all of a sudden, June saw Bob coming toward us. He was a West Pointer she had gone with in the States who was now stationed in Germany. He had known we were coming and had managed to get enough leave to drive from Germany to Paris in his jeep to meet us at the train.

Piling half of us and our luggage in his jeep and the other half in a luckily found taxi, we finally arrived at the little hotel where they were expecting us. The hotel had been reccommended by one of our professors at school, and the proprietors, having known for months that we were coming, gave us a royal welcome in French. At last in our rooms we collapsed on the beds, tired and still unable to believe that we were now in Paris.

Bob took us to our first dinner that night in his jeep. We ordered steak and french fries (bifteak et pommes frites), the only thing we could recognize on the otherwise unintelligble menu.

After dinner Bob drove us around in his jeep - - up and down the Champs - Elysees, the wide fashionable street with beautiful stores and restaurants, big movie theaters, with mostly American films, concert halls, wide sidewalks with brightly lit sidewalk cafes, the whole street lined with big trees on the edge of the sidewalk, and leading to the Arch of Triumph, huge imposing and beautiful. Then we drove over to the Place de la Concorde, large, with lots of street lights, tall fountains and statues scattered through it and encircled on one side by the Tuilerie Gardens, on the next side by the Seine crossed by a wide bridge, then another park opposite the Tuileries, and on the side facing the Seine, government buildings and the American Embassy.

We discovered when riding through the Place De la Concorde that French traffic measured up to all we had ever heard about it. The cars go any way they please, honking every minute. The motto seems to be- - "Honk first, last, and always, keep going and hope for the best." It is an amazing sight in itself and also for the fact that, ihough I have seen some close calls I have never seen any accidents.

So we spent our first night in France seeing Paris in a jeep.

DEKALB COUNTY HUNTERS RECEIVE $865 IN BOUNTIES FOR FOXES KILLED LAS TYEAR

Fox hunters in DeKalb county killed at least 221 of the predatory animals during 1948, Auditor Guy Myers reported Monday. The number is a decrease for the second straight year in the number killed.

The county paid a total bounty during the year of $865. In 1947, $992 was paid in bounties and in 1946 the county paid bounties of $1,162.

Figures for 1947 showed 222 foxes killed, one over the 1948 total. The difference in bounty paid was due foxes killed in 1947. That year, 129 grown foxes and 93 pups were turned in for bounty by hunters.

Last Year, 120 pups were killed by hunters and only 101 grown foxes. In 1946, when the largest bounty in history was paid, 214 pups and 104 grown foxes were killed.

Bounty for grown foxes is $5 each, which includes foxes over six month old. The bounty on pups is $3.

In May the largest number of the animals were turned in to the auditor for bounty. In that month alone, during the suckling period, 92 pups and eight old foxes were killed. Bounty for that month was $316.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire through the columns of the News to thank all my friends, relatives and the different organizations for the many cards, letters, flowers and prayers offered in my behalf, while in St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond, all of which seemed to shorten the hours. Your kindness will always be remembered.

Mrs. Elmer McKay

EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

STATISTICS as such are pretty dry, but they usually point up ways to save time or money—and that is important to farmers these days.

The 44 out of every 100 pigs that die between farrowing and marketing waste nearly 14 per cent of our nation's hog feed every year. Experts say that feed costs make up approximately 12 per cent of producing our pork supply.

Large litters at weaning are essential. The total cost of the feeding and caring for the sow for six months must be divided among the pigs that are weaned. If she weans 10 pigs instead of five, the cost per pig is about one half as much. Remember, the pigs that go to market must pay for those that die.

Saving pigs starts with the selection of desirable brood sows and gilts. The next major step is the proper feeding of the gilt or sow before breeding and during gestation. Research has shown that grain supplemented with ample proteins and vitamins, fed during the gestation period, resulted in only one-fourth the death losses of new born pigs as was experienced when sows were fed only grain and minerals.

The gestation and suckling rations of brood sows and gilts should contain, in addition to grain, vitamins, minerals and a good quality protein, a certain amount of fish meal or milk byproducts.

Save more pigs per sow and increase hog profits by selecting the right kind of sows and gilts—and then feeding them properly during the gestation and suckling periods. Don't house, feed and care for two sows to do the job of which one is capable.

OPTIONAL TAX FORM FOR WAGE EARNERS WITH INCOME LESS THAN $5,000

Wilbur O. Plummer, Acting Collector of Internal Revenue for the Indiana district, today called attention of taxpayers to the new optional form 1040A income tax return blank. This is the new form which may be filed by most wage earners with incomes of less than $5,000 who want the Collector to compute their tax.

Formerly a similar form was printed on the back of the Withholding Statements which employers furnish to all employees subject to withholding. This year, the form has been printed on a seperate sheet of paper in order to provide more space for writing and instructions, and to minimize problems of those taxpayers who work for more than one employer. Copies of the new are avaiable at most employer's offices, banks, post offices, and at the Collector's office at Indianapolis.

Employers will continue to issue Withholding Statements to employees Each employee must attach the original copy of each of his Withholding Statements to his income tax return, whether he files on the new Form 1040A or the regular income tax return blank, Form 1040.

By law, employers are required to furnish annual Withholding Statements for the year 1948 not later than January 31, unless in unusual circumstance they get an extension of time from the Collector.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

THE COMMON COLD

COMMON colds cost the American public loss of millions of hours of productive labor. Of all ailments, a cold is the most democratic, striking virtually every individual at least once a year.

It is advisable to keep away from people with colds to avoid infection, but that is not always possible. In school rooms, street cars, buses, theaters and churches, and other public places, people with colds carelessly cough and sneeze.

One protection against taking cold is to keep our resistance at such high point that the germs around us do not take hold. Get fresh air, all the sunshine available, sufficient exercise, and plenty of rest and sleep. Eat vegetables, fruits and milk. Dress according to the weather, and if caught in the snow or rain, change to dry clothes as quickly as possible. "Cold shots" or vaccines may help prevent colds, but they are not yet out of the experimental and study stage.

The quickest way to get over a cold is to stay home and in bed right from the start. A light diet including plenty of water and fruit juices helps rid the system of the infection. At the first sign of fever a physician should be called. A seemingly simple cold may develop into something complicated, such as pneumonia, influenza, sinus infections or middle ear disease.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 1:59-67, 76-80.

No Greater Prophet

Lesson for January 23, 1949

"OF ALL the characters in history, which one do you admire most?" We know how Jesus answered that interested question. He had a great array of personages from whom to make his selection. But he took as the Great Man of all time, up to his own generation, no heroic figure from the past, no king, general, scholar or prophet. The greatest man, for Jesus—or at least one so great that he could think of none greater—was one of his own contemporaries, a cousin of his who was in jail at the time when Jesus said of him, "Among those born of women none is greater than John." Known to us as John the Baptist, that is, John the Baptizer, we seldom realize either his greatness or the close connection between his life and that of Jesus.

John of the Jordan

WE DO not know how much Jesus himself owed to John. We do know that John was the man who first called the public's attention to Jesus. John it was who gave some of Jesus' most important disciples their first training; John who introduced to Jesus, and turned over to him, some of his own followers. It may be significant too that Jesus' first preaching was identical with that of John (compare Matthew 3:2 and 4:17).

Some Christian scholars have gone so far as to suppose that it was John's preaching that stirred the young carpenter from Nazareth to leave his shop and begin his great work as teacher.

Whether this is so or not, we do know that it was the baptizing by John which led to the baptism of Jesus, and that Jesus' baptism was the turning-point between Jesus' private life and his short and stormy public career. It is quite clear that if there had been no John the Baptizer, the story of Jesus would have been very different from what it actually was.

Only a Voice

JOHN'S own picture of himself is not a picture at all. When they asked him to say what he was, and half-expected him to declare that he was the Messiah, the long-looked for King, John said only, "I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness."

John, so far as we know, never accepted dinner invitations, he was never under the roof of any friend, and he had no roof of his own. People even called him demon-possessed, he was so far removed from ordinary life.

But Jesus was always in people's homes. That is one reason why the greatness of John fades before the greatness of Jesus, for a Voice makes a poor companion. Jesus had the human sympathy that John lacked, and John well knew this. "He must increase, but I must decrease," he said.

Repentance: Seed and Fruit

NEVERTHELESS the Voice spoke truth. John must have been a powerful preacher, for his meetings were held miles from the nearest town, so that to reach him from Jerusalem one would have to travel through wild country infested with bandits. Few modern preachers, without benefit of advertising, music or choir, without even a tent, would dare to start a revival meeting 15 rough miles out of town. But John did—and the people came in crowds. We do not have the full report of his preaching that we have of the preaching of Jesus, but we do know that he broke the hard crust of his listeners' conscience.

He made them see how unfit they were for the Kingdom of God for which they prayed; he broke down their pride till they went down to the Jordan and were baptized under the open sky, in public confession of their sins.

When men asked him, What shall we do? John did not have the fuller, higher message that Jesus later had. But he did make plain two things about the good life, the life that pleases God: it cannot even begin without repentance and confession of sin, but it does not end there. Repentance is not a simple granite milestone on life's way; it is a seed which if it is real will bear fruit.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE ST. JOE TIGERS played one of their better games of the year against Harlan Friday evening at the St. Joe gym, but were defeated by a 55 to 45 final score. Walters and Lochner paced the Tigers early scoring drive and by the end of the half the Tigers were sitting on the top of a 27 to 23 score. In the last half, Powell who got 22 points for the visitors, and King, started hitting from all over the floor and the Tigers just couldn't keep pace. Lochner scored 15 points for St. Joe and Walters came thru with 12 for his best night this season.

SPENCERVILLE'S Red Raiders came through with another victory Friday evening. This one was a 43 to 39 job turned in over the Salem Center Cardinals on their floor, and the 9 point margin does'nt give any indications of the tough job the Raiders had in downing the rangy Salem outfit. By the end of the main intermission the Raiders were holding just a three proint margin, 20-17 score, but it was'nt until the game was nearly over that the Raiders got their scare of the game. With 2 minutes to go the Salem boys tied the score. Hoover and Akey came thru with baskets in the final 2 minutes and sent the Raiders home with their 10th victory of the season.

LAST Saurday the Legion lost to the Ashley Independents by a 36 to 32 score. This Saturday evening the Coldwater Moose will come down for a single game beginning at 8 p. m.

NEXT week's Vim league games will be played at Butler. The locals have the first game at 7:45, going against Butler. In the second game ParTee's will play the Auburn legion. The ParTee and St. Joe game scheduled for Tuesday at Butler will be played Thursday, Jan. 20 at St. Joe.

. . . . . .

THE TIGERS, who have shown a vast improvement in their last two or three games, excluding their one county tournament effort against the Garrett Railroaders, will go to Butler Friday evening for varsity and second team games. In the Butler Windmills the Tigers will actually go up against a team over which they will hold an advantage in height, slight though it may be. What the Windmills lack in height they account for in speed however. The Windmills have turned in several interesting performances, wining and losing from Spencerville and racking up a 20 point victory over Ashley in the county tourney.

THE LEGIONAIRES bowling team is continuing in the fight for the top spot in the second round of the Inter City Bowling League at Hicksville. Their effort toward that top spot was continued last week when they took two games out of the three games series from the Ford Sixes of Hickville.

INDIANA'S RAILROADS

Your railroads—the railroads which have served the State of Indiana since 1832—thank you for your patronage and wish for you, our patrons, a Prosperous New Year.

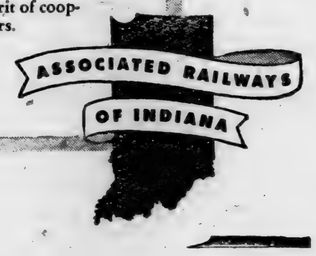
The value of the railroads to the economic life of Indiana—and our Nation—is tremendous. Not only do your railroads provide overall freight service which cannot be performed by any other mode of transportation, but purchases by the railroads in Indiana on a per capita basis—the monies they spend, above taxes, in the Hoosier State—are greater than in any other industrial state in America.

Railroad passenger business, too, is important in our state's economic life.

We need your business and you need ours!

May there be a continuance of this fine spirit of cooperation, which has prevailed for 117 years.

Onward in 1949!



NOW COMES THE LEADER WITH A 7-YEAR ADVANCE IN ONE!

Welcome the New

CHEVROLET

ON DISPLAY SATURDAY

The most Beautiful BUY of all

We cordially invite you to see the new Chevrolet for '49—the first completely new car the leader has built in more than seven years—and the most beautiful buy of all!

You'll find it's the most beautiful buy for styling, for driving and riding ease, for performance and safety, and for sturdy endurance born of quality construction throughout . . . because it alone brings you all these advantages of highest-priced cars at the lowest prices and with the low cost of operation and upkeep for which Chevrolet products have always been famous.

Yes, here's the newest of all new cars—pretested and preproved on the great General Motors Proving Ground—and predestined to win even wider preference for Chevrolet as the most beautiful buy of all, from every point of view and on every point of value. Come in and see it!

First for Quality at Lowest Cost

AMERICA'S CHOICE CHEVROLET FOR 18 YEARS

CHEVROLET

is the only car bringing you all these fine-car advantages at lowest cost!

YOU'LL PREFER ITS "LUXURY LOOK"!

Chevrolet's new Leader-Line Styling is lower, wider, racier . . . with new Dyna-Cool radiator grille, Single-Sweep front and rear fender treatment, and fleet-as-a-rocket lines all around . . . by far the most beautiful development of the new "functional form" for motor cars.

MORE BEAUTIFUL FROM EVERY ANGLE!

The new Beauty-Leader Bodies by Fisher (with push-button door openers outside) are true masterpieces by the master builder of fine coachcraft . . . with superb lines, extra-fine upholstery and a wide variety of alluring colors . . . much more beautiful from every angle—inside and outside—front, side and rear.

MORE ROOM AT EVERY POINT!

The new Super-Size Interiors featuring extra-wide "Five-Foot Seats," give you plenty of head, leg and elbowroom as well as extraordinary seating space for six full-grown passengers; and you'll also notice that the giant rear decks have what amounts to "trunk room" capacity.

SEE ALL! ENJOY ALL!

New Panoramic Visibility, with wider curved windshield, thinner windshield pillars, and 30% more window area all-round, permits you to see all and enjoy all, and to travel in maximum safety.

THESE ARE CARS THAT "BREATHE"!

Yes, you'll enjoy the additional pleasure of riding in a "car that breathes," for a completely effective heating and ventilating system supplies warm air to every nook and corner of the interior—exhales stale air—and keeps glass clear in all weather. (Heater and defroster units optional at extra cost.)

THE NEW RIDE'S A REVELATION!

A vastly improved Unitized Knee-Action Ride, combined with new direct-acting airplane type shock absorbers, front and rear, and extra low pressure tires, gives the stability, smoothness and road-safety you have always wanted.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WORLD'S CHAMPION ENGINE

You get the finer results of Chevrolet's sturdy Valve-In-Head Thrift-Master engine in all Chevrolet models . . . together with all of Chevrolet's money-saving economy of operation and upkeep . . . and this is the world's champion engine for miles served, owners satisfied, and years tested and proved.

JUST COUNT THE COMFORTS!

Push-Button Starter for simplest, easiest starting; Hand-E-Gearshift with Synchro-Mesh Transmission for maximum shifting ease; and Firm Foundation Box-Girder Frame for ride-stability and road-steadiness unsurpassed in the Chevrolet price range.

STOP MORE SWIFTLY AND SAFELY!

The new Certi-Safe Hydraulic Brakes give even faster stops with safety . . . and assure the highest degree of effective braking action for you and your family.

YOU'LL SAVE MORE MONEY, TOO!

This new Chevrolet is designed, engineered and built to speed your pulse and spare your pocketbook, for it brings you all these and many other important improvements at the lowest prices and with extraordinary economy of operation and upkeep.

Plus NEW CENTER-POINT DESIGN!

A remarkable 4-way engineering advance exclusive to Chevrolet in its field, and consisting of Center-Point Steering—Center-Point Seating—Lower Center of Gravity and Center-Point Rear Suspension gives the new Chevrolet riding and driving results without precedent or parallel in low-cost motoring. That means a new kind of riding ease and a new kind of driving ease heretofore reserved for owners of more expensive cars. Remember—only new Center-Point Design can give you all these finer motoring results; and only the new Chevrolet brings you Center-Point Design at lowest cost!

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

As the current hunting season fades in memories and we sit around the living room or sporting goods store and rehash last year's trips afield, here's some figures that will keep the argrumentive fires boiling until another season rolls around.

Frank Bellrose, veteran game technician who has devoted many years of his life to the study of waterfowl has uncovered some amazing facts about ducks. His studies have been limited to Illinois, still it is practical to assume that the same facts will apply on all the nation's waterfowl flyways.

Mr. Bellrose says that one out of every 100 mallards alive last Sept. 1, in Ill. only 45 will be alive this coming September 1. Of the 55 mallards that wil not survive, approximately 22 will have fallen before hunter's guns and 33 will have died from natural causes.

Hunters kill more malard drakes than hens (1.26 per cent more) Mr. Bellrose's studies have disclosed. But natural causes, mostly on the breeding grounds, take from 1 to 8 per cent more hens than drakes.

Young mallards migrating through Illinois stand a poorer chance of living another year than do the old birds. The average life of a young drake is 1.27 years. But if a young drake gets by the first year he can expect to live another 1.79 years. The overall average life of a mallard drake is 1.56 years and a hen 1.38 years.

A few of the luckier mallards may live as long as six or seven years, but this is only two or three per cent.

Those figures probably will fit every state and after reading them, it is easy to see why it is such a tough problem keeping the waterfowl population high.

There's nothing like a back-log of U. S. Savings Bonds to enable one to stand up and look the world in the eye. And you'll be clutching a handful of them before you know it if you enroll now for the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. With these bonds you'll lose the uncomfortable feeling that you're not getting ahead. What's good for you is good for your country, so start accumulating those Savings Bonds now. In ten years you get back $4 for every $3 you invest today. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or, if self-employed, for the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank.

Aerodynamics an Influence on New Car Styling

Pictured with a U. S. Air Force jet fighter plane, Chevrolet's Fleetline De Luxe four-door sedan exemplifies the clean, flowing surfaces that are the essence of modern transportation styling. Fleetline sedans are distinguished by the unbroken sweep of the roof line over rear quarters of the car. A two-door model is also available.

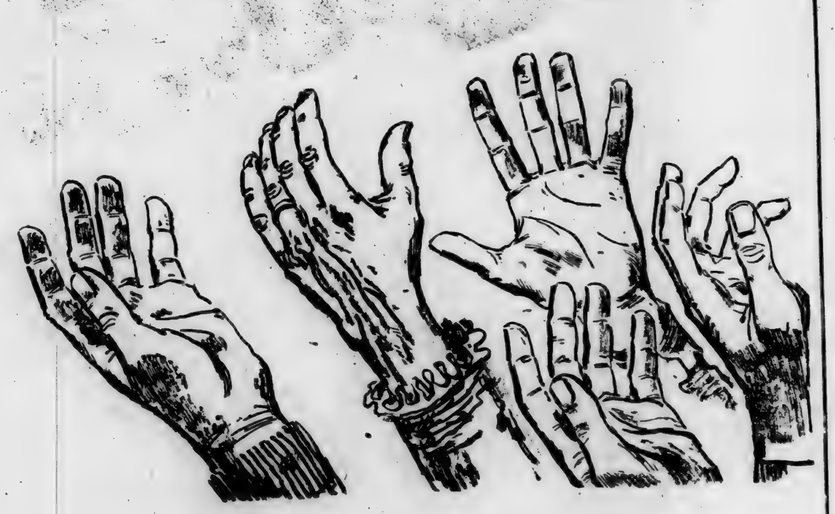
Come and give it!



"Come and get it!," the lusty American dinner call, is a foreign phrase to Europe in more ways than one.

It's been so long since millions of hungry people have had a full meal that they'd hardly recognize a dinner call in any language.

But how the child eyes sparkle, the wan women smile, and the wasted men register gratitude when a CARE food package arrives!

The 22½-pound CARE package gives four persons a month's supplementary rations . . . meets most basic shortages.

A $10 check, postal or money order to non-profit CARE sends the food parcel to the family or type of family of your choice. (Or if you want to send one of the 11 other CARE packages, a penny postal brings full information.)

Come and give it . . . CARE guarantees it will get there.

PHONE 20——HICKSVILLE, OHIO

YOU know why electricity is the best way to light a home. It's dependable, odorless, safe and clean.

It's the smart way to COOK, too—and for the same reasons. More and more women are finding that out every day.

Yes, electricity is the cleanest source of heat in all the world. And an electric range is the finest cooking device ever invented. But don't take our word for it! Ask any professional chef who's ever used one. Ask any housewife who knows the thrift, the flick-a-switch convenience, of a modern electric range. Ask yourself . . . "Why should I be without one?"

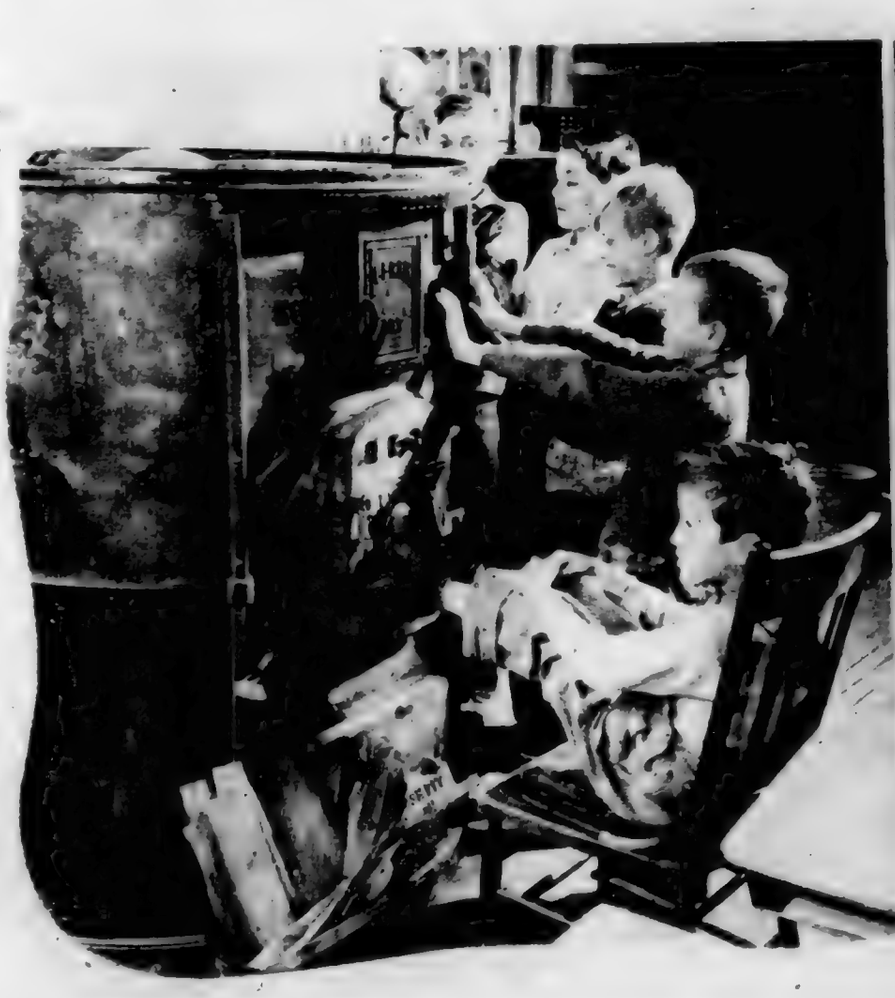
THE NORTH WIND MAY BLOW AND SNOW all it wants to outside, but their grandfather stove keeps the kids warm as toast in their snug, octagon shaped schoolhouse in Thiensville, Wis. Shown in the warm-up session are Harold and Henry Dahlinger, Dick and Douglas Carle and Robert Ernst.

TO KEEP A VERY LARGE DOCTOR AWAY should be the ambition of the above record-size apple from the orchard of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mallinson, Geneseo, Ill. The apple measures a generous 13" around the middle.

QUEEN OF THE NORTHERN INDIANA MUCK CROPS SHOW this year was pretty Darlene Joy Morrow, 16 year old junior from Lapaz High School, Lapaz, Indiana. While in high school Darlene has won many awards for baton twirling.

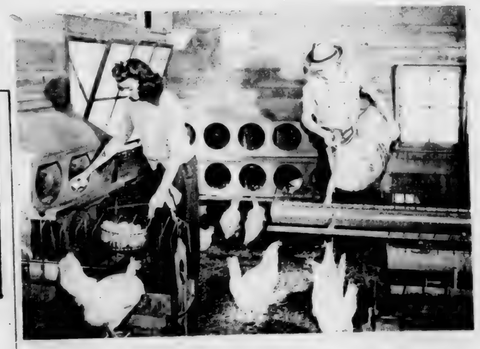


Keeping Winter Egg Production High

With feed costs relatively low, poultry and egg prices strong, and consumer income high, the efficent poultryman has just about everything in his favor this year for making top-profits from his laying flock.

The key to profit-production this year, as is most years, is keeping production high and avoiding mid-winter egg-laying slumps. The pictures below show a few of the things you can do now to keep your birds laying at top capacity.

One reason for mid-winter egg laying slumps is the hens just don't have enough "table room". Lack of hopper space means some birds get crowded back from the hoppers, eat less feed, and hence lay fewer eggs. Provide at least three 5-foot hoppers for each 100 hens.



To maintain egg quality and get highest prices, collect the eggs at least once a day. Store them in a cool — but not freezing cold — place. Use of high-quality, properly balanced commercial laying mash, in addition to farm grains, will give the extra nutrients hens need for high egg production.

Pep up lagging appetites with a daily noon feeding of high protein pellets, sprinkled over the mash. Many good poultry raisers also feed a flushing mash once or twice a month to help condition, stimulate feed intake and boost egg production.

..they deserve the BEST

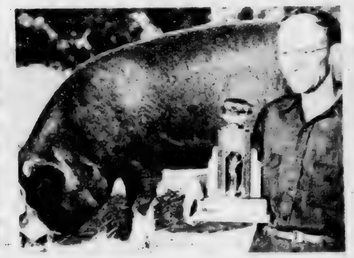
How Bob Faint of Iowa builds champions . . .



Bob Faint of Hi-View Farms with his Grand Champion barrow and award at the 1948 Iowa State Fair.

Winner feeds 80% milk products*—for a firm, smooth market finish!

"The results speak for themselves—we fitted our hogs for the shows on Kraylets," says Bob Faint, Manager of the Hi-View Farms where 450 purebred Berkshires are raised every year. Besides the Grand Champion Barrow over all breeds, the Hi-View Farms had the Grand Champion pen of all breeds, the reserve Grand Champion Berkshire sow and the Senior Champion Berkshire boar at the 1948 Iowa State Fair.

Kraylets pays in thrifty gains at every stage! Economical, convenient, great appetite appeal!

Kraylets is the easy, economical way to feed valuable milk products. It's 80% milk products in handy dry kernel form—no water or waste! Highly concentrated, feed only ¼ lb. per hog each day. Helps promote fast, thrifty gains, vigorous health, earlier market weight and a firm market finish that buyers look for! Saves grain—helps produce more pork for every ton of feed!

Kraylets contains 80% concentrated milk products!

The milk products in Kraylets are cheese whey solids, cheese solids, and dried skim milk. The remaining 20%, of the formula consists of soybean oil meal, alfalfa meal (dehydrated), dried brewers yeast, and edible beef tallow.

A KRAFT PRODUCT

MODERN FARMING

Get Your Tractor Ready Now...

Farmers of the Nation, who use more than 3 million tractors in their farming operations, can cut production costs and reduce chances for field breakdowns next spring, by putting their tractors in top condition now.

For major repairs, it is generally best to depend on the local farm implement dealer who has the "know how" and shop equipment to make your tractor "purr". Minor repairs can often be made by the farmer himself.

Now is a good time to check closely for parts showing damage or excessive wear. Get your order for parts in early so you can replace them before the crop year begins. It's a good idea to order an extra fan belt, radiator hose, hose connections and pump packing so you will have them on hand for immediate replacement if the cooling system breaks down in the field next summer.

The pictures below show some of the things you can do to get your tractor ready for the 1949 crop year.

You'll want your tractor ready to go next spring. Get it in shape now while you and your dealer have time to do the job right.

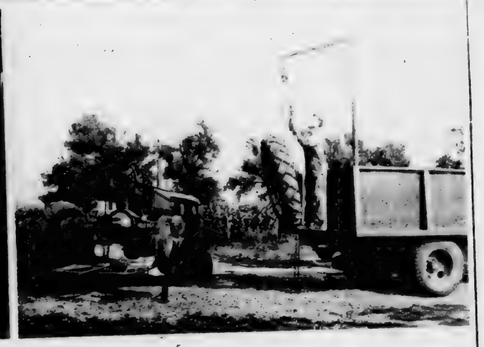
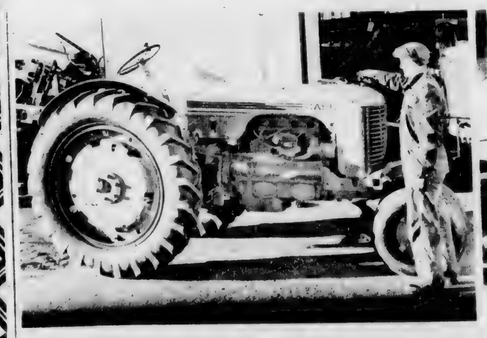
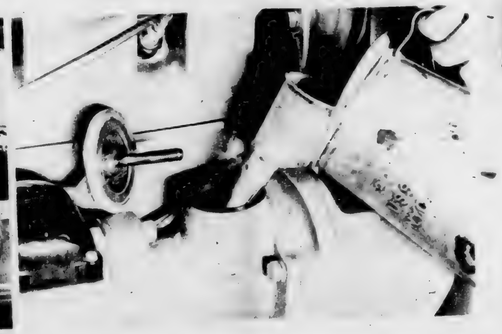
With his air-cooled, gas engine welder, this farmer welds a new rim to an old metal tractor wheel so that it can be equipped with rubber tires. This type welder can be used in the field where electric power is not available, so that breaks can be mended without bringing tractor or implement back to the shop.



With his "home welded" hoist made of pipe and scrap steel, this farmer handles heavy tractor tires easily. Tires in good condition help prevent work slow-downs during farming operations. Also, worn tractor tires cause heavy fuel waste by allowing "slipping" which reduces traction and draw-bar power.



Of top importance in keeping the tractor running efficiently is a well-functioning cooling system. Before starting spring work, flush the radiator, seal radiator leaks, replace leaky radiator hose and connections, and be sure fan and fan belt are in good working order. Also, remove dirt and insects from radiator grill.



Before rolling into the fields, lubricate the tractor from stem to stern. Pack all grease points with correct grease, fill with top quality oil to the proper level, and clean or replace oil filter. Dirty oil, or lack of oil, will cause wear and tear in nearly every moving part, cut operating efficiency and boost fuel consumption.

To make your battery last longer, terminal posts should be cleaned, sealing compound checked for cracks, hydrometer tested, cradle inspected for acid damage, cable checked for wear, bolts tightened firmly and water added.

RESERVED FOR YOU

TODAY is the day to call your Allis-Chalmers dealer for a demonstration of the Model G.

Get on the front seat of this new rear-engine tractor, yourself. See how quickly a future of easier farming opens before you. Feel the new freedom from straining to look down or behind. Try straight-ahead vision on all kinds of your most difficult, precision work.

You'll hardly believe your eyes when you see what a man-sized small tractor can do. The rear-engine Model G is more than a new tractor. It's the central unit of an entire new system of motorized farm tools.

You'll know when you try a FRONT SEAT view of your farming.

Ten front-view implements—all attached or detached in 5 minutes or less.

Wheels adjustable to cultivate 1 to 6 rows (as narrow as 10 inches).

Speeds from ¾ to 7 miles per hour, including throttled down "creeper" gear.

Averages 2 to 3 quarts of fuel per hour.

Emergency Shelf

One day when I came home from school, my mother announced that she was going to have an Emergency Shelf. Now, as my father was a doctor, an emergency shelf meant but one thing to me — gauze and bandages and first aid equipment.

You can easily imagine my surprise when after clearing a shelf in the cupboard, Mother began to stock it with cans of salmon, corned beef, peas and even spaghetti. Then to this she added sliced pineapple, marshmallows, a box of sugar wafers, and potato chips.

Many a time that Emergency Shelf saved the day when company arrived unexpectedly. I remember one time in particular when three carloads of relatives descended upon us without warning. Everyone was amazed at the meal Mother produced like magic, thanks to her Emergency Shelf.

Needless to say an emergency shelf has always been a key factor in my own kitchen from the day I set up housekeeping. And since so many ready-mixed products have been placed on the market, I find it possible to concoct a meal for company in very short notice that bears all the ear-marks of hours spent in preparation in the kitchen.

It's only fair to admit that part of my shelf is now in the refrigerator, where I keep fast frozen berries, peaches and other foods waiting to be transformed into shortcake or cobbler. My shelf always has one of more cans or jars of chicken which can be ready to serve at a moment's notice.

Thanks to Mother, the Emergency Shelf has become tradition in our family and with our friends.

CHICKEN PIE with 15 minutes' warning

Robin Hood

Walnut Cinnamon Buns

Recipe by Rita Martin

3 tbsp. butter
¼ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt.
1 cup milk, scalded
1 cake compressed yeast or 1 pkg. granular yeast
3½-4 cups sifted ENRICHED ROBIN HOOD FLOUR
2 eggs
Brown Sugar, Butter, Cinnamon, Walnut halves

METHOD

ADD—butter, sugar and salt to scalded milk; cool to lukewarm.
DISSOLVE—crumbled yeast in milk mixture; add 1 cup of flour and beat with rotary beater until well blended; add eggs and beat again.
MIX IN—remaining flour and blend well; allow dough to rest, covered, on molding board for about 5 minutes; knead dough until smooth.
LET RISE—covered, in warm place until doubled; punch down and knead slightly.
PAT—or roll out dough into a rectangle ½ inch thick, brush with melted shortening, sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon.
ROLL—dough lengthwise and seal the edge; cut roll in 1½ inch pieces.
PLACE—1 tsp. brown sugar, 1 tsp. melted butter and several walnut halves in bottom of well-greased muffin pans; place rolls cut side down in muffin pans, and let rise until light.
BAKE—in moderately hot oven, 375°, 15 to 20 minutes.
TURN—pan upside down onto baking sheet and allow pan to remain over rolls for a few minutes.
YIELD—2½ to 3 dozen medium-sized rolls.

You couldn't pay me to use any other flour

—says Mrs. Ivan Hudson, Battle Creek, Mich.

"When it comes to flour, I've tried them all," says Mrs. Hudson, "and I've found that Robin Hood really is different. I get top results every time."

When you try Robin Hood you, too, will be every bit as enthusiastic as Mrs. Hudson. You see—you just have to get top results with this famous flour. There's a money-back-plus-10% guarantee in every bag that says just that.

Robin Hood is different from other flours. Immense sums have been spent to perfect its Million Dollar "Secret Blend." That's why it gives you such flavorsome bread—such light and fluffy cakes—such tender, flaky pastry. Ask your grocer for Robin Hood Flour the very next time you shop, and use it for all your baking.

Right now we are building more Surge Units every working day than we ever built before…we think we are going to be able to make enough to take care of everybody who needs a Surge, but we've been thinking that for years and haven't been right yet.

We have a new press nearly three stories high—we are all retooled and we have a reasonably good supply of 18/8 Stainless Steel—we are going faster than we ever thought we could go, but some of our dealers who have a big backlog of orders say that what we are doing won't be enough…so…if you have some cows to milk in 1949 it might be smart to call up your Surge Service Dealer and say

Damages May Reach $150,000 In Spencerville Blaze

7 Departments Battle Blaze That Store and Factory Building are Leveled and Gutted

Razed Nearly Two Thirds of Block;

The Spencerville business district was gradually being cleaned up and cleared away Monday morning after one of the worst fires ever to hit the community had smoldered and died out late Sunday afternoon. The flames that apparently broke out in the L annex of the Universal Tool and Die Co., were extinguisehd at about 7:30 a. m. Sunday. The blaze was discovered by a passing motorist about 3 a. m. and by 4:30 6 other nearby fire departments nad joined in to help save the rest of the business block.

Completely destroyed in the blaze in which damages may reach an estimated $150,000 dollars was the Kimes Home Grocery, operated by Virgil and Dorothy Kimes of Spencerville. The building was owned by William Erick, and the second floor of the building was occupied by the Masonic lodge. Loss of the merchandise and equipment in the store was estimated at about $15,000 and the building was valued at about $6,000.

Although not completely destroyed, the bulk of the damages were suffered in the stamping and press building of the Universal Tool Co. which also occupies another building across the street from the one gutted by the flames.

Also damaged by the flames which threatened the entire block was the south wall of the Post Office which joins the plant building.

Company officials said they planned to rebuild the gutted structure, which carried the maximum coverage on the building and heavy machinery, of which some may be salvaged. Meanwhile the stamping operations of the plant will be transferred to the Mayer Tool & Die Co. near Ft. Wayne.

The company manufactues automobile jacks, and employs about 80 persons, 40 of whom are occupied in the building gutted by the blaze.

The two story frame building occupied by the grocery store was about 60 by 40 feet. The operators of the grocery said they also heid maximum insurance, but the building itself was only partially covered.

The Spencerville department who were joined by units from Auburn, Butler, St. Joe, Hicksville, O., Grabill and Ft. Wayne, were successful in running 900 feet of hose to the St. Joe river to provide a water supply. Firemen said the ability of the Spencerville department to pour tons of water thus drawn from the river on the blaze, was the contributing factor in saving the east end of the block. Other departments were handicapped by lack of a steady water supply.

60 OIL WELLS REPORTED IN 39 COUNTIES

Sixty new oil well were drilled in 39 Hoosier counties during the month of December, according to a report released by the Indiana Department of Conservation, Oil and Gas Division.

Although there were 104 wells completed, only 60 of these are now producing, the report reveals. 52 of these are pool wells, and four were wildcat wells, or wells drilled in areas where oil had not been previously discovered. The remaining four were gas wells.

FARMERS WHO WANT NEW BEAN AND OATS VARIETIES SHOULD ORDER THEM NOW

The county extension office announced that farmers intending to sow new varieties of oats and soybeans in DeKalb County should be placing their orders with local certified seed growers if they expect seed supplies this spring.

One of the reasons for the urgency of this service is the recent order from the Indiana Corn Growers Association releasing growers of certified seeds for sale of their seeds out of the territory. Growers were instructed to sell Hawkeye soybeans in Indiana but the recent order allows them to make deliveries after January 15 to other states. County agent C. R. Gross stated that this will rapidly exhaust the supplies of available Hawkeye soybeans in DeKalb County because growers are receiving numerous requests for beans out of the state.

The new Hawkeye soybean is superior to any variety grown in the area when time of maturity and yield are considered. Clinton 59 oats is also an improvement over the already adopted varieties, Clinton and Benton oats in the county. Clinton 59 matures more evenly and has outyielded the two forementioned varieties consistently in the last two years' demonstrations.

Individuals wishing to secure names of certified seed growers who have seed supplies in DeKalb County may receive this information by calling at the county extension office.

DAVID GRILL FOUND DEAD IN HOUSE TRAILER

David Grill, 67 was found dead in his house trailer where he lived alone near Coldwater, Mich. His body was discovered by a friend last Thursday morning.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from Baggerly Funeral Home at 3 o'clock with burial to be made in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Survivors are a daughter, Garnet Frick, Coldwater; two sisters, Mrs. Laura Baughman, Auburn, Mrs. Clara Krick, Garrett and two brothers, Henry Grill of Garrett and Harry Grill of Baring, Mo.,

Mr. Grill was born Feb. 20, 1882 in Allen County, the son of Jacob and Mary Dove Grill. He was married in 1905 at Markel, Indiana to Opal Hoopingarner, whose death occured several years ago.

Mr. Grill before going up to Coldwater about 10 years ago was a cabinet maker by trade.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Clyde Grill of Ft. Wayne, Harry Grill of Baring, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grill, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grill, Mrs. Ruth Hazelton and son, Alford, Mrs. Rose and daughter, Martha, Mrs. Laura Bherns of Garrett, Mrs. Earl Krick Baughman of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baughman Mr. and Mrs. Levi Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Schaefer of Grabill, Ind.

LIONS CLUB ZONE MEETING HELD IN SPENCERVILLE

The social zone meeting for Lions Clubs from Avilla, Garrett, Auburn, Waterloo, Hamilton and St. Joe was heldMonday, January 24, at the community Hall in Spencerville; a total of 118 members were present.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Lawrence Hess from the Indiana University Extension in Ft. Wayne. Dr. Hess stressed the importance of the first six years of a person's life in molding his character and following through in school years with help in that person's choice of his life's work.

A delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served as only the Spencerville P. T. A. can serve.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish in this manner to express our appreciation for the many cards and letters of sympathy we received in the death of my sister, Mrs. Frances Webb.

Mrs. John Koch

'Yet Without Sin'

Lesson for January 30, 1949

YOU will never feel the current if you never swim upstream. If you are a drifter through life you can hardly know what the word "temptation" means. And Jesus was no drifter. If ever a powerful purpose, devotion to God, a noble mind and a pure heart could set a man free from all temptations, Jesus would have been that man. But he had his temptations all the same. After the great day of his baptism, when the heavens opened and he felt the Holy Spirit as plainly as a bird from the sky alighting on his shoulder, we are told that he was "full of the Holy Spirit." Surely no temptation could reach him now! Yet the spirit led him to the wilderness were Satan waited for him.

Dr. Foreman

The Devil Is Smart

SATAN is a persistent devil. He never takes no for an answer, he will be back again with the same temptation in another package. It was so with Jesus. We must not think that Jesus was tempted to low and ugly sins. People are tempted on the level where they live.

After the Baptism, if not before, he was fully awake to the fact that he was God's beloved Son, that it was his responsibility to begin the "Kingdom of God;" he knew he had a position and a power that no one else on earth had ever had. The problem was: How should he use this position and this power?

Each of the three temptations in the wilderness had something to do with that problem. Two of the temptations, at least, were not to do anything wrong in itself. Each time Jesus was tempted to choose something less than the best. And choosing less than the best, when the best can be had, is sin.

All Temptation Sounds Good

"TURN stones into bread," the tempter said. And why not? People were hungry all around; Jesus grew up in a land where most people were lucky to get one square meal a day, let alone three. Jesus would be the Divine leader of the Kingdom, the Founder of the New Age. Why not make it the Age of Plenty? Why not abolish hunger from the earth? It could be done; it sounds good.

So does that other temptation—"Throw yourself down, the angels will see that you are not hurt." Perhaps many worshippers at the Temple expected that the Messiah, God's King to be, would fly down out of a cloud.

Then that temptation which seems at first reading so ridiculous—fall down and worship Satan. It was not so ridiculous as it appears. What did Jesus want but to be King of Lands and Lord of Lords? What difference does it make how we attain our ambitions, if we only reach them? All other world-conquerors had achieved their pinnacles of power by "worshipping Satan," that is by using violence and trickery.

But Jesus, being full of the Holy Spirit, knew that not everything that sounds good, is good.

He saw clearly that not even he could bring in the Kingdom of God simply by feeding people, or astonishing them with aerial stunts, and still less by using those ancient methods of the world-conquerors, the tools of Satan, violence and lies.

Defense Weapon

JESUS met his great enemy and beat him down with a single weapon. Every time, Jesus comes out with a quotation from the Bible, incidentally always from Deuteronomy, evidently a favorite book with him. We have the same weapon at our disposal today, and more besides.

There is nothing magical in a Scripture quotation. The point is not that Jesus had memorized these verses so that he could quote them; anybody could do that even without believing a word of them.

What Jesus did was to make those truths his own, they were part of his mind, actually his own convictions. Do you really want to rise proof against temptations? Do as Jesus did: make God's ideas your own. The sharpest lie will blunt itself against the keen edge of Truth.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By Lewis Walter

THE ST. JOE HIGH TIGERS after playing the Butler Windmills to a standstill in the first half of their Friday evening game at Butler, lost their shooting eye again in the second half. As a result the Windmills came out in that last half to pile up 32 points to completely snow under the local squad. The Tigers led by some early good sharpshooting by Bob Walters took the offensive in the early part of the game and held a 10-9 lead at the end of the first quarter. The locals hung on to a slim lead until just a few minutes before the half. Sharpshooting by Gengnagel and Moughler, and Beebe, just moved up from the second team, began to spark the Windmills to life just before the half. They grabbed their 20-18 lead at that time and it was the last time the St. Joe squad ever was on the top end of the score.

The only bright spot of the game for the Tigers was their amazing accuracy on their foul shooting. They canned 16 of 19 shots from the 15 ft. mark

. . . . . .

BOB WALTERS had his best night of the season and picked up 18 points, and that was also enough to top any member of the Butler squad in scoring. Moughler got 13 and Gengnagel and Beebe collected 12 and 11 respectively.

This Fri. evening the Spencerville Raiders will be in town. That should be 'nough' said. The Raiders will be gunning for their 11th win of the season. The Tigers will be out to take revenge for the 20 point shelacking they took down at Spencerville some weeks ago.

. . . . . .

HAROLD BUCHS of Ashley turned in the best individual scoring performance of any high school lad in the county last Friday, as the Aces ran up an unexpected 73 to 53 score over Metz. He hit 13 field goals and added 5 more from the foul line for a 31 point total.

Bad breaks continued to plague the Legion basketball team last week in two games played at the gym here. The Partee Co. of Spencerville grabbed a game from the locals in the last 13 seconds of play Thursday and then the Coldwater Moose took a 57 to 53 overtime game from the locals Saturday night.

Two Vim League games will be played at the St. Joe gym this week. Thursday evening at 7:45 Bob's Inn of Waterloo will meet the Angola Merchants and then at 8:45 the strong Auburn Clutch team who are currently leading the loop will go against the Garett Legion.

. . . . . .

CAN YOU IMAGINE a golf tournament played in the middle of winter with snow banks covering the fairways if the weatherman so obliged? As of to date it doesn't look like there will be snow by Saturday, but, participants in the annual "Screwball - Snowball" golf tournament Saturday at Kendallville will have other difficulties when they tee off in the zaniest golf game that was ever invented. The idea was hatched by the boys at the Kendallville Country Club who wanted to play golf in the winter. The first year 41 golfers took part in the tournament, and last year over 100. This year entries have been pouring in from all over the country and 8 states are represented as of now. Prizes of cash and merchandise will be offered and the entry fee for playing is just one dollar. The response this year has been even greater on the part of both participant and fans since the announcement that all of the proceeds will be turned over to the March of Dimes. Some of the handicaps that may confront the golfers if the snow fails to arrive are litle tricks like teeing off of an automobile seat, putting through a drain tile or stove pipe and approaching the green off a table. Life magazine will have reporters and photographers on hand to cover the nine hole affair.

JOHN DEERE DEALER to ENTERTAIN FARMERS and THEIR FAMILIES

"The Sugar Plum Tree"—

starring BILLIE BURKE and DON WILSON, is feature picture in BIG JOHN DEERE DAY SHOW

Billie Burke and Don Wilson, popular movie and radio stars, head the all-Hollywood cast in "The Sugar Plum Tree," feature picture to be shown in the Court Theatre on Feb. 4, 1949. The movie headlines the free John Deere Day entertainment and educational program for farmers and their families which is being sponsored by Burgoyne Bros. of Auburn, Ind.,

"The Sugar Plum Tree" is a rollicking comedy about two young people who have never been on a farm and what they do when they receive one as a gift. You'll get a kick out of sober, bookish C. St. John Smith, on the farm, as played by Kirby Grant. Pretty Linda Johnson plays Matilda Thorne, the other "greenhorn" on the farm. "Lasses" White will give you many a chuckle as the eccentric hired man. "The Sugar Plum Tree" will prove Grade "A" entertainment for the entire family. ....In addition to "The Sugar Plum Tree," several other new all-taking pictures will be shown. They include "Early Does It" — a snappy picture with tips on timely care of farm machinery. . ."Greener Pastures" an educational full color picture on pasture care and renovation. . . . "Guardians of the Harvest"— a full color film of combines in action in various crops throughout the country . . and "Gateway to Bigger Feeding Profits"—a movie that every feeder and dairyman will want to see.

According to Burgoyne Bros., admission to the John Deere Day Program is by ticket only. Any farmer who has not received his tickets or needs more can get them free at the Burgoyne Bros. store before the day of the show. ....

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

Building a new country was not easy. But there were men and women willing to turn their backs on a safe life, and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." Free enterprise is the basic American principle of vision and personal initiative. Just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its own citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed. For government in business grants itself special privileges that are denied to people in business.

Take government-owned power systems, for example. They pay few, if any, taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, fair interest on the money they borrow. It's a tribute to American self-reliance that taxpaying, self-supporting companies supply over ⅘ of the enormous amount of electric power this country depends on . . . at the lowest possible cost.

There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And businessmen can do the job better than bureaucrats.

DAIRY DAY MARCH 11 IN DEKALB COUNTY

Safe milk in the home by home pasteurization will be one of several exhibits of interest to farm women when "Dairy Day" is held in DeKalb County on March 11.

A big thermometer will be displayed showing the necessary temperatures to control typhoid, dysentery, septic sore throat and many other diseases carried in raw milk. Caravan" to stop here for "dairy day" will be compose of eight displays from the University and a number of Purdue specialists who will discuss problems related to the dairy industry and answer specific question. This will be supplemented by exhibits from local dairy plants. ested to know that pasteurization the food value of milk. It improves the keeping quality of milk. but the housewife must understand that pastuerization does not remove the need for healthy cows on the farm.

Other "dairy caravan" exhibits will be "Control of Cattle Grubs" by three methods, spraying, washing and dusting; "Farm Safety," a and injuries; "Methods of Curing Hay,"a comparison of the different curing methods to prevent heavy loss of its nutritive values; "Ladin," a demonstration of seeding and management and this clover's value in pastures; "Herd Health", a demonstration or "why cows leave home" or why Indiana dairymen are forced to raised 60 percent more heifers for replacement under existing conditions, than is actually necessary and "Artificial Breeding," an exhibit showing its place as a permanent step in progressive dairying.

COUNTY SHARE OF FEDERAL BUDGET WILL AMOUNT TO 6,643, 703 DOLLARS

Citizens of DeKalb countny will be called upon to pay $6,643,703 as their share of the $41,858,000,000 federal budget proposed by President Truman for the Fiscal year beginning next July 1, the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce estimated today.

The county's share would amount to 6.9 time the total of local property taxes levied for support of county, township, city and town government and schools and state government. Average cost of federal government per person in the county would be $239.73 or $958.92 for a family of four.

Indiana's total share of proposed federal spending was set at $1,071,565,000 or more than three times the amount of all taxes collected by Indiana state and local governments during the 1948 fiscal year.

"The almost incomprehensible total federal figure reduced to a home town' basis," commented Clarence A. Jackson, executive vice president of the State Chamber, should blast any notion people may have that 'federal aid' for their communities is free money. The dollars handed out and offered to be handed out by Washington for federal control of education or any other purposes come from the people of the states and communities. The money comes back home, however, only after expense of handling it plus the necessary expense of administering federal controls over expenditure of the money locally has been deducted.

"Meanwhile the federal government has taken one more step toward federal control and dictatorship."

Mr. Jackson added: "This $41,858.000,000 budget is not the whole story. In addition, there will be requests for deficiency and supplemental appropriations. Contract authorizations are being asked for work that will run into more billions before completion. Still more bilions will be added ultimately to the cost of federal government if new spending proposals are passed."

VOL. LXIV (64 YEARS) (In the St. Joe Valley) ST. JOE, DeKALB COUNTY, INDIANA THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1949 NUMBER 5

SERVICES HELD JAN. 6 FOR DR. CHARLES W. JOHNSON AT SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

Masonic funeral services were held Jan. 6 at Forkners' Chapel at the U. of Washington, for Dr. Charles W. Johnson, dean emeritus of the University college of pharmacy.

Johnson, a district resident since 1903 died Jan. 4 at his home, 4337 15th Ave., Seattle, Wash. after two years' illness. Cause of death was leukemia. He was 75 years old.

Dr. Johnson was born at Concord, Ind., Sept. 23, 1873, and attended public school in St. Joe. He completed preparatory studies at Purdue from the U. of Michigan school of pharmacy, with the degree of pharmaceutical chemist, in June, 1896.

The bachelor of science degree in pharmacy was conferred upon him by the University of Mich. in 1900 and the doctor of philos•phy degree in organic chemistry was received from the same institution in 1903. After teaching in Indiana public schools, working as a pharmacist in Ann Arbor and Detroit and serving as instructor at the U. of Mich, and the State U of Iowa, he went to the U. of Washington in 1903 as assistant professor of chemistry.

35 Years as Dean

After his appointmen as dean of the college of pharmacy and professor of pharmaceutical chemistry in 1904, Dr. Johnson devoted the next 35 years to building a strong college at this institution. His first classes were a handful of students, meeting in the basement of Denny Hall. Under his direction, new greenhouses plant laboratories and a drug garden were developed for the college. He was responsible for promoting good pharmacy legislation in the state and was known as an ardent worker for high professional standards for pharmacy. He also was known throughout the country for his contributions to national pharmacy legislation and education. He was a leader in moves to promote pharmaceutical education.

Retired in 1939

In 1939 Doctor Jonnson resigned as dean and was given the title of dean emeritus and professor of pharmaceutical chemistry. He continued to be a member of the faculty of the college, finally retiring in September, 1947.

Johnson served as chemist of the State Dairy and Food Commission from 1909 to 1913 and as state chemist of the Wasnington State Department of Agriculture from 1913 to 1943.

He was a member of the Commonwealth Fund Survey of Pharmacy from 1923 to 1927; president of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy from 1923 to 1924 and president of the American Pharmaceutical Association from 1927 to 1928. He was a member of the United States Pharmacopeia Revision Committe from 1920 to 1940

Surviving are his widow, Edith; two daughters, Mrs. Edwin Hammarlund and Mrs. John Clarkson, both of Seattle; a son, Dr. Frederick Francis Johnson, Berkeley, Calif., and seven grandchildren. Two of the grandchildren, Roy Hammarlund, graduate student, and Mrs. Jean Home, a senior, are in the college of pharmacy at the University.

University Lodge no. 141, F. & A. M., conducted the funeral services.

"SPORTS CAPADES OF 1949" WILL BE MAIN ATTRACTION OF SPORTS AND TRAVEL SHOW

Among the many outstanding attractions of the third annual Sports and Travel Show to be held Feb. 25 to March 1, undoubtedly the "Sports Capades of 1949" will be one of the most sensational.

The sports extravaganza gets underway at Baer Field, five miles south of Fort Wayne on State Roads 1 and 3, with the benefit of a full complement of national and local exhibitors of sports, recreational and travel equipment.

In staging its "Sports Capades of 1949," the Fort Wayne Junior Chamber of Commerce has engaged the services of Harry K. Smythe, prominent midwest producer whose Buck Lake Ranch at Angola has become a recreation mecca for thousands in this area.

Star of the "Sports-Capades" will be Captain Sol Solomon, world's champion high diver, whose feature act will be a dive from the roof of the Baer Field hangar into a flaming tank of water.

Other attractions will include Lou Pagliaro, United States Singles Table Tennis Champion; Philmore, famous European Juggler, and Walter Jennier and Buddy the trained seal, who have been featured in many U. S. circuses and theatres.

I. U. CONCERT CHOIR TOUR WILL INCLUDE STOP AT AUBURN GYM ON FEBRUARY 8

Auburn will be included on the mid-winter tour of the Indiana U. Men's Concert Choir composed of approximately forty of the outstanding singers on the campus. The I. U. Choir will present a public concert at 8 p. m. Feb. 8 in the Auburn High School gymnasium under sponsorship of the Auburn Lions Club.

The Men's Concert Choir, which is directed by Prof. George F. Krueger, will average two concerts a day on its tour of northern Indiana, beginning Feb. 1 and running through Feb. 10. Cities to be visited will include Huntington, Crawfordsville, Lebanon, South Bend, Winamac, Logansport, Lowell, Kentland, Renasselaer, Monticello, Howe, Peru, Kokomo, Fort Wayne, Columbia City and Auburn.

Although this will be the first tour of the year for the Choir, the group has gave many performances in Bloomington, Indianapolis, and French Lick and other nearby cities. It is expected that the number of concerts given this year will exceed the 60 performances of 1947-47.

In addition to the valuable musical and professional experience gained by the members of the Choir, the group hopes to arouse interest and enthusiasm in high schools, colleges and communities for participation in its choral activities.

REMIND MARRIED TAXPAYERS OF ADVANTAGES OF JOINT INCOME TAX FILING

Married taxpayers in the Indiana district were reminded today by Wilbur O. Plummer, Acting Collector of Internal Revenue, of the advantages, in most cases, to husbands and wives who file joint income tax returns.

A joint return includes all the income, exemptions and deductions of both husband and wife must be signed by both. Such a return is permissible when only one of the couple has income, as well as when each has separate income.

Formerly, many married couples avoided joint returns for fear that their combined income would fall in a higher tax bracket. However, the Revenue Act of 1948 establishes a "split-income" method of computing tax on a joint return which minimizes this possibilty.

Those families still planning to file separate returns were cautioned that a husband or wife filling a separate return must confine his or her return only to his or her own income, exemptions and deductions. The new "split-income" provision of the 1948 Act does not apply to separate returns.

Acting Collector Plummer offered these simple suggestions to guide married taxpayers in deciding whether to file joint or separate returns:

1. IF ONLY ONE HAS—In most families, only the husband has income, and in some cases only the wife has income. In all such cases, a joint return always results in a tax as low as or lower than a separate returns.

2. IF HUSBAND AND WIFE HAVE SEPARATE INCOME—In many families, both husband and wife work, or one works and the other has investment income. Also, in community property states, state law confers upon husbands and wives ownership of a share of each other's income. In all these cases, the desirability of joint returns is indicated as follows:

a. Form 1040 Returns—If husband and wife are eligible to use Form 1040A, a joint return will always result in a tax as low as, or lower than, separate returns, because the collector will compute the tax by both the joint and separate methods, and select the one which results in the lower tax.

b. Short- Form 1040 Returns--If combined income of husband and wife is less than $5,000 and they plan to determine tax from the tax table on Page 4 of Form 1040, they should try both the separate and joint return methods. Because of the averaging and rounding of figures necessary to construct such a table, slight differences (usually a dollar or two) may be found between the two methods.

c. Long Form 1040 Returns—On a Long-Form 1040 return (where the tax is figured on Page 3 of Form 1040), a joint return always results in a tax as low as, or lower than, separate returns except in three very unusual situations. The exceptions are those cases where a family runs into special problems in connection with capital or business losses, charitable contributions, and medical expenses. Persons having these problems may receive specific advice at the Collector's office.

Teaching Religion

Lesson for February 6, 1949

OME PEOPLE, strange to say, don't believe in Sunday schools. st North American Protestants because Jesus did. The word y not be found in New Testament, the thing is there. Jesus did not be- ve that religion ld be taught, then was guilty of sting much of his e, for he worked teaching in season d out of season. He s a product of the nday school, in a nse. During his childhood he uld go to the synagogue school ek days and especially on Sab- ths; we know that by the time he as grown it was his "custom" to tend synagogue services.

Dr. Foreman

And in every Jewish community the synagogue was the place where for two hundred years and more, children and youth and older people had been taught the Word of God.

If Christians today are faithful Christ's example, we also will ep at the job of teaching our reli- on to every child within our reach.

ody and Soul

EADERS of the gospels will note that when Jesus went home om the synagogue on the Sabbath, is day's work was not done. He ould spend hours, sometimes till r into the night, healing people ought to him for cure. Jesus min- tered to mind and soul. Jesus was terested in personalities, whole eople, not half-people. Our minds ave to be fed, but we live in bodies, d bodies have no little to do with ersonalities. Jesus was not content ith teaching sick people; he made ck people well. So the church to- ay, if it is faithful to Christ's prin- ples, will consider people as com- lete personalities.,

he Common People

E FIND that Jesus did not insist on university audiences. In- eed, he never spoke to a university udience. There were great, univer- ities in those days; but it was not ecessary for any one to be a grad- ate of one of them in order to enter esus' school, or to understand what he taught. He taught the plain eople plainly. Again the church of oday takes a leaf out of Jesus' ook. Most of our Sunday schools, or instance, have graded lessons; he little tots do not study from the ame quarterlies the grown people se.

In all our teachings we try to use the pupil's language and to put our Christian ideas in the thoughts that the pupils can understand.

At the best seminaries, young inisters-to-be are carefully taught ow to put the great Christian doc- trines in ways that the simplest ver people's heads is not teaching.

God and Education

ESUS did not try to teach people carpentry, or arithmetic, or geo- raphy. No doubt he could have one so. But he had something more mportant on his mind, something which he alone could teach. He aught religion, or in other words he taught the truth about God, and about man, and about right rela- ions between God and man. So the eaching church, whether in the Sunday school or in the books writ- en by its scholars or in its schools and colleges, when it follows Christ's example, is always teach- ing religion first and foremost. We do not believe that religion is a sec- ondary issue, something you can "take or leave."

Religion On Two Feet

ESUS did more than talk. He lived. His whole life and char- acter were saying more loudly and plainly what his words said.

So the Christian church today, when it is faithful to Christ, must translate into actual living the faith she teaches in Sunday school lessons, in catechisms and books and sermons.

What we do, as Christians, speaks louder than what we say. Every Sunday school teacher needs to re- member that what is said on Sun- day is important, but what the teacher does on Monday is more impressive by far. The reason why Jesus was more effective than John the Baptist was that John, after all, was a Voice, while Jesus was a Friend.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By LEWIS H. WALTER

SPENCERVILLE'S RAIDERS again turned the winning trick over the St. Joe High Tigers by a 47 to 38 score. The game played Friday evening on the Tiger home court was a much closer game that the previous encounter at Spencerville, last Dec., and the Tigers stayed close to their visitors right until the last minute of playing time.

Walters and Lochner had given the Tigers an early 6 to 2 lead on quick ones in the first couple of minutes. Hook and Paschen dumped in two pointers that tied the score at 6 all and then Hoover put the Raiders into their first lead at 8 to 7. The Raiders then caught the spark and spurted out to take a 15 to 9 quarter time lead. Spencerville continued to hold a good 28 to 18 lead at the end of the half and at the start of the last half Coach Paschen began to insert some of his substitutes into the Spencerville lineup. At the beginning of the last quarter, the Raiders were holding a 37 to 26 bulge, but by the automatic time out period, St. Joe had slashed the lead to 6 points. The locals continued to outscore their visitors in that last quarter, but never could whittle their lead to below 6 points.

Walters, Fetters and Richmond were all watching a portion of the last quarter from the Tiger bench, all guilty of committing five fouls. Sonny Hook turned in a fairly good offensive game and was credited with 14 points. Lochner picked up 10 for the losers.

The thriller of the evening was the preliminary game which Spencerville took 21 to 20 after a battle.

• • • • • •

ON WEDNESDAY evening of last week the Raiders enjoyed one of their better offensive nights and turned under the Coesse Indians by a 58 to 31 score at the Spencerville Hall.

The Raiders didn't waste any time about tearing into the Whitley Co. boys who presented a fairly tall opponent for Spencerville. The game had hardly got underway before Akey had scooted under for two of his favorite drive in shots, and that was the start of the Raiders scoring bulge that had all ten of the varsity players in the scoring column before the fracas was over. The reserves took pretty good care of most of the second half after the starters had walked off the floor with a 28 to 9 half time lead.

THE RAIDERS second team lost a heartbreaker to the Coesse seconds in the last 30 seconds of play, by a 26 to 23 score.

PARTICIPANTS and fans alike were shown a grand time over at the Kendallville Country Club Sat., the site of the third annual Scewball Snowball golf tournament. The snow came for the tournament and also plenty of cold weather for the some 300 golfers who braved the zero weather to take their turn on the 9 hole, hazzard filled course. Some of the men and many of the women who made a try in the near zero weather had to turn back. Nap Chinnick of St. Joseph, Mich. took the snowy, hazzard filled course to his liking and skidded around in a 7 under par 43 for the nine holes. The usual quietness of a golf tournament did not prevail at this one as the contestants teed off while standing on a slippery automobile seat, and a brass band blared in the background. One hole had to be played one handed and when they came to the fourth hole all they had to do was to stand on an old bed springs with each foot in a basket for their tee shot.

• • • • • •

SOME AUBURN fans, although disappointed that their boys lost their first game of the season Saturday to the Mishawaka Cavemen, are just a little relieved that their favorites won't have to go to the not-too-distant tourney with an unbeaten team. Many followers of the team seem to think it will be better to start a shorter winning streak starting with their next game and try to extend it through the tourney than to have say a 20 game winning streak the target of every team that takes the floor against them.

• • • • • •

THE MISHAWAKA Cavemen no doubt have the biggest High School team we have ever seen on the courts, and it leaves a lot of fans puzzled when they take a look at their record. To date they have won 10 and lost 4, which we admit isn't bad. but they have lost to both North and South side of Fort Wayne, teams that Auburn has beaten. One of the Mishawaka fans told us that big 6 ft. 6 inch, 240 lb John Benjamin was almost cut from the squad early in the season.

THE BIG center with his two 6-5 and 6-4 teamates, played in a line across the floor as the back part of a very effective zone defense with the two smaller men out in front. So when they get those long arms waving, there is hardly enough room for another team to stand on the floor.

• • • •

ALL THREE of the big fellows are juniors and they are all capable of doing a good job rebounding. Benjamin has a two-handed hook shot from about three or four steps out along either side that just couldn't be stopped, and he was hitting on it. Both of the other boys do very well on two handed overhead shots.

• • • •

THE Legionaires bowling team had another successful night last Wed. Last week it was Antwerp who suffered a two for three series loss to the local keglers.

• • • • • •

THE ST. JOE Legion team goes into action twice this week in two games, both of which will be played here at St. Joe. On Thursday evening the Waterloo Legion will be here for a single game at 7:30. On Saturday evening the Leo Shell team, currently among the leaders in the Eastern Div. of the Sappenfield league will be here for a single game starting at 8 p. m.

Dave Bancroft, formerly a major league shortstop whiz, piloted the Chicago Colleens of the All-American Girls' Baseball League last season.

EXAMINATIONS TO BE GIVEN FOR SUBSTITUTE MAIL CLERK AT SPENCERVILLE

The U. S. Civil Service Commision today announced an examination for Substitute Clerk for duty in the Spencerville, Indiana Post Office.

The basic rate of pay for Substitute Clerks is $1.04 an hour. After the performance of 1 year of satisfactory substitute service, including time served as a special delivery messenger, the basic rate of pay is increased 5 cents an hour each succeeding year until the maximum pay of $1.29 an hour is reached. When a substitute employee is appointed to a regular position, he is assigned to a salary prade corresponding to his salary as a substitute.

The age limits for these positions are 18 to 50. These age limits will be waived for persons entitled to veteran preference and, under certain conditions, for war service indefinite employees. No specific experience or education is required, but all applicants must pass a written examination designed to test their abilty in sorting and in following instructions.

Applicants for these positions must actually reside within the delivery zone of the Spencerville, Indiana Post Office or be bona fide patrons of that office.

Application for this examination must be filed with the Sixth Regional Office, U. S. Civil Service Commission, U. S. Civil Service Commission, U. S. Post Office and Courthouse, Cincinnati 2, Ohio, no later than February 7, 1949. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Postmaster at Spencerville, Indiana, or from the information office of the Sixth Region, located on the ninth floor of the Federal Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Red Rocks Theater

Newest of the great open air theaters to plan festivals of music or drama and other entertainment is the spectacular Red Rocks theater in the front range of the Rocky mountains, just west of Denver. Nearing completion just before the war, the great theater has been opened only occasionally for concerts, conventions and pageants. First full scale use of the theater is now being made.

Are The People Capable Of Self-Government

By Adelbert Neese

Ex-School Teacher and Trustee Worth Township, Boone County, Ind.

"Let the people know the facts and the country will be saved"—Abraham Lincoln.

"Townships are the most democratic of governmental institution, since they are so close to the people. Their work is done under the eye of the citizen to a degree not true of other governmental units."—Oka S. Flick, Head of the Social Studies Department of Arsenal Technical School in Indianapolis, author of "Indiana, the State, and its Govrnment." This is the largest high school in Indiana.

A number of newspaper articles have appeared in a few of our newspapers in large cities condemning Township Schools and Trustee management. Let us look at the facts. I want to speak in defense of Trustees who have been referred to as a group of "Ignorant and incompetent public officials."

We have about one and one-half million voters in Indiana. All of these people have the privelege of voting for a trustee in the township in which they reside just like they have the privilege of voting for county, state, and national officials. Certainly no one would admit that there are no intelligent voters in every township in Indiana.

It must never be forgotten that the difference between our form of government and that of dictatorship is the privilege of the voters in the United States to elect those whom they desire. Of course if the people are so ignorant and so incompetent that they are not able to select and elect those whom they desire, then it is high time that we bring about the needed changes so that the few well-informed may take over and do is is done in Communistic Russia. In that country the masses are considered to ignorant to select and elect from among the people because no one from among the people is intelligent enough to be selected.

The second complaint is that the township employs inferior teachers. Are not the teachers in the township schools in Indiana trained in the same colleges, by the same professors, by the same taxpayers money as the teachers in the city school? Let the cities tell the public how many of their teachers are not college graduates, and maybe the ignorant public may be able to make a just comparison.

Third, we are told that school buildings are in a deplorable condition in Township Schools. Some are and should be replaced. Others should be repaired. That is true of Indianapolis, Marion County and also of Monroe County. Manual Training High School in Indianapolis is being rebuilt at another place. As pointed out in an editorial in the Indianapolis Star a few days ago some of the grade buildings in Indianapolis need remodeling, rebuilding, the same as some schools in Monroe County. Let us compare the school buildings in Marion County outside of Indianapolis with those inside the corporation limits. Indianapolis is located wholly in Marion County. Warren Central, Pike Township, Decature Central and other schools in Marion County would be on a par with any in the city and certainly very superior to most of the city school buildings in Indiana that need, repairs and new buildings. The way to find out is to go to the various county seats and talk with the people who have children who are under city school management and see how many are clamoring for improvements of the school buildings in their cities.

The fourth complaint lodged against the trustee management is that it is too expensive. I challenge anyone to show that centralization has not always increased cost of operation in schools.

We are told as a fifth count against township management that the children of he rural communities do not have an equal chance with the children of the cities. Two things should be remembered, namely, that the most important positions in government, in business, in farming and in the professions have come and are coming from these rural areas. It might be well to find out where the former President of Indiana U. as well as the present President of the United States received their early schooling. The President of the United States received his schooling in the rural areas. Well may we ask can "Any Good Thing Come Out of Nazareth," a statement with a rural setting? The wise of Jerusalem asked the question. After two thousand years all know the answer.

(Part two of "Are The People Capable of Self Government" will be continued in next week's issue of the News)

Car Plunges 16 Feet To River Bank; Youth Escapes Injury

Richard E. Miller, 20-year-old Spencerville youth, miraculously escaped injury early Monday when his car plunged through a guard rail and plummeted 16 feet to the banks of the St. Joe river a half mile east of Spencerville.

Officers who investigated the accident, said Miller crawled from the wreckage of his automobile uninjured.

The accident occurred 6:20 a. m. on a county road east of Spencerville near the covered bridge span the river.

Miller said he was approaching the bridge when he leaned over to adjust his automobile heater. When he looked up his car was headed directly into the side of the bridge. He stated that he applied the brakes and the car skidded out of control, smashed through the protective guard rail, and plunged down the 16-foot embankment and rolled over.

Damage to Miller's 1946 Ford was estimated in excess of $800 with heavy damage to the top, front end and left side.

ORDERS CLOSING OF GAMBLING PLACE IN GARRETT

A gambling place located at 127½ North Randolph street, Garrett, above Griswold's tavern, which was recently opened or was about to open has been ordered suppressed by Walter D. Stump of Auburn, judge of the DeKalb circuit court.

According to judge Stump, he learned of the Garrett establishment and he immediately called to his office Sheriff Carpenter and his deputy and told them that "he didn't want any such establishment in the county and that he wanted it suppressed immediately." The authorities gave notice that the room was to be cleared out within 24 hours.

According to Judge Stump, he place was reputed to be a private club under the name of Club 27 and that a communication wire had been installed for horse race betting. In addition, there were card tables and dice games. Membership cards for Club 27 were circulated about Auburn and one of the cards was brought to Judge Stump.

AUBURN SECTIONAL FINALS TO BE BROADCASTED OVER WOWO, FORT WAYNE

Principal Lloyd Miller of the Auburn high school announced late last Thursday afternoon that final arrangements have been completed for the broadcasting of the semi-finals and finals of the Auburn sectional basketball tourney on Saturday, Feb. 26, over Radio Station WOWO in Fort Wayne.

The broadcast will be sponsored by Cities Service, distributors of petroleum products, and the play-by-play description will be handled by Milt Marx, veteran sportscaster. The broadcasts will be governed by the IHSAA bulletin, prepared especially for radio stations.

The move was made by the sponsors so that those people who are unable to get tickets for the games on Saturday afternoon and evening will be given an opportunity to hear the play by play account of the games. Arrangements by the Auburn Lions club to broadcast to the business district have been cancelled in favor of the Ft. Wayne station broadcast.

Joseph Robinson was taken to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Garrett Saturday morning where he submitted to an emergency operation for a ruptured stomach uleer. He is doing as well as can be expected.

Shirley Jean Perkins has been quite sick with the mumps the past few days.

Ryan-Worman

The Bethlehem Lutheran church south of Avilla, was the scene of the wedding of the former Miss Bonnie Worman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worman, to Harold W. Ryan son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ryan of St. Joe, solemnized Saturday at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Sorensen of Albion read the nuptial service and the double ring ritual was used.

A reception was held at the home of the bride after the ceremony. Mrs. Ryan is employed at the Harvester Co., and Mr. Ryan is in the U. S. Army, stationed at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

"THE LITTLE RED DOOR" CANCER FILM AND LECTURE, WILL BE GIVEN AT LEO GYM, FEB 15

Dr. S. M. Rabson, Pathologist at St. Josephs Hospital, will be the speaker and answer question, after the two Cancer Films in technicolor. Walt Disneys "The Traitor From Within" and "Time is Life" are shown at the Leo School Gym on Tuesday, February 15th, at 7:30 o'clock. The films and speaker are provided through the educational program of the Allen County Cancer Society, Inc., the "Little Red Door".

The G. L. C. Home Economics Club and the Leo Unit, 409 of the American Legion Auxiliary led by Mrs. Glenn Myers and Mrs. Harold Kryder, presidents of their respective groups are the sponsors of this worthwhile community project; the general pubilc is cordially invited. Others on the committee are Mrs. Jerry Sauder, general progam chairman, who will introduce the Speaker; and door hostess, Mrs. Kenneth Mills, Mrs. Fred Maroff Sr., Mrs. Floyd McNiece Sr., and Mrs. Archie Sauder.

Mrs. Herman Neuenswander will sing, accompanied by her daughter, Phyllis, at the piano.

The Allen County Cancer Society, Inc., with Mrs. Rosella Todd, R. N. as Executive Secertary and Supervisor of the information center and its projects is now located at 712 Fairfield Ave., in newly decorated quarters. A visit through the new Detection Center is planned by the two groups in the near future and all interested persons are invited to attend, then or at their convenience You are always welcome at "The Little Red Door."

In addition to the vigorous information and educational campaign to fight cancer here in Allen County by early recognition and treatment, the center also lends hospital beds and other sickroom equipment to patients cost free. Surgical cancer dressings, disposal pads and gowns made by voluntary service workers from Home Economic Clubs and Auxiliaries are distributed from the center.

Cancer kills some American every 3 minutes and claims 19 Hoosiers every day. It is no disgrace to have cancer. The only disgrace is not doing something about it in time. Thousands who have had cancer are alive today because they learned to recognize the symptoms and treatment was started in time to be cured. 75% of the death could have been prevented if the victims had heeded the physical signs and immediately gone for an examination by a Doctor or Detection Center, learning the proper treatment for cure.

Cancer strikes more women than men but kills more men than women of the types common to both. This year cancer deaths will exceed 175,000, of which 2,000 will be boys and girls under 21.

Guard those you love by becoming informed as fully as possible through films, lectures, cancer literature, etc. then be alert to the early symtoms and subsequent treatment.

Your first blow in the fight to stop cancer is to attend this Lecture and Film Program at the Leo Gym Feb. 15th. Next is to urge all your friends, neighbors, and relatives to attend also.

HEIRS ARE REFUSING TO PAY WABASH RAILROAD FOR DAMAGES; ASK NEW TRIAL

The heirs of the estate of the late Waldo Anthony are asking a new trial of the suit in which the Wabash Railroad Co. obtained a judgement of $1,000 against them in the DeKalb circuit court.

A DeKalb petit jury on Jan. 12, awarded the railroad $1,000 in damages in a suit the company filed against the estate. The railroad charged that Mr. Anthony negligently drove his automobile into the side of a speeding Wabash Redbird passenger engine at the crossing two and a half miles north of St. Joe, on Dec. 19, 1947.

Mr. Anthony was killed instantly in the accident. The railroad was awarded $1,000 for damages to the engine. The finding for the railroad was returned by the jurors following a three day trial in the DeKalb circuit court.

Mr. Anthony was a school teacher at Spencerville, and resided near Butler.

Inevitable Critics

Lesson for February 13, 1949

ONCE UPON a time, so the old story goes, there was a chameleon, a lizard that can change its color to match whatever it stands on. They put him on a black cloth and he turned black; on a red tablecloth and he turned red; on a green billiard table and he turned green. Then some mean person set him down on a Christmas necktie—and the poor little thing exploded. This is a parable of the person who tries to please everybody. It can't be done—and it ought not to be tried. "Woe unto you," said Jesus, "when all men speak well of you."

Dr. Foreman

Jesus Christ himself did not please every one. Not even a perfect personality can be 100 per cent popular. Not that Jesus enjoyed rubbing people the wrong way. There was nothing perverse about him. He was deeply sincerely, friendly, and to lose any friendships must have been even more painful for him than for us who are so selfish. Nevertheless he did make enemies, he had his critics; and his followers may expect no better.

Misunderstanding Motives

ONE POINT on which Jesus met terrific opposition was his attitude toward the Sabbath. Repeatedly he or his disciples would do things on the Sabbath which (as Jews then understood the law) were quite wrong. There are Jewish communities in Palestine today where a man walking on the street on the Sabbath smoking a cigarette would be warned to put it out; for it is against the Mosiac law to light a fire on the sacred day, even a tiny fire at the end of a cigarette.

It was just that sort of thing that Jesus ran into, more than once. His enemies misunderstood, or at least misrepresented, his motives.

They claimed that he was "blasphemous," that is, that he was deliberately making light of God's law. The truth was that he was acting by God's highest law—the law of love. Helping people in need was more important than keeping the letter of the Sabbath law. Jesus' example may help us here.

Stepping Out of Bounds

WHEN Jesus healed the man with the palsy, it was not the cure his critics found fault with, it was his first saying "Your sins are forgiven." "Who can forgive sins but God alone?" they said. In short, the Pharisees thought — some of them perhaps sincerely—that Jesus was stepping out of bounds, pretending to do something that he had no right to attempt and no power to accomplish.

Now Jesus did have both the right and the power to say what he said to that sick and sinful man. And he made no apologies for going beyond the limits his critics set for him.

So we too may sometimes be accused of "biting off too much," of going beyond our powers or capacities. Our critics may be right, you know, though Jesus' critics never were. But how often they are wrong! If Lincoln had listened to his critics he never would have left his backwoods law office; they did not think him fit to be president. If the Wright boys had listened to their neighbors, they never would have flown an airplane, for who would have thought a couple of bicycle mechanics could do what so many scientists said was impossible?

The Company You Keep

JESUS' friends got him into trouble, as Mark shows us. For one thing, some were the "wrong sort" like Matthew the tax-collector. Then his friends had an unconventional kind of religion, they actually seemed happy about it instead of gloomy like some of John's disciples. And to make matters worse, his friends "broke" the Sabbath laws much as Jesus did. All in all, Jesus' critics complained that Jesus' friends were a bad lot, and they judged him by the company he kept. But Jesus knew his friends better than his enemies did.

He never gave up or loosened a single friendship on his critics' account. Some of his friends gave him up, but he never gave them up.

So the Christian, if he has anything like Jesus' gift for making friends, may find himself criticized for their sakes.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By LEWIS H. WALTER

THE ST. JOE High varsity team didn't take the cue from the Tiger seconds last Friday night at Woodburn. For after the second team had squeezed out a 21 to 20 win over the Woodburn seconds, the varsity boys fell down to take a 47 to 33 whipping from the Warriors.

THE PRELIM game was a thriller from start to finish, compared to the main fracas which was filled with many personal fouls and was ragged from start to finish, on the small court. The game which the locals won, however, was a see saw battle that finally changed to the locals favor in the last two minutes. Bob Richmond tied the score at 18 all when he fired a long, two-handed shot from near the center circle, and then about a minute later he stood almost in the same spot and proved it was no accident, and sent the locals fans howling as the St. Joe lads took a 20 to 18 lead. The locals picked up another shot from the foul line and Woodburn added a field shot, to make the final score read 21 to 20.

THE WARRIORS shot out into an early 15 to 7 lead at the end of the first quarter. By the time the Woodburn band took over to entertain the crowd at the main intermission, their boys were still on top now 22-15. Woodburn hit their hottest period when they poured through 15 points while the Tigers could just pick up 7. In the last period the Tigers outscored Woodburn, 13 to 10. The final score read Woodburn 47, St. Joe 33.

THE RED RAIDERS from Spencerville racked up their 13 and 14th wins last week. They downed the tough Harlan Hawks 58 to 42 Wednesday, and then trimmed the equally tough Salem Center Cardinals, by a 37 to 31 score, Friday.

THE GAME with Harlan wasn't the run-away game that the score might indicate. The starting Spencerville five of Hoover, Akey: Paschen, Jerry Bowser and Sonny Hook, were never taken out. They played a fine defensive game against the big Hawks and their offensive game was well balanced through the entire game. It wasn't until the last two minutes when the Raiders completely broke down the Harlan defense, and scored 12 points, that the game was ever one-sided.

THE RAIDERS got hot early and never did really cool off. They had to match basket for basket with the Hawks through much of the first half, and after doing a good job until a minute before the main intermission, they had let Harlan take their first lead of the game at 22 to 21.

At the beginning of the last half the Hawks come back on the floor, and to all appearances were trying to steal the game. They stretched into a 23 to 21 lead on a foul shot by Harris and then Tuffy Powell pushed in one of his 8 field goals and they were ahead 25 to 21, but it was the last time they were ever on the top end. Bowser passed in to Paschen on the pivot, who made a perfect shot, and then Hoover fed off on the same kind of play and the score was tied up at 25 all. Hoover took a long pass and went under for a lay-up, and before Harlan could score, Hoover had made a perfect one hand push shot from the corner to make it 29 to 25, and that ended the dog-fight part of the game. Spencerville held a 38 to 29 lead at the third quarter. Harlan did make a comback try early in the last period and had closed it up to 41 to 37 at one time.

In the last two miuntes Spencerville began to pull away, and then with about 40 seconds to go, they put on a sizzling shooting display, to hit about everything they threw at the basket. They scored 7 points in that time. Sonny Hook wound up in a tie with Powell of Harlan for top scoring. Paschen followed with 13 and Hoover had 11 for Spencerville.

• • • • • •

ON FRIDAY evening when the Salem Center Cardinals came to Spencerville, the fans were again treated to another winning night by their favorites sons. The game was fairly close and the visitors took over the lead once during the game, that being early in the third quarter. When the last period started, Spencerville was again on top, this time by a 27 to 25 score. The Raiders outscored their rivals 10 to 5 in the last quarter to account for their 37 to 31 win. Paschen got the nod as high man in both teams' scoring columns with 12 points. Hook with 10, and Akey with 8 points aided greatly to the offensive side of the game.

TWO Vim League games will be played at the gym here Thursday evening, but the Legion is not scheduled for either of the two games on tap. In the first game at 7:45 Angola will play the Auburn Legion and at 8:45 ParTee will go against Waterloo,

ON SATURDAY evening February 12, the Hook and Son's team from Spencerville will be here for one game with the Legion, starting at 8 p.m. In a game played last Saturday here at St. Joe, Leo Shell defeated the locals by a 52 to 38 score.

• • • • • •

THE St. JOE Bowling team took another big step in their fight to get to the top in the Intercity Bowling League at Hicksville last Wednesday evening. Their victims last week were the Antwerp Oasis. The Legion keglers made it a clean sweep of the three games.

• • • •

EARLY LAST Thursday evening we dropped in on the tail-end of a very interesting game at the local gym. Butler had brought its 7th and 8th grade team down to play the St. Joe Junior High. They also brought along their 5 & 6th graders to play the 5th and 6th graders here, and this is the game we saw. Well, our 5th and 6th grade boys, wearing the Tigers first team shirts, which were hanging clear down to their ankles, were battling the Butler boys in an over time thriller. With just seconds to go and trailing by a 17 to 16 score, St. Joe brought the ball down the floor. Little Kenny Watlers, who had only taken one previous shot in the whole game, fired away at the basket as the buzzer went off. Yes, you guessed it. - - it went through. but not before about 50 kids and some of their parents had near heart failure as the ball rimmed the basket wildly before it settled into the meshes. It gave the home boys a 18 to 17 win. Lee Davis put through 10 of the points for the winners.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Although not frequent, we still find a few hunters who will stoop so low in their greed to get game that it is almost unbelievable.

Major crimes frequently consists of over-limiting gunning, shooting out-of-season, bagging away at hen pheasants in states where they're protected. That's only a partial list, but none of these is bad in comparison to a story we heard recently.

It was about a party of rabbit hunters that were having trouble getting a limit of cottontails. So here's what the hunters did: They found a weed field that was just right to harbor a lot of rabbits, then they went upwind to the head of the field and set fire to it.

As the fire moved along in a healthy breeze the hunters paraded along the sides and as the rabbits made mad dashes for safety the hunters knocked them off with their scatterguns.

That's stooping pretty low get game. We don't know the hunters involved or we'd gladly report them to the proper authorities. No one likes to be a stool pigeon, but apparently every true and lawabiding sportsmen is going to have to start reporting violations to the game authorities. That's the only way such acts as the fire can be erased.

Someone suggested the other day that all persons who participate in outdoor sports should be divided into two classes: sportsmen and hunters. The difference, naturally, is that sportsmen get their enjoyment and fun from the sport of fishing or hunting and not the game or fish that go into the bag. The hunter puts "meat" first and sport second.

We will go along with this classification but, frankly, we don't think that a man who will set fire to a field shoud be classed even as a hunter. And the words I have to describe such men wouldn't fit too well in a family newspaper such as this one. You know what I mean!

By the time this is in print the federal authorities will have completed the annual inventory of waterfowl in the wintering areas. These figures will not be made public for some time, but unquestionably, the report will be more favorable than a year ago.

There are more ducks; that is certain, for only spotty reports show less waterfowl than last season. Whether this can be attributed to better nesting conditions last spring, reduced bag limits and shorter hunting seasons or any other factors actually makes a little difference. There are more ducks and that's what counts.

We're hoping now that the sportsmen throughout the nation don't get over-anxious about the increase and start demanding bag limits and seasons that are unreasonable. Let us feel our way along carefully to be sure that we don't make the mistakes that cut the waterfowl population to an all-time low a couple of years back.

There's nothing to all the talk either, that Mexico is slaughtering all the ducks during the winter season after hunting is over in the States We've seen reports from below the border for the past two years that clearly showed that the number of birds killed is small in comparison to the ducks and geese that fall to guns in this country.

This fact now is more or less official, for Albert M. Day, head of the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service, has just returned from an insepction tour of Mexico and the Latin American Countries. He says the kill in Mexico is less than five per cent of the kill in the states.

The Spirit of Research

What has happened to the half-starved genius who used to toil in some lonely attic, hoping to invent the wonder of the age? His day is just about over. There are not so many of these lone-wolf inventors as there were in grandpa's time. Don't we give patents any more? It isn't that. America is still the land of liberty and opportunity. A man can still build his gadget and risk his shirt—in hope of making his first million. Some do. That spirit remains.

The Newer Way

But better ways have been found. The newer term "research" is gradually replacing the older term "invention." Our complex age has made specialization necessary, and this has been true of invention, or product development. To solve the problems of the day, the new way is to bring together many different minds, each highly trained in its own way. Industry is doing just this, and we call it research.

The spirit of the attic inventor is there, but the tools and the methods are different. While the half-starved inventor struggled along with almost no financial backing, the modern research team requires and uses vast amounts of money.

Gets Customers

Now, I wonder if Joe Doe, member of Local 382, understands why his company put down in its 1947 annual report: for Research and Development, $2,000,000. In round figures, that was the sum spent last year by a company that employs about 8,000 persons. Some companies spend more. One of the firms that manufacture rayon reports that it has spent more than $30,000,000 since it became interested in that product.

True, it may seem like a lot of money your company is spending for research, Joe. But remember this: research money comes right back to you in a thousand ways. Actually, the company that does not spend for research, for better ways of producing better products, is a company that will lose out and close down in the long run. A more enterprising competitor will wind up with the consumer's dollar!

Spirit of America

The company that spends for research is the company that I would want to work for. It is also the company whose stock I'd be willing to buy. I am convinced that when many industries are putting large sums of money into research, to find the answers to problems that face them and the consumer, that money is well spent. Years of time and millions of dollars may be behind a new product. But it may be worth far more. Many a new job and a much better product may be the result.

I mentioned rayon. Nowadays, nylon is newer. The DuPont Company spent 11 years of research before they could even announce nylon, and used up $11,000,000 before a penny was earned from the product. That kind of thing can happen only in America, and under free enterprise. The freedom to venture and to look for the better way of doing things, for the newer and better product, belongs to the spirit of America, and it is responsible for our high wages and our high standard of living.

COUNTY TEACHERS ATTEND INSITUTE AT FORT WAYNE

DeKalb County's rural school teachers led by Carl F. Stallman of Auburn, county superintendent of schools, attended the one day institute for rural teachers from seven Northeastern Indiana counties at Fort Wayne, Saturday

Over 700 teachers, representing schools in 7 northeastern counties, attended the session held at the extension centers of Purdue and Indiana U.

Everett Paschen, principal of the Spencerville high school and Clyde Duker, principal of the St. Joe school participated in panel discusions.

Rabbi Frederic Doppeit of the Achduth Vesholom congregation of Ft. Wayne spoke at Saturday's institute on "Education for Peace of Mind."

The institute replaces in DeKalb county the regular third teachers' institute. The fourth and last institute will be held in April at Auburn.

This is a diesel ... a modern locomotive that means better service to you.
Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed ... a "make work" grab that means less service to you.

● Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste—a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs—for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving faster, better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front. The engineer handles the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened a strike. You may not be interested in this dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads—of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol.

Diesel crews are among the highest paid railroad employes—real aristocrats of labor! Their pay is high by any standard. Granting of these demands, therefore, would mean that the railroads would be paying out millions in unearned wages to those in the very highest pay brackets.

We'd Like To Spend This Money On You

You know how much the diesel has meant to you in increased speed, comfort and convenience. The railroads have many more of them on order for even greater improvement in service to you. But needless drains of money, such as this present demand of the unions for needless men on diesels, reduce the ability of the railroads to spend money on better service for you.

Proud as the railroads are of the diesel, it is only a small part of their improvement program. Since the War, literally billions of dollars have been spent on improvement of tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But brazen feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement programs. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

These demands are against YOUR interests—as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the last ditch—and why they are telling you about them.

Contour Planting

Contour planting is simply planting on the level. Each row, being at a right angle to the natural direction of flow, acts as a miniature dam to hold back water and allow it, or a large portion of it, to soak into the soil. However, rows may be slightly off the exact contour, without interfering with their efficiency; in fact, in regions of heavy rainfall there is an advantage in having them drain to one side of the garden or to a prepared outlet.

Do you tell time by Baby?

At his feeding times, yes. He sounds off on the dot when a meal's due. But the rest of your day, you're wise to depend on electric clocks.

With a baby in the house, it's surprising how much you depend on electric service—to prepare and refrigerate his food, heat water for his bath and laundry, wash his clothes, and so on.

Of course, you depend on electricity to help take the work out of your housework too. Always ready, it lends a willing hand with heavy chores, provides comfort, ease and even entertainment. And best of all, you can depend on its economy—for what other item in your budget does so much for so little?

Your friends and neighbors in this company — under sound business management — are continually using their technical skill and practical experience to keep electricity the biggest bargain in that budget of yours. You can depend on that tool

Uncle Sam Says

Some of my nephews and nieces want to save regularly and actually do it. Others mean to save but don't always get around to it. These latter are the ones who only think about a budget. The best way to save is to do it on a regular basis, every pay-day. And the best investment is U. S. Savings Bonds.

If you're on a payroll, enroll for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or, if self-employed, sign up for the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. Either way, you're building future security in the soundest way possible. And your money increases, four dollars for three in 10 years' time.

Burglars Have Busy And Profitable Sunday Afternoon

Five Homes, All North and West of St. Joe Raided With Loss Of Cash And Property at About $400

A sneak burglar or burglars raided five farm home residences some time Sunday afternoon and escaped with loot valued at several hundred dollars.

All of the homes entered were in section north and south off road 8, north and west of St. Joe.

The homes entered were: Gerald Kitchen residence about 5 miles north of St. Joe; DeWayne Baker of west of St. Joe; Waldo Rosenbury farm 4 miles north of town; the Ike McDaniel farm which joins the Kitchen farm and the Sam Miller residence. 1¾ miles north of St. Joe.

Officers who are investigating the break-ins reported that they all took place between 2 and 5 p. m. Sunday while the families were away from their home.

The first burglary reported was at the Kitchen home, at 4:30 p. m. and within the next two hours the other four were reported.

At the Kitchen home the money in five children's "piggy" banks was taken, along with $75 in cash belonging to the families church.

The Baker home was the heaviest hit where tools valued at $250 were taken in addition to $40 in cash. The burglars also stole 14 cans of milk and the inner plastic door from the refrigerator.

At the Rosenbury residence, the raiders carried of a small drawer with some old jewelry and antique watches and broke open some banks. Again the family refrigerator was entered, apparently to obtain meat which was fed to the cross dog, the same dog that attacked Auburn city Judge H. D. Stump last week, when he was visiting the home.

At the McDaniel residence which is vacant at the present apparently nothing of value was taken. About 5 dollars in coins was all that was taken from the Miller home.

Police offcials believed that Sundays raids are connected with similar ones which have taken place recently in Allen county.

Dr. Cecil Miller Returns To Newville To Practice Dentistry

Dr. Cecil J. Miller who has been practicing dental surgery in Chicago for the past 27 years has moved his office to his former home, a block north of the Newville E. U. B. church.

Dr. Miller was born and raised in Newville and after a very successful career in the city, he has returned to the community where he spent his boyhood days to practice some dentistry and catch up on a lot of hunting and fishing.

Dr. Miller's office is located in his home.

PLASTIC HEART INVITES YOU TO HELP FIGHT HEART DISEASE

Bright red plastic hearts, big enough to hold many a coin and bill, have appeared on store counters and in public places, telling DeKalb Co. that the Heart Campaign is just around the corner. The heart shaped collection boxes, backed up by card saying "Open Your Heart-Fight Heart Disease", are being distributed by the National Heart Foundation which open a campaign to raise $5,000,000 during February. A major portion of the funds collected will be spent in Indiana for the development and expansion of the cardiac program of the local association. The remainder is to support a national program of research and education of the American Heart Association which reports that diseases of the heart are the nation's leading cause of death. The plastic heart collection boxes are appearing simultaneously in communities throughout the United States.

Dr. Jack L. Eisaman, a member of the Publicity Committee of the Indiana Heart Foundation will serve as General Chairman of the Heart Campaign for Wells, Whitley, Allen, Adams, LaGrange, Steuben, DeKalb and Noble Counties.

Dr. Eisaman announces Mrs. Carl Swank will serve as DeKalb Chairman.

Lion's Club Has Ladies Night

Members of the St. Joe Lions Club treated their "Valentines" to turkey dinner on Monday, February 14, their regular meeting night, at the Auburn Hotel.

After justice had been done the dinner the members and their ladies were entertained by Leonard Harsch from Ft. Wayne, who performed several feats of magic, one of which resulted in Lion Pres. Paschen's literally "losing his shirt" without removing his coat.

It was announced during the meeting by Dale Wicoff, secretary of the local Lion's Club that there are only two Lions Clubs in the state of Indiana that have maintained 100% attendance at their meetings and St. Joe Lions Club is one of them. With only seven more meetings left to attain an outstanding record, the members were urged to keep up the good work.

Garrett Elks Will Award Scholarships

Garrett lodge no. 1447, B. P. O. Elks will again award two cash scholarships of $200 and $100 respectively to worthy senior students of DeKalb County to further their educations, it is announced.

Application blanks are now being distributed to DeKalb county school and the various principals are being asked to announce the scholarships to the student body.

Students wishing to apply for the scholarships should contact their local high school principal. The scholarships are outright cash grants and the winners may choose any school of their liking to further their educations.

Students applying are rated upon the basis of the 100 points for perfection, under the following five classifications: scholarship, 60 points; extra curricular and out-of- school activities, 10 points; personality and leadership, 10 points, perserverance and resourcefulness, 10 points; general worthiness and citizenship, 10 points.

The Elks "Most Valuable Student" scholarships were established by the Garrett lodge three years ago as a reward to deserving students who are in need of assistance to further their education. The winners last year were Beth Connell of Spencerville, first prize, and Jayne Owens of Garrett, second prize.

The Elks committeee, which will judge the applicants, is composed of C. B. Rathbun, Forrest D. Zimmerman and J. M. Kennedy, all of Garrett.

HAPPY HUSTLERS MEET

The Happy Hustlers class of the St. Joe Church of Christ held their February meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Meek on Thursday night. Meeting was opened with the singing of "Anywhere with Jesus." Mrs. Meek read the scripture lesson which was followed by prayer by the minister, J. L. Sennett.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ella Meyers and roll call was responded to by seventeen members and guests with a scripture verse. Several matters of business were discussed and acted upon during the business session which was in charge of the class president, Mrs. Gertrude Borthwick, this closed with the singing of " I Will Follow Jesus."

Mrs. Odessa Hurni and Mrs. Leo Schendle then took charge and put on a program of songs and contests in keeping with the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, adding for good measure a hat trimming and valentine contest. Delicious refresh-

Dale Wicoff Achieves Master's Degree

Dale C. Wicoff, vocational agriculture teacher at St. Joe and Spencerville high schools, received his degree of Master of Science and Education at Purdue University on February 6th.

One of ten graduates receiving master's degrees, Mr. Wicoff had the distinction of being the only one from Indiana, majoring in Vocational Agriculture Education and now is one of only two holders of master's degrees in the whole state of Indiana with a major in that subject.

CULTURE CLUB

The Culture Club ladies met at the home of Mrs. Olen Waltz, Feb. 9th at 8 p. m. with 13 active members in attendance and one honorary member, Mrs. Earl Hodges of Garrett. The meeting was called to order by the president pro tem, Mrs. Pluma Hamilton. The lesson on the "Mayo Brothers Clinic" was led by Mrs. Paul Drerup. This was a very interesting and educational lesson. Mrs. James Tatlock gave the special work for the evening, "The Grace Bentley Camp." This topic brought to light the dire need of love and care for crippled children the world over and the wonderful work which is being done for those children at the Grace Bentley camp. Mrs. Tatlock also showed many pictures of interest on the subject. A short business session was held and a welcome given to our new members namely Mrs. William McGuire, Mrs. Arthur Culbertson, Mrs. Dan McMillen and Mrs. Marcel Pugsley. The meeting adjourned after which the hostess served a tasty lunch. The next club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lynn Fisher, Feb. 23rd.

St. Joe And Spencerville Fives To Close Basketball Schedules

The Spencerville Red Raiders and the St. Joe High Tigers will bring to an end their regular schedule of the 48-49 basketball season with games in their own goal halls this Friday evening.

The Red Raiders will be out to cap a good season, and will be looking for their 16th win when the Woodburn Warriors will make the trips to the Spencerville hall. This will be the first meeting of the two teams this season. Spencerville has lost three games this season, one of which was a loss to Garrett in the county tourney. Both of their other defeats to the Butler school and to Harlan have since been avenged and many of the Spencerville fans are expecting their team to make a good showing in the coming sectional at Auburn and Garrett. For the past two years the Raiders have met and defeated the Auburn Red Devils in the tourney, last year in the opening game and two years ago in the semifinals. Auburn this year will probably put an 18-2 record on the block when the sectional opens and if a meeting between the two teams should come about - - -well, that's enough of that.

Here at St. Joe the Tigers will put the finish on their basketball season with a game with Smithfield Twp. (Mongo), Indiana. The Mongo school just resumed basketball this year and are not reported as too strong. Scott Center has defeated them in play this year.

SPENCERVILLE P. T. A.

Spencerville Parent Teachers Association will hold its February meeting in the gymnasium on Feb. 22, at 7:30 p. m. A special musical program will be presented by the Leo School Band and past presidents of the local organization will be honored at this meeting, as February marks the birthday of P. T. A. Organization. Please plan to attend. Your presence is urged and appreciated. Come and help your child's room win the attendance award. You are welcome whether you are a member or not.

The finance committee met recently at the home of Wm. Weninger and selected casts for two plays to be given on Mar. 17. Rehearsals are now in progress. Watch this paper for full details later and make your plans now to spend an evening of fun on Mar. 17th. Come and see your old friends in "Drama" or "Comedy."

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

Getting lost can be serious. And, even if it's not serious, it often means walking many extra miles and these miles always are weary ones.

Last December, while hunting quail in a new territory, we "thought" we knew the way back to the automobile, parked early in the morning on a country road. It took three more hours to get back and, the best we could figure, we had covered about twice the closest route by wandering off in the wrong direction.

But that won't happen again for we're getting one of those new inexpesive gadgets know as a Gunner's Guide, a product of the Poly Choke Co.

The little device is like a compass but much easier to read and follow than the ordinary compass. It fits permanently into the stock of your gun and just by pointing the weapon you can travel a true course back to the home base.

Here's how it works: First, you select a starting point - - your automobile, or any landmark as a cabin, certain spot on a river bank, etc. Then walk a ways in the direction you plan to hunt, but not out of sight of the landmark. Then turn and aim your gun at the landmark, making sure that there is no other gun or iron or steel object near the Gunner's Guide. By holding the gun perfectly level the needle point will swing freely, then all you have to do is turn the serrated revolving rim of the Gunner's Guide until the white indicator dot is directly over the white end of the needle. This sets the Gunner's Guide for your hunt.

Then, later on, when you want to return to the landmark, just start pointing the gun in the general direction and when the white dot and needle point line up, that's the direction to go.

Sounds simple, does'nt it? Well, it is and it'll save you many an extra mile of tough, hard walking. And every hunter knows that walking towards the end of a hunt is tough.

In wilderness country the Gunner's Guide could prevent serious toruble and being lost in the vast reaches of the north country or in mountains is serious.

Anyway, we're planning on saving those extra steps at the end of each day's hunting for we're one of those individuals who has extreme difficulty in finding the way when the sun's not shining.

Eleven Immortals

Lesson for February 20, 1949

JESUS BELIEVED in prayer, but he did not usually spend all night at it. When he did, we may be sure he had something of the greatest importance on his mind. One of these occasions was the night before he selected the twelve men he called Apostles. He had thousands of disciples, crowds followed him wherever he went. But it was important to have a few with whom he could live as an intimate friend. So from the immense number of followers, Jesus selected twelve closest friends. Before that fateful morning no one outside their villages had ever heard of them. But now their names are known—and eleven of them are honored—around the world.

Jesus Multiplies Himself

A GOOD executive, Jesus multiplied his own personality. A recent book has shown how Harry Hopkins during World War II lived in the White House as Roosevelt's personal companion, having given up his own ambitions and living only to carry out the ideas of his chief. Without Roosevelt, Hopkins would have been little more than an inferior politician; and without Hopkins, many of Roosevelt's plans could not have been carried out. He enabled the president to be in two places at once. So it was with Jesus, as Mark tells us. Jesus wanted those twelve to be with him, and then to send them out.

He wanted these friends to know him as the crowds, and his enemies, never could know him. He wanted these men to absorb his ideas and ideals.

By continual contact, day by day and month by month, they would inevitably become more like him. Because of that, he could (and later did) send them out to do his work in places he could not reach. The word Jesus used for them was not his own invention; "apostle" was the word used all over the civilized world in those days for an ambassador, a personal representative of royalty. All Christians are in the "apostolic succession." If a Christian can truly say, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me," then he is, as these men were, Christ's personal representative.

Raw Material

THE ASTONISHING thing about Jesus' choice of these twelve is his faith in them. Of course they had faith in him—who would not? But who would have faith in them? There was not a single "outstanding" man in the lot. Not one had what we would call a college education, not a man of them had held public office or was rich or famous for anything at all. The officers of any modern church might shake their heads over them.

There was Peter, an ordinary fisherman, much given to profanity; there was Matthew, a crooked business man if ever there was one, for no publican could be honest and keep from starving; there was Philip, as stupid a man as ever asked a foolish question; there were James and John, loud-mouthed (Jesus nicknamed them the Thunder Boys—"Sons of Thunder"), greedy fellows who could not be satisfied till they had elbowed their way ahead of everybody else; there was Thomas the born pessimist, the defeatist . . . What could have got into Jesus' mind to select such men?

—And Judas Iscariot

THE SECRET of Jesus' choice was this: He selected his men not for what they were or had been, but for what they could become, filled with his spirit, transformed by his friendship. It is so today, as always, The Kingdom of God needs men and women, but the raw human material found in or out of the churches is too shabby and weak to build anything like the kingdom of God. "Twelve Immortals"—? Nay, but one is the immortal betrayer and suicide. Why? The reason was in Judas, not in Jesus.

The truth is that Christ will not force himself on any one, not even on an Apostle. Christ needs men, now, as he needed men then, to carry on his work in this world.

But he wants volunteers, never forced labor. The Christ of Glory can be served by the humble; but the free Christ can be served only by free men with open hearts. Judas may keep his heart shut if he will; Christ never forces his way in.

THE ST. JOE High Tigers again let St. Joe seconds take the only victory of the evening, last Friday at the St. Joe gym. After the seconds had put on a good show to grabbed the first game by a 19 to 16 score, the St. Joe varsity boys lost a 54 to 40 contest to the Pleasant Lake Spartans.

The Tigers started out the main attraction as though they were going to give the Spartans a battle. Miller put the Tigers into an early 5 to 3 lead on a hook shot near the basket and three foul shots. Bright, who did a lot of scoring for P. Lake,, also accounted for the first five points, and his under the basket shot tied the score at 5 all. Cook, who led the P. Lake boys with 15 points, got his first shot when he dribbled all the way under for a lay-up, and then when Bright came through again from near the basket, P. Lake had taken a 9 to 5 lead. Lochner got a foul shot to make it 9-6, and then a few seconds later added his first field goal, a push shot from the corner to make it 9 to 8 in favor of the visitors. Ryan hit a foul shot to make it 10 to 8. Yeiser dribbled all the way and laid one in to tie the score at 10 all. The Spartans pulled away to make it 14 to 10 at the end of the first quarer, and the Tigers never could close in after that P. Lake led 27-20 at the half, and 41 to 26 at the third quarter.

THE SPENCERVILLE Raiders won their 15th game Friday night, a 42 to 35 win over Washington Center. It was their second victory this year over the Washington Center boys.

Although winning only by a 7 point margin, the Raiders led all the way, holding a 20 to 10 half-time lead. All of the Raider squad got into the lineup before the game was over. Paschen got 15 points to lead both teams in scoring and Sonny Hook got 11, also for the winners.

LAST THURSDAY after school the St. Joe Freshman team made the trip to Ashley to take on the Ashley Freshman team. The locals defeated the Ashley squad by a 29 to 20 score. Merle Bassett paced the winning St. Joe Freshman squad with 12 point. Donnie Walters and Howard McMaken also contributed good to the scoring.

• • • • • •

FRIDAY EVENING while watching the P. Lake and St. Joe game. a small boy came over, and with a "Hey you made a mistake in the paper last week," went on to disclose in no uncertain terms that he had made the winning basket for the 5th and 6th grade last week against Butler, and that his name was not Kenny Walters as had been reported in the item. He went on say that his name was David Walters, and Kenny is his older brother who is in the eighth grade and plays on the Jr. High team. Well, after a thousand apologies and a promise to make a retraction on the item, David said he would excuse us this time. So with Bob a senior on the first team and Donnie a freshman on the second team, Kenny on the Jr. High team and David in the sixth grade, it looks like the Walters boys are tryng to corner this game of basketball, and the St. Joe fans will be watching the boys perform on the court for quite a few years.

THE LEGIONAIRES bowling team, with a blistering 3 game series over the Crystal Lunch of Hicksville last Wednesday evening have taken over the top spot in the Inter-City Bowling loop at Hicksville. The local keglers took over undisputed possession of the top sopt after a long grind and are determined to hold on to it. About 4 more weeks or bowling remain in the regular league schedule.

• • • • • •

THE LEGION won one and lost one game during the past week. They lost a thrilling 59 to 58 game to the Hook & Sons team Saturday night here at St. Joe, and then Tuesday evening they closed out their last game in the Vim League with a 48 to 36 win over the Garrett Legion. Play-offs for the Vim League will begin next week.

IN SATURDAY evening's game the locals, after trailing Spencerville most of the way broke into the lead early in the last quarter, only to have Hook's come back in the last 30 seconds to snatch the game out of the fire and walk off with a 59 to 58 win. Trailing by a 34 to 40 score starting the last quater, Fetters started swishing the nets for St. Joe, on set shots and driving push shots, making 12 points in that last quarter and sent the locals into the lead about midway in that hetic last quarter. Glen Akey led the winners with 23 points. and his brother, Pete with 16 carried the scoring load for Spencerville. Fetters finished his night's scoring with 16 points. F. Sechler turned in his best game of the season, playing his usual good floor game and enjoying his best offensive game of the year with 14 points.

• • • • • •

IN THE VIM game Tuesday at Butler the locals led practically from start to finish over the Garrett vets team. The score however, was knotted at 6 all at the end of the sho into a 22-14 lead at the half. They played the first half without a personal foul against them. St. Joe had another 16 point quarter in the third, and the score stood at 38 to 21 at that time. All of the St. Joe team members got in the scoring column, Deiderich with 16 and Fetters with 10, got in more often.

Are The People Capable Of Self-Government

By Adelbert Neese

Ex-School Teacher and Trustee Worth Township, Boone County, Ind.

Conclusion

Let us look at some of the recommendations. One is that a non-partisan board of five be selected for each county. Does anyone believe that could be done? Is anyone so innocent? How could we expect a people who are so ignorant that they do not have the intelligence to select desirable trustees be expected to become intelligent enough to select a non-partisan board of five members? Does belonging to a party mean that people are ignorant? We pride ourselves in this country on our party system. It has its faults, but still is far superior to communistic, Nazi, Fascist, dictatorship.

In an article recently published in an Indianapolis paper it stated that the people were ready to stand up and be counted. That is fine. That is the Township Trustees' resolution as adopted in their state convention in December 1948. The resolution reads as follows:

Resolution No. 11

Be it resolved, that the Indiana Township Trustee's Association go on record as favoring legislation to the end that the consolidation of townships, school townships and schools shall be accomplished in the most democratic manner; namely, upon the vote of the people affected thereby, by way of referendum.

If the people vote for centralization they should have it. This whole problem, like other problems of government should be settled by the voters. The great majority of the trustees have in the past and will continue in the future, to try to carry out the wishes of those whom they represent.

The proposed change has taken place in Floyd County. This has been publicized as an object of admiration according to an article in the Indianapolis Sunday Star of December 5, 1948, transportation costs increased in Floyd county from $40,317 to $53,229 under the County Unit System. Is this a saving? The tax levy increased 60 cents. Now Floyd County is in the south part of the State. We should all turn our faces southward toward Floyd County under the County Unit System. Then we should continue southward where the County Unit System prevails, even to the deep south of Florida, where the Chief Consultant of the Study Commission, namely, Dr. Morphet, comes from to advise and counsel the people of Indiana on how to set their educational house in order.

Now, let us make a comparison of the townships school trustees with other men, first as to education. Some school trustes are college graduates, some are high school graduates. This pattern is just like that of the Congress of the U. S.; just like that of the President of the U. S.; just like that of the Governors of Indiana; just like that of the bankers of Indiana; just like that of the farmers of Indiana; just like the editors of Indiana.

Second, the occupations from which the trustees of Indiana are farmers, business men, laboring men insurance men and school teachers. I myself, am a former school teacher. Two of my colleagues in Boone County are also former school teachers and who were educated in the same colleges by the same professors as the so-called and self-styled educated city reformers. Since I am a trustee in Boone Co. let us look at the facts and see what has been done in Boone county under the Trustee System. The County at one time had 117 schools and 117 teachers. Today, it has 16 schools. This is a reduction of 86.32 per cent. The people of Boone County started changing their schools in 1898 when the people consolidated two of their schools. The process has been in operation for more than 50 years. Now, it seems fair to belive that the people will continue to make such change as time and experience warrants. Another thing these articles do not mention is, that the communtiy spirit would be lost in the County Unit Plan. This spirit is very vital in community life and in our form of government It is very gratifying to note that the study commission have at last become interested in what the public has been doing for more than half a century.

Third, the members of the General Assembly of Indiana have all voted for a trustee in 1946. That statement applies to both the members of the 1947 State Legislature. Certainly no Legislator would admit he or she has not voted. The 150 Legislators represent every section of Indiana. However, they are asked to belive that they selected and elected "irresponsible people" who are too "ignorant" and too "indifferent" to manage the schools of their community.

The people of Indiana have heard reference made in public discussions to the County Unit System in West Virginia. It is true that West Virginia has the County Unit System. According to the State Directory it has 55 counties and 55 county superintendents who completely control the schools and their counties. There are no city superintendents in West Virginia because there are no city school systems. The county in which Charleston, the state capital, is located, have over 1,600 teachers and more than 46,000 children, all under the county superintendent of schools. Maybe that should be done in Marion County. Maybe Indianapolis School Board should be eliminated and have a group of five people selected from the county at large to select a county superintendent of all the schools of Marion County including Indianapolis. The school trustees of Indiana being well informed as to county unit procedure in West Virginia and other states, passed the following resolution in the state meeting in December 1948. This resolution is in harmony and keeping with the county unit. It reads as follows:

Resolution No. 12

Be It Resolved, that the Indiana Township Trustees Association go on record as favoring legislation to the end that upon the adoption of the county unit system of schools in any designated county, such centralized the entire management and operation of all schools shall include the entire management and operation of all schools within the said county and such units system shall be governed by the county Board of Education existing in such county at the time of such adoption.

In the beginning God gave man the right to choose. That right is the basis of our American Democracy today. I am asking all voters to read the first two quotations. I belive that the people should have their God given right to decide by their vote, whether they want the County Unit Plan or not.

Gold Medal Award
FASHION ACADEMY OF NEW YORK SELECTS

The '49 Ford
AS THE "FASHION CAR OF THE YEAR"

Citation "The 1949 Ford embodies all the essential qualities of good taste, modern design and subtle harmony in line and color. It is indeed a compliment to the style-conscious woman who will recognize and appreciate the flattering background it provides for her best dressed appearance."

President, The Fashion Academy of New York

The Fashion Academy of New York has been noted for the past 20 years for its annual selection of "America's best dressed women." The '49 Ford was chosen to receive the Fashion Academy Gold Medal after 1949 automobile models of all makes and in all price classes had been carefully studied from the standpoint of excellence in design, simplicity and feminine style appeal. This recognition of Ford leadership in the modern trend of automobile design stands as a unique tribute to the work of Ford's Styling Department and of Design Consultant George Walker of Detroit.

And "looks" are only half the story!

Winter Sports in Woods and Fields

Not all of our feathered and furry friends have dug in deep or gone south for the winter. These pictures, sent in by our readers, show that many have donned extra thick warm coats and are out enjoying the snowy woodlands and fields with other winter sports lovers.

Winter white is a fashion favorite among the wild animals, and some even have special equipment for the snow as the snow shoe rabbit, whose tracks show he travels far and wide on top of the snow. The blue-jay, who poses in the picture to the right, is only one of a number of hardy varieties of birds who prefer to remain for the winter season, rather than join friends in the south where the livin' is easy.

THE IDEAL

POWER PLANTS

for the family farm

MODEL C Seal-Greased TRACTOR

Servant of the whole farm family, the Model C 2-Row Tractor is a mobile power plant on rubber, one of the sweetest cultivating tractors ever built.

If Son is a mechanical-minded young engineer in overalls, here's his tractor. Simplicity itself . . . there's not a grease-fitting on it.

The Model C is a full-size completely equipped tractor . . . with lights, starter, low-pitch muffler, air tires, radiator heat control, battery, cushion seat and backrest. Power Transmitter, including hydraulic lift, power take-off and belt pulley, is optional at small cost.

The Model C is yours, with a matching line of hydraulic-control implements...if you see your A-C dealer promptly.

MODEL B Economy Champion

If your acreage does not require two-row planting and cultivation, the lower cost one-row Model B gives you all the streamlined features and performance of the Model C, with the additional economy of single-row implements.

Front-mounted fertilizer attachments for both B and C tractors side-dress fertilizer while you cultivate or plant.

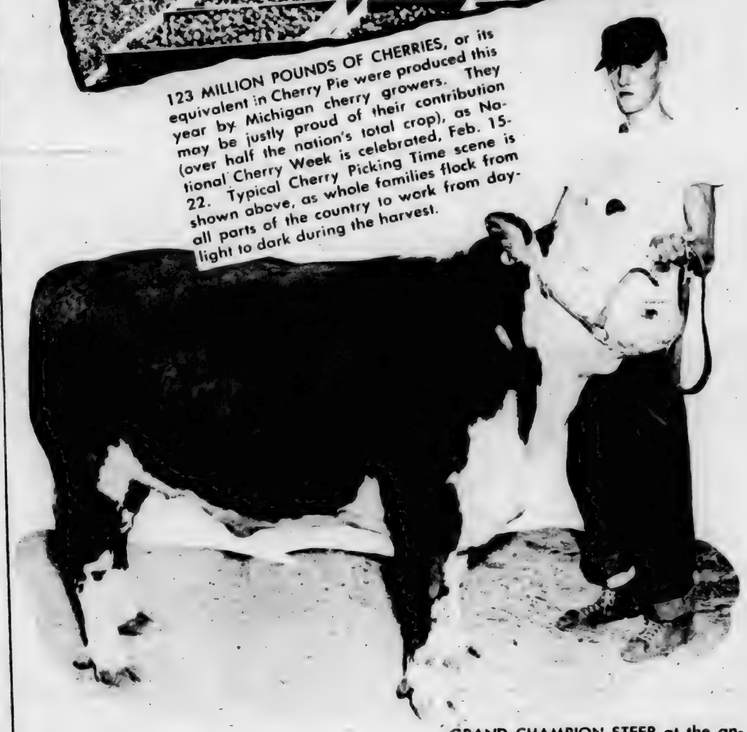
Rural America

123 MILLION POUNDS OF CHERRIES, or its equivalent in Cherry Pie were produced this year by Michigan cherry growers. They may be justly proud of their contribution (over half the nation's total crop), as National Cherry Week is celebrated, Feb. 15-22. Typical Cherry Picking Time scene is shown above, as whole families flock from all parts of the country to work from daylight to dark during the harvest.



GRAND CHAMPION STEER at the annual Michigan State 4-H Club show was shown by George Buckham, 19, of Kalamazoo. The steer, a 1095 pound Hereford, was sold at the 4-H auction at 70 cents a pound.

NOT A BETTER MOUSETRAP, but an electric gate he has invented is bringing folks to the home of Orville Adkins, Brown County, Ohio. Adkins decided to save time and energy wasted in opening and shutting gates on his farm, so he invented his "Time-Saver" Electric Gate. Operating from a fence charger, this gate of rubber mat and wire mesh will guard any open gate.

107 YEARS YOUNG. Mrs. Mary A. Kilworth, Exira, Iowa, works over her stove on her 107th birthday, Dec. 18, 1948. For the last 40 years, (since her husband died) Mrs. Kilworth has lived alone in Exira, and is still very active. On her 107th birthday citizens of the town named a street for her, made her honorary Campfire girl, heaped her with gifts and flowers, gave her the American Legion scroll, and turned out in full to honor her. Pres. Truman wrote a letter wishing her "peace and contentment".

INDIANA'S CHAMPION MUCK CROPS FARMER for 1948 was Fred Fraser, Rochester, Ind., who produced 1006 bushel of onion per acre, 343 bushel of potatoes per acre and 106 bushel of corn per acre. Mr. Fraser stated, "I believe that our muck soil is some of the last virgin farm land in America. I still have fields that have never been broken.

SWING YOUR PARTNER. This group of seniors from Hamersville High School, Brown County, Ohio, trained in many types of folk dances, are widely sought as entertainers in the area. When photographed above, they were performing for a Farmers' Institute being held in the local auditorium. Much interest is being evinced again in traditional round square and folk dances.

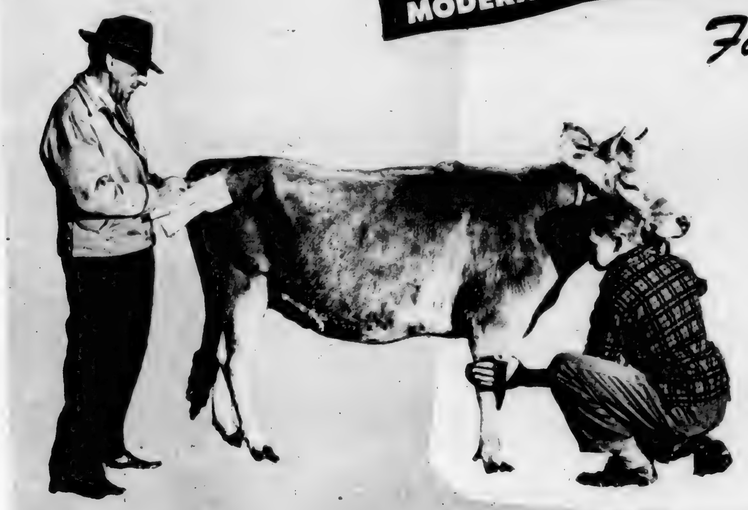
MODERN FARMING

Future Dairymen LEARN HOW TO Judge Cattle



Good looks in a dairy cow is no satisfactory yardstick for judging her ability to produce lots of milk. But the cow with a good udder, straight top-line, large barrel, good spring of rib, etc., is likely to be a better producer, other things being equal, and continue to produce for more years than a cow with poorer conformation.

To sharpen the eye of future dairymen and teach them how to choose the right kind of cows for their herds, 4-H Club groups under the guidance of their county agent or his assistant, make a "game" of dairy cattle judging. After gaining experience through long hours of practice, judging teams are formed of the most skilled, and these compete for individual and team judging honors at county and state fairs.

The pictures below show one such 4-H Club group under the guidance of Dwayne Rohweder, County Extension Youth Assistant, in a practice judging session on a dairy farm near Woodward, Iowa.

Four Guernseys of about the same age are led out of the barn by Bob Jones, farm manager (holding lead cow), and other farmer neighbors. The boys are given scorecards on which they score each animal, point by point. Then they total the points and place the cows 1, 2, 3, and 4 according to their preference.

Richard Kramer (left) and Jay Paul study each cow and make notes on their judging scorecard. Top consideration is given to udder development. It should be large, attached high behind and well forward in front, broad and level at the floor and with each quarter uniformly developed, evenly joined and pliable.

At the end of the judging session, each boy tells reasons for placing cows in the order they did. Here Lewis Crase, Jr., tells why he chose this cow tops among the group. Other boys listen to Lewis, later give their reasons for choosing other cows first.

When all the boys have explained their placings, Dwayne Rohweder, the instructor, tells the correct placing, and then explains the strong and weak points of each animal. Here he is telling why the udder of this cow is better than any of the others in the ring.

The seven boys in the photo above were chosen to represent this 4-H Club at the state fair, and here they get last minute instructions on placings. Left to right they are: Wayne Erdman, Clem Spellman, Richard Kramer, Henry Nixon, Clair Baldner, Lewis Crase, Jr., and Jay Paul. At the fair they judged other classes of livestock, too, including sheep, swine and horses.

Firestone OFFERS THREE POSITIVE WAYS TO GET MORE DRAWBAR PULL FROM YOUR TRACTOR

1 EQUIP YOUR TRACTOR WITH Firestone CHAMPION GROUND GRIP TRACTOR TIRES

For greater drawbar pull, get the tires that deliver the greatest tread bar pull—Firestone Champions. It's no wonder they OUTpull all other tractor tires. One look at the tread bars is enough to tell why this tire outperforms all other tires. Anyone can see that these bars take a deeper bite because they're higher, a bigger bite because they're longer, a stronger bite because they're Triple-Braced, and a sharper bite because they're especially curved for self-cleaning.

2 HAVE YOUR TIRES HYDRO-FLATED

Firestone Hydro-Flation insures the right liquid-air ratio for maximum traction. You get enough liquid weight to insure maximum drawbar pull, enough air cushion to protect you tires against dangerous body shocks.

3 INFLATE YOUR TIRES TO 12 POUNDS

By using only 12 pounds pressure, the whole tread is in full contact with the ground for greater drawbar pull. You can do this safely with Firestone Champion Ground Grip Tractor Tires because the sidewalls are reinforced for low-pressure operation.

An American breakfast favorite, granular wheat cereal, dons a figurative sombrero and goes Mexican in that country's favorite tamale pie in the colorful casserole the cactus-bordered picture shows. It's another example of how the nutritious cereals fill main meal needs and the easy recipe is given elsewhere on this page.

When wintry weather hovers round, the warmer climes beckon us toward the sunny south. Many of us can travel in spirit only, tho, and for those we offer suggestions on cookery with a Mexican influence.

SPAGHETTI with hot tomato sauce, and frankfurts stuffed with picalilly combine to make another tasty hot dish for Saturday night supper.

Tamale Pie

3 c. milk
1 c. granular wheat cereal
1¾ tsp. salt
3 tblsp. grated onion
1 tblsp. fat
1½ c. ground beef
1 c. cooked tomatoes
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. chili powder

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Place over direct heat and slowly add cereal with 1 tsp. salt, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until thickened. Place over boiling water, cover and continue cooking 15 to 20 minutes. Saute onion in fat until yellow. Add meat and cook until lightly browned. Add tomatoes, remaining salt, pepper, and chili powder. Grease a baking dish and line with ⅔ths of the cereal. Pour the filling into the lined baking dish and cover with remainder of cereal. Bake in moderate oven 45 minutes. Yields 6 servings.

Chili-Mac

2 tblsp. fat or drippings
1 c. chopped onion
½ c. chopped green pepper
1 pound beef
3½ c. cooked tomatoes
2½ c. cooked kidney beans
2 tsp. salt
1¼ tsp. chili powder
6 oz. elbow macaroni

Melt fat in skillet. Add onion, green pepper, and beef. Cook until brown, about 15 min. Add tomatoes, kidney beans, salt, chili powder, and elbow macaroni. Mix well. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Serve hot. Yield, 6 servings.

Robin Hood

Quick Butter-Fluff Rolls

Recipe by Rita Martin

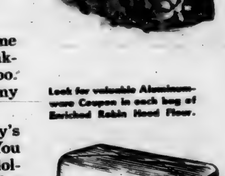
2 cups buttermilk or sour milk
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. soda
2 tbsp. lukewarm water
2 tsp. salt
½ cup melted shortening
1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package granular yeast
Soft butter
4½ cups (about) sifted ROBIN HOOD ENRICHED FLOUR

METHOD

SCALD—milk, add sugar, salt, shortening and soda; cool to lukewarm.
LET—yeast stand in lukewarm water for 5 minutes, add to milk mixture.
ADD—flour to make a soft dough. Knead until smooth.
ROLL—dough out to ½" thickness; cut in strips about 1½" wide.
SPREAD—strips with butter and make layers of three; cut in 1½" pieces and place, cut side down, in well-greased muffin pans.
BRUSH—tops with melted shortening.
COVER—and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk.
BAKE—in a hot oven (425° F.) for 15 to 20 minutes.
YIELD—3 dozen small rolls.

They always praise my baking now that I'm using Robin Hood

—says
Mrs. Perry Meyer,
Sheboygan, Pennsylvania



"I have been using Robin Hood Flour for some time now," says Mrs. Meyer, "not only for baking bread but for making cakes and pastry, too. It's just wonderful. I get a big hand from my family for the things I bake."

No wonder Mrs. Meyer wins her family's praises when she uses Robin Hood Flour. You just have to get top results with this million dollar "secret blend." There's a money-back-plus 10% guarantee in every bag that says just that.

You will find that Robin Hood makes just wonderful bread—the lightest, fluffiest cakes—the tenderest, flakiest pastry. The very next time you are at your grocer's ask him for Robin Hood Flour. Use it for all your baking and see if your family doesn't shower you with praises, too!

Tigers Lose Close One To Waterloo; Raiders Win From Orland, Lose To Garrett

Tigers Last Period Rally Fails As They Lose To Waterloo 49-48 Spencerville Defeats Orland 38-26;

The St. Joe High Tigers put on a driving last quarter at their Garrett sectional game Wednesday afternoon only to have their rally fall one point short as they lost to the Waterloo Wildcats by a 49 to 48 score.

The Tigers kept picking away at Waterloo's 9 point, 36 to 27 third quarter lead, and before many of the fans realized it, they had drawn in close to the Wildcats with just seconds remaining to play. Bob Walters playing perhaps his best game of his now ended high school career, added 12 of the Tigers 19 points in that last quarter of play. With about 20 seconds to go Walters to a rebound after Fetters missed a shot and sank a shor one handed shot to make the score 49 to 48. Richmond intercepted a Waterloo pass and his driving long jump shot rimmed the basket, just seconds before the final gun sounded. Walters lead both teams in scoring with 21 points. St. Joe held a slight first quarter lead, 13 to 12, but Waterloo took over for the next two quarters and led 27 to 22 at the half and 36 to 29 at at the third quarter.

Spencerville's Raiders although not playing the brand of ball they have played most of the season, didn't have too hard a time winning over Orland by a 38 to 26 score. After taking a 7 to 2 first quarter lead and a 15 to half-time lead the Orland squad nearly caught the Raiders in the third quarter, as Spencerville held a 21 to 18 edge. Hook, Akey and Leonard all came through nicely in the last quarter to make the difference.

In other first games at Auburn, the Butler Windmills, minus their star, Ed Gengnagel, who was side lined with measels gave the Auburn Red Devils quite a battle for more than a half of their game. Auburn won, 52 to 43. The score was deadlocked at 21 all at the half. Churbusco druubbed Hamilton 45 to 13 in the first morning game. Garrett had quite a battle in the last afternoon game at Auburn, finally winning by a 52 to 50 score in a overtime battle with Ashley. In other games at Garrett, Angola defeated Metz 57 to 47; Freemont drubbed Scott Center 62 to 29 and Salem Center defeated P. Lake.

Red Raiders Fall To Garrett

In the evening game at Auburn Wednesday evening, the Spencerville Red Raiders feil to the Garrett Railroaders by a 42 to 39 score. Garrett had big first and second quarters, before the Raiders could get started and had pile up a sufficient lead to withstand a good Spencerville second half. Garrett led 10 to 3 at the end of the first quarter. By the end of the half Garrett had jumped away out in front by a 27 to 11 score. Up until that time Hoover had made all the field goals for Spencerville. In the third quarter the Raiders came to life to score 15 points while Garrett got only 7, and the score was 34 to 26 at that time. In the last period the Raiders continued to outscore Garrett by a 12 to 8 score. At one point in the last quarter, the Raiders closed the margin to 2 points, with a 34 to 32 score. Hoover got 15 points to lead both teams in scoring. Clark got 14 for Garrett.

Auburn had little trouble with the Churubusco Eagles and took them easy in the first evening game at Auburn. by a 62 to 39 score.

At Garrett in the evening games Angola and Salem Center had little trouble in gaining a right to the semi-finals this Saturday at Auburn. Angola romped over Fremont for a 17 point win and Salem Center defeated Waterloo by about the same margin.

Semi-final pairings for Saturday are:

1 p. m.—Auburn vs Garrett

2:15 p. m.—Angola vs Salem Center

8:15—Winners of Afternoon games

Those fans who can't get tickets, remember that the two afternoon games and the finals will be carried over radio station WOWO at Fort Wayne, with Milt Marx, veteran sportscaster at the mike.

LOOKING OVER THE NEW CARS!

- Report from PARIS -

By MARJORIE HABERKORN

Exclusiye to the St. Joe News

The way time whizzes by.....!Last week-end we went on a bicycle trip to Fontainbleau. Saturday A.M. we went down to arrange for the renting of the four bicycles and got maps so that we would know the way. It's about 60 kilometers - i think ith equivalent of about 40 miles. We went back to the residence to get our blanket rolls, towels soap, etc., ready and told Madame and she got our lunch and had another lunch packed to take along.

After lunch we went back to the bicycle shop to get the bikes. When we got fixed up and ready to start it was 3:30 and by the time we got out of Paris it was much later. It seemed we were always going wrong but the way the French drive it doesn't make too much difference They just go every which way and honk! The policemen just laughed at us.

After it got dark we stopped to eat our lunch. By that time we had each fallen off at least once and were pretty well worn out. We were still about 10 miles from Fontainbleau and only had one light between the tour of us. So we stopped at a truck stop and there was a big truck out front and we found out they were going to Fontainbleau and Marseilles and had a bunch of room in the back. Well they took us, bikes and all, the rest of the way and it was up one huge, big hill - - were we happy! - - -cause we probably would'nt have been able to get there if it hadn't been for that truck.

We stayed at a Youth Hostel that night. (a place for young people to stay who are traveling) - - found we should have had member cards and didn't, but it was so late they decided to let us stay anyhow. Helped clean up the next morning and then to Fontainbleau to see the Chateau. It was very beautiful. I liked it even better than the Castle of Versailles, for some reason. We bought patisserie and friut and ate it in the garden. There is a lake in front of the Chateau and daddy should have been here to see the big fish. We were still so tired we fell asleep right on the big lawn by the gardens.

We didn't have time to see all the inside of the Chateau - it really takes hours and we had to get started back. Had planned on starting early but it was pretty late by the time we did - - -about 3 o'clock again.

We went down that huge hill right outside Fontainbleau that we had gone up in the truck. Was it ever fun! Finally reached the place where we had eaten at dark the day before. It was already about six and we decided we'd better start looking for a truck again before it got very dark.

Luckily we found one stopped at a gas station in the town and they said "Sure" - - (in French) - and even tied our bikes in so they's be O K. It was a smaller open truck and he went like the wind! By that time we were so worn out and so SORE that we were just overwhelmed with our luck in having found another truck! And it was so much fun!

We got back into Paris while it was still light and they took us to within two blocks of our door and shook hands and were off again. That's the way it seems all the French people are - - - at least, the ones we've met. They're always willing to help and they'll take time out anytime to explain something. - - - And they always shake hands before leavng.

This trip was loads of fun and sometime we shall just have to go back again and see Fontainbleau more thoroughly. It takes a long time to see it all.

The Ladies Democratic Club will holds its February meeting in the Hall at Walterloo, on Thursday p. m. Feb. 24th at 7:30.

Recent rains have left county roads in the St. Joe community in very bad condition. Several of the gravel roads north and west of St. Joe were flooded the earlier part of the week, and at least one other strip of road has been left in such bad condition that traffic has been detoured around it for over a week. The gravel road north of St. Joe was washed out over the "sink hole" north of the Shroyer farm and has not been repaired as yet.

Coach Tatlock Speaks To Concord P.T.A.

The February meeting of the local P.T.A. was held Tues., Feb. 15. Owing to the fact that there had been no school during the day, the crowd was rather small.

Mr. John Dilley was in charge of the program. The program theme was "Humanity and Patriotism."

The group sang some patriotic songs and was guided in their thinking by Mrs. Dilley.

Mr. D. B. Ridgway led the devotions and Mr. James Tatlock gave the featured topic of the evening a review of his experiences at the "Grace Bentley Home For Crippled Children."

Mr. and Mrs. Tatlock have served as supervisors at the camp for the past 2 years. The camp, located on Lake Huron, 12 miles north of Port Huron. is sponsored and financed by several philanthropic ladies clubs of Detroit.

The camp is open for 4 sessions of 2 weeks each, during the summer and all children ages 5 to 16 are entittled to attend if they can qualify - - the only qualification being that they must be crippled.

Mr. Tatlock reviewed several of the camp's cases. The best summary that the writer is capable of giving can be summed up in a short quotation read quite some time ago; "I was sorry for myself, because I had no shoes, until I met a man that had no feet!"

SEED CLEANING MACHINE TO START CLEANING AND TREATING SCHEDULE NEXT MONTH

The county extension office, in cooperation with seed cleaner operators in DeKalb County, has outlined a schedule for cleaning and treating seed oats this spring in DeKalb County. Two machines will be operated by H. J. Dickison & Son of Butler Township and Ivan Rosenberry of Wilmington Twp. With the addition of the extra machine this year better service can be offered to all townships in time to get their seed ready for cleaning.

C. R. Gross, county agricultural agent, encourages farmers of DeKalb County to clean and treat seed oats before sowing to assure their getting a good stand and to eliminate the possibility of damage from seedling diseases. He stated that one of the contributing factors to bumper crops of small grains in DeKalb County in the past few years has been the use of the recommended practice of cleaning and treating seed for sowing.

In order that the machine can operate more efficiently farmers desiring cleaning and treating work done should make arrangements to have two helpers to assist the operator and plenty of clean sacks ready for the cleaned seed. The rate established for this year's operation has been 7 cents a bushel for cleaning and 3 cents a bushel for treating. The operators will use the new improved Ceresan and Ceresan M for treating operations.

Farmers desiring the service of the seed cleaner and treater should contact their township committeeman on the schedule below and list with him the amount of grain he has for cleaning and treating operations. Operators will receive their list of farmers desiring work done from the committeeemn on entering each township. For special jobs the operator should be contacted by cards or phone. Dickison's phone is Garrett 905W2 and Rosenberry's phone is Auburn 1411-2. In case of weather not permitting the operation of the machine on the day scheduled in a township, the operator will arrange with the committeeman for a return trip.

Here are the dates, townships, names of cleaner and committemen.

Mar. 16. 17—Jackson, Dickison; William Essig, Auburn

Mar. 16, 17—Concord; Rosenberry; William LaRowe, St. Joe

Mar. 18, 19—Spencer and Newville; Rosenberry; Fred Ulm; St. Joe

Mar. 21, 22—Wilmington —Rosenberry; Raymond Mutzfield, Butler

Ideal World

Lesson for February 27, 1949

ANY MAN with a revolutionary new idea has to try to explain it. Jesus was no exception. As a young teacher of religion, he had to answer the question which older teachers were bound to put to him: If your teaching is new, how can it be true? And if it is true, what can be new about it? This was a fair question. The Sermon on the Mount is Jesus' answer to it. The main theme of that sermon is the kingdom of God, an ancient phrase but with new meanings as Jesus used it. We can say "The Ideal World" and mean just the same thing.

The Right People

JESUS EMPHASIZES, above all, the kind of people who belong to God's Ideal World. This would be surprising to some modern planners. Communists think that if you can once get a world in which every one has enough to eat and drink and wear, a world where nobody is poor (or everybody is as poor as everybody else, which is all the same thing), you will have the perfect world. Jesus would know this is nonsense. You do not get the perfect world by improving the soil, or the system of government, or the economic system; you do not get it by passing laws of any kind. This does not mean that such things are unimportant—far from it.

But the fact is that even after you got your perfect social system, with perfect politics and perfect distribution of wealth, even a perfect climate and soil, you would still be nowhere near the Ideal World unless you have improved your people.

Is This You

WHAT WE call the "beatitudes" (Matt. 5:7-12) is Jesus' eight-point program for the citizen of the Ideal World. The right people are happy people, to begin with. (The word translated "Blessed" is a regular Greek word for "happy.") But the main difference between different kinds of people is not that some want to be happy while others do not.

Jesus' ideal people are humble, not proud; they see their sins and are sorry for them; they are "meek"—that is, they are not in a hurry to demand their own rights; they do not merely admire goodness, they are positively hungry for it; they are merciful, not careless or cruel; they are pure in heart and not only in speech and act; they are not mere peace-wishers or peace-lovers (who isn't?) but peace-makers; they are people who are brave enough to do what is right.

Salt

DO YOU really want an ideal world? The best way to begin is to learn how to be a citizen of such a world. Jesus uses two interesting simple words to describe the kind of people he means. You are salt, he said,—you are light. Salt and light are old-fashioned things but they have never gone out of date.

So there is no substitute for a really good Christian. Living, here and now, like citizens of the ideal world to come, Christians are both salt and light.

Salt because they give a taste to otherwise flat or bitter life. Salt because they keep human society from going rotten.

Light

AND LIGHT! Like salt, light ought not to be too noticeable. A glaring light is bad on the eyes, as too much salt is bad on the tongue. So a Christian is not supposed to rub his goodness in on other people, so to speak. He is as indispensable as salt in bread—and should be as inconspicuous. But light, like salt, if it is any good has to be applied directly. A strong light concealed in a steel tube does no good. Swishing the glass end of the salt-cellar around in the soup gives it no flavor. The salt must get into the soup, the light must touch what we see.

So the Christian, God's ideal citizen-in-training, can do the world no good by running away from the world.

If a Christian is going to leave this world better than he found it, —even a little bit farther on toward the Ideal World,—he must come into touch with the world, not to imitate it but to change it.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By LEWIS H. WALTER

THE ST. JOE Tigers finished up their regular scheduled games last Frday evening, by polishing off the Mongo Dragons by a 73 to 38 score, in the finale played at the St. Joe gym. Coach Tatlock ran in 14 players and about all of them hit the scoring column in piling up the one sided victory.

After the finish the Mongo second team put on to nearly catch the St. Joe seconds, a battle was expected from the visiting varsity team. St. Joe's second team won their game 26 to 23 score.

THE TIGERS started off fast and after about 4 minutes of play and with the score standing at 14 to 0, the Tiger subs began to trickle into the game. Richmond was the scoring leader of the game, getting 15 points. His two foul shots started the scoring and then he followed that up just a couple of seconds later with a jump push shot to make it 4 to 0. Lochner dribbled under to make it 6 to 0 and then got in close for a drop arm shot to make it 8 to 0. Fetters slammed in a long rebound after Lochner missed his foul attempt, and the score stood at 10 to 0 as Mongo called for time. The Tigers held a 25 to 2 quarter lead, and were ahead at the half 40 to 13.

• • • • •

THE SPENCERVILLE Raiders went out and grabbed an early lead over the Woodburn Warriors and turned it into their 16th win of the season. They stayed about 15 points in front the whole game, and the final score was 49 to 35. Coach Paschen also used his subs freely, and all ten of the varsity players got in the game. Paschen had the best scoring night with 14 points.

• • • • •

THE Legion won a close, low scoring game by a 30 to 29 score. from one of the International Harvester teams, Saturday evening at the gym. The locals never could get started and trailed just about the whole game. The locals had a fair last quarter, scoring 10 points and finally caught the visitors with about 3 minutes to play. The Ft. Wayne team held an 8 to 2 quarter lead, and were still ahead 18 to 11 at the half. By the end of the third quarter the locals were still trailing, now, 26 to 20. Fetters got 13 points for St. Joe.

• • • • •

THURSDAY evening, February 24, the Auburn Y. M. C. A. team will be here for a game with the Legion starting at 7:30 p. m.

• • • •

VIM LEAGUE playoffs will start next Thursday, Mar. 3 at St. Joe with 2 games. Two more games will be played on Friday, March 4, and the finals will be played on Wednesday and Friday, March 9th and 11.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

We long have suspected that bait casting is America's most popular method of sport fishing, and now we have the proof. A recent survey, conducted by a magazine with nation-wide circulation and projected over 300,000 active fishermen, disclosed that 87 per cent or 261,000 of these fishermen were bait casters.

Active fishermen, too, have learned that a variety of fishing methods adds luster to the sport for only 23,000 or 11 percent of the anglers covered in the survey reported they used only one fishing technique in trying to outwit the finny gamesters And even in this comparatively small group bait casting outranked the runner up fly fishing method two to one.

It is apparent that fly fishing and bait casting go hand in hand as a perfect combination for 198,000 (66 per cent) of the vast army of fishermen covered said they did some fly casting.

Still-fishing, the centuries-old style of fishing ranked third with 57 per cent, followed by trolling with 55 percent and spinning with 17 per cent. Spinning has been popular in England and Europe for many years, but it has been development in America in the last decade. And it is gaining annually on the other sport fishing methods.

The comprehensive survey also showed that the species of fish most popular with the greatest number of anglers are in direct ratio to their distribution in America's streams, rivers and lakes.

Of the fishermen queeried, 276,000 or 92 per cent said they fished for bass. And that is logical for bass are found in all 48 states, much of Mexico and in many parts of Canada. Panfish (crappies, bluegills and other sunfish) with as wide a geographical distribution as bass ranked second with 66 per cent of 198,000 of the fishermen including panfish in their sport.

The stream species of trout, including the rainbow, brown, brook, cutthroat and others, was third with 52 per cent. Nothern pike nosed out the walleye for the fourth spot on the hit parade 37 to 35 per cent, with the lake trout a target for 15 per cent of the fishermen and the muskelunge sought after by 11 per cent.

We are going to send our private agents out to check the results of the survey, however, that shows 31 per cent of these fishermen finding time to follow their favorite outdoor sport between 50 and 100 days a year. We'd like to know how they get this much free time and we can try the same gimicks in talking the boss into letting us off.

CHEVROLET

is the most Beautiful BUY of all

The most Beautiful BUY for Styling

Look at this exciting new Chevrolet from any point of view—inside and outside, front, side and rear—and you'll agree it's the smartest-looking automobile of this new year. For it alone, of all low-priced cars, brings you the distinguished beauty and luxury of Body by Fisher—the body featured on highest-priced cars.

The most Beautiful BUY for Comfort

Settle into the deep, soft, form-fitting seats. Notice the extra-generous head, leg and elbowroom of the Super-Size Interior. Ride in this "car that breathes" —with an advanced heating* and ventilating system that inhales outside air and exhales stale air—giving comfort beyond compare! *(Heater and defroster units optional at extra cost.)

The most Beautiful BUY for Driving and Riding Ease—with new Center-Point Design

Most sensational of all the advancements in this thrilling new Chevrolet for 1949 is the entirely new kind of driving and riding ease which it introduces into the low-priced field. New Center-Point Design—including Center-Point Steering, Center-Point Seating, lower Center of Gravity and Center-Point Rear Suspension—brings you driving and riding results heretofore found only in more expensive cars. The difference is so great—and so pleasing—that it's no exaggeration to say it is proving a revelation to all who drive or ride in this car. Remember—only new Center-Point Design can give these finer motoring results; and only the new Chevrolet offers Center-Point Design at lowest cost.

The most Beautiful BUY for Performance

What thrills you'll have when you drive this car! It's the only low-priced car with a Valve-in-Head engine —the engine which more and more makers of higher-priced cars are adopting—because it gives a much finer combination of performance, economy and dependability. And Chevrolet's world's champion Valve-in-Head engine holds all records for miles served and owners satisfied.

The most Beautiful BUY for Safety

Yes, you and your family will enjoy maximum safety, for Chevrolet brings you fleetfold safety protection found only in this one low-priced car: (1) New Certi-Safe Hydraulic Brakes; (2) Extra-Strong Fisher Unisteel Body-Construction; (3) New Panoramic Visibility; (4) Safety Plate Glass in windshield and all windows, and (5) the super-steady, super-safe Unitised Knee-Action Ride.

FORT WAYNE CIVIC GROUP TO PRESENT "JOHN LOVES MARY"

The Fort Wayne Civic Theatre has announced that its next production will be Norma Krasna's comedy success, "John Loves Mary." The play, which will present Bob Brown and Beth Green Lampton in the starring roles, will open a four-day run at the Civic Theater February 24.

Called by Reid Erekson, Civic director, "the funniest play I have ever seen", "John Loves Mary" tells the story of a returning G. I., John Lawrence, who is engaged to Mary McKinley, daughter of a United States senator. Unknown to anyone, John has married an English girl, Lily, who was once "practically engaged" to John's best friend, Fred Taylor, a man who had saved John's life during a heavy battle. Fred had sworn he would never love anyone else in his life after Lily was believed killed in a bombing. And John, to repay a debt, has married Lily in order to get her to the States so she and Fred can eventually marry. Much to John's horror, not only does he discover Fred could love someone else, Fred has married, and is about to become a father. Keeping his plight a secret from his fiancee, her family and getting to Reno to divorce Lily provides a fast moving comedy with hilarious situations.

In announcing the production, Erekson said, "I expect 'John Loves Mary' to be a bigger hit than 'Life With Father.' Hundreds were unable to get tickets for that show because they delayed making reservations. I urge those who want to see 'John Loves Mary' to make mail reservations as soon as possible. 'John Loves Mary' is the funniest play I have ever seen and I think those who come to see it will agree with me."

Mail reservations are being accepted at the present time, and will be filled as soon as they are received. Phone reservations will not be taken until the week of the production. Letters should specify the date and approximate seat location, and be addressed to 216 E. Berry Street. Big Girl of Bedloe's Island

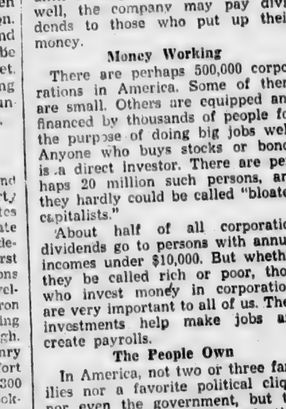
Heartwarming symbol of the land of the free, the Statue of Liberty was presented to the United States by France in 1886 to commemorate the first century of American independence. It has been a welcome first sight of American shores to millions of immigrants and returning travelers. Copper shell on wrought iron frame, Liberty is a big girl weighing 225 tons and standing 151 feet high. Beneath her is a stone-masonry pedestal and 137-year-old star-fort base, so that she holds her torch 300 feet above the surrounding sea. Looking toward Brooklyn and the open ocean, she holds top fame among New York landmarks.



It's Your Business

Who owns America's industry? It's easy to say who owns the hot-dog stand down the street or the candy store on the corner. But, you say, "big" business is different. You're right, it is different. The chief difference is that most large firms are "corporations," which are owned by many people rather than just one or two persons. Maybe the hot-dog man and the candy store owner—maybe even you—own these big businesses. That's very likely, for the people of America do own them.

Sometimes you'll find a fellow who is afraid of that word corporation. Mostly, that is because he does not understand what it means. The modern corporation is built around this idea: many people working together can sometimes do things in a better way than just one or two can do them alone. You see, it takes a lot of money for an automobile factory or an oil refinery. But we have them, even if they do cost millions of dollars to build. Then who'll build them?

Risk and Venture

There is hardly anybody who would want to lay down ten or twenty million dollars for a new industrial venture. Few have that much money, and fewer still would want to risk that much at a time.

But there are many of us who would like to invest a little, hoping for a small return on our money. This may be done through the corporation. It obtains a charter from the state, which permits it to seek capital by inviting people to take shares of stock. Money thus put up by "stockholders" is used to build factories, to gather in machinery and materials, and to handle payrolls until earnings come in. If managed well, the company may pay dividends to those who put up their money.

Money Working

There are perhaps 500,000 corporations in America. Some of them are small. Others are equipped and financed by thousands of people for the purpose of doing big jobs well. Anyone who buys stocks or bonds is a direct investor. There are perhaps 20 million such persons, and they hardly could be called "bloated capitalists."

About half of all corporation dividends go to persons with annual incomes under $10,000. But whether they be called rich or poor, those who invest money in corporations are very important to all of us. Their investments help make jobs and create payrolls.

The People Own

In America, not two or three families nor a favorite political clique nor even the government, but the people own the tools of production. Anyone of us may invest in corporations. Besides direct investors, anyone who pays for life insurance or has bank savings should be interested in the welfare of corporations.

That is true because insurance companies and banks invest in various industrial enterprises the money they receive from you. In this additional way, ownership of corporations is spread throughout the land. Management, labor, investors—all work together to make business and industry hum with production. Everyone benefits. This is the miracle of America's free enterprise.

by EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

FARMERS long have known that there is no such thing as good, cheap seed. When seed is purchased at ridiculously low prices, too often it is likely to be impure and costly in the long run.

Most experts agree that man is the primary agent in sowing weed seeds. The purchase of impure seed often can ruin a good weed program. A majority of the low priced seeds often are low in germination, contain more than the legal limit of weed seeds and may contain certain noxious weed seeds.

Anyone who sells seed for commercial production must comply with state laws—including farmers who sell to their neighbors. Whether seed is to be sold or used on the farm, it is a good plan to have it tested for noxious weeds and germination.

These tests will be conducted for you by your state laboratory, which advises testing now rather than in the later rush periods. There is still another advantage in testing early. If the seed is not satisfactory, because of low germination or noxious weed seeds, there will be plenty of time to get other seed without a last-minute scramble.

In submitting seed for tests a representative sample is important. If the seed is in a bin, a sample should be taken from several different points. If it is in sacks, it is a good idea to take a handful from each bag. These samples should be thoroughly mixed in a pail or basket. Then the final sample—about a teacup of small seeds, such as clover or timothy, and about a quart of larger field seed—should be taken.

"LITTLE 4-H FAIR" WILL BE HELD IN FORT WAYNE MARCH 8 to 12

The 4-H Fair is coming to town - yes, the "Little 4-H Fair" is coming to town - - that is, Fort Wayne - -the week of March 8 to 12. Wolf and Dessauer Department Store in Fort Wayne has offered the use of their auditorium to 4-H clubs in the northeastern part of the state for an exhibit during National 4-H Club week. Allen, DeKalb, Whitley, Noble Huntington, and Wabash Counties are co-operating in an effort to make this an outstanding display which will be equally as interesting and instructive to the city boys and girls as to the rural.

The cooperation and help of all 4-H club leaders, parents, and members in these counties is solicited. A special feature of the exhibit will be the livestock show consisting of calves, pigs, lambs, poultry, and rabbits. Booths depicting various activities in 4-H club work will be set up with special emphasis on project accomplishments. The public is invited.

Don't forget National 4-H Club week, March 8 to 12. Hours for the display will be the same as those of the Wolf and Dessauer Store.

NORTHEASTERN INDIANA CONSERVANCY DISTRICT TO BE SET UP IN FIVE COUNTIES

Further steps leading to action in setting up a Northeastern Indiana Conservancy District in the five counties in the Maumeee Valley Watershed have been taken recently by th Izaak Walton Soil and Water Council of Northeastern Indiana.

Its Board of Directors have passed a "Resolution" favoring the establishment of the proposed conservancy district of the five counties, Allen, DeKalb, Adams, Noble and Steuben, in the watershed on lines similar to that recently set up in Notrhwestern Ohio on the same watershed. The "Resolution reads in part:

"Flood conditions and soil and water resources problems are of such a serious nature in the Maumee Valley Watershed that it is for the best interest of the section of the watershed that corrective measures be taken as fast as possible to prevent floods and conserve our soil and water resources.

"Be it therefore resolved that this organization favors the establishment of a conservancy district under the existing law of Indiana in that portion of Allen, DeKalb, Adams, Steuben and Noble counties which lie within the watershed of the Maumee River.

To implement this resolution, the council directors in each of the counties are making a survey of conservation and flood control problems in their local areas. They will make written reports of their findings at an early date to Howard Foust, Sec-Treas. of the council.

The reports are expected to furnish factual information which with engineering data to be secured from governmen engineers, will enable the council to prepare an over-all brief of the problems for later use in the event that the five counties are organized as a conservancy district.

The "Resolution" was presented by Tom P. Diddle, Jr., Allen Co. director of the council and member of the Tri-State Soil and Water Councils Board of Directors, which includes representatives of all three States - -Indiana, Ohio and Michigan in the Maumee Watershed.

Adolph K. Hofer, Ft. Wayne Civil Engineer, is president of the council in Northeastern Indiana, and presided at the Auburn, meeting.

A meeting is being arranged for early April at which Rudy Meyers, prominent Adams County conservationist and representative at the State Department of Conservation, will speak. It will be the first of a series of meetings in each of the counties that will be open to all citizens who are interested in conservation and flood control problems.

THE HEART OF AMERICA

By Harold E. Stassen, Chairman, American Heart Ass'n. 1949 National Campaign.

A crucial battle is being waged today for the heart of America. Every citizen holds a tremendous stake in the outcome of this struggle.

The battle is directed against the invisible enemy heart disease-our nation's leading cause of death. The heart diseases have raised their toll of disability and death until they today constitute the foremost menace to the health of the nation. Despite this fact, scientific research has lagged behind minimum requirements.

To help meet the urgent needs ot this outstanding health problem, the American Heart Association will conduct a nationwide campaign during February 7-28. The financial goal of this campaign is $5,000.000 to finance a three- point program of scientific research, public and professional education and community service.

Public support behind this drive will make possible an expanded research program in such neglected fields as rheumatic fever, high blood pressure, and hardening of the arteries, which are responsible for 90% of all heart disease. Special emphasis is placed on research in this campaign, because that is the arch upon which medical progress rests.

No one who has watched the progress made against smallpox, yellow fever, typhus and tuberculosis can doubt that science, if given the complete cooperation of the American people, will find the answers to the many unsolved problems of heart disease.

Medical science has already developed new methods of diagnosis. treatment and care of those who suffer from heart afflictions. It is essential that this knowledge be carried to every part of the country and put at the service of all our people through a broad educational program. Increased public education is needed to eliminate unfounded fears and to assure prompt medical education is needed to eliminate unfounded fears and to assure prompt medical attention to guard individual health. The most reliable new information concerning advances made in the diagnosis and treatment of heart and circulatory ases must be collected and distributed among the medical profession.

Public response to the American Heart Association's appeal will help assure that these needs are met, and will also assist in the development of local heart association and service programs so that knowledge and facilities for treatment can be made available to citizens in their own communities.

This three-way program of the American Heart Association, which is composed of the nation's leading physicians as well as prominent laymen, is designed to provide hopeful and effective action to meet the challenge of heart disease.

Science is doing its shart in the battle for the heart of America. The full-fledged partnership of the public is needed to assure ultimate success. The fight for the heart of America is YOUR fight. It may be a fight for your heart.
WON'T YOU OPEN YOUR HEART and give today?

ELECTRIC HOME GRINDING
Profitable spare-time job for hired help
Frequent grinding saves storage space
Fresh, palatable feed always on hand

FIGURES from many farm areas show that farmers save 25 to 50% on their feed bills when they grind feed at home electrically. The more feed you use, the more money electric home grinding saves you — but it has proved profitable, under usual conditions, for any quantity over 3 bushels a week! If you use that much feed or more, it will pay you to talk over your feed grinding problems with one of our farm electrification engineers.

Services Held Tuesday For Mrs. Ada Berry

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Ada Berry, 81, former St. Joe resident who died Saturday afternoon in the home of her son George Berry of Chicago, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Walter Funeral home in Spencerville.

Mrs. Berry died of a stroke of paralysis following an illness of three or four years. She had lived at the home of her son for the last 18 months, and the sudden attack which brought about her death was suffered on Thursday, three days before her death.

Ada Sophia Berry, was born on Nov. 18, 1867, in Jackson Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, daughter of Israel and Martha Krepps Shearer. She was united in marriage on January 7, 1888 to Edwin Berry.

Three daughters, Gertrude Ethyl Berry, Florence Hazel Stewart, and Mae Edith Hatch, preceeded her in death. One son, George of Chicago, survives. Grandchildren who mourn her death are: Ersel Stewart, Florence L. Baker, James V. Hatch, and Jeanne Bower. Six great grandchildren, Delores, Richard, Darwin, and Phyllis Baker, and Janice and Judy Bower also survive.

Mrs. Berry had lived nearly all her life in this community. Her husband, Edwin, died many years ago, and she lived with her sister, the late Mary Betz of St. Joe, before going to the home of her son.

The Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the Lutheran church here officiated at the services. Burial was made in Riverside cemetery here.

THE FIGHT FOR AMERICA'S HEART

It is disturbing to learn that for American men and women over the age of 35 the leading cause of death is one for which cures are still being sought. But is is reassuring to know that this cause, the diseases of the heart and blood vessels, is today being attacked with all the diligence and ingenuity that medical science can muster.

"Heart disease" has been a dread phrase for as long as most of us can remember. There is hardly a family in this or any other community from whom some member or friend has not suddenly been taken by what we have learned to call "heart disease". The conditions known as high blood pressure and hardening of the coronary arteries, two of the leading causes of heart disease, are sadly familiar to all of us. And in recent years we have become constantly more aware of that third major cause, rheumatic fever, whose concomitant heart disease is the leading fatal disease of youth and a major cause of disbility and death in later years.

Yet, thanks to medical advance, it is no longer vaild to say that these things have always been, so they must continue. Thanks in particular to the American Heart Association, the strong light of research and education is being turned upon the heart diseases and there is real hope among men in medicine that ways of prevention and cure can be found, probabily within the life-time of most of us.

The past twenty-five years have been more scientificly advanced in understanding of cardiovascular diseases than all the centuries gone before. New surgical techniques- the the uses of such new drugs as penicillin, dicurmarol, heparin and the sulfa drugs - have brougn alleviation in several forms of heart and blood vessel disease. Equally encouraging have been other advances in heart therapy, bringing relief to cardiac sufferers by showing them a way of working and living for more happy, useful years. The cause of the Big Three - rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, which are responsible for 90% of all heart disease - still elude us. but it is the hope of medcine that continued research will discover them.

The American Heart Association embraces the heart specialists of the nation the men of medicine who have made the significant advances, the men in whose hands we place the tools for further research. Associated with them are the nation's progam to combat the heart diseases. The program calls for public support. We can think of no cause in the public welfare that comes so close to all of us and so surely merits the grateful backing of every member of the community.

When the "heart" program is brought to you this month, count the cost of American's number one killer and - - -

"Open Your Heart — Give to Fight Heart Disease."

Business, Big and Little!

You cannot create a make-believe feud out of the mythical question of Big Business vs. Small Business. It won't hold up, this attempt to make "bad business" out of business that's big. We need many of them small, but we also want some of them big. I recall Emerson's fabled quarrel of the mountain and the squirrel, in which the squirrel made the point: "If I cannot carry forests on my back, neither can you crack a nut." Both big and little enterprises belong in America's system.

Out of the desire of people for goods and for services, our business exists. Private business, generally, is taken for granted. Yet, many unthinking people consider "Big Business" a certain bogeyman. They fail to see that big business is simply a lot of people doing things together that they could not do separately.

Cut Them Down?

We sometimes act as if we expected the government to whittle all big industry down to size. Yet, what would our fate have been after Pearl Harbor, without large and well-equipped industries? In war, we relied upon our bigness. And big industry was well-supported by thousands of small firms. Now, in peacetime, America looks to a well-financed and managed industrial community for continued prosperity and plentiful jobs.

A business keeps growing amid strong competition if it pleases customers by giving them what they want at fair prices. While doing this it must pay its workers a competitive wage, and also earn a profit on the money which owners of the tools have entrusted to it. If a business does these things, it may expect to grow and be of even greater service to its public. In America, any kind of business must merit public approval or fold up.

Each a Customer

Big industry can do some of the big jobs better. Suppose you had to depend upon a one-man workshop for your automobile. Experts say it would cost you $50,000 to have your car built that way. Instead, large companies manage the mass production of thousands of parts (some of which are made by small firms), so that an assembly line rolls out the cars. This requires millions of dollars of capital, and thousands of workers.

Not all business should be big. Many needs are best served by small business. Actually, these firms are not always competitors of big business, for the big fellow and the little fellow can be partners in industrial activity. Then each one, big or small, profits from the efforts of the other. Here, we'll find parts used by big firms being made by small ones. There, we'll find the material of a large producer being fabricated by a small mill. Each is a customer of the other.

Pulling Together

It is because all of us have worked, and traded together, that living standards in America are the highest in the world. Many of our biggest businesses form the base of this pyramid of prosperity, making it possible for many small businesses to grow and develop. When our enterprises, big and little, have prospered, everybody has shared in the rewards. What system could bring us more?

Wild Oats Harvest

Lesson for March 6, 1949

ALL RELIGIOUS teachers of Jesus' time used parables. But the great difference between Jesus' parables and those of his contemporaries, as Rabbi Klausner says, is that his were remembered and theirs were not. People will remember a story who cannot take in a lecture. Jesus almost never told "wonder-tales." His parables are not in the least like Grimm's fairy tales or Alice in Wonderland. Mostly they are about simple ordinary happenings, and practically always about living people or things.

Dr. Foreman

The Kingdom of God is a kingdom of law, not of happen-so or of magic wands. Jesus was fond of comparing God's Kingdom to growing plants. Every plant is a miracle, it is evidence of God's creative power; but plants do not grow overnight, they grow by the laws which the Creator made in them.

Wild Sowing

AS WE SAW last week, the most important feature of the Ideal World, or of any world, is the quality of the people in it. So most of Jesus' parables were about people, one of the most famous being this one of the "prodigal son." ("Prodigal" of course does not mean wicked or repentant, but wasteful, reckless with money or other things.) You could find many faults in that young man. One of them—the fault that nearly killed him—was that if he had a calendar he never looked at it. If you take a good look at a calendar you will always notice that there is another day after this one—another month, another year. But the prodigal never thinks about tomorrow, only about today. He sows his wild oats because he has fun doing it. He can say "So what?" fast enough but he has never asked the question, "—and then what?" Childish, isn't it? Yet all about us are prodigals old enough to know better.

Some people even argue that it is a good thing to sow wild oats, on the theory that the prodigal gets it out of his system and is afterwards a better man.

Nonsense! Is it better for your education to spend several years learning things wrong? Is it better for a garden to let it grow up in weeds for the first three weeks? Is it better for a man's health to spend his childhood years on a sickbed? That's no more silly than to say that a man is morally better for having been immoral for a while first.

Prodigal Nation

IT HAS even been said that we have a prodigal-son civilization. Our generation is pretty busy sowing wild oats. We waste the natural resources of the earth. Drinking has become encouraged by law and made glamorous by the movies. We spend more on liquor than on schools. More money is spent on a single day's horse-racing at a big track than a whole State or province spends on education in a year. The ties of marriage have grown so weak, especially outside the Christian church, that it has not been long since one American city was boasting that its marriage rate had "caught up with" its divorce rate!

Wild Harvest

THE PRODIGAL son in Jesus' story went home—but he had to reap his wild harvest first. The modern prodigal, whether individual or nation, seems to misunderstand Jesus' meaning. If God is thought of at all, he is pictured as a benevolent Being who after all doesn't mind our enjoying our little fling. "He will forgive," said Voltaire, "that's his business." That is a total misunderstanding of God.

The Heavenly Father does love every one of his children, yes. But he will not hold back any one who insists on wasting his substance. He will not interfere with the man's freedom even if that freedom is wickedly used.

He will not suspend his own law: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The prodigal will never get back what he threw away. Time that is killed stays dead. The poverty and pain created by personal or national extravagance and intemperance, God will not magically conjure away.

HERE 'N THERE IN SPORTS

By LEWIS H. WALTER

THE AUBURN Red Devils, as picked by many fans, smashed all Sectional opposition and walked away rather easily with the sectional crown. It was their first sectional championship since 1945, the same year the Red Devils went all the way to the Muncie semi-finals. It was their first sectional win at Auburn since the present gym was built in 1925.

THEIR toughests game of the meet came from the Butler Windmills, who, minus their star player Ed Gengnagel, battled the Auburn five for nearly three-quarters of the opening sectional game before the Red Devils pulled away to win 52 to 43. The sectional winners ran up almost unbelievable scores against Churubusco, and Garrett and their 71 to 47 win over Angola in the finals, was by far their most brilliant. The 57 to 33 walloping they gave Garrett was the largest margin either of the two rivals has ever held.

SATURDAY'S regional pairings will match the Auburn club against the Howe Military Cadets, upset winners over Kendallville in the Kendallville sectional. Syracuse winners of the Warsaw meet will go against Central of Fort Wayne in the second afternoon game.

. . . . . .

THE CADETS boast a record of 17 wins and 8 losses, including tourney games. Included in their losses are Angola. Orland, Fremont and Concordia of Ft. Wayne.

MOST of the fans in this area are looking for Central and Auburn to be paired in the regional finals. If so, a real battle should result, with Central as probably a slight favorite due to their marked improvement during the latter part of the season. The Red Devils, however, do boast a one point, late December win over the Tigers, which came to them only after they had withstood a blistering last quarter Central attack that wiped out a 12 point Auburn lead.

. . . .

THE LEGION won a well played game from a tough, Auburn Y.M.C.A. team, by a 46 to 43 score, at the St. Joe gym last Thursday evening. The locals after holding a narrow, 7 to 5 lead in the first quarter, fell behind the Auburn team and were trailing 24 to 17 at half time. By the end of the third quarter the home town boys had started to cut down the Auburn lead, and were on the short end of 34 to 30 score at that time. Andy Monroe and Whitey Fetters began to swish the nets in the last quarter and each collected 6 points in that last quarter offensive attack. Fetters finished out the game, scoring 18 points. Yoder got 13 for Auburn.

. . . . . .

REMEMBER Vim tourney games will start this Thursday evening at the gym here. St. Joe vs Waterloo and Auburn Clutch will play Angola in the first night of play, Thursday evening. On Friday evening, March 4th, Butler will play Garrett Legion in the first game and ParTee will go against the Auburn Legion in the second game. The second round of play in the single elimination tournament will continue on Wed., March 9 and will be concluded on Friday, March 11.

Calling all outdoorsmen

By JIM MITCHELL

It is painful for a fisherman ever to admit that he has been outwitted by some finny gamester. Yet on many occasions we have been unable to cope with bass, trout, bluegills annd other fresh water batlers. Always these defeats have been attributed to our failure in properly presenting an artificial lure or baited hook; never have we thought that the fish were just too smart for us.

Now, however, we may have to change this reasoning for a fellow in Illinois offers the suggestion that in certain instances the fish are entirely too smart for the fisherman to catch. This fellow also belives that certain species are smarter than others, and to prove his theories on the I. Q. of fish he and his assistant are conducting daily experiments.

Dr. George Bennett, veteran aquatic biologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey, long has preached that more lakes are overstocked with fish than understocked. This partially results, he thinks, from the fish reaching such a high mental status that the can't tell the difference between natural food and an artificial lure or a hook with bait on it .

The job of conducting these tests has fallen to Arthur Witt, Jr., Dr. Bennett's assistant, and daily he goes fishing in a fish bowl in the Survey's glass testing ground. The experiments follow this pattern:

First, Witt takes some unsuspecting fish and puts it in the bowl; then he tosses in a free worm for the finny guinea pig to nibble on and to work up a cooperative appetite. Followng this Witt tosses in a baited hook with a worm and if the fish bites at it he gets the shock of his life. Actually an electric current is generated into the hook and this give the fish a shock that stuns him. If the fish does not take another bite within 10 minutes at the electrified hook and worm. Witt figures the fish has learned his lesson well, tosses in a free worm for compensaton, and then starts all over again with another "student."

If the experiments bear out Dr. Bennett's theories that certain species are smarter than others, the biologists have the rest all figured out too, and his system will make everybody happy - -that is, everybody but the fish —for Dr. Bennett suggests that all waters be stocked with the dumb species that will be easy to catch. Then a fisherman never will have to admit that a fish is smarter than he is!

DAIRY DAY CARAVAN TO BE HELD AT WATERLOO GYM MAR. 22

DeKalb County dairymen will attend the Dairy Day Caravan which will be staged on March 22. at the Waterloo High School gym in Wateloo, Indiana, according to C. R. Gross, county agricultural agent.

He pointed out that this will be a splendid opportunity for the DeKalb County dairymen to get the latest roughage, dairy farm safety, herd health, insect control, artificial breeding, and sterlizing equipment.

Representatives from Purdue including Frank DeLaCroix, dairy specialist; Dick Willsey. farm safety specialist; and Dr. C. R. Donham. chief veterinarian, will be on hand to answer any questions on your dairy problems.

This caravan was made possible through the cooperative efforts of the DeKalb County extension service the dairy companies, and other interested industries.

LOYAL WOMEN MEET

The Loyal Women's class of the Spencerville Lutheran Sunday School held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Flossie Rhodes on Wednesday evening. Feb. 23.

The president presided at the meeting with Mrs. Susie Laux and Fern Walter directing the program. The program consisted of songs, scripture reading, prayer, poems and a Biblical quiz. After the business meeting, a few contests were conducted.

A luncheon was then served.

The meeting for the month of March will be held at the home of Mrs. Winifred Shook.

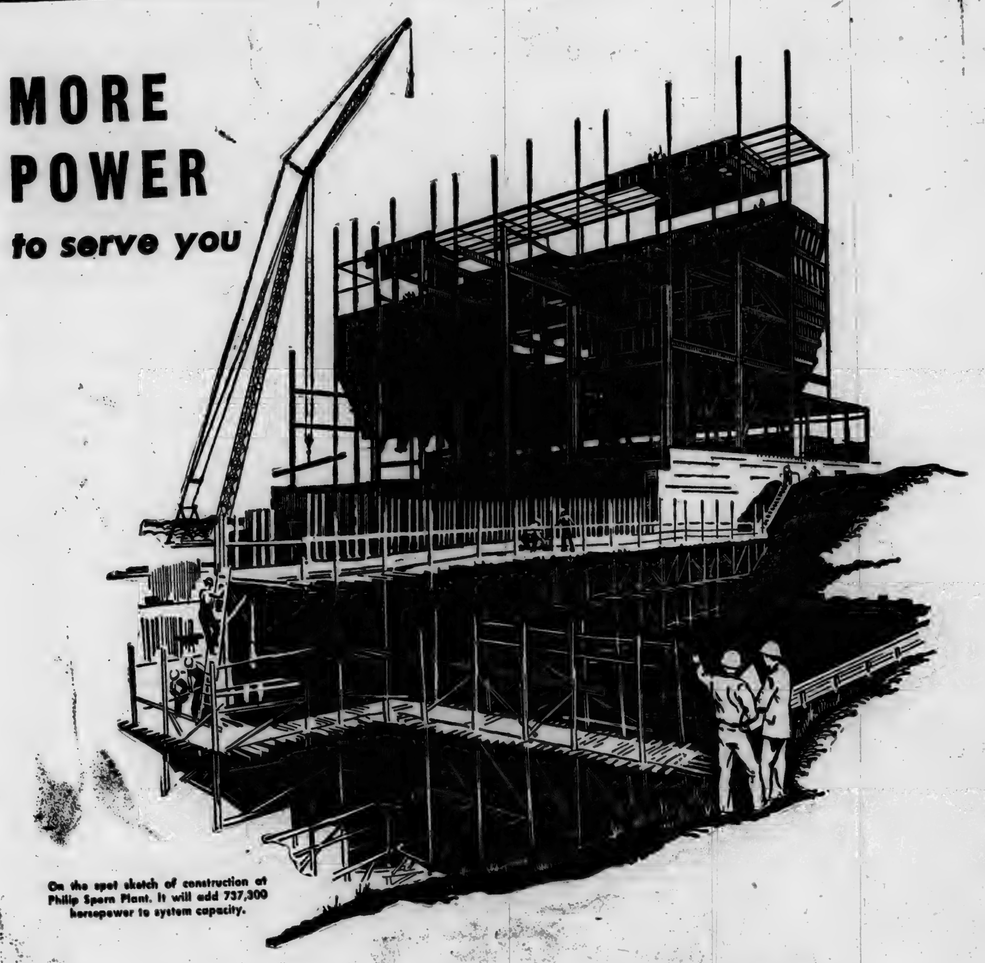
MORE POWER to serve you



On the spot sketch of construction at Philip Sporn Plant. It will add 737,300 horsepower to system capacity.

The Biggest Job We Ever Tackled

EVERY year since the end of the war, this company and six others that form the Central System of the American Gas and Electric Company have met greater and greater demands for electricity. Last year's demands, system-wide, topped them all. They were double the prewar year of 1939. Yet . . . we have been able to meet all calls for power. There has been no power shortage here.

What we lack are extra electric generators—we call them "reserve capacity"—to be used in case one or more of our big machines should break down. Before the war, the Central System always had plenty of reserve capacity. In war-time, government restrictions on equipment limited new construction. Since the war, manufacturers have not been able to fill our orders fast enough to keep pace with the growing demand for electric power. The result: Our margin between reserve and demand is still too close for comfort.

Here's what we have done and what we are doing: From their earliest beginnings fifty years ago, the companies in the Central System grew until in 1939 the combined capacity of the electric generating plants in the system was 1,410,000 horsepower.

Since 1939, 1,323,000 horsepower has been added to the system. As a result, plant capacity has almost doubled in a short ten years.

In 1947, the companies in the Central System launched a $305,000,000 expansion program to add more plants and facilities to bring more power to serve their customers. There are 1,106,000 horsepower of new electric plants under construction system-wide. All will be completed by 1951, some in just a few months from now. These new plants will be additional assurance that in the years to come you will have all the electric power you need.

SHEEP SHEARING SCHOOL TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY AT AUBURN

A District Wide Sheep shearing school will be held at the warehouse of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Co-op on Tuesday. March 8. Henry Mayo, animal husbandryman of Purdue University, will demonstrate the art of shearing sheep and discus sheep sheering with professional and amateur sheep shearers of the area.

The afternoon will be spent discussing sheep management with sheep growers of DeKalb County and surrounding territory. Charles Polland of the Wool Marketing Department will demonstrate the grading and judging of fleeces.

A free lunch will be provided by the Producers Commission Company of Fort Wayne in cooperation with the the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Co-op in Auburn.

The DeKalb County agent, C. R. Gross, advises sheep men of DeKalb County to take advantage of this meeting. He further stated that anyone who cares for sheep should be interested enough to attend the shearing school to learn some of the pointers of properly shearing sheep. Mr. Gross stated that it is some of the little things in sheep management that really count, such as tagging the ewes at lambing time, proper handling of fleece after shorn and knowing the kind of fleece that the market desires, as well as other sheep management.

The meeting will begin around 9:30 a. m. and will continue through until 3: 30 p. m.

By EVERETT MITCHELL

Farm Commentator, heard Monday through Saturday, 6:15-6:45 a. m. on WMAQ, Chicago, 670 on your dial.

I'LL bet you the wife has been thumbing through the new spring seed catalogs pretty thoroughly, and has just about decided what vegetables she wants planted in the garden this spring. The next question is what to do to help the soil in that spot in the back yard.
